POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 474.

The commanding officers of Divisions 10, 16, and 20 have brought to my attention the following excellent police work performed by officers of their several divisions:

I. On December 19, 1923, a telephone call was received at Station 10, that a man was going to kill somebody at 78 Williams street. Sergeant Michael J. Hartnett with Patrolman James T. Hall and Edward C. Sheldon, with Harold C. Bean on the wagon, were at once sent to that place. Sergeant Hartnett and Patrolmen Hall and Sheldon entered the building and hearing a woman scream, knocked and then forced the door of the room from which the sound came. As they entered, several shots were fired at them, the first one hitting Officer Sheldon who was in front. He was immediately removed to the hospital by Patrolmen Hall and Bean, who, meeting Patrolman Albert A. Hurst of Division 9 on the way, informed him of the affair. Patrolman Hurst immediately repaired to 78 Williams street to find the man has escaped, but upon hearing the description given of him by the woman in the room, identified him as living at 7 McLellan street. The officers, now reinforced by Sergeant Dennis Kerrigan and Patrolman John P. O'Malley of Division 10, at once proceeded to that address, where Sergeant Hartnett and Patrolman O'Malley guarded the front and rear doors while Sergeant Kerrigan and Patrolman Hurst broke into the kitchen and arrested the man who was preparing to make his escape. He was held in $35,000 bail for the Grand Jury, and later was indicted for assault on a police officer with intent to kill.

Such an exceedingly fine piece of police work deserves special commendation, the officers fully realizing on their second attempt that they were facing a desperate man who was determined to kill, if necessary, to affect his escape. I take great pleasure in expressing my appreciation of the courage and intrepidity shown by these officers in making this arrest.

II. On December 2, 1923, Patrolman Aaron O. Moser of Division 16, on his way home at 1.30 a. m., after doing first half duty, when at the corner of Washington and Northampton streets, heard several shots apparently coming from Massachusetts avenue, and immediately running in that direction, found on Massachusetts avenue, two men, who had been shot, lying on the ground, and a third man struggling with the man who had shot the other two and from whom he had wrested the gun. Patrolman Moser placed under arrest the man alleged to have done the shooting and sent Patrolman William E. Webster of Division 5, who had come to his assistance, with the two wounded men in a passing taxicab to the City Hospital where one of them afterwards died. The prisoner was indicted by the Grand Jury for murder in the first degree and is now in the Charles Street Jail awaiting trial.

This was an excellent piece of police work and I warmly commend Patrolman Moser for the vigilance and alertness he displayed. It is evident that he acts upon the principle that a Boston police officer is always on duty.

III. On December 14, 1923, Patrolman John J. McArdle of Division 20, while riding in a northbound electric car on Tremont street, and when passing Corning street, saw a large crowd of people chasing a colored man. The officer immediately jumped from the car and joined the chase. At Porter street, he overtook the colored man, who started to draw his revolver, but dropped it, and also a dagger, when he saw that the officer had already drawn his revolver. Patrolman McArdle arrested the colored man who was held in $3,000 bail for the Grand Jury on a charge of robbery.

It is very gratifying to learn of this excellent piece of police work and I take pleasure in commending Patrolman McArdle for his attention to duty and the promptness of action which enabled him to make this arrest.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

FINANCE COMMISSION PRO-TESTS APPRAISER BECK'S CHARGE FOR WORK OF ES-TIMATING WORTH OF LAND FOR POLICE HEADQUAR-TERS.

BOSTON, February 19, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

SIR,—Prior to the taking of the land for a site for the new police headquarters building on Stuart street, the Street Commissioners employed John Beck, a real estate broker, with offices at 30 State street, to appraise the land to be taken.

Mr. Beck submitted a report of his appraisal to the Street Commissioners on January 11, 1924. He testified before the Finance Commission that he based his appraisal on information obtained from William J. McDonald, the selling agent of the Park Square Trust, the owner of the land, as well as on his own knowledge of sales in that district, and on information from brokers whom he believed to be familiar with recent sale prices in the Park square section.

The Street Commissioners made no agreement with Mr. Beck when they employed him as to what his compensation should be. On January 15, 1924, he submitted a bill for his services in the sum of $750.

The Boston Real Estate Exchange, of which Mr. Beck testified he was a member, has established the following rates for appraisals of property in the absence of any special agreement:

SCHEDULE OF FEES.

On valuations up to $30,000.....$2.00 per thousand
On excess up to $200,000..... 1.00 per thousand
On excess over $200,000..... .50 per thousand
Outside Boston and suburbs.....special rates
Minimum fee$25.00

Applying these rates to the price of the property fixed by the Street Commissioners, Mr. Beck's bill would be $324.

There are a great many real estate brokers and dealers doing business in the City of Boston who are competent to appraise real estate. In the past the Finance Commission has found occasion to avail itself of the services of some of them. In most cases they gave their services gratuitously. In those cases where compensation was accepted the amount was either left to the commission to fix or was made in accordance with the rates established by the Boston Real Estate Exchange.

It is reported that Mr. Beck is the real estate expert for the city. The commission believes that no one should be employed exclusively by city officials for such advice or expert knowledge on real estate as the city may require from time to time. The commission believes that many very competent real estate men would be willing to serve the City of Boston for compensation based on the rates established by the Boston Real Estate Exchange.

The Finance Commission recommends:

1. That Mr. Beck be paid for his services for appraising the police headquarters site in accordance with the rates established by the Boston Real Estate Exchange.

2. That city departments requiring the services of real estate experts be not required to employ the same person in every instance.

3. That the rates established by the Boston Real Estate Exchange be used to determine the compensation for services rendered by real estate advisers in the absence of a special agreement.

Respectfully submitted,

THE FINANCE COMMISSION,
by MICHAEL H. SULLIVAN,
Chairman.

URGE INCREASE OF TAXES ON BANKS.

MAYOR CURLEY'S BILL ARGUED BEFORE LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE.

Mayor Curley's proposition for a reform of the tax law for national banks, trust companies and private banks was presented to the taxation committee yesterday by John A. Sullivan, representing the Mayor. "There are three distinct purposes in the bill," said Mr. Sullivan. "One is that all shares in national banks shall be assessed to the owner in the municipality where the bank is located, whether the owner is a resident there or not".

"Another is that individual bankers shall furnish full details of their business to the Commissioner of Corporations which shall be a basis for taxation at the same rate as other property. The other provides for special tax upon the dividends of the bank."

Attorney Sullivan said that the cause of the great drop in the taxes paid by banks in 1923 from 1922 was that the banks charged off a lot of bad debts resulting from the deflation and failures of the business community a year or two before.

"Boston collected in 1923" he said, "only about 23 per cent as much from the national banks as in 1922. Rather than continue under the system, considering that Boston got so little from it compared with what it ought to get, the city would prefer to have the banks wholly exempt and then see what the people would say to such a proposition. To make up the loss of the city in 1923, compared with 1922, would take a tax of 25 cents on every 1,000 of valuation."

Mr. Sullivan said that if there was any doubt about the constitutionality of the bill presented by Mayor Curley, the Supreme Court could be asked and an answer could be had at this session of the Legislature.

Senator Creese of Danvers, chairman of the committee, suggested the advisability of a special tax investigating committee. Mr. Sullivan thought such a committee would get nowhere in practical result.

Support for the bill was given by Representatives of Quincy, Brockton, Everett, Fitchburg, Lynn, Melrose and other cities.

Charles L. Favinger, counsel for the First National Bank, opposed the bill, saying that it was "absolutely bad." It would be a fatal blunder to go back to the old system of bank taxation, he said. New York is having much trouble over a similar proposition to this. He favored a special commission to investigate the bank tax situation.

Andrew Marshall, for the Clearing House Committee, against the bill, said that under the old law the cities and towns had got big taxes from banks which were unjust.

SEVENTY OF CITY'S BEST KNOWN EMPLOYEES TO RETIRE.

When Theodore Jennings, for fourteen years operator of the south elevator at City Hall and a city employee since 1881, retires with pension at the end of this month, Boston will lose the services of one of its best known employees. His home is at 1 Briggs place.

Seventy employees of the City of Boston or County of Suffolk will retire on that day. It will be the largest number of workers to be retired at any one time in the history of the city. Since the establishment of the contributory retirement system a year ago 385 members have left the municipal service, participating in its benefits.

Of the better known employees who will quit on February 29, whose retirement has not been announced previously, are:

John Campbell, repairer in the Water Service, 54 years' service; Thomas McCabe, laborer in the Sanitary Service, 51 years; Thomas Kelley, laborer in the Paving Service, 51 years; George W. Fogg, custodian of the Mechanic Arts High School, 50 years; Edgar H. Reed, inspector in the Paving Service, 49 years; Thomas Calnan, stableman in the Paving Service, 48 years; William Dwyer, laborer in the Paving Service, 48 years; Richard A. Lynch, inspector in the Building Department, 46 years; George W. Currier, teamster in the Sanitary Service, 44 years; Alban S. Green, tax examiner in the Assessing Department, 44 years; William G. T. Rolfe, assistant in the Library Department, 43 years; James J. Nolan, deputy collector in the Collecting Department, 36 years.

TO FURTHER WIDEN KNEELAND STREET.

It was planned, at a public hearing before the Street Commissioners Tuesday, February 19, to make another widening of Kneeland street, made necessary by the recent widening of Stuart street, which now has a 70-foot width and has become one of the busiest thoroughfares in the city.

Full benefit cannot be derived from the Stuart street widening unless Kneeland street is made wide enough to accommodate all traffic that empties into it from Stuart street.

The first step to widen Kneeland street was during Mayor Curley's administration in 1916. At that time 10 feet of frontage of two estates between Harrison avenue and Tyler street were taken, at a cost of $43,000. At the present time, from Washington street to Harrison avenue the street is 50 feet wide and it is desired to equal the width of the entire street from Washington street to Albany street.

Stuart street, extending from Huntington avenue to Washington street, is now the main artery for traffic from the Back Bay to the South Station and the wholesale district. The cost of widening is estimated at $75,000.

CITY WINS COURT BATTLE FOR $3,500,000 BACK TAXES FROM LOCAL BANKS.

JUDGE LOWELL HANDS DOWN RULING DENYING TO INSTITUTIONS RIGHT TO ANY CLAIMS SINCE FOR FOUR YEARS THEY "SLEPT ON THEIR RIGHTS." BIG VICTORY FOR BOSTON AND MAYOR CURLEY.

Judge Lowell of the United States District Court for the District of Massachusetts handed down a decision Wednesday sustaining the demurrers filed by the city in the seventeen suits brought by national banks against the city to recover about $3,500,000 paid in taxes on the shares of national banks in the years 1917 to 1920, inclusive. The case was argued before Judge Lowell on behalf of the city by John A. Sullivan, Esq., former Corporation Counsel. The decision is as follows:

OPINION.

LOWELL, J. On motions to dismiss and demurrers. These are cases of importance, not only on account of the large sums of money at stake, but also because they involve the relation between the state and federal governments. The facts may be shortly stated. In 1916 the Legislature of Massachusetts passed an income tax law, which became effective in 1917. (1916, 269, G. L., c. 62.) Under this system the old method of taxing intangible personal property at its fair cash value was done away with, and a tax was laid on the income only from such property. The method of taxing shares in national banks was, however, left as before; it is from this circumstance that the cases at bar arise.

The National Banking Act provides: "Nothing herein shall prevent all the shares in any association from being included in the valuation of the personal property of the owner or holder of such shares, in assessing taxes imposed by authority of the state within which the association is located; but the Legislature of each state may determine and direct the manner and place of taxing of the shares of national banking associations located within the state, subject only to the two restrictions, that the taxation shall not be at a greater rate than is assessed upon other moneyed capital in the hands of individual citizens of such state, and that the shares of any national banking association owned by non-residents of any state shall be taxed in the city or town where the bank is located; and not elsewhere. Nothing herein shall be construed to exempt the real property of associations from either city, county or municipal taxes, to the same extent, according to its value, as other real property is taxed." (R. S. 5219.)

Before 1917 shares in national banks were taxed in the same way and at the same rate as other similar property, namely, at the fair cash value. This method of taxing was held to be constitutional.

Bank of Redemption v. Boston, 125 U. S. 60.

Since 1917, however, other moneyed capital has been taxed only on its income, while shares in national banks have continued to be taxed at their fair cash value, as before. The result is that the tax which must be paid on the shares of national banks is much greater than that paid on other like property. There seems little room for doubt that the taxation which has been imposed by the state on bank shares is obnoxious to the provisions of the National Banking Act, and consequently illegal.

Merchants National Bank v. Richmond, 256 U. S. 635.

The real question is whether, the illegal tax having been assessed and collected, the plaintiffs have any other remedy than that provided by the statute of Massachusetts, which requires that a tax must be paid under protest and suit brought within three months. G. L., c. 60, §. 98. (The cases at bar were governed by earlier statutes, but their provisions were the same as those of the General Laws.)

Motions to dismiss have been filed on the ground that no federal question is involved, and that therefore the district court has no jurisdiction. It is contended by the defendants that the state statute is not unconstitutional, but has been wrongly interpreted by the taxing officials, and that the interpretation of the state statute presents no federal question. A glance at the statute will show that this contention is unfounded. The statute provides that the shares "shall be assessed at their fair cash value on April 1, after deducting therefrom the proportionate part of the value of the real estate belonging to the bank, at the same rate as other moneyed capital in the hands of citizens is by law assessed." G. L., c. 63, s. 1. It appears from the wording of the statute that the bank shares must be taxed at their fair cash value, the taxing authorities having no discretion in the matter. The tax imposed was plainly required by the statute; the legality of it depends upon the legality of the statute itself, and that in turn depends upon whether the statute contravenes the laws of the United States. This presents a federal question, and this Court has jurisdiction. Osborn v. U. S. Bank, 9 Wheat, 738, 821. The motions to dismiss are overruled.

A more difficult question arises on the demurrers filed by the defendants. Their contention is that the statute of Massachusetts gives a right to recover an illegal tax, that this right is exclusive, and that a national bank which has been illegally taxed stands on no different footing from any other corporation. The plaintiffs, on the other hand, contend that a statute has no power to interfere with an agency of the federal government, and that the exclusive remedy provided by the statute is an unreasonable one, not binding on the banks.

Since the great case of McCulloch v. Maryland, 4 Wheat, 315, it has been the law that the national banks cannot be taxed by the states, except so far as Congress has allowed them to do it.

The fundamental principles underlying these cases have been lucidly stated by

Mr. Justice Strong in case of the State Freight Tax, 15 Wall, 232, 271, as follows:

"The case is a grave one. It calls upon us to trace the line, always difficult to be traced, between the limits of state sovereignty in imposing taxation, and the power and duty of the federal government to protect and regulate interstate commerce. While, upon the one hand, it is of the utmost importance that the states should possess power to raise revenue for all the purposes of a state government, by any means and in any manner not inconsistent with the powers which the people of the states have conferred upon the general government, it is equally important that the domain of the latter should be preserved free from invasion, and that no state legislation should be sustained which defeats the avowed purpose of the federal constitution, or which assumes to regulate, or control subjects committed by the constitution exclusively to the regulation of Congress."

Mr. Justice Field said in Dows v. City of Chicago:

"It is upon taxation that the several states chiefly rely to obtain the means to carry on their respective governments, and it is of the utmost importance to all of them that the modes adopted to enforce the taxes should be interfered with as little as possible. Any delay in the proceedings of the officials upon whom the duty is devolved of collecting the taxes, may derange the operations of government, and thereby cause serious detriment to the public." 11 Wall, 108, 109.

On the one hand it is essential that the taxing authorities of the state, the cities and towns, should be able to raise the revenue necessary to carry on their affairs without having to wait for years to discover whether part of the money used by them was illegally raised, and therefore recoverable from them. On the other hand, an agency of the national government cannot be so seriously interfered with as to impair its efficiency.

By the terms of the National Banking Act "the Legislature of each state may determine and direct the manner and place of taxing all the shares of national banking associations within the state, subject only to the two restrictions, that the taxation shall not be at a greater rate. . . ." The method of taxing shares has therefore been left by Congress to the several states.

When Congress allows the shares of national banks to be taxed, it thereby gives this branch of the taxation of the governmental agency into the charge of the taxing authorities of the state, and the usual incidents of such taxation apply. By the statute relating to taxation of national banks the Congress did not lay down, even if it constitutionally could do so, of which there may be considerable doubt, any method for determination in the various states of the validity of the tax imposed by the states. These impliedly adopted the various state laws relating to the manner of complaint about a tax. There seems to be no reason, when a state has been given the power to tax shares of a national bank, that the bank should be treated any differently than any other person or corporation which the state has power to tax. The taxing power of any sovereignty is necessary to its very existence, and cannot be controlled by any other sovereignty. There is no contention in the present case that the method of testing the constitutionality of a tax is unfair to the national banks on the ground that it is different from that required of other persons and corporations. A state must be allowed, and in this instance has been allowed, to determine the methods of collection of its own taxes. Any other result would be an unwarranted interference by the national government with the affairs of the state.

The argument of the plaintiffs, while addressed to the reasonableness of the three months' limitation, really goes much further, and depends for its validity on the proposition that a state has no constitutional power to prescribe the method of complaint against a tax on national bank shares. The result of this is that only the ordinary six years' limitation is applicable. The practical outcome would be that no state could for six years be sure of the amount of money which it could use to carry on its governmental functions. Such a result should not be reached unless it is unavoidable. As a practical, and, as we have seen, a constitutional matter, the states have the right to prescribe reasonable regulations about the collection of these taxes.

The question in this case must be considered in its relation to conditions existing in Massachusetts—a small, thickly settled state with every facility for the quick transaction of business, whether by carrier, correspondence through the mails, by telegraph or telephone, or even, in the centers of population, by messenger. The law though valid for Massachusetts, might be invalid for Texas or Arizona, as the conditions in these states are so different.

Mulvey v. Boston, 197 Mass. 178.
See Wheatland v. Boston, 202 Mass. 258.

Also Lever Bros. Co. v. Com., 232 Mass. 22, and cases cited.

The Supreme Court of the United States has passed on many cases, which are cited in the Lever case. Though they are not exactly like the case at bar, they are analogous. That court has also held that an act of Congress which allowed three months for an appeal from the ruling of the Secretary of the Treasury, in a customs matter, was reasonable.

Arnson v. Murphy, 109 U. B. 238.

The Court of Appeals in this circuit has decided that the regulation in the statute under consideration in the case at bar is reasonable as applied to a non-resident individual.

See Long v. Norman, 289 F. R. 5.
Also Burrill v. Locomobile Co., 258 U. S. 34.

And Keokuk Bridge Co. v. Salm, ib., 122.

As is clearly pointed out in the brief filed on behalf of the Commonwealth, the banks were not taken by surprise. The reason why such cases as this were not brought before probably is that it never occurred to any of the banks until their attention was called to it by the Richmond case, decided in 1921.

Merchants National Bank v. Richmond, 256 U. S. 635.

But in the years 1917, 1918, 1919 and 1920, when the taxes complained of were laid, the banks had notice of the taxation beginning on the 1st of April, when they were required to file lists of their shareholders. G. L. 59, ss. 22, 29.

A tax bill was rendered to them about October 1, requiring payment on or before November 1, and they had three months after that in which to bring suit, which they could do if they had paid under written protest. D. L., c. 60, s. 98. They had, therefore, eight months in which to consider the question of paying under protest, and three months after that in which to bring suit. This was an appropriate remedy, as it has been held that a tax collected under an unconstitutional statute may be recovered by an action at law. Wheatland v. Boston, 202 Mass. 258.

The tax laid in these cases were partly valid, and the banks might have proceeded by way of abatement, which they could have done within six months after the date of payment. This adds three months more to the time within which they could have complained of the tax, thus bringing the period up to more than a full year. National banks in the past have made use of this provision of the statutes, National Bank of Commerce v.

New Bedford, 155 Mass. 313, and if this provision is binding on them, there seems no reason why the provision relating to a suit to recover back a tax should not also be binding.

The very large sums in the aggregate concerned in these cases make the interference with the banks by the state taxing power seem very serious. We must remember, however, that such large sums have become of moment here only because for four years the banks were quietly slumbering on their rights. A serious constitutional question cannot be determined solely by the neglect of the parties affected to assert their rights.

The decision of the Court of Appeals in this circuit in Long v. Norman, already cited, seems to me conclusive of this question. On the whole, I am of opinion that, considering the vital necessity to the cities and towns of having their revenue fixed and certain, the law of Massachusetts, which gives in terms three months, and in effect nine months or a year, to the national banks to complain of a tax, is not so serious an interference with their functions as agencies of the national government as to be unconstitutional.

The decision already arrived at renders it unnecessary to consider the other questions which were ably argued at the bar and supported by learned briefs.

Demurrers sustained.

CHANGES IN PLANS FOR NEW FIRE ALARM STATION IN FENWAY ENHANCES ARTISTIC BEAUTY OF STRUCTURE AND SURROUNDINGS.

NEW HOME FOR BOSTON'S FIRE SIGNAL OPERATORS NOW TO BE MOST ARTISTIC IN WORLD AS WELL AS MOST COMPLETELY EQUIPPED. WORK TO BE BEGUN SOON.

CHANGES IN DESIGN OF NEW FIRE ALARM STATION IN FENWAY MAKE STRUCTURE MOST ARTISTIC OF ITS KIND IN COUNTRY—IN KEEPING WITH SURROUNDINGS.

Due to improvements and changes in the plans for the new Fire Alarm Station, the building as now contemplated will be of a most artistic design, and will be rated as one of the handsomest structures in the world to be used for the housing of signal apparatus.

Removal of this important branch of the Fire Department from Bristol street headquarters, a district known as offering possibilities for trouble in case of a bad fire, to a location indorsed by the Boston Board of Fire Underwriters, the Chamber of Commerce and the Boston Park Department, will mark the completion of plans agitated for many years. The building has been designed to meet the artistic requirements of the neighborhood and yet provide every modern facility and convenience for the work of sounding fire alarms without the slightest delay, no matter how fast the service may develop in the years to come.

The present quarters on Bristol street, in the center of the hazardous lumber yard district have long since been outgrown. This condition made possible the consideration of locating the new building in an area providing greater security for the delicate apparatus from damage by fire.

With this branch of the department crippled no method of registering alarms would be available except through the agency of a messenger. This step, therefore, following full motorization, will make of the department the most complete fire-fighting unit in America.

In selecting a new location, it was necessary to recognize, in addition to a central geographical position, one which would reduce to a very minimum the danger from fire. To obtain such a location was impossible without invasion of the park lands which afforded the best possible area in which the proper security might be obtained. It is not common for a building other than one for park or recreational purposes to be erected within the limits of the park system, and special legislative permission had to be obtained. Seeing the wisdom of the request, the Legislature granted this permission and the precedent thus established is now being used in Detroit and other cities.

The architects, O'Connell & Shaw, were instructed that in addition to a proper recognition of the present desirable requirements, attention should be directed to the demands likely to be made upon such a structure in accordance with the expected growth of the city for many years. It was impressed upon them that in consideration of the location no ordinary æsthetic solution would satisfy, as this particularly important area of the park system should not suffer by the intrusion of a building, but rather be enhanced architecturally thereby.

The new site likewise afforded greater privacy than could be obtained elsewhere. It is partly due to this condition that the entrance to the building is located on the northwest side, off the main drive. It was likewise thought well to omit the entrance from the park front so that no architectural feature would appear to conflict with any monumental development likely to occur on the plot immediately in front of the building.

O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

MAYOR REJOICES OVER VICTORY IN BANK CASE.

SENDS CONGRATULATORY MESSAGE FROM FLORIDA TO JOHN A. SULLIVAN WHO BORE BRUNT OF BATTLE AT LAW.

"News on bank cases most pleasing. Hearty congratulations on victory."

Thus ran a telegram from Mayor Curley at Palm Beach to John A. Sullivan, expressive of his Honor's satisfaction that the fiscal year just beginning the City of Boston will not be embarrassed by having to restore to certain national banks which brought suit a sum rising $3,000,000 (including $700,000 in interest), for taxes imposed on bank shares through the years from 1917 to 1920, inclusive.

Attorney Sullivan was himself highly elated at the victory, particularly in view of the complaints when Mayor Curley approved payment to him of a $33,500 fee last July.

The word is that the local national banks will take an appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States from the recent ruling of Judge Lowell in the Federal District Court, which was to the effect that the city was fully empowered to retain the tax revenue, inasmuch as the banks had permitted their cases to lapse far beyond the three-month period after the taxes were levied, before protesting the taxes.

CAMBRIDGE STREET WIDENING TO COST $3,500,000.

The Boston Street Commissioners and the Planning Board at a conference Thursday afternoon agreed on the lines for the $3,500,000 widening of Cambridge street.

The principal changes from the original plans are provisions for an extra 10-foot widening opposite the subway mouth on Cambridge street, southerly side, between tion regarding the public baths and gymnasiums maintained by the city, and with regard to municipal indoor concerts and band concerts; also information relative to Mount Hope, Evergreen, Fairview and other public cemeteries owned by the City of Boston.

TO THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE, 15 Beacon street, for information relative to the operation of the schools of the city.

TO THE SCHOOLHOUSE COMMISSIONERS, Room 1007, City Hall Annex, for information as to the construction and repair of school buildings.

TO THE BOARD OF EXAMINERS, Room 1001, City Hall Annex, for information regarding the licensing of persons having charge or control of the work of construction, alteration, removal or tearing down of buildings.

TO THE WIRE DIVISION OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT, Fire Department Headquarters, 60 Bristol street, for all information relative to the erection of poles, the building of conduits, the installation of all overhead and underground construction and electrical apparatus, as well as for general information relative to the entire division. To Room 906, City Hall Annex, for permits for the installing of wires and electrical apparatus within buildings in the City of Boston, and for the payment of fees incident to the granting of the privileges above named, and which must be paid in advance.

Joy and Irving streets, and for removal of the subway escalator exit in Scollay square.

The kiosk, also in Scollay square, which serves both as an entrance and exit, will likewise go, and in its place will be built a smaller and less obtrusive structure. The direction of the slope of the escalator, above mentioned, will be reversed so that it will discharge its passengers into the reconstructed kiosk, thereby leaving only one obstruction in Scollay square.

COMPROMISE PLAN.

Plans for a complete removal of the subway structures involved too much expenditure, it was believed. They decided on the consolidation as a compromise which seems acceptable to the Transit Commission as well. The scheme decided on will go into effect as the final solution of the problem unless the Mayor insists on complete clearance of the square. The compromise plan will involve expenditures of about $135,000, which must be obtained by special legislation.

Plans as now agreed on do not follow the recommendation of the Finance Commission that the street be widened to a full 100 feet, exclusive of the subway opening in Cambridge street and the exits in Scollay square.

MUNICIPAL CLERKS' ASSOCIATION MEETS.

Some 100 members of the Municipal Clerks' Association held their annual banquet Tuesday evening at the City Club, with Budget Commissioner Fox as the guest and speaker. Mr. Fox gave an interesting talk on city work, filled with wit and humor. The association was reported in a flourishing condition. The association also had as guest one of their retiring members, James Nolan.

BOSTON'S FIRE COMMISSIONER AND DEPARTMENT GIVEN HIGH PRAISE.

MAJOR PAUL VANGINOT, CHIEF OF THE FIRE BRIGADE OF PARIS, FRANCE, HEAPS ENCOMIUMS UPON COMMISSIONER GLYNN, AND REPORT OF VISIT TO UNITED STATES IS A DEDICATION TO BOSTON.

Fire Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn has received from Major Paul Vanginot, chief of the Paris Fire Brigade, a copy of the latter's report of his tour of inspection of the fire department of the United States. Major Vanginot made a study of the fire departments of thirteen cities, including New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit, St. Louis, San Francisco and Washington. He came here in September, 1922, following his attendance at the annual convention of the International Association of Fire Engineers.

The report is very extensive and covers 373 pages. About 270 pages are devoted to the general conditions found in American cities, a description of American fire-fighting methods, American-made fire apparatus, fire prevention and other special matters peculiar to fire departments in American cities.

One hundred pages are devoted to reports on various cities, and twelve of these pages are given to Boston.

No word of criticism is found in his report of the Boston Fire Department. In the last paragraph of the preface of his work he practically dedicates the book to the Boston Fire Department in the words:

"In preparing this work my personal feelings may have crept in despite my earnest efforts to eliminate everything personal from the report. The readers will bear with me, therefore, when I assure them that in writing this book there was ever present in my mind that illustrious motto of my excellent friends and comrades in the Boston Fire Department, 'Pro Domo et Civitate.'"

The report gives in detail various statistics of the Boston Fire Department, and a description of the equipment and fire-fighting methods in this city. Concluding his statement he says:

"In Boston I received a hearty and most cordial welcome, every attention and consideration was paid to me. I hold the most pleasant memories of his Honor Mayor James M. Curley, Fire Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn, Chief John O. Taber, and the officers of the Fire Department.

"Chief Taber was an agreeable and obliging guide and the deputy chiefs rivaled with him. My visit to Boston was one of extreme interest.

"Fire Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn is an efficient executive, a man whom it was most pleasant to meet. As a fire chief, John O. Taber is held in high esteem, particularly throughout the United States. He was well known to me before my visit to Boston.

"In the department the men are perfectly drilled in their duties, they have a neat and snappy appearance, and are possessed of wonderful courage and marvelous physical condition.

"The Boston Fire Department is a first-class organization, perfectly directed and excellently commanded.

"I passed many days in Boston and was in a position to observe every detail. I am pleased to signify here to Commissioner Glynn and Chief Taber my appreciation of the courtesies extended to me."

CITY ENDS FISCAL YEAR WITH NEARLY $1,000,000 SURPLUS.

The administration of Mayor Curley finished the fiscal year ending January 31 last with a $998,142 cash balance in the city treasury, after all pay rolls and bills for that year had been cleaned up, Auditor Rupert S. Carven announced Thursday afternoon. He said this money will be reappropriated in the new budget for city departments and, in part, applied to a reduction of the new tax rate, to be announced next August.

Because the Finance Commission has so far failed to give the Legislature the advice it seeks with relation to action upon the Curley petition to make the Boston tax limit $13.25 for this fiscal year, Budget Commissioner Charles Fox was obliged, conformably to law, to file with City Clerk James Donovan a "dummy" budget in place of the actual one, which the law stipulates must be filed with the City Council within thirty days of the opening of the financial year.

Since the new budget is always based on the tax limit allowed the city, obviously a budget cannot be actually framed until the Legislature fixes the tax limit. In law, the limit has stood at $3.52 through several years, the Legislature allowing the succeeding administrations to boost it above that figure as necessary.

The $6.52 tax limit would yield only $10,750,000 to be expended for all departmental purposes exclusive of schools.

PUBLIC WORKS COMMISSIONER DEFENDS HIS SNOW FIGHTING ARMY.

SEVERELY SCORES CRITICAL AND MISLEADING ARTICLE IN BOSTON HERALD ON SNOW CLEANING FORCE AND WORK DURING STORM OF FEBRUARY 21.

In reply to a hysterical article in the Boston Herald of February 21, regarding the condition of the city streets on February 20, the following letter was written to the editor of the paper:

"In fairness to the Public Works Department we desire to correct the wrong impression created in your issue of February 21, in which it is stated that the 'white wings' quit Boston's slush area on account of the rain. There is no reason for your reporter to make this statement. He was told that the contractors were ordered out at noon, but due to the impossibility of getting men to work on account of the heavy subsequent rain nothing could be done by them. None of the city employees, of whom there are about 2,000 on snow activities, quit on account of rain and at the time of the excessive downpour, during ten minutes of which the writer was on Tremont street and was thoroughly soaked, they continued to shovel, load and cart away snow from the busy city streets. A greater part of them worked from early in the morning until eight o'clock at night, and the last of the gang left down town at ten o'clock p. m.

"During last year when the contractors were out frequently there was one day that snowed heavily when only one contractor could get men to work and then only a comparatively small number. During this particular day all city employees continued on their snow work until far into the night.

"There was no human agency that could cope with the slushy conditions of yesterday with a heavy downpour of rain lasting a considerable period following directly a 7-inch snow fall which terminated at noon. We have no excuse to offer for contractor's men not working yesterday. They are all on the job today and doing excellent work. Perhaps there would be fewer complaints of slushy conditions if the City of Boston should adopt a regulation or ordinance similar to that in New York City where all abutters are obliged to shovel their snow off the sidewalk within a short period from the end of the snow fall, keep their gutters clean and keep the sewer connection or catch-basin, if in front of their premises, open to the middle of the street. There are over 16,000 catch-basins in this city which are practically all looked after by the Public Works Department employees except in a few of the poorer districts where there are storekeepers with a public spirit absent in locations where there are great wealth and property values and where complaints of bad street conditions are most frequent.

"There was no information furnished in this office that the Public Works Department employees quit on account of rain. What was said, however, was that the writer would not insist on men working any longer than they themselves desired if they considered that further efforts with soaked feet and clothing might affect their immediate health and usefulness to the city.

Yours very truly,

JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works."

Boston had a 7-inch snow fall; New York had a 5-inch snow fall, both succeeded by heavy rain storms. The following comments in the news articles of New York papers regarding conditions in that city are appended for further information as to the practical impossibility of coping successfully with the conditions existing on February 20:

World, February 21. New York City, in spite of the best efforts of thousands of street cleaners working with beehive activity, was still wallowing ankle deep in melting snow.

Times, February 21. Slush made the streets almost impassable after 9,000 extra snow shovelers quit work in the face of the storm—chilled to the bone with the heavy rain. In Times square and busy street intersections throughout the city the rivers of slush were forced by means of dry goods boxes laid out from the curb.

Evening Post, February 20. Streets everywhere were ankle deep in slush and navigation was very dangerous. Clogged snow backed water up at nearly every street intersection.

Tribune, February 21. The pavements around the municipal building were practically the only ones thoroughly cleaned. Nothing except the middle of the streets could be cleared.

As further tribute to the city's forces working during the storm period, the following is quoted from the Philadelphia Public Ledger of February 21:

City wallows in slush flood after storm. So forbidding was the weather that even the drivers and shovelers employed by the city to carry away the accumulated snow were loath to venture out, and instead of 2,000 expected to report for work at five o'clock yesterday morning only 350 appeared. Inspectors were immediately dispatched by the Street Cleaning Bureau, under the direction of Chief John H. Neeson, to scour the city for the recalcitrants, but neither coaxing nor threats prevailed against the stronger arguments of the storm. Choked sewers in the business section resulted in many places in a backwash.

CONTRACTS AMENDED.

J. P. Dwyer Company have been allowed to amend their contract for installing and completing heating and ventilating system in the George Putnam District School, School and Dixwell streets, Roxbury district, by striking out in each case where it occurs, in paragraph (D) In General, and paragraph (E) Guaranty Bond, section 9, pages 46 and 47 of said contract, the name "Vacuum Specialties Company," and substituting therefor the words "company supplying the vacuum specialties."

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Acting Mayor has approved the following contracts, awarded without advertising; requests of heads of departments to do the work with the department forces without advertising; additions to find deductions from contracts.

SCHOOLHOUSE DEPARTMENT.

The Acting Mayor has approved a contract with J. J. Hurley & Co. for changes and additions to the present heating system at the Robert Swan School. A communication from Thomas P. Glynn, chairman of the Schoolhouse Department, was as follows:

BOSTON, February 20, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR.—The Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners respectfully requests the approval of your Honor, under the provisions of chapter 486, section 30, of the Acts of 1909, to awarding a contract, without advertising, to J. J. Hurley & Co. for changes and additions to the present heating system at the Robert Swan School, Thetford avenue, Dorchester district, the cost of said work to exceed the sum of one thousand (1,000) dollars.

The reason for making this request is as follows: On February 14, 1924, a fire occurred over one of the furnaces in the basement, and did damage to the floors and partitions in two class rooms immediately above. This was the second fire that occurred in this identical place within a short time, notwithstanding that after the first fire everything possible was done to prevent a recurrence. The Board, after a further examination of the conditions, came to the conclusion that the fires were due to the use of Welsh coal in the furnaces, and deemed it advisable to remove the furnaces and extend the present steam heating system sufficiently to provide heat for the class rooms hitherto heated by the furnaces. This necessitates the installation of direct radiators in the class rooms, together with piping changes, and connecting the same up to the present boiler. It further requires the removal of the two large brick-set furnaces, repairing the damage done to the building, and doing a certain amount of fireproofing in the area now occupied by the two furnaces.

As the annual February vacation started on Monday, February 18, there was not sufficient time to advertise the work and complete it for the reopening of school on February 25. The Board therefore respectfully requests that your Honor approve the awarding of contract to the firm named to do the work as set forth above.

Respectfully yours,

THOMAS P. GLYNN,
Chairman.

From C-1, Cable Wire, etc., $48.92, to E-10, Electrical, $48.92.

Summary.

From A-1, $5,880.45, to B-7, $171.18.

From A-3, $77.10; B-1, $46.25, to B-14, $401.16.

From B-2, $106.10; B-3, $89.70, to B-18, $50.57.

From B-8, $563.31, to C-4, $144.11.

From B-10, $202.64; B-37, $60.55; B-39, $6,098.07, to C-13, $698.31.

From C-1, $283.94, to C-16, $3,798.75.

From C-3, $447.60; C-4, $98.64; C-9, $132.61, to D-3, $7,113.86.

From C-17, $101.75; D-1, $241.22, to D-11, $2,626.77.

From E-13, $850.56; F-7, $184.30, to E-1, $476.24.

From E-11, $65.08, to E-10, $48.92—$15,529.87.

The reasons for requesting these transfers are as follows:

B-7: Heating, $171.18. This amount is needed to pay for the heating of Engine 26-35 which was estimated too low by the Edison engineers.

B-14: Motor Vehicle Repairs, $401.16. This amount was needed to pay for the rebuilding of seven Christie motors and for increased repairs on the motor apparatus.

B-18: Cleaning, $50.57. This deficit was caused by a little larger transfer from this appropriation than the expenditure warranted.

C-4: Motor Vehicles, $144.11. A few more cellular tires were needed and had to be replaced.

C-13: Tools and Instruments, $698.31. This deficit was caused by the purchase of hose which was needed.

C-16: Wearing Apparel, $3,798.75. This amount was expended for uniforms for the members and was absolutely necessary.

D-3: Fuel, $7,113.86. The original estimate was cut short $8,045, and the appropriation allowed was not quite sufficient, also the fireboats were working practically all of the time which counted in part for the increased expenditures.

D-11: Motor Vehicles, $2,626.75. The increase in motor apparatus this year was the cause of this deficit.

E-1: House, $476.24. Increase of mechanics which caused an increase in working material.

E-10: Electrical, $48.92. A slight deficit which could have been paid in 1924, but was paid in 1923.

Yours very truly,

THEODORE A. GLYNN,
Fire Commissioner.

The above transfers were made by the City Auditor with the approval of the Acting Mayor.

This transfer is necessary for the reason that eighty-four simultaneous sessions of the court were held up to December 15, current, and the amount allowed for this purpose provided for eighty such sessions for the year ending January 31, 1924; it is estimated that there will be required at least seven additional sessions to the end of the Budget year.

EAST BOSTON, January 31, 1924.

RUPERT S. CARVEN, Esq.,

The above transfers were made by the City Auditor with the approval of the Acting Mayor January 31, 1924.

BOSTON, January 31, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Under section 1 of chapter 424 of the Acts of 1908 it is provided that "The medical examiners for the county of Suffolk and the associate medical examiner[s] for said county shall be provided with rooms suitably furnished for the performance of their duties, the rent, furnishing and office equipment of which shall be paid for by said county upon the approval of the mayor of the city of Boston."

Hitherto all items of expense incidental to the application of this statute to the needs of my office have been made chargeable to and paid through the department of county buildings.

During the past eight months within which I have been disabled by injury, I have been obliged to request associate medical examiner service for a period amounting to a little over six months additional to that within which the associate medical examiners customarily serve. Incidental to the administration of his office at the Hotel Kenmore, one of the associate medical examiners, Dr. William J. Brickley, who served during a part of this period, has incurred expense for room rent, light and cleaning. These expenses which according to custom are chargeable to the county buildings account, owing to their origin are unprovided for by any departmental appropriation.

I therefore ask a transfer of appropriation from available sources to such departmental account as may enable the meeting of the expenses below indicated in conformity with the provisions of statute and of municipal ordinance.

From F-7, Supreme Judicial Court, Available Sources, $50.63; A-1, Custodian, $1,550, $1.22; A-1, Department Custodian, 1 at $1,500, $1.22; A-1, Assistant,

$1,300, $20.93—$74, to Departmental Account, $37; B-10, Rent, $37—$74.

Respectfully yours,

GEORGE BURGESS MAGRATH, M. D.,
Medical Examiner for Suffolk County.

EXTENSION OF CONTRACTS.

The Radio Sales and Service Company have been granted an extension of the time for the installation of radio sets on fireboats Engines 31, 44 and 47, and in the fire alarm office, until January 31, 1924.

PUBLIC CONTROL OF BOSTON ELEVATED RAILWAY.

By Chapter 159, Special Acts of 1918, a State board of five trustees was created to assume control of the Elevated Railway Co. for the term of 10 years, the need being imperative to improve its unfortunate condition and impaired service in the interest of a very large traveling public. Regular dividends were continued and the raising of $3,000,000 of new capital was provided for by the issue and sale of preferred stock. It was also provided that if the income should be insufficient to meet the cost of service and the reserve fund proved inadequate, any deficit should be paid by the State and assessed upon the cities and towns in which the railway was operated. The fare was raised from 5 cents to 7, then to 8 and again to 10. The total deficit for year ending June 30, 1919, was $4,980,152, which was covered by extra taxation, as ordered, Boston paying $2,905,931 or 71.9 per cent of total levy. According to the said act of 1918, the cities and towns were to be reimbursed for assessments paid by them as soon as the financial condition of the Elevated Co. permitted.

By Chapter 369, General Acts of 1919, the purchase by the State from the Elevated Co. of the Cambridge Subway was ordered as an emergency law, the capital thus made available being needed by the trustees. The property was conveyed to the State May 1, 1920, on payment of \$7,868.00 and $4\frac{1}{2}$ per cent of this cost is payable by the B. E. Co. annually for rental.

The report of the Trustees of B. E. Railway Co. for year 1920 showed a notable financial improvement as compared with 1919, the cost of service exceeding receipts by $347,167 or only one-seventh of the deficit in 1919.

The Trustees' report for 1921 showed total receipts for that year of $33,277,026, exceeding the total cost of service, depreciation, debt requirements and dividends by $1,171,445. This surplus permitted certain reimbursements in 1922, Boston receiving $372,035 or 12.8 per cent of the assessment paid in 1919. Under the act of 1918, the general 10-cent fare cannot be reduced until all reimbursements are completed. On June 10, 1922, the consolidation of the West End Street Railway Co. with the Boston Elevated Co. went into effect, as provided by Acts of 1911, Chap. 740, the lease to the Elevated not expiring until the said date.

ABSENTEE VOTING AT STATE ELECTIONS.

By Chapter 289, General Acts of 1919, any registered voter absent from home at election time may vote by mailing an "official absent voting ballot" previously applied for and obtained from the Election Commissioners, to the latter so as to be received before the polls close. Said ballot must be marked by the voter privately but within the observation of an official authorized to administer oaths, and of no other person, in a municipality which is separated by at least two municipalities from that in which he is registered. The voter must make affidavit before said official, enclose ballot in official envelope and mail same on or before day of election.

Of 868 Absentee ballots mailed to Election Dept., on or before Nov. 2, 1920, 570 were counted, 10 were rejected and 288 were uncounted because not received until after closing of polls.

POLICE HEADQUARTERS REPORT.

The following was received:

City of Boston.

Finance Commission, February 18, 1924.

To the Honorable the City Council:

Gentlemen,—The Finance Commission is in receipt of an order from your honorable body, dated February 11, 1924, as follows:

Ordered, That the Boston Finance Commission be requested to submit to the City Council the verbatim report of its investigation of the acquisition of the Park square site for a police headquarters.

Investigations by the Finance Commission are made under the authority contained in section 18 of chapter 486 of the Acts of 1909, which is as follows:

"It shall be the duty of the finance commission from time to time to investigate any and all matters relating to appropriations, loans, expenditures, accounts and methods of administration affecting the city of Boston or the county of Suffolk, or any department thereof, that may appear to the commission to require investigation, and to report thereon from time to time to the mayor, the city council, the governor, or the general court."

In 1911 the Corporation Counsel of the city rendered an opinion to the City Council that, under the revised charter of 1909, the general investigative powers of the City Council had been transferred to the Finance Commission. (See City Council Minutes, 1911, page 118.)

The commission has consistently refrained from making public the testimony of witnesses not given in public hearings. The commission feels that a departure from this established policy would be inadvisable, and therefore cannot comply with the request contained in this order.

Respectfully submitted,
THE FINANCE COMMISSION,
by MICHAEL H. SULLIVAN,
Chairman.

Placed on file.

INCLUSION OF PAINTING AND DECORATING AMONG TRADES TAUGHT IN THE SCHOOLS

A communication was received from the Board of Superintendents, under date of Feb. 11, 1924, to whom was referred at the meeting of Jan. 21, 1924 (see p. 235) a communication from the Society of Master House Painters and Decorators calling attention to the urgent need of more trade instruction in the building trades in the schools of the state, especially in the trade of painting and decorating, submitting the following report:

When the Boston Trade School was originally projected it was expected that painting and decorating would be one of the activities. Painting and decorating were introduced in the Miles Standish Prevocational Center with the idea that graduates of the center might pursue this trade further at the Boston Trade School. For lack of room this department in the Boston Trade School was not established when the school was built.

The School Committee has shown interest in the building trades by making provision for several of them, including adequate provision for painting and decorating in the new wing of the Boston Trade School, for which plans have already been drawn and appropriation in part made. It is expected that these additional quarters will be ready for occupancy in September.

It is now proposed to transfer the painting and decorating class in the Miles Standish Prevocational Center to the new Washington Irving Intermediate School where it will have better facilities and where pupils will have opportunity to get acquainted with this trade either as manual training or more intensively in the mechanic arts course.

The Board of Superintendents is impressed with the presentation of the Society of Master House Painters and Decorators of Massachusetts and will endeavor to further the interests of the crafts represented as needs arise and opportunities present themselves.

Placed on file, and a copy of the report to be sent to the petitioners.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

The order laid over at the meeting of Feb. 4, 1924 (see p. 8) amending section 16 of the rules to provide that all meetings and hearings of the Board shall be public, was taken up.

In connection with the foregoing, Mr. Sullivan submitted for insertion in the minutes the following statement:

Public Right is paramount. Public Right is supreme when Public Right clashes with private convenience. In such conflict, private convenience must yield. The foregoing statements are the expression of a fundamental principle in American Government, so elementary that its acknowledgment without proof is universal.

Upon this principle is based my order which calls for open, public meetings, excepting however, certain, enumerated, specific cases of a nature universally accepted as peculiarly private.

The application here of this great American principle is as elementary as the principle itself and hence ought to be equally acceptable, without proof.

This Committee, in its nature, purpose, and jurisdiction is an elective, public body created to legislate and administer the affairs of our public schools, but this is public business and hence the business of the people. Therefore, this Committee should operate and function in the open. Its meetings should be public.

In this Committee, there should be no room for secrecy, less room for privacy, and more room for publicity.

In every American community there is an irresistible urge by the people for the policy of "open covenants openly arrived at" in all governmental affairs. This urge for the recognition of a popular, sovereign right is indeed justified. Witness the recent scandals of national proportions, all creatures of secrecy, that consume us. And secrecy has been the policy of this Committee for years!

This scheme of secrecy is a sad commentary on the rule my order seeks to amend. Section 16, paragraph 1, the rule under which the Committee now functions, says:

"The sessions of the Board as a rule shall be open, but the Board may at any time, by a majority vote, go into executive session. It shall, however, pass no votes in executive session."

I charge that the Committee has so corrupted this rule that its presence in the "Rules and Regulations" is a meaningless, useless superfluity. Else, the Committee in its violation of the Rule has been guilty of illegal practices. The exception has been made the Rule, and the Rule has been flouted and corrupted to read

"The Board shall always go into executive session for full consideration and full determination of all matters within its jurisdiction."

This Committee meets in conference (another name for executive session) every time it convenes, without the necessary majority vote, in defiance of the present rule.

Votes are passed in conference, against the rule's strict prohibition.

The conference "is the thing" wherein the destinies of our public schools are determined.

The custom of the conference has grown so strong, that every notice from the Secretary's office relative to the Committee meetings carries the word "conference" and sets forth the fact that the School Committee will meet in conference. The conference is carried on in strictest secrecy. No record kept. Press and Public ruled out. And so the scheme of secrecy is all comprehensive. And for this, the people pay $14,000,000 yearly; an increase of 90% since 1919, a short space of five years.

I pass over the bi-monthly "public" meeting. It is a mere incident. "Public" in name only, it is a public farce and mockery!

I now come to my order and its reception by this Committee. The order is self-explanatory. "No Secrecy—Less Privacy—More Publicity!"

What of its reception! The Public and the Press were expelled. The Committee went into conference, though the very subject matter of the order was against such conference.

I was then urged to withdraw my order and to stand by for several months to acquire atmosphere and experience. I refused because I declined to become a party in the scheme of secrecy. My order was then criticized because of my lack of formal "experience," for this human limitation; that I am unable to translate "future" into "present," I am sorry. The observation that pleased me most informed me that I was "most unusual" in that for the first time in memory, a new member had presented an order at his initial meeting.

The only objection that can stand the test of a second glance, and I anticipate this one, is on the ground that my order is too restrictive of the discretion resident in every governmental agency. Perhaps that is so, but it is better to restrict than to abuse. Let me recall that this Committee has abused its discretion, and restriction always follows abuse as here.

All the apologies, without exception, for the present policy of privacy and scheme of secrecy ultimately sound in "convenience"; that private meetings are more "convenient" than public meetings. In the same breath, the apologists in the committee assert that the people are not interested in their schools. If the people are not interested, I say, if this is so, it is so because of this committee's policy of exclusion, and program of privacy; that it is so because the public has been left on the "door-steps" so long, it has wearied of waiting for welcome. However, assuming that it is so, my order has an added appeal, for, in that event, we shall have public meetings with all the protections of public meetings and all the conveniences of private meetings. Truly, an ideal state! Aside from this, I repeat here, as I stated in conference, that my order is not based upon any assumption of public interest, but rather on the principle and fact of Public Right.

To the plea for "private convenience," I say that Public Right is always paramount and supreme. Of that, there can be no doubt; with that there can be no quarrel.

The issue is clear. On the one hand, the passage of my order for the Public Right and the public weal; on the other, its rejection for private convenience.

Mr. Chairman, and Members: The issue before you is all-important. The people of Boston love their schools and spend millions for their support. Our schools are the cornerstone of our community and this great Republic. They are the makers of our future citizens. There is no room in them for secrecy.

The "Dark Lantern," the "Star Chamber" should be but memory. They have no proper place in true American government.

The "convenient-conference" custom is the one thing that stands in the way between this Committee and the realization in the right, that "public business is the business of the public."

Placed on file.

The question came on the passage of the original order.

YEAS—Mr. Sullivan—1.

NAYS—Dr. Bogan, Miss Curtis and Mr. O'Hare—3.

ABSENT—Dr. Scannell—1.

The following was offered:

ORDERED, That the rules be amended as follows:

Section 16. 1. Strike out the words "as a rule" in the first and second lines so that the section will read as follows:

SECT. 16. 1. The sessions of the Board shall be open, but the Board may at any time, by a majority vote, go into executive session. It shall, however, pass no votes in executive session.

Laid over.

ADJOURNMENT.

The Board adjourned.

Attest:

ELLEN M. CRONIN,
Assistant Secretary.

OFFICIAL CHRONICLE OF MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

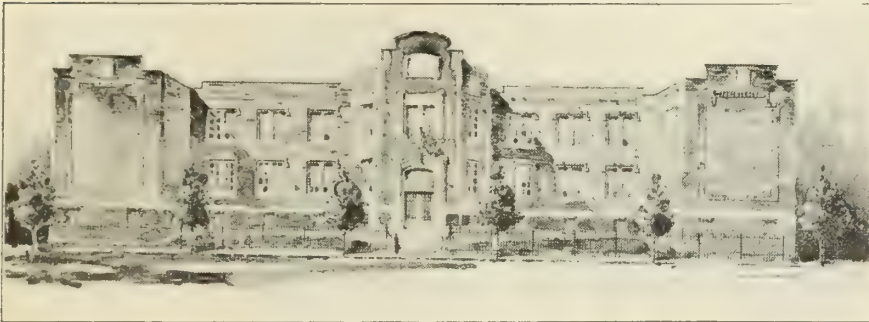

VOL. 16.

SATURDAY, MARCH 8, 1924.

No. 10

BOSTON'S ITALIAN CITIZENS PRAISE MAYOR CURLEY FOR DANTE SCHOOL.

ERECTION OF BUILDING NAMED AFTER GREAT POET OF ITALY, IN EAST BOSTON, DEEMED ESPECIALLY GREAT HONOR—BUILDING TO BE OCCUPIED IN FALL.

NEW DANTE ALIGHIERI SCHOOL IN EAST BOSTON, NEAREST FIRE-PROOF OF ANY IN CITY, SOON TO BE COMPLETED.

Boston citizens of Italian extraction are singing high praise to Mayor James M. Curley for his high-minded thoughtfulness in naming the school structure being erected at Gove and Paris streets, East Boston, the Dante Alighieri School.

Due to the growing need of schoolhouse accommodations, particularly that of the elementary grade, in the rapidly increasing residential district of East Boston, largely populated by those of Italian extraction, the project of building a most modern and up-to-date schoolhouse in this community to care for the younger children of the district was formulated by the city in 1921, and an appropriation of $200,000 was passed.

A favorable site was purchased at Gove and Paris streets, and measures taken to raze the existing structures on the land, clear the site and prepare for the construction of the greatly needed school. James Purdon was appointed architect to prepare the plans and supervise the execution of the work. The contract was awarded by his Honor Mayor James M. Curley on the 26th of March, 1923, to Messrs. John Bowen Company of Boston for the construction of the building.

In designing the structure, it was early impressed upon the architect by the Schoolhouse Commission that unusual efforts should be directed towards securing the maximum of southern exposure and sunlight in the several school rooms, at the same time with the least waste possible in floor area. With what success this object was attained may be judged by the fact that whereas a customary ratio of 75 per cent for morning sunlit schoolrooms in respect to total schoolrooms involved has not been an uncommon proportion in such elementary schoolhouses as the city has hitherto erected, in the Dante Alighieri School 100 per cent of morning sunlit schoolrooms has been secured; at the same time with less waste of floor area than has been attained in previous structures.

The importance of this consideration is seen in the fact that it not only gives the children in every schoolroom of this building their full measure of sunshine, but permits a large proportion of the lot to be devoted to a sunny playground for their use; which has been provided on the southerly side of the building.

While considerations of sunshine were stressed in the development of the Dante Alighieri School, measures of the most modern sort in the matter of fire prevention, sanitation, heating and ventilation were not overlooked in the planning of its construction. It can be said with truth that the Dante Alighieri School is the most fireproof of any yet erected by the City of Boston.

It is not only constructed throughout of brick, stone, tile, concrete and steel, but is the first Boston schoolhouse to introduce the use of steel trim throughout. Wooden door and window casings, baseboards, even picture moldings and blackboard chalk rails, have all been eliminated in this structure, and steel casings, moldings and rails substituted. Wide exits lead in three directions from the tiled corridors of the building. Each of the corridor staircases is of masonry and steel construction throughout, and leads directly outdoors.

In the matter of heating and ventilation, the most modern apparatus has been installed. All heat is delivered into the schoolrooms through fresh-air ducts, thermostatically controlled to afford even

MAYOR CURLEY NOT ACTIVE IN MOVE TO TRANSFER VETERANS.

DENIES CITY IS BEHIND EFFORT TO HURRY SHIFTING OF WAR VICTIMS TO NORTHAMPTON—HAS FOUGHT TO KEEP THEM NEAR RELATIVES.

Mayor Curley strongly refutes the assertion that he has any intention of pushing the transfer of disabled soldiers from the Veterans' Hospital in West Roxbury to Northampton in order to make room for inmates of the almshouse on Long Island. He announced this on his return to the mayoral duties after a month's vacation in Florida. He declared that the government was under no pressure from him to hasten its departure from the hospital.

If the city sells Deer Island to Massachusetts for a state prison, transferring the prisoners now there to Long Island, the plan is to send the chronic cases at present on Long Island to the Elks Hospital on Parker Hill and to move the inmates of the almshouse to the West Roxbury plant.

It was intimated that Mayor Curley wanted the West Roxbury hospital vacated by the government as soon as possible in order to make his plan possible and that his influence, in part, was responsible for the decision of the Veterans' Bureau, later reconsidered, to transfer the patients to Northampton.

The Mayor denied that he had exerted any influence to have the veterans transferred. He states that aside from arguments on the transfer that could be adduced one way or the other, there were so many circumstances still in the way of his plan, that moving the veterans for some time yet could have no effect on the city's project.

TO CHANGE STREET NAME.

The Mayor has approved the following orders of the Board of Street Commissioners:

That the name of the public way known as East Broadway, South Boston district, from Dorchester street to Faragut road, and the name of the public way known as West Broadway, South Boston district, from Dorchester avenue to Dorchester street, be changed to and that they be hereafter known as Broadway.

That the name of the public way known as Smyrna street, Roxbury district, between Brookline avenue and Binney street, be changed to and that it be hereafter known as Deaconess road.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

MAYOR CURLEY MAKES NEW OFFER TO STATE IN PRISON SALE MATTER.

FOLLOWING REPORT OF CITY'S REPRESENTATIVE ON COMMITTEE ON PURCHASE OF DEER ISLAND AS SITE FOR STATE "TOMBS" SUGGESTS TAKING BY EMINENT DOMAIN AND LEAVING DECISION ON PRICE TO JURY.

Mayor Curley sent the following letter March 5:

HON. GEORGE H. ELLIS, Chairman Commission for the Relocation of State Prison, State House, Boston:

MY DEAR MR. ELLIS,—I beg to present herewith report submitted this day by Mr. Maurice H. Maney, the representative of the City of Boston, appointed by me to serve as one of the committee of three to determine the price at which the property used for prison purposes in Boston Harbor, known as Deer Island, might be sold to the state for use by the Commonwealth as a state's prison.

Perusal of the report of Mr. Maney would indicate that the representative of the Commonwealth, serving as one of the referees to determine the price, namely, Mr. Homer Loring, has at no time been desirous of complying with the wishes of well-intentioned women and men of the Commonwealth interested in providing humane conditions for the criminals of the Commonwealth incarcerated in the State Prison at Charlestown.

Actuated by a desire to aid in changing a condition that is foreign to present day thought and a blot on the fair name of the Commonwealth in the matter of treatment of the criminal element of the population, the City of Boston has stood ready at all times to accept such tender for the property at Deer Island as might be equitable, the sum submitted by the referee appointed by the city after most careful investigation being $1,676,868.96. Mr. Maney, representing the City of Boston, in his communication sets forth my opinion with reference to the position of the city upon this project, namely, "that a fair business offer that would benefit the state without penalizing the city, even though that offer might be less than the detailed estimate of the value of the property, under the circumstances would be considered as equitable and proper.

I accordingly take this occasion to submit such offer and trust that your commission in its recommendation will include a proviso covering the offer which is here submitted, namely, that the City of Boston will sell the property as is to the Commonwealth for the sum of $1,200,000. In the event that the Commission for the Relocation of State's Prison, of which you are chairman, does not look with favor upon the tender of the City of Boston I can see no objection to a proviso in the bill which the commission may recommend providing for the taking of this property by eminent domain and for the determination of the price by a jury.

Very truly yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor.

The following letter and report was received March 5 from Maurice H. Maney, with reference to the sale of Deer Island:

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Pursuant to your instructions of December 13, 1923, and added to at various times, by conferences with you and Penal Commissioner Johnson, I have performed the work assigned to wit: I have made an appraisal and quantity survey of the Deer Island property, as to land, building and equipment, and I submit herewith my detailed report of same.

I have at all times kept in mind your wish, that I, as the representative of the City of Boston should be fair and just in my appraisal and to see that the assets entrusted to me for valuation purposes be conserved, and that while the city was anxious to aid the state in a solution of her state prison problem, still a fair return for this or any other asset of the city must accrue in any proposed transfer. Bearing in mind your desire to assent to a fair business offer, that would benefit the state without penalizing the city, I have agreed to a price lower than my detailed estimate, despite my judgment that the property is worth the full amount of the estimate. The reason for such an assent upon my part was due to an earnest desire to assist the state and to bring to a conclusion the results of more than two months' work.

A contributing and positive reason for this concession was that the proposed transfer would inure to the benefit of the taxpayers in general as the money paid would still remain public money, and the receipt of the money by the City of Boston would aid her taxpayers. Further, as Boston is the largest contributor to the state tax, she would again benefit by a lower state tax through a lower cost for a new state prison.

My associates on the commission, Messrs. Loring and Coonley met the question from their own particular angle. Mr. Coonley, the neutral member, endeavored to reconcile the differences existing, while Mr. Loring representing his Excellency Governor Cox, assumed his usual attitude of economy, if not antagonism, to the entire matter.

Mr. Coonley furnished an estimate of $851,160 and in his letter accompanying same he says: "In stating a price for the land, I have not felt that I could use values either for residential or industrial purposes, as it seems out of the question that this property will ever be available for either of these purposes. It seems to me that its value must be judged for prison purposes only, and that consideration must be given to the fact that for this purpose the property is no longer needed by the city, and is available to the state." Again Mr.

Coonley expressed a desire verbally, to agree on a value of $1,200,000 provided Governor Cox and Mr. Loring would assent. Therefore it appears that the opinion of the Governor and Mr. Loring would tend to influence Mr. Coonley's final figures.

Mr. Loring set a value of $513,000, and there it rests. No give—no take. Simply $513,000 based upon personal opinion and that alone, as far as we can judge, as not a single detail, quantity or other information was offered to substantiate the value as given. It is true that in answer to some comments made by me he asserted, as you will note by inclosed correspondence, that others had assisted him, but if other than opinionated form was available to him through this assistance, the commissioner was denied the knowledge. Expansion of his values or ideas seems beyond hope.

Therefore it is apparent that the commission as at present constituted cannot agree, and the cause for this in my opinion is based upon the fact that Mr. Loring fully places Boston as an anxious seller, desiring to dispose of something which is of no value to the city, and is desirous of having the state take over the property. In all, he, as the state representative, wants to drive a "sharp bargain." The acts of Mr. Coonley are not the same by any manner of means, but that this idea of the anxious seller and the indifferent buyer has gained root in his mind is apparent, from his letter attached herewith.

Personally I cannot view the matter in that light. I view it as of at least equal benefit to the state, and believe the determination of value should be based upon the assumption of equal benefit. To this end I have labored and hoped, but I am forced to the conclusion that we cannot agree, and in our failure to agree we deny the City of Boston and the State of Massachusetts a great benefit.

I am of the opinion that the acquisition of Deer Island by act of the Legislature will place an amount as a value at least equal to the sum named in my original estimate, and I recommend that you await legislative action.

Respectfully,
MAURICE H. MANEY.

URGES GREATER USE OF PORT OF BOSTON BY MANUFACTURERS OF STATE.

MAYOR CURLEY TELLS MEMBERS OF FITCHBURG CHAMBER OF COMMERCE INDUSTRY OF STATE MISSING BIG OPPORTUNITY FOR REACHING MARKETS OF WORLD AT LOWEST COST BY IGNORING FACILITIES AT DOOR AND SENDING GOODS OVER LONG HAULS BY RAIL.

Mayor Curley delivered the following address March 6 before the Fitchburg Chamber of Commerce at Fitchburg:

Fitchburg is an industrial city and lives by transforming raw materials into finished products and marketing them. Almost every city and town in Massachusetts and New England is in the same category; and their continued existence and prosperity depend upon the two most vital elements in industry, transportation and markets. If Fitchburg cannot find a market in which to sell its products it must shut up shop, stop production and discharge its workers, for industry is a business not a philanthropy; and it can only function and flourish in a normal round of activity, which is expressed by raw materials, manufactured products and sales, in regular markets on profitable terms; and these things, everything else being equal, mean continuous production for the enterprise and constancy of work and wages for the worker.

The second and equally important element in industry is transportation facilities to carry the manufactured product from mill to consumer. If the transportation by rail, or water, or both, be efficient with service reasonably rapid, direct and safe, and at rates that are fair to the carrier and the producer, the industry will have its opportunity to enter the market on measurably equal terms with its competitors.

If transportation is satisfactorily serving industry and markets are absorbing its products the question of competition between manufacturers becomes finally not so much a matter of prices as of quality of product.

Today America is producing enough in seven months to supply the domestic home market with all its needs and if our industries are to function, all the year found markets outside of the United States must be found to absorb the product of the other five months. If not, either industry must remain idle for that five months and the workers be without work and wages for the same period; or our government must help to create and sustain by subsidies a merchant marine to carry our surplus products to the foreign, competitive market.

Every industry in New England has felt and is feeling the need of these foreign markets; and in order to get the full benefits of them, we must wake up to our opportunities and secure the commercial advantages lying at our doors, and utilize in our trade and commerce the natural door of New England, the Port of Boston.

Why should Fitchburg if she desires to reach the markets of Europe, Asia, South and Central America, and our own Pacific Coast markets, be compelled to use a long, slow, expensive railroad haul to New York preparatory to using maritime transportation, when the Port of Boston is right at its door, with the finest maritime facilities on the coast and a day nearer to the markets it wishes to reach than any other port on the Atlantic seaboard.

The interests of Fitchburg and Boston are identical; the prosperity of one is reflected in the other; when adversity comes to the interior communities of New England Boston feels it. When the people of Fitchburg realize this elementary truth, when they understand that railroads are made for the service of the people and that the people and their industries are not made for the railroads, they will begin to learn they are not getting what they are entitled to. The marketing of the products of Fitchburg should be done through Boston, because it can be done more efficiently and expeditiously by Boston than by the expensive and congested port of New York, and this statement applies to a majority of the industrial communities of New England.

The advantages which Massachusetts industrial cities and towns fail to see and avail themselves of in the Port of Boston are attracting the attention of wide-awake Westerners, who are coming to Boston to invest and take advantage of the growth and future prosperity of the city which our own people are blind to. Henry Ford, one of the shrewdest and most successful men of business in the world, is about to build a great branch of his industry in Boston. He is a keen student of transportation and its relation to industry; he knows that the lines of least resistance are always followed by commerce; and he is coming to Boston with his export business for the same reason that he has bought railroads and organized barge-freight service on the Mississippi, because it is the best point on the coast for his foreign trade. Is it not about time the people of Massachusetts wakened up to this fact? And instead of scaling hills and traveling in round-about ways to carry their goods to market they may save time, temper and money by using their own port. What is good enough for men of vision and industrial shrewdness like Ford should be good enough for Fitchburg and the rest of us.

The Port of Boston has the safest and most commodious harbor on the North Atlantic seaboard; it is free from the hazards of ice and fog 365 days in the year, and for the purpose of commerce by sea it is most advantageously situated, being a full day nearer to the markets of Europe, Asia, South America and our own Pacific Coast than any other Atlantic seaport, and yet through some combination of circumstances—the blindness of her merchants and manufacturers, the greed and short-sightedness of railroad management, and the deliberate injustice and usurpation of authority on the part of the Interstate Commerce Commission—New England has been deprived of the advantages such a port gives her, her commerce turned into other channels and the sources and springs of her prosperity dried up.

Boston is the gateway of New England, the port through which naturally all her overseas commerce should flow, and through which it must flow, when this part of the world recovers its courage and abandons its pessimism, unless New England is ready to lie down and surrender its traditions of Yankee self-sufficiency, energy and pluck to the counsels of greed, discouragement and treachery.

If New England will hearken to the voices of those who preach industrial defeat, who set dividends above duty to humanity, who find in overworked and underpaid labor the manufacturer's ideal, and who would abandon the soil upon which American liberty was born and cradled for the lands where slavery once flourished and its traditions still survive, then her industries and her mercenaries will go South, but if New England will be true to herself and her inheritance and turn her face to the sea from which the foundations of her fortune came, refusing to debase her workers, depending upon their skill and intelligence to triumph industrially over the product of sweated labor, her industries will remain here to thrive and expand.

New England faced the competition of slave labor a century ago until she aided Lincoln to destroy slavery and liberate the slave; she can and will face the competition of the semi-slave labor of the South to-day until American justice and humanity place the sweated and soul-starved operative of that region on an economic equality with his New England brother.

New England is a land of industrial courage; there is no place here for pessimism; and if some of the big textile concerns are heading South to capitalize the industrial evils of that region, there remains here a body of men and industries with faith in our principles and practices and who see sunshine and success all about us. These laugh at the croakers; they are multiplying and expanding what they have and hold; they are in every community in Massachusetts; and they represent the spirit of hope and the soul of resolution that have made New England and will never lower its flag to the forces of reaction. Upward and onward is the motto of the real factors in industrial New England, the men who look forward, not backward, and whose traditions and ideals are New England's.

They will never consent to drop to the Southern level; rather will they insist that the South by humane and progressive legislation be brought up to our heights and kept abreast of that American standard which has always found its leadership in the men and influences of New England. Our real leaders have faith in themselves and New England; they make conditions and are masters of them; they laugh at discouragement; obstacles are things they grapple with and overcome; the hilltop is their goal; and these are the men we will follow.

The germ of New England's industrial and commercial restoration and dominance is the Port of Boston; the utilization of its facilities, the grasping of its advantages, and the education of our people will compel the conditions that produce these results; for this fact is written into the experience of our Commonwealth, Boston is the barometer of economic New England; when New England is busy Boston is prosperous; when Boston lags, when her commerce is meager, New England is idle and unemployment stalks in the Commonwealth. Every community in New England whether it realizes it or not is linked up with the fortunes of the Port of Boston.

Industrial America has its good days and its poor ones. What it must have, and what it can have, if America is to be prosperous and happy, is industrial constancy which means the banishment of unemployment and work and wages all the year round for the worker. The alarming feature of New England industry is not the migration of the industrial sweaters to the South, but the fact that American industry is able to supply the American domestic market by seven months' labor, and knowledge that unless other and foreign markets are secured to absorb the product of the other five months, we are faced by conditions perilous to the peace and safety of the country. A republic like the United States, which is a democracy, where universal suffrage is the law and majorities rule, cannot with safety face an industrial condition where the workers work only seven months a year and are idle five.

Industrial unemployment for five months in the year is a pretty dangerous problem; the majorities which rule here are the men and women who work; and unless human nature reverses the experience of the ages, an idle majority which holds the government in the hollow of its hand will not go hungry in the days of unemployment because Congress has been too stupid and inefficient to provide the conditions to prevent industrial idleness.

The overseas markets, if they are to serve American industry, must be reached by an American merchant marine that sails under the American citizens, and is enabled by American law and maritime conditions to meet the competition of every commercial rival on the seven seas. Trade follows the flag of the carrier and American commerce can only be made possible and profitable when it is protected and safeguarded as amply resolutely as we protect our industries, help agriculture, assist education and give aid to a hundred other activities.

Today such foreign commerce as we have is carried under foreign flags, in alien ships, heavily subsidized by their governments and having standards of wages and living inferior to ours. We pay them to carry our commerce and they see to it that we eat at the second table in the foreign market when we are allowed to eat at all. The money we pay foreign cargo carriers would go a long way towards sustaining an American merchant marine, and if our government would subsidize our ships to enable them to meet the conditions prevailing in foreign navies, we could carry American goods into foreign markets and find consumers for the five months' production surplus, which would mean constancy of work and wages for our workers, profitable employment and production for our industries, and the end of the ugly threat of unemployment that hangs over us at all times.

It is for us to impress upon our representatives in Congress that there must be no politics in industry and commerce; the things that concern our homes and happiness, that bring peace and contentment to the worker and his family must not be made a football for Republicans and Democrats; and the building up of a merchant marine and its full protection by law and subsidy is a duty Congress must devote its energies to.

Our Congressmen must so act that Boston Harbor will be busy with the traffic of American ships, carrying the products of our industries to all parts of the world and returning with the raw materials of industry. This is the only method by which we can secure foreign markets for American productive industry.

It is equally important to see that our transportation facilities to and from the granaries of the West are not handicapped by the favoritism and injustice of the Interstate Commerce Commission, which in all its dealings with Boston is unfair. It has set up schedules of rates for grain and other food products that prevent shipments through Boston freely enough to insure ballast cargoes for ships that come to Boston, and sends them to other ports. Only by constant hammering on our Congressmen and an insistence that they stop talking about matters of little moment to our interests can we get any action in Washington. This Fitchburg Chamber of Commerce must do its share in bombarding Congress; and if it will consult its best and most permanent industrial good it will ship its products direct to Boston for distribution.

In helping Boston you are helping Fitchburg and its industrial welfare; in shipping from ports a long way from home, you are hurting Fitchburg, hurting New England industry, and by putting needless burdens on it you are helping the mercenary and treacherous game of the Boston deserters who are running textile sweat shops down South.

The other day in London the British shipping concerns had a meeting; they represent a very practical, unsentimental body of maritime adventurers, who retain a well-paid lobby in Washington to fight American shipping interests; and one of their speakers congratulated the meeting on what he called the failure of the United States Shipping Board and its plans, and the defeat of President Harding's demand for a subsidy for American ships. He was too prudent to say what the gathering knew, that the British merchant marine interest had supplied much of the money that was spent to destroy America's merchant marine in an American Congress. Men who were traitors to the flag and country were shot for it the other day; and yet this open and impudent betrayal, of the most vital concern of American commerce and industry—the American merchant marine—hardly caused a ripple in Washington. If the Senatorial and Congressional representatives who are roaring and investigating around Washington will get after the shipping lobby and their friends in Congress and Wall street and run them out of this country for good and ever, they will do the United States more good than if they landed every greasy and corrupt oil rogue on this continent in jail. Benedict Arnold is dead; but the American bankers and lawyers who accept foreign pay to destroy American industry are a meaner breed than Arnold.

Boston needs a well-equipped, well-conditioned, well-protected merchant marine; it has the harbor, the docks, the piers, the facilities and instrumentalities for handling a great and growing commerce, domestic and foreign. The growth and expansion of that commerce, the markets it will give to industry of all kinds, will mean a new era of prosperity for this Commonwealth, a busy, contented and ever increasing body of workers, hope in their hearts and happiness in their homes.

New England is a rugged land, a stern mother, and a constant demonstration of the poet's dictum that a nation's real wealth lies in men not acres. What New England has and is, she owes to her courage, resolution, determination and unconquerable optimism; she has transformed all her hazards into helps; controlled her own destiny and dictated her own destination; she has led not followed since the nation was born; and though her sons have gone out to carry her principles everywhere, she has retained her headship.

Our work in industry lies along the higher levels of skill and intelligence, and the task of educating the less progressive sections of America up to our standards of sanity and humanity, and teaching them the unchanging verdict of all the ages—that the betterment of civilization and all its activities lies in the betterment of man and his condition. If the true glory and greatness of America are to be realized it will be done by following the hard trails that lead to the mountain top. The Commonwealth of Massachusetts cannot go South. The South must come here for its legislative models and industrial models; for wherever her money bags and mediocrities may go, her brains and leadership still function here.

Have faith in Massachusetts and her manhood; have pride in them; they have never failed us; they never will. Courage, hard work, dogged persistence and invincible optimism have made us in the past; they must sustain us today; and be our asset always.

Stand up, Fitchburg, and be counted; join hands with Boston and your sister communities, that industry and commerce may flourish in this Commonwealth and New England energy may bear fruit.

See to it that your leaders here and in Washington labor single-mindedly for these ends; that they shall permit no injury or lack of fair play to come to us; that our legitimate aims and ends in commerce and industry may be achieved; and if they fail you, get rid of them.

The fortunes of Boston and Fitchburg and every New England community are inseparably linked; we wax and wane together, for over and above our individual fortunes lies the common weal, the Commonwealth of which we are the units.

God save the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

DANTE ALIGHIERI SCHOOL.

temperatures; and each such room, including the sanitarium, is ventilated through electrically-driven fan-operated ducts discharging the impure air out into the open above the roof. A secondary heating unit of direct radiation has also been installed, for use in mild weather when windows are largely open, or when occasion eliminates the necessity for the operation of the full heating and ventilating equipment above described.

So far as the exterior of the building is concerned, little effort was made in the direction of elaborateness or ornateness of design or detail; it being regarded as more desirable to restrain the developments of the facades to simple, dignified and effective mass treatments. Pattern work in the brick walls, suggestive of the artisanship seen here and there in Italy, together with the occasional use of colored tiles as not infrequently seen in Italian architecture, has been introduced at effective points; and some emphasis has been placed on the carved stone entrance of the main doorway and central pavilion; but otherwise the exterior remains a composition only of simple red brick over a light granite stone base, relieved with buff Indiana limestone trimmings.

The first unit of the building, consisting of eight schoolrooms accommodating some 40-50 children each, it is expected will be ready for occupancy for the opening of the fall term this year.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR AND INDUSTRIES REPORT.

Business at the Public Employment Office during the month of February, with its twenty-four working days, showed a decided drop from that of the previous month, and when compared with February of a year ago there was an even greater falling off.

During the month the number of people called for by employers was 939, a decrease of 74, or 7 per cent, from January and a decrease of 369, or 28 per cent, from February of a year ago. The number of positions reported filled was 808, a decrease of 112, or 12 per cent, from January, and a decrease of 242, or 23 per cent, from February, 1923. General Order No. 12.

I. CHIEF OFFICERS.

The following changes in the designation of chief officers are hereby ordered to become effective at 8 a. m., March 7, 1924:

First Deputy Chief Daniel F. Sennott to assistant chief of department.

Second Deputy Chief Henry A. Fox to first deputy chief.

Third Deputy Chief Walter M. McLean to second deputy chief.

Fourth Deputy Chief Edward J. Shallow to third deputy chief.

Fifth Deputy Chief Albert J. Caulfield to fourth deputy chief.

Sixth Deputy Chief Joseph A. Dolan to fifth deputy chief.

Seventh Deputy Chief Frank A. Sweeney to sixth deputy chief.

The assistant chief of department will continue to perform the duties already assigned to him, and in the absence of the chief of department at fires or on leave he will be in command of the fire-fighting force.

The assistant chief of department will continue to respond to alarms assigned to him in department running card as first deputy chief when not assigned to special duties.

The rules governing deputy chiefs will operate as formerly concerning these officers.

II. TOWER CLOCKS.

Owing to certain difficulties that have arisen in the winding of tower clocks since the installation of the two-platoon system, company commanders will not assign over three men in companies that care for clocks to wind them. Where necessary special instructions will be given regarding winding, setting and care, and commanding officers will endeavor to avoid assigning inexperienced men for this work.

III. DRILL SCHOOL.

The Department Drill School for probationers will begin on Monday, March 10, 1924. Each class will attend the school for a term of thirty working days, Sundays and holidays excepted. There will be three sessions of the school daily, namely, 8.30 a. m., 10.30 a. m. and 1 p. m.

One fifth of the probationers in each district will attend the first term and be assigned to the three sessions as equally as possible. The remaining four fifths will be assigned when requested. The district chief in charge of each district will make the assignments, and deputy chiefs will forward consolidated lists of all classes to headquarters. By this method there will be five terms of three classes to a term, fifteen classes in all, of approximately fifteen members to a class. Where a district has more than fifteen probationers it will be necessary to double up on some of the classes, but if less than that number the deputy chief will make the assignments in the interest of the division.

Probationers will attend daily whether on or off duty and no term shall be interrupted by vacation periods. Those attending the school must take their vacations before or after attending.

IV. THE FIRE CARD.

Instructions for the use of the fire card, and sample cards will be distributed with this order. One instruction sheet will be given to each officer, and one sample card will be distributed as follows:

One to each division headquarters, one to each district headquarters, one to each company commander.

Inasmuch as there are not sample cards enough to go around, company commanders not receiving same will make a copy of the card at district headquarters.

These cards are issued in order that department officers may have at hand the physical conditions of the various buildings in their districts. They are to be put in operation immediately in accordance with instructions.

By order of Fire Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn.

JOHN O. TABER,
Chief of Department.

MAYOR CURLEY BREAKS THROUGH WASHINGTON "RED TAPE" TO UNITE COUPLE.

MOVED BY SYMPATHY FOR VETERAN OF WORLD WAR AND HEROINE NURSE-BRIDE HE CUTS DIPLOMATIC KNOT THAT BARRED WIFE OF FRED W. BURPEE FROM ENTERING COUNTRY.

A beautiful story reached a successful conclusion in the Mayor's office which for romance and chivalry unfolds in its narrative a story worthy of the pen of Balzac, Hugo or Dumas, in which through the kind intervention of Mayor Curley a gallant soldier and a little nurse from the British Isles are again united after suffering as many hardships and burdens as came to the famous lovers of the houses of Montague and Capulet in the wondrous days of Verona, and which Shakespeare has pictured.

When the World War began Fred W. Burpee, a young mechanic, was living at 22 East Springfield street, Boston. He was a British subject who had filed his first naturalization papers, and who intended to make Boston his permanent home.

At the outbreak of the war Mr. Burpee lost no time in enlisting in the Sixth Canadian Mounted Rifles, a military organization which gave a most meritorious service throughout the period of the war, and immediately departed overseas.

It appears that in the little town of Sydenham, England, there was living when the World War began Miss Marian E. Auge, who had had some experience as a professional nurse, and who enlisted for service in France under the colors of Great Britain. Mr. Burpee, with other members of the Sixth Canadian Mounted Rifles, threw himself into the holocaust of war in France and was wounded and invalided to an emergency hospital upon the firing line of the allied forces. He had been an especially gallant soldier, ever and always in the front line of war service, and it so happened that Miss Auge ministered to his sufferings. After recovery from his wounds Mr. Burpee again rejoined his regiment, and served during the remaining period of the World War. Before departing from France, however, for his home in Boston, Mr. Burpee plighted his troth with Miss Auge, and assured her after he had re-established himself in civilian life in Boston he would send for her and they would be married here. When Mr. Burpee finally secured passage upon a military transport for the United States, he found that the distinguished military service which he had given in France in behalf of his native land had resulted in a physical disability far greater than he had imagined, and he entered a military hospital at Kentville, Nova Scotia, where he remained during a period of somewhat extended convalescence.

Returning to Boston, Mr. Burpee entered the service of the Boston & Maine Railroad, and was assigned to their shops at Billerica, Mass., where he has been an especially faithful employee. True to his promise, he sent for Miss Auge and provided passage funds to the United States, and, arriving in Montreal, Canada, the soldier and his little sweetheart were married upon November 20, 1923. They remained in Montreal some few days visiting points of interest, and finally departed on the evening train for Boston.

The happiness of the couple, however, proved to be only short-lived. Inspectors of the United States Government boarded the Montreal train for Boston at Newport, Vt., and removed Mr. and Mrs. Burpee on the allegation that her entry into the United States was out of the question by reason that the quota from the British Isles had been exhausted under the terms of the Dillingham-Burnett immigration bill and further that no consul representing the State Department at Washington had vised a passport in behalf of the little bride.

In the bitter cold of a Vermont winter morning Mr. and Mrs. Burpee found shelter, and slowly retraced their steps to Canada, where Mrs. Burpee found temporary shelter with relatives at 21 Grandville avenue, Mt. Denis, Toronto. Mr. Burpee returned to his employment at Billerica, and exhausted every means at his command to secure entry of his wife to the United States. No day passed but what he renewed his efforts but always without result.

In despair, Mrs. Margaret C. Trenholm, resident at 22 East Springfield street, the mother of Mr. Burpee, appealed to Mayor Curley in the premises. Mayor Curley immediately referred the facts in the case to Hon. W. W. Husband, Commissioner-General, Bureau of Immigration, Department of Labor, Washington, who advised that the exclusion of Mrs. Burpee was mandatory, by reason of the quota provisions of the Dillingham-Burnett Act. Mayor Curley reopened the case, declaring to the Secretary of Labor that the subjects of another nation had met a cruel and intolerant outrage in being forcibly removed from a train at dawn, when even if Mrs. Burpee was inadmissible for entry to the United States, she should have been allowed to proceed to Boston, where a hearing might be held before the immigration authorities, and the Mayor further declared his belief that, notwithstanding what might be the interpretation of the law by representatives of the Department of Labor, there should be no separation of a husband and wife except for crime or physical impairment; that the only reward which Mr. Burpee had received for most meritorious military service as a member of the Sixth Canadian Mounted Rifles, and which Mrs. Burpee had enjoyed by reason of splendid service as a nurse during the period of the World War, was a forced removal from their train while journeying to Boston from Montreal, and that in the enforcement of the law as interpreted by Secretary James J. Davis of the Department of Labor at Washington, "preference should be given to wives, parents, brothers and sisters, fiancées, and children under eighteen years of age," of aliens who had declared their intention of becoming American citizens; that Mr. Burpee had first papers of naturalization; that he had established a legal domicile in Boston, and that both the soldier and the little bride were to be separated, and compelling Mr. Burpee to maintain a home for himself in Boston and another for his wife in Canada. On a review of the case Commissioner-General Husband sustained Mayor Curley's premises that a domiciled alien had a right to bring his wife into the United States, provided the Department of State at Washington would authorize a vise of Mrs. Burpee's passport.

Mayor Curley immediately presented Mr. Burpee with a letter of presentation to Hon. Chester W. Martin, Consul of the United States at Toronto, Canada, where Mrs. Burpee was temporarily resident, rehearsing the circumstances in the case, and requesting that he issue the necessary vise. Mayor Curley then directed his attention to Hon. Edward F. Gray, British Consul at Boston, and to Hon. Auckland Geddes, ambassador of Great Britain at the British Embassy, Washington, D. C. After outlining the case Mayor Curley laid special emphasis upon the fact that two deserving subjects of Great Britain had been forcibly removed from a train while passengers in a friendly and neutral country; that the true conditions of admission of all immigrants were those of character and physical qualifications; that the only reward which the gallant soldier of the Sixth Canadian Mounted Rifles and the devoted little nurse had received from Great Britain was their ejection from the Montreal-Boston express in the severity of a winter morning, and what would be the conditions if England were again involved in war and worthy volunteers were compelled to suffer such intolerant cruelty and outrage. Ambassador Geddes presented the case to Hon. Charles Evans Hughes, Secretary of State and indorsing Mayor Curley's viewpoint in the Burpee case.

It further appears that Consul Martin consulted the State Department at Washington relative to Mayor Curley's request. It appears that Secretary Hughes gave the case of the present-day Romeo and Juliet a very careful personal consideration, and has now ruled that a domiciled alien may proceed to Canada for the purpose of bringing his wife to the United States, and, notwithstanding the fact that Mrs. Burpee was not eligible to a vise in Canada until she had resided for one year in the Dominion, advises that the entire question of the quota-exemption status of all immigrants must be determined by the United States Supreme Court, and that he has instructed Consul Martin at Toronto that a waiver should be extended Mrs. Burpee of the one year's residence requirement, pending the appeal to the United States Supreme Court, and Mrs. Burpee allowed to proceed to Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Burpee are at present in Western Canada, and in a few days the Montreal express will arrive at the North Station, and the gallant soldier of distinguished military service and his little bride will walk down the platform and make their home in Billerica, thanks to four months of devoted labor by Mayor Curley in behalf of their reunion. The case appears to be without precedent, and the entire question of the constitutional rights of a domiciled alien in the United States are affected. Mayor Curley is firm in his opinion that his contention that there can be no legal separation of husband and wife other than by reason of crime or physical impairment will be sustained by the highest judicial tribunal in the land, and that his long labors for Mr. and Mrs. Burpee will prove successful.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.

Monday, February 25, 1924.

Regular meeting of the City Council, held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at two o'clock p. m., President DONOGHUE in the chair and all the members present.

REPORT OF BUDGET COMMISSIONER.

The following was received:

City of Boston.

Office of the Mayor, February 25, 1924.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I submit herewith report of Budget Commissioner relative to the order adopted by your honorable body under date of January 21, 1924.

Respectfully,

JOHN A. DONOGHUE,
Acting Mayor.

City of Boston,

Budget Department, February 25, 1924.

Hon. John A. Donoghue,

Acting Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Under date of January 21, 1924, the following order was passed by the City Council:

"Ordered, That the Budget Commissioner, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to inform the City Council whether or not it is feasible to use the receipts for the use of the public golf links at Franklin Park for the improvement of said links"

In reply to this order I would say that it is not feasible to use income received at the public golf links for the improvement of said links, since such a practice would be in direct violation of section 6, of chapter 6 of the revised Ordinances, as amended by chapter 3 of the ordinances of 1916, which provides that the City Auditor upon receipt of any departmental income "shall credit such amount to the general revenue of the city," and not to the department responsible for the receipt.

Yours respectfully,

CHARLES J. FOX,
Budget Commissioner.

Paced on file.

REMODELING OF WEST ROXBURY COURTHOUSE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, February 5, 1924.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am in receipt of the attached communication from the Superintendent of Public Buildings relative to additional funds for the remodeling of the West Roxbury Courthouse and I accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Public Buildings Department,
February 4, 1924.

Hon. James M. Curley,

Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I respectfully request that the following transfer be made in the special appropriations of the Public Buildings Department:

From the appropriation for Courthouse, Forest Hills, Site, $3,000, to the appropriation for Courthouse, West Roxbury, Remodeling, $3,000.

This request is made owing to an exigency which was discovered only when they were excavating for the foundation. The thought was that the foundation was carried to the same depth all the way around, but it was found later that certain parts of the building were not as deep, hence it was necessary to carry same down.

Respectfully yours,

FRED J. KNEELAND,
Superintendent of Public Buildings.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer:

From the appropriation for Court House, Forest Hills, Site, $3,000, to the appropriation for Court House, West Roxbury, Remodeling, $3,000.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

FEES OF REAL ESTATE EXPERTS.

The following was received:

The Finance Commission,

Boston, February 19, 1924.

Hon. James M. Curley,

Mayor of Boston:

Sir,—Prior to the taking of the land for a site for the new police headquarters building on Stuart street, the Street Commissioners employed John Beck, a real estate broker with offices at 30 State street, to appraise the land to be taken.

Mr. Beck submitted a report of his appraisal to the Street Commissioners on January 11, 1924. He testified before the Finance Commission that he based his appraisal on information obtained from William J. McDonald, the selling agent of the Park Square Trust, the owner of the land, as well as on his own knowledge of sales in that district, and on information obtained from brokers whom he believed to be familiar with recent sale prices in the Park Square section.

The Street Commissioners made no agreement with Mr. Beck when they employed him as to what his compensation should be. On January 15, 1924, he submitted a bill for his services in the sum of $750.

The Boston Real Estate Exchange, of which Mr. Beck testified he was a member, has established the following rates for appraisals of property in the absence of any special agreement:

SCHEDULE OF FEES.

On valuations up to $30,000.....$2.00 per thousand.
On excess up to $200,000..... 1.00 " "
On excess over $200,000..... .50 " "
Outside Boston and suburbs.....Special rates.
Minimum fee.....$25.00

Applying these rates to the price of the property fixed by the Street Commissioners, Mr. Beck's bill would be $324.

There are a great many real estate brokers and dealers doing business in the City of Boston who are competent to appraise real estate. In the past the Finance Commission has found occasion to avail itself of the services of some of them. In most cases they gave their services gratuitously. In those cases where compensation was accepted the amount was either left to the commission to fix, or was made in accordance with the rates established by the Boston Real Estate Exchange.

It is reported that Mr. Beck is the real estate expert for the city. The commission believes that no one should be employed exclusively by city officials for such advice or expert knowledge on real estate as the city may require from time to time. The commission believes that many very competent real estate men would be willing to serve the City of Boston for compensation based on the rates established by the Boston Real Estate Exchange.

The Finance Commission recommends:

1. That Mr. Beck be paid for his services for appraising the police headquarters site in accordance with the rates established by the Boston Real Estate Exchange.

2. That city departments requiring the services of real estate experts be not required to employ the same person in every instance.

3. That the rates established by the Boston Real Estate Exchange be used to determine the compensation for services rendered by real estate advisers in the absence of a special agreement.

Respectfully submitted,

THE FINANCE COMMISSION.

by MICHAEL H. SULLIVAN,
Chairman.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

PLAYGROUND, NORTH END.

Coun. HEALEY offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to transmit to the City Council a loan order for the purchase and equipment of a playground in the North End in lieu of the Baldwin place lot, which was transferred for a health unit in 1923.

Coun. HEALEY—Mr. President, if there is no objection I would like to ask that the rule be suspended so that this order may go upon its passage, because I think if there is any credit to be attached to it the Mayor ought to get the credit for sending in a loan order.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I do not object to the order, but I don't like the wording of it. It refers to agreements. Before I vote for the order I would like to know what the agreements are, and so forth and so on.

Coun. HEALEY—Why not send it to the Executive Committee?

Coun. WATSON—I am perfectly willing to vote for an order requesting the Mayor to send in an appropriation or loan for a playground in the North End to replace what has been taken, for the health of the community. But I don't want to vote for an order that involves a certain responsibility in the matter of knowing facts that I do not know. I think, therefore, that it might be referred to the Executive Committee, and I would suggest that action. Very likely amendments may then be made so that I would vote for the order.

Coun. HEALEY—Mr. President, that is very satisfactory. I know that I will have the co-operation and assistance of the councilor. That is perfectly satisfactory.

The order was referred to the Executive Committee.

LEGISLATION FOR MARTIN F. MULLEN.

Coun. BRICKLEY offered an order—That the City Council of the City of Boston hereby approved the enactment of legislation for the reinstatement of Martin F. Mullen in the Police Department.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

SIDEWALK, THEODORE PARKER ROAD.

Coun. WALSH offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along Theodore Parker road, both sides, from Weld street to Ardmore road, Ward 23, in front of the estates bordering thereon; said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone, with granite edgestones, under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

ORDINANCE, STREET RAILWAY CARS.

Coun. GILBODY offered the following:

City of Boston,
In the Year Nineteen Hundred and Twenty-four.

An Ordinance Concerning Street Railway Cars in Peabody Square.

Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston, as follows:

No company operating, and no person in charge of, a street railway car shall allow or permit any such car to stand in those portions of Dorchester avenue and Talbot avenue known as Peabody square, or to stop in said square except for the purpose of taking on or letting off passengers, or to avoid accident.

Coun. GILBODY—Mr. President, this ordinance is introduced in an effort to make some headway on behalf of the citizens of that part of Boston, and I think its operations will tend to relieve not only that section but other sections of the city. Peabody Square, Dorchester, as a majority of the members of the Council are aware, is one of the worst sections to go through in the summer time because of traffic conditions in the section, travel to the South Shore and other points along Cape Cod. The Elevated road has taken considerable space in that square, using it as a terminal against the wishes of the people of the section and the majority, if not all, of the business men of the section. In the last three months, acting in behalf of residents, I have requested the Elevated management to continue these cars for half a mile or so farther to a car barn and park them in the car barn. That would mean no great expense to the company. But they are unwilling to subscribe to such an idea. Therefore, at the behest of the people of the section I am introducing this order, because this Council does have power and jurisdiction over the trolley cars to a certain extent, as I have been informed, that opinion being supported by legal opinion in the matter. I move reference of the ordinance to the Committee on Ordinances.

Coun. BRICKLEY—Mr. President, it says here that they cannot stop in Peabody square except for the purpose of taking on or letting off passengers. Even a car standing there would be there for that purpose, I should say. Wouldn't you?

Coun. GILBODY—That wording is all right, I think, to accomplish the object that we have in mind.

The ordinance was referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

LOAN FOR COURTHOUSE, DORCHESTER.

Coun. GILBODY offered an order—That the sum of $350,000 be and the same is hereby appropriated for a new courthouse in Dorchester, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount for said purpose.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

MUNICIPAL BUILDING, CHARLESTOWN.

Coun. PURCELL offered an order—That the sum of five hundred thousand dollars be and the same is hereby appropriated, to be expended under the direction of the Superintendent of Public Buildings, for the erection of a new municipal building in Charlestown, and the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, upon direction of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

IMPROVEMENTS, COLUMBUS AVENUE PLAYGROUND.

Coun. WATSON offered an order—That the sum of fifty thousand dollars be and the same is hereby appropriated, to be expended under the direction of the Park Commissioners, to provide for the erection of a concrete stand and for other improvements for the Columbus Avenue Playground, and the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, upon direction of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

LOAN FOR MUNICIPAL BUILDING, WARD 5.

Coun. DONOGHUE offered an order—That the sum of $500,000 be hereby appropriated to be expended under the direction of the Park Department for a municipal building to be located in that part of Boston known as Ward 5, old Ward 8, and that to meet such expense the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENTS.

Coun. WALSH called up unfinished business, No. 1, viz.:

1. Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor February 18, 1924, of Charles Shrago, H. E. Bouchie and Clarence S. Roy, to be Weighers of Coal.

The question came on confirmation. Committee—Coun. Gilbody and Walsh. Whole number of ballots cast 9, yeas 9, nays 0, and the appointments were confirmed.

LOAN IN ANTICIPATION OF TAXES.

President DONOGHUE called up unfinished business, No. 2, viz.:

2. Ordered, That to provide temporarily money to meet the appropriations for the financial year 1924-25, the City Treasurer issue and sell, at such times and in such amounts as he may deem best, notes or certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston not exceeding sixteen million dollars in the total, in anticipation of the revenue of the current municipal year; that all such notes or certificates of indebtedness be dated the day the money for the same is received, be made payable with the interest thereon within one year of their date from the revenue of the year 1924, and bear interest from their date until the same are made payable at such rate as the City Auditor, the City Treasurer and the Mayor may determine.

On February 11, 1924, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 9.

The question came on the second and final reading and passage of the order.

Coun. HEALEY—Mr. President, I am going to vote in favor of the order, but one of the newspapers had a little fun with the Council, saying that although the order involved $16,000,000, $2,000,000 more than in 1923, the Council did not spend more than ten seconds in acting upon the matter. I suppose, in order to maintain our equilibrium, we ought to ask the auditor why the amount is $16,000,000 instead of $14,000,000. If there is no objection, I think the auditor ought to be sent for.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I don't know whether we can proceed along these lines or not. The matter is before the whole Council. If we wish to suspend action and send for the auditor, I presume we can do so, but I never knew it to be done before. I am perfectly willing to get the information, but I am only making the suggestion I do in the interest of orderly procedure. I suppose this is for the purpose of squaring ourselves with newspaper men because we acted upon a matter involving $16,000,000 in ten seconds. We would vote for it in ten seconds after we had the auditor here, anyway, so what is the difference? It is a recurring proposition, coming up every year at this time, really a routine matter, in order to carry on the work of the city pending final action on the budget. I am perfectly willing to refer it to the Executive Committee and have the auditor come before us in committee, but I don't know that we should suspend action here in the open body and send for the auditor. I would therefore like to ask the Clerk if it will in any way interfere with the passage of the order if we should refer it now to the Executive Committee?

The CLERK—No, sir.

Coun. WATSON—Then, Mr. President, I move that it be referred to the Executive Committee.

The order was referred to the Executive Committee.

CARL AUGUST BOROWSKI SQUARE.

Coun. MORIARTY offered an order that the open space at the junction of Ashland and Canterbury streets, Ward 24, be named Carl August Borowski square, in memory of said Borowski, who died in the United States service September 18, 1918, and that suitable signs be erected to designate the same.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

PUBLIC MEETING, FINANCE COMMISSION.

Coun. MORIARTY offered an order—That the Finance Commission be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to hold all meetings relative to investigation of matters connected with the City of Boston in open session, so the public may be able to attend.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I move a suspension of the rule and the passage of the order at this time. The reason why I have introduced the order is that two weeks ago we made a request of the Finance Commission to send us a verbatim report of some of their meetings, and we received back a communication that was placed on file at our last meeting, denying our request. I feel that a Finance Commission organized for the benefit of the entire citizenship of Boston must be a wonderful organization, but I feel that the Finance Commission as now constituted is an organization to protect those of one part of the city against those living in other parts and those who are not residents in our city against those who are. We had a hearing here two weeks ago today that proved to my mind, whether it did to anybody's else mind or not, that the Finance Commission is an organization created wholly for the purpose of protecting some of the large real estate operators and those engaged in the banking interests in this town, and also those of the community who live in sections other than those we live in. A piece of land was bought here some few weeks ago for which the city paid more than $100,000 above the assessed valuation. I am not doubting that the land was worth all that the city paid for it, but when the chairman of the Finance Commission came here and told this Council that they saw no reason why it should be investigated until they received an anonymous letter, and they received that anonymous letter three days prior to the Mayor's signing the order to purchase from the Real Estate Association, it made some of us think. The chairman of the Board of Directors of that Real Estate Association, it appears, went before the Board of Assessors and told them that the property was worth only $13 a square foot. The assessors, believing him when he took oath, reduced the tax valuation from $15 to $13 per square foot, and inside of nine months that same gentleman, in dickering with the Street Commissioners, set his price at $22.50 a square foot. It has been brought to my notice that he desired $25 a square foot. The Finance Commission did not, as they might well have done, acting within their province, request his Honor the Mayor to withhold his signature from that order, but, in order to make some one the goat and to show the public that they were still in existence, they got after the real estate expert and went into his bill. His bill was $700, and they have recommended to the City Auditor that that real estate expert be paid $300. It was all right to go out and pay $100,000 more than the assessed valuation for the land itself, but when they came to the fee of the real estate expert for doing the work they dickered and reduced his bill to $300. That makes news for the newspapers. But now the Boston Real Estate Exchange comes out and says that they have no price that would bind the expert. I am surprised that the chairman of the Finance Commission, a leading lawyer, who could have gone to the Registry of Deeds and found out the price paid for the transfer of land, should have taken the position he does in this matter. He could have found out what real estate experts get for their work before he took it upon himself to act as he did. Of course according to my feeling, there are only two members of the Finance Commission, the chairman and the secretary, Mr. Dowling, and I feel that all the communications that come here are not constructed by the full membership of the Board, but by the chairman and the secretary. I feel that it is about time that the citizenship of this city realized that if any member of this Council was up for investigation there would be an open hearing, and that before any member was even given a hearing the newspapers would be given the story and his conviction would be practically broadcasted to the community before he had an opportunity to be heard. Therefore I ask, in behalf of those whom I represent in this entire city, that all future meetings of the Boston Finance Commission considering city affairs be held openly, so that the citizenship of Boston may have an opportunity to go there and see the way that their work is done.

President DONOGHUE—The question is on suspension of the rule and passage of the order.

Coun. HEALEY—Mr. Chairman, may I ask in all fairness and decency what would happen if perhaps the Finance Commission got a perfectly innocent man, a perfectly honest man, to appear before them, and yet the facts were made public that they were bringing charges against him, and there were an open hearing, with the result that something might always stick to that honest man? I think we ought to hesitate a bit before acting in this matter. I think the councilor himself knows what that sort of thing means, because they tried to charge him, unfortunately, with things that were not true. Yet if anybody who came under their eye were treated the same as certain members of this body have been treated it would be an unfortunate thing. I think we ought to go a little bit slow.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I am glad that Coun. Healey has brought that question up. The situation is this, that anybody who has ever been suspected, even because of anonymous letters, has been convicted by the Finance Commission. I might go back to a janitor in the Practical Arts High School, who was called before the Finance Commission and set down in front of the secretary. The secretary said to him, "You are a grafter. You have issued bills and collected for bills that you were not entitled to." And after that man leaving the secretary gave to the newspapers a story condemning the man without his even having an opportunity to state his position. The situation is this, Coun. Healey. Under the circumstances, as they carry on their meetings now, they have convicted people without a proper chance to defend themselves, and it would be better that the public should know what goes on. If they are going to convict, let them convict in public. That is my contention. If your name is Murphy, that means a conviction, but if you are Eliot, no, the hearing is behind closed doors and no statement is issued to the newspapers. Now, I want to put the Amory Eliots on the same footing as others, and I use Amory Eliot's name in connection with the Park Square Real Estate Land Trust, as his name has been used in connection with it. I believe that every member of this Council and every city employee will have an equal chance with others if all the meetings are open. But what is happening? Only two weeks ago, since this deal has been going on, they requested a scrub woman who works in this building, and who had been married, to appear before them. Her maiden name was on the pay roll book, and because her name wasn't changed to her married name they sent for her, cited her before the Finance Commission. My contention is this, that, if possible, we should stop such petty work, such outlandish work as the work they do. There may not be so many hearings, but if there are hearings let the public know about the hearings that are going on. When a learned man, who would attempt to enlighten me on English, comes here, as chairman of the Finance Commission, and tells you that from the eleventh day of January until the twenty-third day of January, when $158,000 odd was being spent for a piece of land, the Finance Commission slumbered and slept peacefully until that anonymous letter came to their office, and in the same breath tell you that they intend to hold up a bill of $700, when they had taken no such action in regard to holding up a bill of $158,000, it certainly shows us that there is a curious state of affairs. I feel that it is about time, as long as they are acting in this matter, and inasmuch as they have been acting the same way in other matters, that we should try to have something done in regard to these secret or open meetings which they hold at their own will. When they had up before them members of the Council, including myself, it was all right to hold open meetings and not allow an attorney representing any of the parties to cross question any witness who was there as an accuser of the members of the Council. It was all right to do that, because their names were not Eliot, because they were not the offspring of those who came over in the "Mayflower." I told the judge not two weeks ago but a year ago, that he had been in the town for about fourteen years, and that he had been at the nipple of Jim Storrow's nursing bottle ever since he had been in the town. It is all right for certain fellows to get away, but they will call in a scrub woman who had the courage to get married, because her name was not changed on the pay roll, and the Hon. Mr. Dowling was in my estimation profited more and has sold more real estate as the secretary of the Finance Commission than he ever sold prior to being appointed secretary of the Finance Commission, and he was a real estate expert, a real estate broker, prior to taking the job. So I feel that I have nothing to lose and am satisfied that all investigations, in so far as my actions are concerned, should be made public, and I also want to put Amory Eliot in the same class, because we are starting out here at the beginning of the year and may be buying some other land before the year is over, and Amory may be in again. So I feel that the order should pass, although I don't think it is going to do any good. I don't think they are going to carry it out. I don't think, even if they were of the mind that we are, having the request coming from the Council in regard to something that would satisfy this Council, they would hold open meetings. I don't feel that I am going to accomplish anything by introducing this order, but I am going to continue in these meetings to assail the members of the Finance Commission until they do their work as they ought to do it. I will get some notoriety. Some Mondays I will be on the front page. On other Mondays or Tuesdays, where there is other news coming up, we might be put on the back page. But I believe it is up to us to tell the citizens about the methods used by the secretary and the chairman who were imported into the town for the purpose of doing just what they are doing.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I am willing to agree with Coun. Healey that there is some merit in his suggestion, but I don't think the merit in his suggestion outweighs the merit on the other side. Everybody who has been in public life for any length of time and who knows anything about the conduct of the Finance Commission has no doubt of their method of proceeding. I have never had the pleasure or displeasure of having been summoned before them in their third degree hearings, but I know full well the method they employ in conducting them, and I think it is entirely un-American and absolutely unfair, the way they conduct their preliminary hearings. For the purpose of having it made a matter of record I am going to recite briefly just their method of procedure. I understand what it is, and I believe my statement will be uncontradicted. If they have the slightest ground to believe there is something not altogether correct and proper in the conduct of anyone having anything to do with the affairs of the City of Boston, whether a member of the legislative branch, his Honor the Mayor or some head of a department or subordinate, they do not proceed at once to summon the individual or individuals before the Finance Commission and put them through a regular investigation with a stenographer present, and under oath, but they send for an individual and invite him to come to their office. The individual goes there and he may go with an attorney or friend, who is denied the privilege of being present during the inquisition or third degree examination, more so even than that given by the police. The individual, without a chance to have anybody represent him, or be with him, believing himself innocent and without fear, enters the inner chambers, and then they start the sweat box, accusing the man. If a man has iron nerve he may tell them that they can go to the hot place, which would be his right, but almost invariably the individual in his excitement says something that leads to something else which later may prove groundless, and in consequence of information they have there through an anonymous letter, perhaps, or from people who have an axe to grind, they apply the screws, get a man all excited, and then the remarks that he may make are taken down by a stenographer, after which they proceed to have a hearing on the question probably in the open, basing a later hearing upon the so-called evidence they have obtained through coercion of the individual. That is a method that is absolutely wrong in principle, and I know Coun. Healey will agree with me in my statement. But that is the method of procedure there, if I am informed correctly, and I am positive that I have the facts. It is true that if a man who is accused by the Finance Commission is innocent, you may say that he need not fear God's sunlight. But some thin-skinned people like to avoid trouble, and they will get up and salam and bow before John Moors, because, after all, Dowling is not the man, Michael Sullivan is not the man. The powerful and all-important, influential individual who does all the work behind the scenes, and sees that the thing is carried out, is John F. Moors. There is no getting away from that. I am positive when I make that assertion. As I stated in the beginning, there is much merit in what Coun. Healey suggested, but the preponderance is on the other side. The fact is that they don't dare to have public hearings. That is my absolute opinion, and I believe I am correct. I will agree that I cannot submit evidence, but I believe they have had strong evidence against certain individuals presented to them in the past regarding occurrences in Boston affairs to which they have given no consideration whatsoever. It is true, as Coun. Moriarty says, that they are bent one way. They are after the little fellow, after the unimportant individual, like a councilor, as a rule. When they are so engaged they are fairly cocky, in the vernacular of the day, but when others are involved it is a different story. I have the same regard for the Finance Commission that Coun. Moriarty has. My experience with them has not been so unpleasant, but I am satisfied that that commission is the fifth wheel of a coach, that it has not earned a dollar as far as acting in the interests of the city is concerned during its entire existence. I am sure that the office is always a step to an invitation to go on the bench, and I intended to ask the chairman of the commission the other day when he expected to be appointed to the Superior Court bench. I think that is their goal, and they use the office for their own advancement, regardless of whose back they climb over. Therefore, Coun. Healey, if you will take my advice and opinion, based on many years of experience here, and I have been as inquisitive about things as you have, I believe you will come to the conclusion that we should pass the order as drawn by Coun. Moriarty. While it may not bring results worth while, it has much merit and is entitled to our unanimous vote. I hope this action will be taken.

Coun. BRICKLEY—Mr. President, the councilor opposite (Coun. Watson) says he knows that Moors is the brains of the Finance Commission. I always wondered why he never got there and I did. I guess I know now. (Laughter.) I hope the order will pass. We have this investigating body called the Finance Commission. Here we have a Democratic city, which has elected a Democratic Mayor, and the Governor comes along and appoints five Republicans as an investigating body over this Democratic city. Of course, I have had my experience with those five men. They took me in there privately, and I went in there, like any young American would, full of blood and pep. I didn't fear man or beast when I went there. They asked questions and riled me up, and that is the means they use to get you going. I think if they had meetings in the open you would not have the sort of thing you see there now. It is bad enough in the open, with five men who know the different phases of the law and who are able to take young fellows like myself and make boobs of them. They ought not to do a lot of things they do. Take this poor scrubwoman, for instance. There was nobody to protect her. I think if we pass an order like this we may get somewhere with them. I don't know of any way to do so except to keep after them naggin' them, and then perhaps we will make some headway. Of course, we all hope next year to elect our present Mayor Governor of the state, and then things will be better, I believe. I hope so, anyway. I hope in the meantime we will nag them and do everything we can along this line not only for our own benefit but for the benefit of the underdog in this city.

Coun. HEALEY—Mr. President, lest it may be felt that I am in favor of the secret sessions I shall vote for the order, because I have been pulled before the Finance Commission in private, too.

Coun. WATSON—Is that so? Good!

Coun. HEALEY—I have been there.

Coun. WATSON—Tell us what you did, Bill!

Coun. HEALEY—Lest it may be thought that I believe in secret sessions I shall vote for the order, because I think that publicity is best for both sides, for everybody, than privacy for a few. I merely offered the suggestion I did, but when the question is put up to me whether I believe in privacy or in publicity, I wish to say here openly that I believe in publicity, and I believe that the hearings before the Finance Commission, if some are to be treated in one way and some the other, ought all to be public. I don't believe in treating some people in one way and others in another. Therefore I shall vote in favor of the order on its merits, although I feel that it might be the cause of worry to many people if they thought they were to be called in in public and a stigma placed on them which they did not deserve.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I am beginning to feel as though I have wings and a halo in this Council. I have never been called before the Finance Commission, and therefore I think I am probably out of place in this body.

Coun. PURCELL—Mr. President, I wish to say that I am in accord with Mr. Moriarty on this order. I was also before the Finance Commission, and I want to say this, that I think it would be a wonderful thing to have the meetings of that body brought out into the open, so that we could find out everything that was going on. In that way perhaps we could find out who the stoolpigeons are who give information. If the thing were open a lot wouldn't care to tell things who now do so. I am in favor of open meetings.

The rule was suspended and the order was passed.

OLD AGE PENSIONS FOR BOSTON CITIZENS.

President DONOGHUE offered the following:

Resolved, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to appoint a committee to investigate and report to the City Council as to the advisability of establishing an old age pension for citizens of Boston.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, I desire to present this order at this time for the careful consideration of this body. It is along constructive lines, I believe. It has recently been brought to my attention most vividly through the introduction of an order by his Honor the Mayor for a loan of $300,000 for a new building for the Overseers of the Poor, with the controversy which has arisen between the Mayor's office and the Finance Commission as to whether or not it would be advisable to repair and alter the old building at a nominal figure, probably not more than $30,000, or to appropriate $300,000 for a new building for the Overseers of the Public Welfare. It seems to me that we have been spending a great deal of money for many years in taking care of the old and unfortunate, but it also appears to me that a great deal of this money which is expended might have been spent in a more suitable way, having in mind first the welfare of the individuals affected. For instance, the Overseers of the Public Welfare spend something like $63,000 per year for payment of help. That is just for salaries of those who take care of the detail work in connection with the distribution of alms. I would like to see this proud city of ours in a position where we would no longer have an almshouse. I think it is a disgrace in a civilized community to have the old folks who have devoted their lives to the service of their city placed in an almshouse. Regardless of what their calling in life may have been, nevertheless they have contributed to the public welfare and the upbuilding of this great city of ours, of which we are all so justly proud. It seems to me it is a blot upon the escutcheon of the City of Boston to even have to admit that we have such places as almshouses. It costs for the old folks down on Long Island, segregating the expense of those who are in the hospital from those who are not compelled to take hospital treatment, approximately $135,000 a year. That is to care for the old folks down there. It costs something like $300,000 to take care of the hospital patients on Long Island. It is the Mayor's thought that Long Island can be done away with and the old folks in the hospital, who need constant medical attendance, transferred to the mainland, perhaps Parker Hill. That would leave the old folks down there with practically nothing in life, unless, carrying the Mayor's thought along further, in connection with the sale of the hospital at West Roxbury by the federal government to the city, the inmates might be transferred from Long Island out to West Roxbury, where they might be taken care of. But I say, what is the need of taking care of them in those places? Why must we have an almshouse? We are going to spend, if that new building is erected by the Overseers of the Poor, $350,000. It costs us $135,000 in round figures to maintain those old folks on Long Island, and under the George R. White Fund we have an annual income of $250,000 per year, in addition to spending last year, as I have been given to understand, something like $190,000, totalling approximately $1,000,000. It seems to me that, with about 300 old folks down on Long Island, we are spending or are going to spend this year $1,000,000. And what for? We are going to spend that money to try and take care of them in their old age. My thought would be to establish an old age pension by the City of Boston where proof of need is shown and if this million dollars which is going to be spent were spent without sending them to an almshouse, how much better off they would be and how much better off the entire City of Boston would be. Whether or not there are any legal phases to be considered in connection with the question I don't know. I have only considered the matter hastily today, although I have thought of it for a long time. It has always appeared to me that the City of Boston, which has been in the forefront of so many progressive movements in the course of its history, should take another step forward and be in the forefront in establishing in the City of Boston an old age pension, in order to try to make the last days of the old people who have lived in our city as comfortable as we possibly can. If we were to allow them a certain amount each week, we could very easily take care of them in my opinion, out of a million dollars a year. Of course, there are minor matters to be considered in connection with these figures that I have not even taken into consideration. But such action would certainly, in my opinion, tend very much to improve things. If we had a million dollars which we might let out in first class bonds, it would procure an income probably, say, of $200,000 a year, in my opinion, which could very well take care of the old people on Long Island. I hope the Mayor, before he goes ahead with any other plans, will take this matter into consideration and try to solve this problem, so that we may feel that we have contributed something to the welfare of the old people and to the honor of our city.

The rule was suspended and the order was passed, Coun. Donoghue calling for the yeas and nays, yeas 8, nays 1; Coun. Lane voting nay.

RECESS TAKEN.

The Council voted at 3.05 o'clock p. m., on motion of Coun. LANE, to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The members of the Council reassembled in the chamber and were called to order by the President at 4.55 o'clock p. m.

FINANCIAL REPORTS.

Coun. WATSON, for the Committee on Finance, submitted the following, viz.:

1. Report on order (referred today) for loan of $50,000 for concrete stands and improvements for the Columbus Avenue Playground—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; said order passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

Yeas—Coun. Donoghue, Gilbody, Healey, Lane, Moriarty, Purcell, Walsh, Watson—8. Nays—0.

Later in the session Coun. GILBODY said: Mr. President, I move that we reconsider the vote whereby we passed an appropriation of $50,000 for improvement of the Columbus Avenue Playground.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I am perfectly satisfied. I ask for a roll call.

Reconsideration prevailed, yeas 6, nays 2.

Yeas—Coun. Donoghue, Gilbody, Healey, Moriarty, Purcell, Walsh—6.

Nays—Coun. Lane, Watson—2.

Coun. GILBODY—Mr. President, I now move that we lay the order on the table.

Coun. WATSON—On that I ask for a roll call.

The motion to lay on the table was lost, yeas 0, nays 7.

Yeas—0.

Nays—Coun. Donoghue, Gilbody, Healey, Moriarty, Purcell, Walsh, Watson—7.

The question came on the passage of the order.

The order was passed, yeas 7, nays 0.

Yeas—Coun. Donoghue, Gilbody, Healey, Moriarty, Purcell, Walsh, Watson—7.

2. Report on message of Mayor and order (referred February 11) for loan of $145,000 for Dartmouth Street Bridge—that the order ought to pass.

The report was accepted and the order was passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

Yeas—Coun. Donoghue, Gilbody, Healey, Lane, Moriarty, Purcell, Walsh, Watson—8.

Nays—0.

3. Report on order (referred February 11) for loan of $100,000 for improvement of Sullivan Square Playground—that the order ought to pass.

Coun. LANE—Mr. President, I am going to refrain from voting at all on this order, as I am on many of the other loan orders that are coming after this. I am going to vote for the orders sent in here by the Mayor for needed improvements, such as $800,000 for sewers and $800,000 for street improvements; but I don't think the Council should stultify itself by appropriating more money under loan orders than the borrowing capacity of the city will allow, although undoubtedly these proposed improvements are things that would benefit the districts concerned and are things that should be done. But I cannot put myself in the position of appropriating more money than the city has within its borrowing capacity. So I will refrain for that reason from voting for certain orders.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I favor the improvements that are mentioned in the several orders reported by the Committee on Finance, but my position in the matter is somewhat like Coun. Lane's. I cannot see where I can consistently vote for loan orders that aggregate a sum greater than our borrowing capacity, especially in view of the fact that not more than one month of the year has passed and eleven months more are yet to come when there may be some very necessary matters calling for loans brought to our attention. I want each member to feel, however, that I have no prejudice against his order or against the particular improvement he has in mind. I sympathize with the other members in their efforts, because I feel that many of these orders will be vetoed. That, of course, is none of our business. However, I cannot vote consistently and conscientiously for orders that I know if they all pass today, will eat up all the available money provided in our borrowing capacity. I think perhaps it is just as well that I say no more, because my remarks might be misunderstood by the authors of the several orders. I am willing to vote at any time and will vote at any time for orders carrying improvements such as have been suggested, when I feel that the money is at hand to take care of them. I shall, however, refrain from voting for several orders here because I cannot consistently vote "yes" on them, and I cannot vote "no," because I believe in the improvement proposed in the orders. I shall, therefore, allow my position to stand in that way.

Coun. GILBODY—Mr. President, while I believe that the situation is going to be rather a complex one as the thing is presented to his Honor the Mayor, at the same time I see no possibility of the members of the Council absolving themselves from voting for any of the orders. The duties and obligations of the Council are to place before the authorities the needs of certain sections. A man in one part of the city brings forward a certain improvement affecting his section, a man in another part of the city brings forward an improvement in which the people of his section are interested. The Mayor has to look into the matter and decide which, if either, of the things should be taken care of. It is for the Mayor, of course, setting one thing on one side as against another thing on another side, to arrive at a decision. He is confronted with the solution of that problem and can approve what he thinks is most necessary. As representing the public, the people of our various sections, we are not taking a position one way or another. One order is offered by one councilor, and we pass it; another order is offered and we pass that, and it is then for his Honor the Mayor to decide. I want to stand up here and say that I am glad to vote for all of them, and I don't feel that I am stultifying myself in so doing. I am glad to present these things to the Mayor of the city for his consideration. Everybody knows that he will be the sole and final judge on every order voted upon here this afternoon.

Coun. HEALEY—Mr. President, I, too, side in with Coun. Gilbody. Taking such orders as have been presented here by the members interested, his Honor the Mayor will not have a chance to favor one as against another until they are sent in to him. The Mayor has already set his approval on $2,400,000 sent in by him in the form of orders to the City Council. There are other matters in which the members of the Council are interested, and which we are acting upon here, as representing certain districts. Those in turn should be sent to his Honor the Mayor, who can approve or reject them. One order that is passed may fail, another may succeed. The dilemma is for the Mayor. He has to weigh the considerations for or against each order, having in mind the welfare of the general public. The Mayor having already approved loans aggregating about $2,400,000, leaving

$1,800,000 for various district improvements, it strikes me that the most logical thing is for us to pass the orders that we think should be passed and to let the Mayor make the decision. In fact, I cannot see the other side of it. We have some rights in the matter of originating loans and we should not give up our rights entirely in the matter of presenting orders for loans. After we have presented such orders and they have been passed, the Mayor is faced with the dilemma of making the choice. There may be a certain thing in the South End, in Dorchester or in East Boston with regard to which he thinks immediate action should be taken, as against proposed improvements in other sections. The Mayor said at one time that he did not object to public criticism, and he is bold in his criticism, particularly when he thinks he is right. He is the one who finally has to arrive at a conclusion, and I believe after we have passed these orders the Mayor will do the right thing. He will accept those things that appear to be wise both politically and from the standpoint of administration, and those that appear unwise politically and from the standpoint of administration he will reject. But I cannot understand the logic of any man who will claim that these orders should not be presented here and should not be passed by us, bearing in mind the procedure that must necessarily take place on all such matters. While I admire the high type of administration shown by the two councilors opposite (Coun. Lane and Watson), the course that they always follow, and while I applaud the Goo-Gos, I feel that in this case as a Goo-Goo I will have to vote with the majority of the gang against the minority of two, 50 per cent Goo-Goo and 50 per cent gang, who are united at this time.

Coun. WATSON—That almost brought out a laugh, Billy!

Coun. HEALEY—All right.

President DONOGHUE—The Chair would state that under our rules when the roll is called each member is supposed to vote on a matter one way or the other. Of course, I realize that there is no way to compel anyone to vote if he does not desire to do so. I merely call attention to the rule of the Council, however.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, let me suggest for the benefit of the Chair that this is a charter provision and not a rule, and I wish to say that I shall refrain from voting on any question when I cannot consistently vote "yes" or "no" regardless of the charter provision.

President DONOGHUE—The Clerk will call the roll.

Yeas—Coun. Donoghue, Gilbody, Healey, Moriarty, Purcell, Walsh—6.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I move that the matter lie on the table because I think Coun. Brickley would like to be recorded upon it.

Coun. GILBODY—I object, Mr. President.

Coun. WATSON—I am perfectly satisfied, Mr. President, if the gentleman objects.

Coun. GILBODY—Mr. President, I desire to grant courtesy, but the councilor has been absent on the roll calls on every order here, and I don't think he can take objection to not having an opportunity to be recorded on this.

Later in the session Coun. MORIARTY moved a reconsideration of the vote rejecting the order, and the question came on its passage.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. PURCELL, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following, viz.:

1. Report on petition of Mary A. Haverty (referred today) for permit for children under fifteen years of age to appear at Boston College Hall, February 29.

Report accepted; permit granted on the usual conditions.

2. Report on communication from Street Commissioners (referred February 11) giving notice of hearings on petitions for storage and sale of gasoline—that the same be placed on file.

Report accepted; communication placed on file.

3. Report on order (referred today) requesting the Mayor to submit to the City Council a loan order for a playground in the North End—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed.

4. Report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred today) for transfer of $3,000 to Courthouse, West Roxbury, Remodeling—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 9, nays 0.

5. Report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred today) for loan of $16,000,000 in anticipation of taxes—that the order ought to pass.

The report was accepted and the order was given its final reading and passed, yeas 9, nays 0.

6. Report on communication from Finance Commission (referred today) concerning real estate expert fees—that the same be placed on file with a recommendation that his Honor the Mayor will reject the recommendations of said commission.

The report was accepted and the question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. GILBODY—Mr. President, I desire to say that I am in sympathy with the remarks throughout the chamber with regard to this matter, but I do not see my way clear to vote for the recommendation, because, as I look at it, we find ourselves riding two horses, as I said in the Executive Committee meeting. We condemn the Park Square Trust for selling the land for $22 a foot to the city, and at the same time we have no condemnation of the man who recommended that $30 a foot be paid. I don't see how we can take those two inconsistent positions.

The report was accepted and the order was passed.

ORDINANCES.

Coun. HEALEY, for the Committee on Ordinances, submitted the following, viz.:

1. Report on ordinance (referred February 11) for increase of salary of the City Registrar—that the ordinance ought to pass.

2. Report on ordinance (referred today) concerning street railway cars in Peabody square, Dorchester—that the ordinance ought to pass.

Report accepted; ordinance passed.

SIDEWALK, CENTRE STREET.

Coun. PURCELL offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along Centre street in front of Nos. 428-450, inclusive, between Boylston street and Oak View terrace, Ward 15, in front of the estates bordering thereon; said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone, with granite edgestones, under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

SALE OF CHAIR TO EX-COUNCILOR HAGAN.

Coun. LANE offered an order—That the Superintendent of Public Buildings be authorized to sell to former Councilor Henry E. Hagan the chair occupied by him while he was a member of the City Council, said chair to be sold for the sum of one dollar.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. PURCELL moved a general reconsideration on all business transacted at the meeting, hoping that the same would not prevail. Lost.

DISPOSAL OF WATER INCOME SURPLUS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, March 3, 1924.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith communication from the Commissioner of Public Works in reply to the order passed by your honorable body on February 18, 1924, relative to the disposal of surplus money received from water income for the past two years.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston.

Public Works Department,
February 23, 1924.

To the Honorable the Acting Mayor:

In reply to order introduced in City Council by Councilor Purcell on February 18, 1924, requesting a report as to the disposal of surplus money received from water income for the past two years, the following is submitted:

At the end of the fiscal year 1922-1923 there was turned over to the city treasury from water income $234,233.01. At the end of the year 1923-24 the surplus of water revenue was $97,570.41 (estimated). In accordance with law both of these amounts were credited in favor of redemption of city loans.

This information could have been obtained directly from the auditor's office, as it was through that source that it came to the writer.

Yours respectfully,
J. A. ROUBEK,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Coun. PURCELL—Mr. President, I am bright enough to know that I could get that information without that letter coming in in this way. He has not answered the question I asked. I asked what was done with the surplus money in the two previous years, not what went to the city debt, and this communication does not answer what I asked. If it is in order, I would like to have the Commissioner of Public Works appear here and tell us himself. That is what I thought was asked for in my order when I put it in.

President DONOGHUE—The order will be referred to the Executive Committee, and the Commissioner of Public Works will be requested to appear before that committee.

The order was referred to the Executive Committee.

FURNISHING FOREST HILLS COURT-HOUSE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 3, 1924.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I am in receipt of the attached communication from the Superintendent of Public Buildings requesting additional funds for the completion and furnishing of the Courthouse at Forest Hills, and I accordingly recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Buildings Department,
March 1, 1924.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I respectfully request that the following transfer be made in the special appropriation of the Public Buildings Department:

From the appropriation for Courthouse, Forest Hills, Site, $2,500, to the appropriation for Courthouse, Forest Hills, Completion and Furnishings, $2,500.

This request is made owing to the fact that there were certain features in connection with the furnishings that were eliminated at the time this building was furnished owing to the lack of funds, but the articles requested come wholly within the special appropriation for the furnishing of the building.

Respectfully yours,
FRED J. KNEELAND,
Superintendent of Public Buildings.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer:

From the appropriation for Courthouse, Forest Hills, Site, $2,500, to the appropriation for Courthouse, Forest Hills, Completion and Furnishings, $2,500.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

LUMP SUM BUDGET.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 5, 1924.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—Under the provisions of section 3, chapter 436, of the Acts of 1909, the Mayor is required to submit the budget within thirty days after the beginning of the fiscal year.

Under existing law the city may raise $6.52 on each one thousand of the average valuation for three years, less abatements, for general municipal purposes, exclusive of schools. When it is considered that the yield of this figure is approximately $10,750,000 and that our salary requirements alone for 1924-25 total $16,000,000, no further comment is needed to show the inadequacy of the present law to provide for the needs of the city.

The Legislature is now considering our request to use as a tax limit for 1924-25 the sum of $13.25. Until this request has been acted upon it is impossible for me to submit to your honorable body the annual budget in full segregated form.

In order to avoid any question being raised as to the submission of a budget within the time limit stated in the city charter I submit herewith a budget in lump sum form.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

APPROPRIATIONS AND TAX ORDERS FOR THE FINANCIAL YEAR 1924-25.

Ordered, That to meet the current expenses payable during the financial year beginning the first day of February, 1924, or performing the duties and exercising the powers devolved by statute or ordinance, or by vote of the City Council during the year, upon the City of Boston or the County of Suffolk, or the departments or officers thereof, and to meet their respective obligations for interest on debt, sinking fund requirements and maturing debt not provided for by sinking fund, the respective sums of money specified in the tables and schedules hereinafter set out be and the same are hereby appropriated for the several departments and for the objects and purposes hereinafter stated.

Referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

PLAYGROUND NEAR JEFFERSON SCHOOL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 3, 1924.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen.—I beg to submit herewith an order providing for an appropriation for the establishment of a playground in the vicinity of the Jefferson School, Roxbury district.

A similar order was introduced on January 7, 1924, but lapsed through the failure of the City Council to act within the prescribed time.

This order is presented in response to a petition signed by some 4,000 residents of this section and, in addition, has been recommended favorably by the City Planning Board and the Park Commission.

I accordingly recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of $85,000 be and the same is hereby appropriated to be expended by the Park Commission for the purpose of acquiring land for playground purposes in the vicinity of the Jefferson School, Roxbury and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

FIRE ALARM HEADQUARTERS, BACK BAY FENS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 3, 1924.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen, I transmit herewith report of the Fire Commissioner requesting that an additional appropriation in the sum of $150,000 be provided for the completion of the new fire alarm headquarters to be located in the Back Bay Fens, it being desirable that this work be started at the earliest possible date and prosecuted with the utmost vigor, since the necessity for its immediate completion is imperative.

I accordingly recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Fire Department, February 29, 1924.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—On February 6, 1924, the following proposals were received and opened at this office for work under the general contract for completing the fire alarm signal station in the Fenway in accordance with advertisements in the City Record:

S. L. Milton Company.....	$250,655
Thomas O'Connor & Co.....	268,787
Alco Contracting Company.....	279,823
W. H. Whitcomb Construction Company	279,998
I. F. Woodbury & Sons Company.....	279,948
John MacDonald Construction Company	283,952
A. Piotti Company.....	284,878
Joseph Rugo.....	297,000
C. S. Cunningham & Sons Construction Company	312,700
John B. Dolan.....	315,000

No award has been made as yet in connection with this contract, because the appropriation for constructing this building and equipping it is not sufficient. For your Honor's information I submit below a list of the other items which will be expended out of the appropriation:

Heating and ventilating.....	$ 18,850
Plumbing	5,153
Electrical work.....	7,390
Architects fees.....	22,150
Contract for fire alarm equipment.....	217,000
Conduit work, including material.....	22,600
Proposed conduit connections to building	6,000
Cable terminal posts and installations....	4,500
Cable contract.....	41,000
Installation of cable.....	12,000
Edison Company services.....	1,200
Telephone installations.....	2,000
Total	$359,843

Adding the total of other items and the building contract we have an expenditure of over $600,000. This does not take into consideration any extras which are bound to arise in such an important and exacting piece of work as the erection of a fire alarm station. Nor have we included any estimates for furniture which will be necessary for the new building.

I earnestly request therefore that an additional appropriation of $150,000 be provided in order that we may proceed with the work at once. The same reasons that were given for a new station might well be applied here. The time has arrived for a larger fire alarm station, located away from any risk of any kind. To curtail our plans or reduce the capacity of the building or equipment would be the wrong step to take. The plans and proposals have been gone into very thoroughly and every attempt has been made to meet all the requirements at the lowest possible cost. Greater amounts have been expended in other cities for buildings of this character and in my opinion the City of Boston is fortunate to be able to erect a first-class fire alarm station and equip it with the proper machinery for the total sum of $650,000. It should be borne in mind that the building we are erecting will take care of the future growth of the city for at least a hundred years and overcome the disadvantages which we have suffered for the past decade in our present fire alarm station, which is now overcrowded and overloaded to a serious extent.

Yours very truly,
THEODORE A. GLYNN,
Fire Commissioner.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 309 of the Acts of 1923 an additional sum of one hundred fifty thousand dollars ($150,000), be and the same is hereby appropriated to be expended under the direction of the Fire Commissioner for the establishment of Fire Alarm Signal Station within the limits of the Back Bay Fens, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

PETITION FOR REDUCED ELECTRICITY PRICE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 3, 1924.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith report of the Corporation Counsel relative to the present status of the city's petition for a reduction in the price of electricity as requested in the order of your honorable body dated January 28, 1924.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Law Department, February 14, 1924.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir,—In accordance with the order of the City Council passed January 28, 1924, directing that the Law Department, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to furnish the Council in writing with a statement of the present status of the city's petition for a reduction in the price of electricity, I beg leave to submit herewith "suggested draft for communication to be sent by the Law Department to the City Council" . . . as submitted to me by Hon. Arthur D. Hill, special counsel for the City of Boston, who is prosecuting this investigation. I make no amendment to Mr. Hill's "suggested draft" for the reason that I believe it to be adequate and trust sincerely that the members of the Council will find it so.

I inclose herewith also Mr. Hill's letter to me dated February 13 and direct your attention especially to his suggestion that it might be wise for himself and myself, together with an expert representing the city, to have a personal talk with the City Council in executive session relative to the electric light data now in the possession of the city.

Awaiting the comments of your Honor and the City Council, I beg leave to remain,

Very respectfully yours,

E. MARK SULLIVAN,
Corporation Counsel.

Hill, Barlow & Homans.

53 State Street, February 13, 1924.

Hon. E. Mark Sullivan, Corporation Counsel,
Tremont Building, Boston, Mass.

My dear Mr. Sullivan.—This is in reply to your letter of 1st February in which you request me to draw up a brief statement such as in my judgment will adequately meet the requirements of the order of the City Council passed 28th January to the following effect:

"That the Law Department, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to furnish the Council in writing with a statement of the present status of the city's petition for a reduction in the price of electricity."

I inclose such a draft herewith, to which I will add for your own information, as the head of the City Law Department, that I purposely made it as brief and general as possible for the reason that I do not believe it is for the interests of the city's case that a detailed discussion should be gone into at the present time, as such discussion would necessarily involve a communication of our plans to the Edison Company.

In your letter you also refer to a second resolution passed at the same time, which is as follows:

"That his Honor the Mayor, be requested to furnish the Council such data as he may have or will have later relative to the contemplated contracts for gas and electricity," and suggest that I might be able to furnish "helpful details" in the matter of the electric light contract. As to this, I feel that the wisest plan would be for you and me and an expert representing the city to have a personal talk with the City Council in executive session. The Edison Company has recently filed a new schedule of street lighting rates applicable to all the cities and towns other than Boston which it serves. It is probable that the Edison Company will suggest a new contract with the City of Boston based on these rates. With that in mind I have had prepared a computation showing exactly what the increased cost to the city would be over the rates which it is now paying under the existing contract. This computation shows that the price paid by the city would be something over $90,000 a year greater under the new rates than under the present contract. There are many considerations bearing on the question of a new contract which occur to me, but for obvious reasons it seems to me that it would be to the best interests of the city to confer on the matter orally.

Very truly yours,

ARTHUR D. HILL,

SUGGESTED DRAFT FOR COMMUNICATION TO BE SENT BY THE LAW DEPARTMENT TO THE CITY COUNCIL IN RESPONSE TO THE ORDER PASSED 28TH JANUARY 1924, REQUESTING A STATEMENT "OF THE PRESENT STATUS OF THE CITY'S PETITION FOR A REDUCTION IN THE PRICE OF ELECTRICITY."

The petition of the city for a reduction in the price of electricity was originally started in connection with another petition filed by the Mayor and the Edison Company for arbitration and determination by the Department of Public Utilities of city rates for street lighting under the arbitration clause in the street lighting contract between the city and the Edison Company. By the terms of that contract such arbitration was required to be held to determine the rates to be charged the city under the second five-year period which began December 7, 1919. It was apparent that any satisfactory determination of the street lighting contract might require a readjustment of the company's other rates, and it also appeared on investigations in connection with the street lighting rates that the company's rates were too high in certain other of its schedules and required a general readjustment. A petition for reduction of rates was accordingly filed. It was the sense of the City Council, as well as of the then Mayor, Hon. Andrew J. Peters, and of the Law Department, that application should be made to the Department of Public Utilities for a reduction of rates, and a petition was accordingly filed. This action has since received the indorsement of the present executive, and the City Council has been constant in its support.

By order of the Department of Public Utilities the city's petition for reduction of rates, as well as the petition for arbitration under the street lighting contract, were ordered to be heard in conjunction with another petition for reduction of rates previously filed by certain private citizens and in charge of Mr. Grenville S. MacFarland. These three petitions, together with other subsidiary matters, are still before the commission and a large number of hearings have been had and much evidence has been put in.

In the orderly presentation of the case the evidence offered by the consumers, represented by Mr. MacFarland, must be completed before the city's case can be finished. This results:

(1.) From the fact that Mr. MacFarland's petition had been filed and much evidence on it had been taken some time before the city's petition had been put in; and

(2.) Because Mr. MacFarland and counsel representing the city, who have throughout been in complete and cordial co-operation, agreed that this was the strongest way in which the case for a reduction could be presented.

Mr. MacFarland's case has not yet been completed. He has, however, informed the counsel for the city that it is his intention to go on with the hearings at an early date.

In the meantime the city has made an extensive examination of the company's books and has placed before the Department of Public Utilities much evidence, both oral and tabular, tending to show that the rates charged by the Edison Company should be reduced. Much other evidence has also been prepared for submission to the department, and the city's case has been carefully studied so that it should be presented in the most effective manner possible. In proceedings of the character of this investigation the preliminary studies of the facts and their arrangement for effective presentation necessarily require much time, for the city believes this case can be closed in a comparatively short time after Mr. MacFarland has completed his evidence. It is satisfactory to note that in the meantime during the pendency of these proceedings there have been substantial reductions made by the Edison Company in its rates.

At the time the city's petition was filed the lighting rate for the ordinary householder was 10 cents per kilowatt hour, and in addition to this rate the Edison Company imposed a surcharge of 10 per cent and an additional charge under the "coal clause," so that the rate was approximately 12 cents per kilowatt hour. On March 1, 1921, the surcharge on that rate was reduced to 5 per cent. On May 11, 1921, a new coal clause more equitable to the consumer was substituted for the previous clause. On March 1, 1922, the coal clause was abolished with regard to this rate and the entire surcharge was taken off. On September 1, 1922, the rate under this schedule was reduced to 9½ cents per kilowatt hour, and on February 1 of this year the householders' lighting rate was further modified so that the present price is 9½ cents per kilowatt hour for the first 1,000 kilowatt hours per month, 8 cents per kilowatt hour for the next 4,000 kilowatt hours, and 3½ cents per kilowatt hour for all electricity used above that amount.

It would seem a fair inference from the facts that the pendency of the consumer's petition and that of the city has exercised a beneficial influence on the policy of the Edison Company with reference to reduction in rates, and has already amply justified what has been done. Counsel believes that a continued vigorous prosecution of the cases will result in further substantial reductions of rates. Counsel is prepared to appear before the City Council at any time and explain any detail of the situation.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. PURCELL, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following:

1. Report on petitions for storage and sale of gasoline, submitted by Street Laying-Out Department of the Street Commissioners as having been received, a hearing on same being given February 25, as follows:

Checker Taxi Company, 4 St. Botolph street, 1,000 gallons.

William F. Goode, 871 Commonwealth avenue (25) 2,000 gallons.

John H. North, Brookline avenue and Audubon road (8) 8,000 gallons—that the communication be placed on file.

Report accepted; communication placed on file.

2. Report on resolutions (referred January 28) relative to the transaction concerning the Park square location for police headquarters, recommending that said resolution be amended by inserting the names of the trustees of the Park Square Trust in said resolution, and that as amended the resolution be passed.

The resolutions were therefore amended by inserting, where the Park Square Realty Trust is referred to, the names of the trustees of the Park Square Realty Trust for the year 1922, when application for abatement of assessment was made, as follows:

Amory Eliot, Edgar R. Champlin, Frederick J. Bradlee, George S. Smith and Charles F. Adams.

The resolutions, as amended by the insertion of the above names of the trustees, were passed.

The resolutions, as thus amended, read as follows:

Whereas, The City of Boston has added to the unearned increment on certain land held by the Park Square Real Estate Trust (composed of Amory Eliot, Edgar R. Champlin, Frederick J. Bradlee, George S. Smith and Charles F. Adams, as trustees) by the widening and extension of Stuart street at an expense of $2,600,000; by the extension of Arlington street at an expense of $600,000; by the construction of exits and entrances at Arlington and Boylston streets for Boston Elevated Railway service at an expense of $1,200,000; and

Whereas, Said certain land was assessed at $15 a square foot in 1922, and was reduced to $13 a square foot in 1923, at the request of the Park Square Real Estate Trust; and

Whereas, Said land was taken by the Street Commissioners at $22 a square foot for police headquarters, its real estate expert having advised said commissioners that the value of the land was at least $30 a square foot;

Be it resolved, That the City Council of Boston is of the opinion that the request of the Park Square Real Estate Trust for an abatement of taxes on said land was not justified and did not reflect a high standard of citizenship; and

Be it further resolved, That the City Council is of the opinion that a closer co-ordination of the Assessing and Street Laying-Out Departments should have taken place in the taking of said land for a police headquarters.

The report was accepted, and the resolutions as amended were adopted.

3. Report on petition of Louise M. Barry (referred today) for children to appear at Convention Hall on March 3, 1924—that permits be granted.

The order laid over at the meeting of Feb. 18, 1924, amending sections 264 and 326 of the regulations, establishing tenure provision and promotional examination requirements for re-entrants to the service, was taken up and passed.

The communication from the Boston Elementary Teachers' Club, laid over at the meeting Feb. 4, 1924 (see p. 8), requesting approval of the Board of proposed legislation to allow voluntary retirement at age of sixty years, was taken up and placed on file, the Board expressing its approval of the proposed legislation.

ADJOURNED.

The Board adjourned.

CITIZENSHIP, BOTH SEXES, ALSO FAMILIES.

Native white citizens, 246,816; foreign born whites naturalized, 102,822; Negro citizens, 12,086; total citizens, 361,724. Foreign born whites remaining aliens, 118,214. Only 56.30 per cent of the citizens registered for voting purposes in 1920 (for City Election) and of the 203,666 who did register only 30.53 per cent voted. Coming to the final facts to be remembered, only 17.2 per cent of the citizens of Boston took part in electing the three members of the City Council and two members of the School Committee in 1920, these five candidates taking office at the will of only 8.3 per cent of the citizens, which was more than sufficient to elect. On the question of permitting Sunday Sports and Games, 10.9 per cent of the citizens voted in favor and 4.3 per cent against, 7.7 per cent being more than sufficient for a majority in favor. The City Election of 1920 reveals the most flagrant case of minority rule ever noted in Boston, not more than one-ninth of the women citizens being interested enough to vote.

Total families in 1920, 164,785 or 3,679 more than in 1915. As this shows a larger increase of families than of persons (i. e., 2,621) since 1915, here is another discrepancy that discredits the 1920 Census. As 4.63 represents the average number of persons to a family, 3,679 families would contain 17,034 persons. The U. S. Census of 1920 shows a net increase of only 2,621 persons since 1915.

SHOWS WHY $13 TAX LIMIT IS URGENT FOR THE CITY'S EXPENDITURES IN 1924-25.

MAYOR CURLEY PRESENTS BRIEF TO LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE ON MUNICIPAL FINANCE EXPOSING INIMICAL AND FALLACIOUS REASONING OF FINANCE COMMISSION IN OPPOSING REQUEST—CHARGES MALICIOUS MISSTATEMENTS OF FACTS OF SUCH PROFUNDITY AS TO BECOME AN INJURY TO CITY.

Mayor James M. Curley presented the following brief to the Legislative Committee on Municipal Finance in defence of a $13 tax limit:

To the Honorable the Committee on Municipal Finance, State House, Boston, Mass.:

GENTLEMEN,—An examination of the statements presented to your committee by the chairman of the Finance Commission on Tuesday last, in support of his recommendation that the tax limit for Boston for 1924-25 be fixed at $11.25, reveals a number of misstatements of facts and figures which are not only misleading on the tax limit question but are also inimical to the financial structure of the city. When an individual occupying the position and prominence of the chairman of the Finance Commission boldly but blindly makes such statements as "department heads are criminally liable because of illegal expenditures," "the segregated budget is a joke," "City is spending money as if ocean were treasury,"—these statements, though unfounded and unsupported, leave an impression in the minds of those who hear or read them that it is practically impossible to counteract or correct, even though as much publicity may be given to the correction as was given to the original misstatement.

In recommending a tax limit of $11.25, as opposed to the request of the city officials for $13, it can be charged that the chairman of the Finance Commission was not interested in a reasonable and just settlement of the tax limit question but was deliberately seeking to create a false impression as to the manner in which city appropriations and expenditures are now directed and controlled. The Finance Commission in 1922 recommended a tax limit of $12 and last year a limit of $12.50. If, since the last recommendation of the Finance Commission, there had been any marked decrease in labor costs or in the prices of materials, supplies and equipment, then the commission, with reason, might have recommended a reduction in the limit for this year. As the members of this committee well know there has been no decrease in costs or prices, hence how can such a radical reduction of $1.75 in the tax limit, or $2,800,000 in appropriating power, be defended?

It is the purpose of this brief to indicate: First—The errors and omissions contained in the computations of the chairman of the Finance Commission;

Second—Additional facts and figures relative to the request of the officials of the city for a $13 limit; and Third—A complete disavowal and refutation of the charges of "illegal expenditure" and "extravagance" on the part of the present administration.

The following comparative set-up indicates the differences between the position of the chairman of the Finance Commission and that of the officials of the city on the matter of a basis for budget estimates:

FINANCE COMMISSION.	ITEM.	CITY.
$359,969 58	Unexpended departmental balances.....	$359,969 58
773,415 25	Excess revenue.....	638,172 76
236,165 79	Printing Department balance.....
5,500,000 00	Estimated income other than taxes.....	5,150,000 00
18,576,004 00	Product of tax limit.....	21,465,605 61
$25,445,555 48	Total appropriating power.....	$27,613,747 95

Unexpended Departmental Balances.—Since both parties in the controversy are in agreement as to the amount of this item no further comment is necessary.

Excess Revenue.—The estimate of the Finance Commission on this item is $135,242.49 in excess of the amount as

URGES LIFE INSURANCE AS CERTIFICATE OF MAN'S CHARACTER.

MAYOR CURLEY DELIVERS ADDRESS BEFORE STATE CONVENTION OF NEW ENGLAND ORDER OF PROTECTION.

Mayor Curley addressing the state convention of the New England Order of Protection at Ford Hall, March 12, said in part:

One of the most uncertain factors in life is life itself; and every prudent man, looking at the uncertain future seeks to make provision for the inevitable day that comes to all and for his dependents, when the protector and head of the family is gone. Prudence and provision should lead every man to lay by a little of his earnings that will create an emergency fund for the rainy day. Some use the savings bank, some use the insurance company and some both; but the far-seeing man gives preference to life insurance, which combines the saving value of the bank with the certainty of a sum greater than the savings of the bank, when settling day comes. Every man with dependents should carry life insurance whether it be in a commercial company, or a well-established, wisely-managed fraternal order; and having secured it he feels compelled to save; thrift becomes a useful habit with him; and having got rid of some of the anxieties that are ahead of him, he is happier, more contented and because of the feeling of safety that is his he becomes a better citizen and a more efficient worker.

The man who carries life insurance is a much safer citizen than the careless, easy-going spendthrift; he is interested in and concerned about good government; he feels that in working for good men in office and an economical administration of public affairs he is safeguarding his savings and protecting the nest egg of life insurance he is carrying for his family. Every man who takes out life insurance adds one more item to the stability of the community, one more obstacle in the path of financial radicalism.

There are many forms of life insurance; they are all good since they are a practical training in prudence, self-denial and thrift; and once the habit of saving is contracted a man's future looks safer. Old Ben Franklin was a consistent advocate of thrift and life insurance; he made the proverb "a penny saved is a penny earned" and he taught that the pennies we do not spend are the pennies that make a man wealthy.

The money we pay out for life insurance is a sound investment; it is working for us day and night; it earns other money that constantly accumulates, and it enables a man to say whatever happens his wife and babies are protected from the wolf at the door.

MAYOR MOURNS PASSING OF FAMOUS OLD BALL PLAYER.

Mayor James M. Curley was one of Pat Moran's greatest admirers. They became fast friends years ago when Pat was catching for the old National League team on the Columbus avenue grounds, and each has followed the career of the other with unbounded enthusiasm since.

When his Honor heard of the death of the manager of the Cincinnati Reds late Friday night, he sent the following message of sympathy:

MRS. PATRICK MORAN, Orlonda, Fla.:

I sincerely mourn with you in the passing of your devoted husband and one of the finest characters which the national pastime of this country has ever known. His sterling character, honor and integrity, his untiring devotion to his friends and his splendid service to those in the shades of adversity leave a blessed and inspiring memory. May God in His infinite mercy attend you during these sad hours.

CHARGES FINANCE COMMISSION BUDGET BRIEF "AN ORGY OF FALSEHOOD."

MAYOR CURLEY DEFENDS LEGISLATIVE REQUEST FOR TAX LIMIT INCREASE BY SHOWING ANIMUS BEHIND OPPOSITION AND BRINGS OUT FACT THAT MOST OF EXPENDITURES DEEMED EXTRAVAGANT WERE NOT OF HIS MAKING.

Mayor Curley sent the following letter March 8:

HON. JOHN HALLIWELL, Chairman Committee on Municipal Finance, State House, Boston:

MY DEAR SENATOR,—The brief submitted by the chairman of the Finance Commission, upon investigation, discloses the fact that the chairman of the Finance Commission, has, during the past twelve months, failed to avail himself of the privilege of becoming familiar with the finances of the City of Boston, and as a consequence, once more becomes the target for the ridicule of men whose knowledge of municipal finance and administration represents a lifetime of experience and study.

It is most unfortunate that the chairman of the Finance Commission, apparently actuated solely by a desire for newspaper headlines, ignores facts, refuses to investigate and indulges in flights of fancy when dealing with a proposition of such importance to all the people as the administration of a large city. I deeply sympathize with Chairman Sullivan because of the ridiculous position in which he has wilfully and deliberately placed himself. It would have been possible for him to have avoided this humiliation provided he had been actuated by judgment rather than conceit.

A brief half hour with the Budget Commissioner or the City Auditor would have prevented what is now recognized as an annual error on the part of the Finance Commission. Upon examination, what the chairman of the Finance Commission terms "an orgy of expenditure" by the Mayor becomes "an orgy of falsehood by Chairman Sullivan," since substantially 82 per cent of the increases which the chairman of the Finance Commission characterizes as extravagance upon the part of the Mayor during 1923 were wholly beyond the control of the Mayor.

The chief item of expenditure in this sum involving $1,416,116.11 was for pension accumulation fund which represented $997,128. The Boston Retirement Pension System was adopted in 1922 upon recommendation of Judge Sullivan, chairman of the Finance Commission, and at the time was considered by him a great achievement and is today acknowledged by everyone in the service of the city as an excellent institution. Upon recommendation of eminent actuaries an accumulation fund sufficient to meet all possible requirements of the act was essential and consequently, an appropriation slightly less than one million dollars was necessary in 1923.

I am a firm believer in the pension system, in fact am favorable to a general old age pension, yet I do not overlook the fact, like the eminent judge, that money is necessary to maintain a pension system. In fact the only way a pension system can be operated is through a proper expenditure of money and this money was made available in accordance with the statute provisions and the expenditure was beyond control of the Mayor.

The increased appropriation for the Police Department was in excess of a quarter of a million dollars. The Police Commissioner requested 100 additional traffic officers but only fifty were granted. The charge is made that every chance to save is wasted; yet despite this charge a saving was effected in the granting of only one half the number of men which the Police Commissioner deemed necessary.

It is true that we might have saved upon the equipment provided we had failed to supply uniforms, helmets, clubs, and firearms and the paraphernalia necessary to the equipment of the police officers but it would not, in my opinion, be sound policy even though it might have presented an opportunity to minimize what Judge Sullivan terms "an orgy of expenditure."

The debt requirements, likewise beyond the control of the Mayor, represented last year $153,808.50 in excess of the previous year. In 1915, during my preceding term as Mayor, I favored an increase of $2 in the tax rate each year, the revenue resulting from the increased tax to be expended for the extinguishment of outstanding debt of the city and if my memory serves me right, this project was not only opposed by the Finance Commission but by the Chamber of Commerce, despite the fact that its adoption in 1915 would have amortized the entire indebtedness of the city in a period of about twenty-five years. The remainder of the nearly one million and a half dollars, which the judge terms "an orgy of extravagance" is represented by an increase of $712.88 in the Licensing Board, the abolition of which Board I have each year sought at Beacon Hill without the aid of the Finance Commission, and the sum of $10,000 additional appropriated for the Finance Commission as a result of their petition to the Legislature, and consequently being wholly beyond my control.

The Finance Commission, which should set a good example for all departments, has been vicious in the extreme as the appropriation for the Finance Commission last year was 25 per cent greater than the preceding year. If every department of the city were granted an increase of 25 per cent in their appropriations last year it would represent an increase in the cost of conducting the activities of the city of approximately six million dollars, or in other words, would have increased the tax rate about $3.50 on each thousand of valuation.

It is most regrettable that the chairman of the Finance Commission has failed to confer with the Budget Commissioner or examined the budget estimates of the various departments before making public his ridiculous and indefensible recommendation relative to a reduction in the tax limit for the City of Boston.

In recommending a tax limit of $11.25 as opposed to the request of the city officials for $13 it can be charged that the chairman of the Finance Commission was not interested in a reasonable and just settlement of the tax limit question but was deliberately seeking to create a false impression as to the manner in which city appropriations and expenditures are now directed and controlled. The Finance Commission in 1922 recommended a tax limit of $12 and last year a limit of $12.50. There has been no marked decrease in the price of materials and labor costs have shown an advance over last year. It has been public property for nearly a year that provision would be made in the budget of 1924-25 for an increase in the pay of laborers and mechanics in the employ of the city to the extent of 50 cents per day and an increase of $100 per annum to all other employees of the city receiving less than $1,800 per annum.

I consider the pledge made to the women who scrub the municipal buildings and the men who toil in the sewers as binding an obligation as though it were made to the wealthiest and most influential element of the municipality, and regardless of the position of the Finance Commission it is my purpose to keep faith with the workers in the service of the city. It is impossible to develop any degree of efficiency without loyalty and a square deal and the adoption of the recommendation of the chairman of the Finance Commission strips the city of every semblance of morality in the matter of loyalty and a square deal.

The adoption of the recommendation of the chairman of the Finance Commission would result in a reduction of the tax limit of $1.75 or the equivalent of $2,800,000 in appropriating power. It is my purpose to submit to the Committee on Municipal Finance a report drafted by the Budget Commissioner and if necessary the budget sheets of every municipal department, a cursory examination of which, even by the merest novice in the field of finance, will prove beyond question the stupidity and the malice of the chairman of the Finance Commission as contained in the brief submitted by him to the Committee on Municipal Finance.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

MAYOR SCORES ALVAN T. FULLER FOR DISCOURTESY AT MASONIC AFFAIR.

SEVERELY CENSURES LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR FOR INJECTING POLITICS INTO FRATERNAL MEETING AND FOR SCURRILOUS ATTACK—CALLS HIS EFFORT TO HIT POLITICAL OPPONENT BAD TASTE AND DISGRACE TO TRADITIONS OF STATE.

Mayor Curley sent the following letter on March 10 to Hon. Alvan T. Fuller:

DEAR SIR,—Your discourteous utterances made at the Masonic Club upon Saturday evening demonstrate and deepen the impression that your political methods are as odious as your financial morals. You made your appearance before that body the occasion for dramatizing another of your several reconciliations with the Hon. Joseph E. Warner, who recently pinned on you the humiliating condemnation of the courts for your gross and unmerited slanders of that gentleman. Your unctuous and transparently insincere repentance must be as embarrassing to Mr. Warner as it is distasteful to the public, and is inspired by your eagerness for public office, rather than by any genuine regret for your scandalous assaults on him.

It excites sympathy for the unfortunate Mr. Warner and but little respect for the automobile Cæsus; and it leads the public to fear that the "Golden Candidate" proposes to stage a series of political reconciliations as numerous as the final appearances of some stage veteran.

The bad taste of dragging the Masonic Order into your political campaign would hardly occur to you; that the oldest of fraternal orders might not enjoy being made a bob tied to the tail of your political kite has not occurred to you. You are not thin skinned; dragging the pride of an ancient and honorable body through the muck of politics is merely an incident in the malodorous political march of a dollar statesman. If any self-respecting Mason feels wronged and the order damaged by your unseemly methods, they can put in a bill after the campaign is over and the "Candidate with Cash" will settle cheerfully and apologize if necessary.

A society which goes back into the centuries and which on our soil has numbered among its membership such men as Washington, Jefferson, Madison, McKinley and Harding and an army of distinguished and patriotic Americans, should not be subjected to the vulgar political assiduities of a man like you, whose only merit is your riches and who appears to believe he can use the Masonic Order to serve his political purposes. I have a higher opinion of the ancient order, and I know what its reaction must be to the use of its members and meetings for the comic reconciliations and tawdry activities of Alvan T. Fuller.

I am a candidate for Governor of Massachusetts; I am a member of several fraternal societies; but I would blush to drag them into my political campaign. I propose to appeal to the Commonwealth and its citizens upon my merits, not my money, small as it is.

I will run as an American citizen, not as an Elk, a Knight of Columbus, or any other fraternity member. I will match my record against yours, my public service against your cash, character and conduct, and I will let the people of Massachusetts decide between us. I have not got enough money to buy the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and I do not believe that all of Alvan T. Fuller's millions can buy it.

There is nothing new in your money talk. You have been indulging in it ever since you bought your way into public life; but even your millions cannot hide your patent mediocrity, your neglect of political duty and your utter unfitness for public preferment and trust.

During your Congressional career your neglect of your official duties was notorious, and in a public debate it was pleaded in extenuation of your conduct by someone that you refused to draw your salary.

On February 27, 1918, Congressman Martin Dies answered your excuses of neglected duties in this fashion: "I do not know whether it is true or not, but someone told me that my friend from Massachusetts (Mr. Fuller) never drew his salary, would not have it, would not take it. I do not know upon what theory he goes. He says he is a business man and I think he must be a good business man. Probably he goes upon the theory that he has not done anything to earn it yet. I know the Bible says the laborer is worthy of his hire, and I know that a member of this great body, who sits upon the destiny of a hundred millions of people, if he is an honest and fearless man and does his duty, is entitled to his salary and I recommend to the gentleman that he take it. It will be the cleanest and best money he ever had in his pocket."

As between my money and yours, Mr. Fuller, your old friend Martin Dies has stated the case succinctly. In your Congressional days, when you neglected to do your duty and scornfully refused to draw your salary, you sought to make the public wage a scandalous thing and your business gains something to be bowed down to by the public and rewarded by the voters. You will learn in season, even though you learn slowly and painfully, that in this splendid old Commonwealth of high and honorable traditions, man and merit still outrank money and mediocrity in the opinion of our citizenry. In every political office to which you have been elected you have failed to give efficient public service, and you must not expect that at this late date you can cover up your failures and inefficiencies with your finances and fatuities.

The sneers and slanders you discharge at me in your stealthy round of surreptitious appearances will not appeal to manly men and will recoil on you.

Your golden store will not lure the honest men of Massachusetts to your standard; they expect something nobler and higher than thrift in the man they elect Governor, and qualities you do not possess—ability to understand public needs, willingness to work for them, respect for American manhood and democratic principles. They will not send a gilded nonentity to Beacon Hill. One gilded dome there is sufficient; yours would be superfluous.

Very truly yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

$13 TAX LIMIT URGENT.

determined by the City Auditor. This excess is explained by the fact that the chairman of the commission bases his estimate entirely on the "gross income other than taxes" received by the city during the year, and ignores purposely or otherwise cash refunds made during the year which obviously reduce the gross figure, and also the fact that the amount of taxes received during the year was less than the amount originally estimated. These two items, together with a small error made by the chairman of the Finance Commission in his computation of gross income, account for the difference between the figures of the Finance Commission and those of the City Auditor.

Cash refunds on income other than taxes.....	$81,823 53
Difference between estimated and actual receipt of taxes.....	53,366 54
Error in computation of gross income.....	52 42
Total difference.....	$135,242 49

The following table, based on the records of the City Auditor's office, indicates the manner in which the amount of "excess revenue" should be correctly computed:

Gross income other than taxes....	$5,868,362 83
Less cash refunds.....	81,823 53
Net income other than taxes.....	$5,786,539 30
Estimated income.....	5,095,000 00
Surplus income other than taxes, Estimated taxes..	$48,066,612 14
Amount of taxes received.....	48,013,245 60
Difference between estimates and receipts.....	53,366 54
Net "excess revenue".....	$638,172 76

Printing Department Balance.—Before discussing the claim of the chairman of the Finance Commission that this balance is "available for appropriation for the present fiscal year" it is desirable that two misstatements with reference to the Printing Department be corrected.

In the first sentence of the second paragraph on page 3 of the typewritten brief it is stated, "The city operates a Printing Plant, for which it makes no appropriation." The attention of the chairman of the Finance Commission is directed to pages 58 and 99 of City Document No. 52, 1923, which is the printed copy of the budget as passed by the City Council and approved by the Mayor. These pages clearly indicate that appropriations for the Printing Department are prepared with as much care and attention as for any other department of the city.

In the third sentence of the same paragraph it is stated, "there is now to the credit of the City Printing Plant the sum of $236,165.79." It is assumed that "now" as used in this sentence refers to the date under which the brief was prepared, namely, March 4, 1924, because the actual balance credited to the Printing Department as of January 31, 1924, was $153,351.18. If it is assumed for the sake of argument that the balance of this department should be considered "available for appropriation" then the latter figure would be used and not the amount as stated by Judge Sullivan.

Section 3 of the Amended Charter of 1909 provides that the City Auditor may "apply any of the income and taxes not disposed of in closing the accounts for the financial year in such manner as he (the auditor) may determine." For fifteen years this section has been interpreted to mean that the City Auditor may at the end of each year apply any unexpended balance either to meet deficits in other departmental appropriations or to increase the surplus carried over into the next financial year. Any balance not applied in either of these ways is considered a special balance and is allowed to accumulate from year to year. In addition to the Printing Department balance there are the following special appropriations:

Reconstruction and repair of streets.
Granolithic sidewalks.
Bridges, repairs, etc.
Ferry improvements.
City Record, publication of.
Land and buildings for schools.

In every special appropriation there is a logical reason for the accumulation of balances. The balance of the Printing Department has been accumulating since the establishment of the department in 1898, and it is planned when the balance assumes sufficient proportions to utilize it for the erection of a modern printing plant.

Since the auditor has the right under the city charter to allow this balance to accumulate, and since as far as this particular balance is concerned this policy has been in existence for twenty-six years, it is difficult to see the force of the argument of the chairman of the Finance Commission that this year this balance is "available for appropriation."

Estimated Income.—The chairman of the Finance Commission is of the opinion that the estimate of income other than taxes as made by the City Auditor "is an inadequate estimate," and he therefore recommends that the auditor's total be raised $350,000, "or from $5,150,000 to $5,500,000." The chairman does not bother to furnish details as to what items he believes to be underestimated; he is content, as usual, to make a broad statement which he considers axiomatic, since, of course, "the King can do no wrong."

The procedure involved in the preparation of the auditor's estimate is as follows: At the close of the fiscal year each department head submits in writing an estimate of what he considers will be the probable income of his department for the subsequent year. These estimates are compared with the actual income received during the year just closed, since the law permits an estimation as great as was actually received the prior year, but not in excess of what was actually received. The fact, however, that actual receipts are in excess of the estimates is not sufficient reason to increase the estimates, because the probability of future income must also be considered. As an illustration of the care that is necessary in estimating income let us consider the income item of interest. The total received last year amounted to $529,121.18, yet the auditor estimates for the current year only $350,000. This reduction is based largely on the fact that interest from overdue taxes will yield far less this year, due to the reduced amount of 1923 taxes now outstanding, as well as the early tax sale which will occur in April of this year rather than in September as in past years. If your principal is reduced and your interest term shortened then it is but common sense to anticipate a reduction in your interest item.

To base an estimate on the total actual receipts of the previous year without proper consideration of all the factors involved might place Boston in the position of those municipalities which are unable to meet their temporary loans in accordance with law. The appended table (Schedule A) shows the various factors considered by the auditor in the preparation of his estimates for 1924-25.

Amount of Tax Limit.—The chairman of the Finance Commission recommends a tax limit of $11.25 as opposed to the request of the officials of the city for a limit of $13. In support of this recommendation the chairman believes that departmental allowances for 1924-25 should be regulated on the basis of the allowances and expenditures in 1923-24. To use his own words, "departments which exceeded their appropriations last year should be made this year to live within the same appropriations that were made for the mlast year; and . . . departments which had contributed to the deficit of those departments which exceeded their appropriations last year be reduced by the amount of their contribution." Such a theory might suffice for departments whose total appropriations do not exceed $100,000 and whose work is fairly constant from year to year, but in the case of the larger departments whose appropriations run over the $100,000 mark and whose activities are constantly varying it is not only unsound but absolutely absurd. It ignores entirely the fact that the basis of all appropriation bills or budgets is the estimates prepared by the heads of the various departments coming within the scope of the budget.

No better illustration of the fallacy of the above theory can be found than that which the needs and requirements of the Election Department for 1924-25 furnish. In 1923-24 the appropriations of this department totaled $170,280.03, and the expenditures $160,571.38. According to the theory of the chairman of the Finance Commission this department should be allowed for 1924-25 this latter figure, despite the fact that the department estimates for this year total $264,347.78. In 1923-24 one election was held in Boston, namely, the city election of last December. This year four functions will be held—the presidential primary in April, the state primary in September, the state election in November and the city election in December. If the chairman of the Finance Commission had been willing to examine the estimates of the Election Department he would have observed the effect of these extra functions in the items on page 307.

For the first time since the adoption of the segregated budget the Finance Commission has deliberately ignored the estimate sheets prepared expressly for their use by the different departments. Is it any wonder, then, that no provision is made in the theory of the commission for logical and reasonable increases in appropriations such as are indicated below?

The Election Department is not the only division of the city government which illustrates the fallacy of the commission's position. The Hospital Department's appropriation for 1923-24 was $1,330,678.44, its expenditures, $1,475,681.88. Under the plan proposed by the chairman of the Finance Commission the Hospital Department would be allotted $1,330,678.44, plus an additional allowance of $100,000 for new positions. The estimates of this department for 1924-25 total $1,862,688, the excess being required for supplies and equipment for the new Out-Patient Department, extraordinary repairs to the heating plant, X-ray and electrical equipment, reasonable and just salary increases to the physicians, nurses and lower paid employees and additional supplies and furnishings required because of increased population. Under the plan of the Finance Commission none of these items are recognized, and yet who can say they are not reasonable requirements.

The chairman of the Finance Commission would allow the Overseers of Public Welfare the sum of $1,269,817.37, despite the fact that the estimates of this department for two items alone, namely, mothers' aid and care of dependents, will total this figure. As anyone knows who has studied the social problems of the day, these two items cannot be materially reduced; hence if the theory of Judge Sullivan is to be accepted it will be necessary for the forty-five employees of this department to work without compensation during the coming year. It will also be necessary for the department to function without any allowance for materials, supplies and equipment.

ITEM.	Expenditure, 1923-24.	Estimate, 1924-25.
Salaries of election officers	$21,495 00	$90,967 00
Printing of precinct lists	29,656 00	35,200 00
Cartage of ballots, etc	1,599 00	4,224 00
Rent of outside polling places	2,812 00	7,140 00
Ballots and office supplies	3,280 00	8,500 00
Suppers for assistant registrars *	324 00	2,000 00
	$59,166 00	$148,031 00

* Paid in lieu of overtime.

No mention is made in the chairman's brief as to increases in pay proposed for laborers and mechanics in the employ of the city. Increases for patrolmen, firemen, inspectors and other employees working under recognized sliding scales, and increases for employees receiving under $1,800 are ignored. No allowance is made for the fact that this is a leap year, and therefore an additional day's pay must be provided for practically all employees. No consideration is given to the fact that increases made last year were applicable for only ten months of the year, while this year they will be applicable for the full twelve months. Increased street lighting costs and increased costs for the removal of ashes and garbage are also deliberately overlooked. The necessity for opening up new grave sections in city cemeteries is not considered worthy of mention. In other words, the chairman of the Finance Commission does not look upon the city as a going concern but feels that its activities can be maintained on a dead level basis. Need any further comment be made on such a theory?

Summarizing what has been said to this point, the argument of the chairman of the Finance Commission for a tax limit of $11.25 is based, first, on an over-estimation of income and cash in the treasury totaling $721,408.28, and second, on the false premise that allowances for a new year should be directly limited by the expenditures of the previous year. The financial officials of the city claim such an argument is radically unsound, and if the members of this committee should approve the recommendation of the chairman of the Finance Commission they would work untold hardship and inconvenience on the activities and services of the city during the current year.

$13 TAX LIMIT.

The original tax limit request of the city for the current year was $13.25. This figure was based on an estimated surplus of $500,000. Since the submission of the original request the actual surplus has been determined as $998,142.34, an increase of $498,142.34 over the original figure. Twenty-five cents will produce on the present average valuation $412,800.10, hence since the excess of the actual surplus over the estimated figure closely approximates the yield of 25 cents the city is agreeable to a reduction of 25 cents in its original request. The request for $13 may be further substantiated in this manner:

Excess requirements for 1924-25 as outlined in brief of Budget Commissioner	$2,156,000 00
Less credits as follows:
Surplus	$998,142 34
Increase in income	55,000 00
Increase in appropriating power due to increased valuations	568,963 97
	1,622,106 31
Net excess requirements for 1924-25	$533,893 69

"ILLEGAL EXPENDITURE."

On page 2 of his brief the chairman of the Finance Commission states that at "the end of the last fiscal year ten departments had exceeded their appropriations in the sum of $445,415.60." In an oral explanation of this statement the chairman claimed these excesses "were illegal" and that under the charter the department heads responsible for the same were "criminally liable." What are the facts in the matter?

The departments charged with "illegal expenditure" did actually exceed the amount of their original budget appropriations, but in each case the excess expenditure over the original allowance was provided by a transfer of additional funds in accordance with law. The fifth section of the appropriation order upon which the budget is based definitely provides for such happenings. The following is the language of this section: "Ordered, That except as the appropriation for any purpose or item shall be increased by additional appropriations or by transfers lawfully made, no money shall be expended . . . in excess of the amount set down . . ." The manner in which transfers can be lawfully made is provided in chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 and section 4, chapter 486, of the Acts of 1909. The chairman of the Finance Commission is familiar with these sections, because two years ago he endeavored to have the latter chapter amended so as to curtail certain transfer powers of the City Auditor and to provide that all transfer requests be submitted to his commission before being approved by the Mayor and Council. Can it be that the refusal of the Legislature to approve his request that year still rankles to such an extent that he is willing to charge illegality of expenditure when he must know such is not the case? The appended table (Schedule B) clearly indicates the legality of the transfers questioned by the chairman of the Finance Commission.

"ORGY OF EXPENDITURE."

"A little knowledge is a dangerous thing." The force of this old saying is well illustrated in the remarks of Judge Sullivan upon what he terms the "extravagance of the past two years." Such catch phrases as "orgy of expenditure" and "every chance to save is wasted" have been given wide publicity in the public press. In support of these phrases the judge uses figures showing the subdivisions of the tax rate for the past three years. These figures indicate that while the portions of the rate applicable to schools and the state tax have decreased in two years, the portion applicable to the city has increased from $11.53 in 1921 to $13.62 in 1923. The learned judge immediately jumps to a general conclusion and charges the Mayor with complete responsibility for the increase. To use his own language before this committee, "In 1923 when school expenditures decreased $1.36 the city officials found means of spending the entire saving." Let us examine the "means" used to spend this decrease.

The total warrant as shown on the 1923 tax bill was $53,094,225.66, an amount $247,542.77 in excess of the total of the 1922 tax bill. This excess was made up as follows:

Increase in city appropriations	$1,715,419 28
Increase in county appropriations	181,618 62
Increase in state warrants	165,775 24
Gross increase	$2,062,813 14
Decrease in schools	1,815,270 37
Net increase	$247,542 77

An analysis of the increase in city appropriations shows the following to be true:

Beyond control of Mayor	$1,416,116 11
Under control of Mayor	299,303 17
	$1,715,419 28

In other words, 82 per cent of the increase for which Judge Sullivan charges the Mayor to be directly responsible proves on investigation to be beyond the Mayor's control. In order that there may be no question as to the strength of this statement, the following list is shown to indicate the make-up of that part of the increase for which the Mayor cannot be held responsible:

Pension Fund accumulation	$997,123 00
Police Department	253,466 65
Debt Requirements	154,808 58
Finance Commission	10,000 00
Licensing Board	712 88
Total	$1,416,116 11

The men in charge of the municipal finances of Boston, fortified by study and experience, base the recommendations and conclusions set forth in this brief upon facts and not fancies. They ask that the request for a tax limit that is equitable and adequate, namely, $13, be granted. They contend that to grant less, whether the action be based upon political or other considerations, will result in a suspension of normal activities, an estoppel of worthwhile progress and a fettering of the capital city of the Commonwealth that is indefensible.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

URGES LIFE INSURANCE.

Life insurance connotes good citizenship, steady habits, a sound interest in public affairs and economic security for the home. The man who has not cultivated habits of thrift and secured protective life insurance is neglecting his plain duty to his family and the community. The man with life insurance is not only more contented and secure, but he stands higher in the estimation of his fellows. A life insurance policy is in its best sense a certificate of character, an evidence of moral worth.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts, awarded without advertising; requests of heads of departments to do the work with the department forces without advertising; additions to and deductions from contracts.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Upon March 7 the Mayor approved a contract with the Wedlake-Lamson Company, for repairing seven Christie motors. A communication from Fire Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn was as follows:

BOSTON, February 9, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—I have received a proposal from the Wedlake-Lamson Company, Hoboken, N. J., quoting a figure of seven thousand (7,000), dollars for repairing seven (7) Christie motors. This price includes transportation charges, new bushings, major and minor parts, in order to place the motors in first-class condition.

I request permission to award the contract to the above named concern, without advertising, for the following reasons:

The prices quoted are cheaper than we can have the work done in local shops.

The Wedlake-Lamson Company succeeded the Front Drive Motor Company, builders of Christie tractors, and is in a position to furnish better service at a much lower price than any other outside concern on this particular work. They have the machinery and forms for doing this work, and are practically the only concern fully equipped for doing it.

Yours very truly,

THEODORE A. GLYNN,
Fire Commissioner.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS DEPARTMENT.

Upon March 13 the Mayor approved a contract with the Radiotone Company for 104 pictures of former presidents of the City Council. A communication from Fred J. Kneeland of the Public Buildings Department was as follows:

BOSTON, March 12, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—In consideration of the fact that this department is about to purchase 104 gold metal radiotone pictures of past presidents of the Boston City Council, I wish to bring to your attention that there is only one concern, as I understand it, in the country that does this work. It would therefore be a needless waste of time and money to publicly advertise for them.

Therefore I respectfully request your permission to award a contract to the Radiotone Company of 522 Fifth avenue, New York City, to furnish these 104 gold medal radiotone pictures at $75 each in the sum total of $7,800 without the usual form of advertising.

Respectfully yours,

FRED J. KNEELAND,
Superintendent of Public Buildings.

MAYOR PRAISES AUTO SHOW.

His Honor the Mayor on March 6 forwarded the following letter to Mr. John H. McAlman, president of the Boston Auto Dealers' Association:

MR. JOHN H. MCALMAN, President, Boston Auto Dealers' Association, Boston, Mass.:

DEAR SIR,—The coming of the annual Boston Automobile Show, which opens Saturday, March 8, 1924, is always an event of particular interest to the people of Massachusetts.

I have watched the growth and expansion of the automobile industry from its inception, and I have noticed that while once it was numbered among the luxury class of utilities, today it is recognized as a necessity by the world.

The development of the automobile and its adaptation to and utilization for the travel and transportation of the world have been of great benefit to all industries; the ingenuity and invention called forth by the constant and competitive improvements the business demanded influencing profitably and favorably every enterprise.

Personally I find your annual show a source of much enjoyment; its combination of beauty, utility and enterprise is as pleasing as educational and I trust the successes of the past years may be repeated in even a larger measure in 1924.

Cordially yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

The Fire Commissioner is in receipt of the following letter from Hon. Guy A. Ham, president of the Citizens National Bank:

Boston, March 6, 1924.

MY DEAR MR. GLYNN,—Last evening a serious fire took place on the premises adjoining our banking institution at 171 Summer street. Owing to the very excellent work performed by the Boston Fire Department this blaze was confined to the premises where the fire originated.

I wish to express to you and the members of your force my appreciation of the services rendered by the department, and the strenuous efforts put forth by them to prevent the blaze from extending to our banking rooms.

As a little token of my appreciation I am inclosing herewith a check for $100 for the Firemen's Relief Fund.

Cordially yours,

GUY A. HAM,
President.

The commissioner has turned the check over to the treasurer of the Boston Firemen's Relief Fund.

By order of Fire Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn.

JOHN O. TABER,
Chief of Department.

VETO—OLD AGE PENSION SYSTEM.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 10, 1924.
To the City Council:
Gentlemen,—I beg to return herewith order of the City Council adopted under date of February 25, 1924, reading as follows:
"Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to appoint a committee to investigate and report to the City Council as to the advisability of establishing an old age pension for citizens of Boston."

In reply I desire to state that I have given careful consideration to the order and have studied the question of old age pensions and their operation in Germany, New Zealand, and Great Britain and am whole-heartedly in favor of the adoption either by the federal government or by the state of this most humane provision so necessary to the comfort, happiness and peace of mind of the working women and men of America.

The Commonwealth at the present time has a committee studying this question and until such time as they submit a report it would be, in my opinion, inadvisable for the city to duplicate the work which has been assigned to them.

Consequently, I return the order without my approval.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.
Placed on file.

Office of the Mayor, March 10, 1924.
To the City Council:
Gentlemen,—I beg to submit herewith in accordance with the provisions of chapter 486 of the Acts of 1909 the recommendation of the Commissioner of Public Works for the adoption of contracts with the Boston Consolidated Gas Company for the furnishing of illuminating gas and the lighting of gas lamps in the streets of the city, some 10,000 more or less, for a period of ten years.

Under the provisions of the city charter these contracts must be approved by the City Council, after a public hearing, in order to become effective and I accordingly submit the report and recommendation of the Commissioner of Public Works for such action as the City Council may deem proper.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department, March 6, 1924.
To the Honorable the Mayor:

The ten-year gas street lighting contracts expire on the 31st of March, 1924. There are two contracts, one of which is for furnishing the illuminating gas at the gas posts, and for which the Boston Consolidated Gas Company was asked to furnish a price per lamp per year for a new ten-year contract. In letter dated March 5, addressed to your Honor and referred to this office, to which was attached a copy of agreement, the Gas Company submitted a price of $11 per lamp per year for single burner sixty-candle power lamps, the maximum hours for lighting per year being $4.000.

The price on the previous ten-year contract per lamp year was $9. The price of gas to the ordinary consumer in 1914 was 80 cents per thousand cubic feet. The price of $9 per year provided a price of 65 cents per thousand cubic feet, or a reduction of 18 1/2 per cent. The price proposed for ten years beginning April 1, 1924, is at the rate of 78 57/100 cents per thousand cubic feet, which is a reduction of approximately 35 per cent from the price to the ordinary consumer of $1.20 per thousand cubic feet.

The contract for furnishing equipment and lighting and extinguishing gas lamps was advertised in three succeeding City Records and bids were opened on March 6, resulting in but one tender, which was made by the Boston Consolidated Gas Company for $15.20 per lamp per year, as against $12 for the expiring ten-year contract, or an increase of 26 7/10 per cent, which increase appears reasonable as compared with the cost of labor, mantles, pole tops, globes and other necessary parts to be provided, kept in repair and renewed.

Provisions are incorporated in each contract for an increase or reduction in the unit price, in accordance with the relative change in price of gas to the ordinary consumer or the cost of equipment and service, as compared with that for the first year under the new contract for which the contract price will be charged.

Two copies of each contract are forwarded for proper presentation to the City Council for its approval as well as for that of your Honor, which is necessary for these ten-year contracts.

Yours respectfully,
J. A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I move that this be referred to the Committee on Finance and that a date be set for a public hearing on the question.

Coun. HEALEY—Mr. President, why Committee on Finance? Why is this not a matter that might properly go to the Executive Committee?

Coun. WATSON—It is a matter which involves large sums of money and it seems to me it might properly be a matter to go before the Committee on Finance. However, it makes no difference to me either way. I will leave it entirely to the Chair's judgment.

It was voted that the matter be referred to the Committee on Finance and printed as a city document.

COURTHOUSE, BRIGHTON.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 10, 1924.
To the City Council:
Gentlemen,—A petition has been received from residents of the Brighton district, signed by the officials of the court and others, protesting against lack of proper court accommodations in this section of the city.

An examination of this section discloses the fact that the site upon which the police station is now located is of sufficient size to accommodate both a new courthouse and police station.

I have conferred with the Superintendent of Public Buildings and he shares with me the view that a new building which would provide for the needs of the district for the next fifty years could be erected and the present building occupied by the courts could be turned over to the Police Department for increased accommodations.

The adoption of this plan would make unnecessary the purchase of land and should result in the construction of a new courthouse for a sum not in excess of $225,000.

I accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of $225,000 be and the same is hereby appropriated for the erection of a new courthouse in the Brighton district, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized to issue, from time to time, upon the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

APPROPRIATION FOR POLICE STATION NO. 18.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 10, 1924.
To the City Council:
Gentlemen,—I beg to submit herewith communication received from the Superintendent of Public Buildings setting forth that because of rulings of the Building Department relative to the new Police Station No. 18 it will be necessary to so lower the foundation as to involve an additional expenditure, including changes in the floors and walls, of $25,000.

I accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Buildings Department,
March 5, 1924.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I wish to advise you of the following facts pertaining to the erection and completion of Police Station, Hyde Park, namely:

A contract was awarded for the erection and completion of this building on December 14, 1923, to the Alco Contracting Company, Inc., in the sum of $181,916. As the work progressed, it was discovered in excavating for the pier footings and foundations that when the grade called for in the specifications was reached, it was the bed of old Stony brook, with the result that excavating to a greater depth was absolutely necessary in order to get to a solid basis.

This fact together with the changes made necessary by decision of the Building Department, such as re-enforcing the steel, etc., makes it absolutely necessary that a further appropriation should be made for this building in order to meet these requirements. I therefore respectfully request that an additional appropriation in the sum of $25,000 be provided for the Police Station, Hyde Park.

Respectfully yours,
FRED J. KNEELAND,
Superintendent of Public Buildings.

Ordered, That an additional sum of $25,000 be and the same hereby is appropriated to be expended by the Superintendent of Public Buildings, for the establishment of a police station, Hyde Park district, and that to meet said appropriation, the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, upon request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

SITE FOR DORCHESTER COURTHOUSE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 10, 1924.
To the City Council:
Gentlemen,—The courthouse accommodations in the Dorchester district have been inadequate for many years and the question of providing suitable accommodations has from time to time received serious consideration, without other action. That a remedy may be provided for present intolerable conditions I recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of $75,000 be and the same hereby is appropriated to be expended by the Superintendent of Public Buildings, for the purchase of a site and preparation of plans for a courthouse, Dorchester district, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

BLEACHERS, ETC., WILLIAM E. CARTER PLAYGROUND.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 10, 1924.
To the City Council:
Gentlemen,—It is desirable that the William E. Carter Playground be used to some degree approaching the maximum of usefulness, and that this may be accomplished I respectfully recommend the adoption of an order providing sufficient funds to establish bleachers and other necessary requisites at the playground.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) be and is hereby appropriated for bleachers and general improvements at the William E. Carter Playground, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, upon request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

IMPROVEMENT OF COLUMBUS PARK.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 10, 1924.
To the City Council:
Gentlemen,—The Park Commission estimated that the sum of $150,000 will be necessary for grading and planting Columbus Park. This work, which has been in process for a period of nine years, will through the expenditure of this sum be completed.
In order that the public may draw dividends upon this investment at an early date, I recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That an additional sum of $150,000 be and the same hereby is appropriated for Columbus Park Improvements, and that to meet said appropriation, the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized to issue, from time to time, upon request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

USE OF WATER INCOME.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Law Department, March 5, 1924.
Wilfred J. Doyle, Esq., Assistant City Clerk,
City Hall, Boston:

Dear Sir,—This is in reply to the request of the City Council that I furnish a written opinion on the following order:

"Ordered, That the Corporation Counsel be requested to furnish the City Council with a written opinion as to the right of the city to use surplus water income for the extension of mains or for the high pressure system."

Chapter 324 of the Acts of 1914 provides how the income from the city's water works shall be applied. Section 1 is as follows:

"Chapter four hundred and twenty-seven of the acts of the year eighteen hundred and ninety-eight is hereby amended by striking out section one and inserting in place thereof the following new section: Section 1. The income received each year by the city of Boston from its water works shall be applied after the first day of February of the year nineteen hundred and thirteen to meet the expenses incurred for maintenance of its water works, including the operation, extension, improvement and renewal of said works, to meet the assessment apportioned to said city under chapter four hundred and eighty-eight of the acts of the year eighteen hundred and ninety-five, and acts in amendment thereof and in addition thereto, and to meet the interest and sinking fund requirements of the loans and the principal of maturing serial loans issued for said works, and the balance, if any, shall be used to meet interest and sinking fund requirements of serial loan payments on any debt of the city of Boston. If such income in any year shall not be sufficient for said payments, the balance required therefor shall be raised by taxation or by loan as the city may determine, and the city is hereby authorized to assess such taxes and make such loans without further authority from the general court."

If, then, the extension of the mains for the high pressure system is within the language of the above section, the auditor of the City of Boston, with the approval of the Mayor, under section 3 of chapter 486 of the Acts of 1909 (amended city charter) may legally apply any of the income not disposed of in closing the accounts for the fiscal year to the extension of water mains for the high pressure system.

The extension of water mains for the high pressure system is clearly an extension and improvement of the water works of the City of Boston. The laying and maintaining of the mains and pipes is within the control and jurisdiction of the Public Works Department. The high pressure system mains and pipes are employed in connection with the use of water supplied by the city. The water supplied through this system may be used by the Fire Department, the street watering and cleaning forces, or by such other municipal departments which may require the use of the high pressure system. The fact that the Fire Department makes more use of the system than do other departments does not alter the fact that the entire system is built and maintained as part of the water works of the city.

In my opinion, therefore, the auditor, with the approval of the Mayor, has the legal right to use surplus water income for the extension of mains for the high pressure system.

Very truly yours,

E. MARK SULLIVAN,
Corporation Counsel.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

On February 25, 1924, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 7, nays 0.

Passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

Later in the session Coun. WATSON said: Mr. President, I desire at this time to move reconsideration of the vote on No. 11. My reason for the motion is that the Mayor has sent in a compromise order for $25,000, and I think I probably will be satisfied with that. Therefore I move the reconsideration.

The motion to reconsider was carried and the order was laid on the table.

12. Ordered, That the sum of $500,000 be hereby appropriated to be expended under the direction of the Park Department for a municipal building to be located in that part of Boston known as Ward 5, old Ward 8, and that to meet such expense the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

On February 25, 1924, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 7, nays 0.

Coun. BRICKLEY—Mr. President, I dislike very much to vote against this order, but, of course, I have to alibi myself. At the present time we have in Ward 5 a municipal building at the corner of Tyler and Oak streets, and there are quite a few wards in the city without municipal buildings or even playgrounds in them. I think it is rather odd to have two municipal buildings in Ward 5. I want to be silent on this vote. I don't want to vote for or against. I think one municipal building in a ward is enough.

President DONOGHUE—The Chair, having been responsible for introducing the order, will say that it was specifically stated in the order that the municipal building should be erected in that part of Ward 5 known as old Ward 8, which, in my opinion, and I think in the opinion of the great majority of our citizens, is without any question the most seriously congested district in the entire City of Boston. They have never had a municipal building and, while it is not the section in which I happen to live, nevertheless I feel that there is as much need of a municipal building in that section as in any other section of the entire city, if not more. For that reason I introduce the order, and I hope it will go on its passage.

The order was given its second reading and passage, yeas 6, nays 0:

Yeas—Coun. Donoghue, Gilbody, Healey, Moriarty, Purcell, Walsh—6.

Nays—0.

13. That the sum of $100,000 be and the same hereby is appropriated for placing the Sullivan Square Playground, Charlestown, in shape, and for the erection of concrete stands on said playground, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized to issue, from time to time, upon request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

On February 25, 1924, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 6, nays 0.

Passed, yeas 6, nays 0, the vote being Coun. Donoghue, Gilbody, Healey, Moriarty, Purcell, Walsh—6.

14. Ordered, That the sum of $50,000 be and the same is hereby appropriated to be expended under the direction of the Park Commission for the purpose of erecting concrete bleachers and otherwise improving the Randolph Street Playground, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

On February 25, 1924, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 6, nays 0.

Coun. BRICKLEY—Mr. President, I rise to object again. We have here in Ward 6 two playgrounds, and both of them have been developed to a certain extent. Of course, more could be done. I think it would be well for us to pick out a ward where the need is greater. We have, for instance, in South Boston, Wards 9 and 10, wards where I do not believe there is a playground. That is my objection, and therefore, I do not care to be recorded on the matter.

The order was given its second reading and passage, yeas 6, nays 0:

Yeas—Coun. Donoghue, Gilbody, Healey, Moriarty, Purcell, Walsh—6.

Nays—0.

15. Ordered, That the sum of $50,000 be and the same is hereby appropriated for the improvement of Tenean Beach Playground, Dorchester, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

On February 25, 1924, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 6, nays 0.

Passed, yeas 6, nays 0, the vote being Coun. Donoghue, Gilbody, Healey, Moriarty, Purcell, Walsh—6.

16. Ordered, That the sum of $50,000 be and the same is hereby appropriated for the improvement of the Garvey Playground, Neponset, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

On February 25, 1924, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 7, nays 0.

Passed, yeas 7, nays 0, the vote being Brickley, Donoghue, Gilbody, Healey, Moriarty, Purcell, Walsh—7.

17. Ordered, That the sum of five hundred thousand dollars be and the same is hereby appropriated, to be expended under the direction of the Superintendent of Public Buildings, for the erection of a new municipal building in Charlestown, and the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, upon direction of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

On February 25, 1924, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 6, nays 0.

Passed, yeas 6, nays 0, the vote being Coun. Donoghue, Gilbody, Healey, Moriarty, Purcell, Walsh—6.

18. Ordered, That the sum of $350,000 be and the same is hereby appropriated for a new courthouse in Dorchester, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

On February 25, 1924, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 6, nays 0.

Passed, yeas 7, nays 0, the vote being Coun. Brickley, Donoghue, Gilbody, Healey, Moriarty, Purcell, Walsh—7.

CITY IS PRESENTED WITH LAND IN HYDE PARK FOR A PLAYGROUND.

MAYOR CURLEY ACCEPTS GIFT OF EDWARD E. BADGER OF 50,000 FEET OF LAND TO BE USED AS PUBLIC PARK IN FAIRMOUNT DISTRICT.

LAND FOR PLAYGROUND IN FAIRMOUNT DISTRICT OF HYDE PARK PRESENTED TO CITY BY EDWARD E. BADGER.

Mayor Curley has accepted, for the citizens of Boston, the offer of Edward E. Badger of Hyde Park, a trustee of the Badger Realty and Power Trust, the gift of 50,000 feet of land to be used as a public park and playground for residents of the Fairmount district in Hyde Park. The plot is at Water street and Fairmount avenue.

The Park Commissioners voted to accept the property and immediately received the Mayor's approval. Formal acknowledgment to the donor will be made and the necessary legal steps will be taken, including the payment of one cent and other valuable considerations.

MAYOR NOT TO CUT SALARIES TO MEET TAX LIMIT DEMANDS FIXED BY LEGISLATURE.

The action of the Committee on Municipal Finance in reporting a tax limit of $12.75, while acceptable cannot be considered as wholly satisfactory.

It is acceptable, in that it indicates that the committee after a study of the recommendations of the Finance Commission recognized the false premises

The property is assessed for $13,000. Included in the gift are a house and stable situated on the lot. Both land and buildings will be transferred to the city, according to Mr. Badger's wish, "to be held in trust for the benefit of the people of the Fairmount section of Hyde Park."

Chairman James B. Shea of the Park Commission is of the opinion that the property can be made available for a children's playground at small expense. He plans to use the buildings temporarily, at least, in caring for the athletic apparatus.

upon which their recommendation of a tax limit of $11.25 was based.

The request of the city for a $13 limit was based upon an estimated cut in department estimates of approximately $2,000,000. When it is considered that the largest cut made in department estimates in any year since the adoption of the segregated budget was $1,450,000, the request of the city for a $13 limit can be better appreciated.

The limit reported by the committee will necessitate an additional cut of approximately $100,000. As a measure of justice and fair play, it is my intention to make this reduction in items other than pay roll. While this may mean the elimination of needed improvements, it is hoped that the cut may be so spread as not to seriously retard or hinder the original programs contemplated in the various department budgets.

HITS BACK AT KU KLUX KLAN.

JOSEPH SMITH WHO ADDRESSED KIWANIS CLUB OF PORTLAND SAYS HE WAS THANKED FOR UTTERANCES.

To the Editor:

The statement from Portland that the officers of the Kiwanis Club of that city had apologized to the "leaders" of the Ku Klux Klan for my utterances attacking that society is interesting but not important. I have no apologies to make for anything I said and only regret that I was not speaking to 10,000 people in Portland instead of a small club of 150 members.

They made no protest to me and there was ample time to do so. They received my address at the lunch with applause and laughter; and at its close a score of the members, all Americans and Protestants, thanked and congratulated me for and on my utterances. Organizing the Klan and recruiting its membership is more profitable than stock swindling and less dangerous; morally it falls below the level of the white slave traffic, since it corrupts thousands of credulous dupes and sows the seeds of civil dissension.

Judged by its propaganda it is anti-American, anti-Christian, antisocial; it is cowardly and nocturnal; it is lawless and treasonable; and seeks to nullify the guarantees of civil and religious freedom written into the Constitutions and laws of the states and the United States. The membership appears to be drawn from the credulous and ignorant, and its leadership from a layer of humanity that lacks the morals to be honest and the courage to be criminal.

Maine is in a bad way today. Men form the Klan and lack the spunk to fight it. The state that gave America Tom Reed, Blaine, Dingley, Hale, and other great Americans has fallen on evil days. It has fallen pretty low when a body of organized ignorance, credulity and bigotry as the Ku Klux Klan is, and whose noisiest and most potent leaders are a stock-swindling faker and a quack doctor, can dominate the political life of the state without protest from press or pulpit.

The most significant and sinister feature of the situation in Maine is the abject cowardice of the political leaders and the strange silence of the Protestant churches, in the presence of this noxious thing,

MY DEAR MR. MAYOR.—You and your administration are to be congratulated on the prompt and efficient manner in which you handled the snow problem this winter, particularly the blizzard this week.

In contrast to recent years, this is highly commendable and one can feel proud of our administration and our city.

Yours very truly,

POLICE GET INCREASE IN PAY DATING FROM AUGUST 1.

At a conference held this day in the office of the Mayor at which were present the Mayor, the Police Commissioner, the Fire Commissioner, the Budget Commissioner and the City Auditor, on the question of salaries of men in the Police and Fire Departments it was agreed that in view of the action taken by the Legislature which reduced the tax limit sought by the City of Boston to the extent of $412,000, that the question of putting into operation the maximum and minimum increase for patrolmen and privates in the Police and Fire Department, be made effective as of August 1, 1924, and as of August 1, 1925.

The budget for this year will provide an increase of $100 to every patrolman in the Police Department, and every private in the Fire Department, the same to be granted on August 1 of this year, automatically increasing the minimum to $1,500 as of August 1, 1924, and the maximum to $1,900.

It was further agreed that a similar increase of $100 to privates in the Fire Department, and patrolmen in the Police Department, be granted on August 1, 1925, thereby automatically establishing a minimum of $1,600 and a maximum of $2,000 on and after August 1, 1925.

MAYOR CURLEY GETS MANY FELICITATIONS FOR KU KLUX KLAN ADDRESS.

RADIO FANS FROM ALL DISTANCES SEND MESSAGES OF APPROVAL FOR BRILLIANT SPEECH DELIVERED IN SOUTH BOSTON SUNDAY EVENING, MARCH 16.

Mayor Curley has been especially gratified to receive telegrams and letters from every portion of the country highly indorsing his address relative to the pernicious activities of the members of the Ku Klux Klan, and delivered at the historical meeting under the auspices of the South Boston Citizens' Association at the Municipal Building upon the evening of March 16. The letters and telegrams received by Mayor Curley mutually report the fact that the radio service from South Boston was especially satisfactory, and the Mayor's address, as well as the songs of Madame Ernestine Schumann-Heink were heard very clearly, and were tremendously appreciated. Thomas Howard, Sr., and Thomas Howard, Jr., of Ashland, Ky., telegraphed the Mayor their congratulations and declared that in the famous town of Henry Clay the Mayor's message was "wonderfully clear."

Sidney K. Clapp from the Grand Gorge in the Catskill Mountains, sent a message to the Mayor advising him that his address was "glorious," was heard distinctly in the Catskill Mountains, and was especially pleasing to the writer by reason of the fact that he was born upon the old Clapp farm in Boston street and almost within the shadow of Dorchester Heights.

Mrs. James Hislop, 2 Larch avenue, Troy, N. Y., sent the Mayor the following message:

"Please allow me to express my appreciation in hearing your address over the 'air' tonight. It came in so strong and clear. The whole program was very good indeed.

"I am writing to see if you will please send me a copy of your address that I may add it to my collection of 'big men's' addresses, I have been compiling for some time back, and which will be placed on file both in our city library as well as our state library when finished.

"If you should not have the address complete, will you please have one of your office force mail a paper giving the best item on same, and for which I am inclosing stamps.

"I came from Boston years ago and have a big part of the good old Irish in me and no one, after hearing you tonight, who can claim that distinction can help, but feel a pride all our own.

"Good luck and thank you for your attention."

A message from Mrs. P. J. Moore, 29 Wellington avenue, Pittsfield, Mass., read as follows:

"Mr. Moore and myself are very happy to tell you how very grand you were tonight over the radio. Your voice was very clear. We heard every word you said. I will put it this way; you were rich; it will be a long time before anyone else will be as good as you were tonight. The program was very good and clear. Thank your Honor."

Eugene A. Dumont of the Somerset Council, Knights of Columbus, of Skowhegan, Me., warmly congratulated the Mayor, and said that the radio service was perfect.

Thomas J. Madden of Brockton also sent the Mayor a very cordial letter of congratulation.

Past Commander Daniel J. Dowd of the Ninth Regiment Veteran Corps of Woodstock, Vt., sent the Mayor the following message of congratulation:

"Allow me to congratulate you on your speech last Sunday evening, which I heard by radio in this village. Your voice sounded as clearly as though I was sitting in your office at City Hall instead of being some 160 miles distant. Every word came through very distinctly and clearly.

"I wish you the best of success in your campaign for the office of Governor. Trusting your voice and health will remain for a long time to come; believe me it sounded real good last evening over the radio. Again wishing you the best of luck."

WILL STILL KEEP BOSTON STREETS OF FIRST-CLASS, LASTING CONSTRUCTION.

MAYOR CURLEY CALLS FINANCE COMMISSION TO ACCOUNT FOR CONTINUED MISSTATEMENTS OF FACTS AS TO PAVING WORK, CITING ERRORS, AND SUGGESTS THAT CONSTRUCTIVE RECOMMENDATIONS ARE WELCOMED—SHOWS WHERE ADVICE, IF HEEDED, WOULD HAVE ADDED NEEDLESS BURDENS AND DISCOMFORTS TO CITIZENS.

Mayor Curley sent the following reply to the Finance Commission on March 15:

HON. MICHAEL H. SULLIVAN, Chairman, Finance Commission:

DEAR SIR,—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your latest issue of misinformation relative to street paving. I appreciate the motives for its issuance; the Legislature is in session and the Committee on Municipal Finance have not yet determined the tax limit bill for Boston; and your term as chairman of the Finance Commission expires in June and up to the present you have not been reappointed. I believe this fairly and honestly sums up the present case, which is in no sense new, either in the matter of misstatement or recommendation. Some facts, however, have been gleaned with reference to the authority for its issuance, namely, the consulting engineer of the Finance Commission, Guy C. Emerson. During the years 1908-09 he served as Superintendent of Streets for the City of Boston. During his administration contracts were awarded for sheet asphalt construction at a cost of $1.79 per square yard. During the past fifteen years a great World War has been fought and a considerable portion of the man power of the world was destroyed during the progress of that war, and much of the material resources of the world were consumed during the period of the war, and as a consequence the cost of materials and wages represent an increase today at least 80 per cent in excess of the costs in 1908-09. Upon the basis of the increase a price of $3 per square yard might not be considered as exorbitant. However, the city has not been required to pay this price. We have been exceedingly fortunate in that the price paid by the City of Boston has been on a par with the price paid by the larger cities and towns of the Commonwealth. The average cost in five Massachusetts cities and in the town of Brookline, which is considered a very well conducted town, has been $1.98 per square yard during 1923 for Warren bitulithic surface, and the price paid by the City of Boston was in every case lower than the average price paid by the aforesaid cities and towns.

Your criticism of the inspection force of the city service is exceedingly courageous, but in no sense convincing or commendable, emanating as it does from the engineer of the Finance Commission, Mr. Emerson. In 1923 the city of Medford engaged Mr. Emerson to prepare specifications and to supervise and inspect street work. While serving in this capacity Winthrop street was constructed, the work being completed in December 1923.

Scarcely three months have passed and Winthrop street is unsafe today for public travel.

In 1908-09, during Mr. Emerson's term as Superintendent of Streets for the City of Boston, Morton street was constructed, and up to the present time nearly $200,000 has been expended to cover up the mistakes made in the construction of this thoroughfare.

In an official report to the Finance Commission in 1917 Mr. Emerson declared that within a year after the completion of the Commonwealth avenue paving, from Arlington street to Brookline avenue, the paving would have to be relaid. The paving on Commonwealth avenue is bitulithic, and it has been laid for a period of seven years and does not represent a single dollar for repairs either by the company who performed the work or by the city.

At a recent meeting of the Massachusetts Highway Commission the former chairman of the State Highway Commission, Colonel Sohler, congratulated the City of Boston upon the splendid results on Commonwealth avenue and stated that a number of the taxpayers who were required, because of the protest of the Finance Commission at that time, to raise and contribute to the city the sum of $9,000 in order that a superior paving be laid on Commonwealth avenue, had stated that in their opinion the money expended by them was an excellent investment.

Personally, I propose to adhere to the policy of first-class construction on Boston streets. The streets laid in 1914, when I first assumed the office of Mayor, such as Columbia road and other streets, are still in first-class condition after a lapse of ten years. At the time that the Columbia road contract was awarded the Finance Commission protested, insisting that the award be made for asphalt because of the difference of 10 cents per yard in price. In all probability, had the judgment of the Finance Commission engineer been followed in this case and the recommendation of the commission at that time accepted, we would be confronted with a replacement proposition on Columbia road that today might represent a cost of $150,000, instead of having a thoroughfare that probably will continue in good condition for ten years or more.

It is most unfortunate that the Finance Commission insists on resorting to falsehood and deceit, with a view to discrediting whatever Democratic administration may be in power in Boston, in view of the fact that every intelligent citizen recognizes that the commission when assuming a critical attitude is serving solely as a Republican auxiliary.

Constructive recommendations are always welcome, such as the establishment of a more detailed force account, and when made will be cheerfully accepted and followed, but the basis for constructive recommendations should typify a high order of honesty and intelligence. The absence of these attributes render them worthless.

With every good wish,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

The Finance Commission had submitted a report on paving, in part as follows:

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,

Mayor of Boston:

SIR,—The Finance Commission submits herewith a report of its consulting engineer on the costs to contractors of about one half of the bituminous pavements that were laid last year. These costs are based on contracts for laying 102,797 square yards of Warrenite bitulithic, or about 64 per cent of the total area of that type of pavement laid last year. The city paid approximately $2 per square yard for this type of pavement, although the average cost to the contractor, exclusive of profit and some items of overhead, was but 74 cents per square yard.

The costs of sheet asphalt to the contractor are based on 17,515 square yards, or approximately 35 per cent of the total amount laid last year. The cost of this type of pavement to the city was approximately $1.79 per square yard, although the average cost to the contractor, including overhead, which was small, was $1.32 per square yard.

On the basis of these costs it is obvious that the prices paid by the city for bituminous sheet pavements have been exorbitant. It will be noted that as regards Warrenite bitulithic the cost to the city is more than for sheet asphalt, although the cost to the contractor is less.

Real competition for laying bituminous sheet pavements for the City of Boston no longer exists, with the result that favored contractors are receiving unwarranted profits from the city.

The inefficiency of the inspecting force results in a further loss to the city through inferior pavements.

The Finance Commission recommends:

That the Public Works and Park Departments study the costs of bituminous pavements as set forth in the report of the consulting engineer, before awarding any contracts for laying bituminous pavements for the coming year.

That your Honor refuse to award contracts to any contractor whose bid is out of proportion to the cost of the work, as shown in the cases reviewed by the consulting engineer.

That the same form of contract and specifications for bituminous pavements be used in the Public Works and Park Departments.

That the form of "Proposal" in the contracts be made in such detail that the bid for each item of work will be shown independently.

That a uniform system for keeping the detailed costs of the various items of the work be installed in the Public Works and Park Departments and that complete returns under such a system be required of the engineers and inspectors in charge of each job.

Respectfully submitted,

THE FINANCE COMMISSION,
by MICHAEL H. SULLIVAN,
Chairman.

Divine Providence had some mysterious purposes when He created the skunk; but He never intended it to sit in the halls of legislation, or occupy a pew in a church. It is time that native and Protestant America woke up to the defence of Americanism and Christianity.

CONTRACTS AWARDED.

Permission to award contracts for work, materials and supplies, in accordance with recommendation of department heads, has been approved by the Mayor.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Sewer Service).

Upon March 20 the Mayor approved a contract with Joseph A. Singarella for repairing city stable, Highland street, Roxbury.

The reason for rejecting the lowest bidder is that he has presented an informal bid, which will allow of two interpretations. One interpretation would mean that he was the lowest bidder at $927.60 or that his bid might be $4,321.70. Bids for the work were as follows:

John P. Curley, $927.60; Joseph A. Singarella, $1,015.50; W. Curley & Son, $1,431; Frank J. Gallagher & Co., $1,559.25; John F. Shea & Co., $1,826.10.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts, awarded without advertising; requests of heads of departments to do the work with the department forces without advertising; additions to and deductions from contracts.

ASSESSING DEPARTMENT.

Upon March 20 the Mayor approved a contract with the Library Bureau for a list of persons liable for poll tax. A communication from Edward T. Kelly of the Assessing Department was as follows:

BOSTON, March 19, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,

Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—We desire your permission to make a contract with the Library Bureau for a list of persons liable to assessment of a poll tax for the year 1924.

The list is to be prepared from the copy as it is written for the Police Department, and is to be done while said work is in progress. This method would permit of the third copy being available on May 25, the date on which the list of residents is delivered to the Listing Board, a result not possible if the contract is awarded to anyone else.

We respectfully request your permission to make the contract with the Library Bureau at the figure submitted by them of $4,645, because they can complete the work at an earlier date than anyone else:—having access to the lists during the progress of the police work—and because, in our opinion, it cannot be done at a less cost by anyone else.

Respectfully,

EDWARD T. KELLY,
Chairman.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Upon March 20 the Mayor approved a contract with Thomas O'Connor & Co. for erecting the new fire alarm station. A communication from Theodore A. Glynn, Fire Commissioner, was as follows:

BOSTON, March 20, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,

Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—The Boston City Council at a recent meeting provided the additional funds necessary for the completion of the Fire Alarm Signal Station to be located in the Fenway.

It is important that this work be started at once, and I hereby reject all bids and respectfully recommend the award for the construction of this building be made to Thomas O'Connor & Co. in the sum of $268,787, this sum representing the amount of a bid submitted by them under date of February 6, 1924.

This contract was advertised and the lowest bidder was the S. L. Milton Company, and the next lowest bidder was Thomas O'Connor & Co. I have made inquiry concerning the work as done by the S. L. Milton Company and the work as done by the second lowest bidder, Thomas O'Connor & Co. I am of the opinion that the work would be much more satisfactorily done by the O'Connor Company, and I consider the O'Connor bid, for which he is now willing to do the work, a reasonable one. As prices have increased since the submission of the original bids, and as an additional expense would be incurred by readvertising, and an unwarranted delay would also be caused (and as in the bid submitted by the O'Connor Company they neglected to technically comply with the advertisement and some legal question may be raised as to the award of the contract in accordance with the advertisement), I respectfully request permission to award the contract to Thomas O'Connor & Co., without advertising, in the sum of $268,787.

Yours very truly,

THEODORE A. GLYNN,
Fire Commissioner.

PARK DEPARTMENT.

Upon March 11 the Mayor approved a contract with the Alco Contracting Company for locks on bath closets. A communication from James B. Shea of the Park Department was as follows:

BOSTON, March 10, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,

Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Your authority is respectfully asked to award, without advertising, a contract to the Alco Contracting Company, 43 Tremont street, Boston, for furnishing and installing the rim locks with brass works on 865 doors of the bathing closets in the bath house at Columbus Park, South Boston, for the sum of $1,950.

The reason for this request is that this sum of $1,950 was deducted from the contract price for the construction of said bath house, on account of the fact that the delay in the delivery of the hardware in said contract prevented the contractor from completing the building, and in order to avoid claims for delay said deduction was made.

The hardware has now arrived, and the Alco Contracting Company is willing to do the work as outlined in their contract, hence this letter to award, without advertising, contract to them at the above price, the same amount deducted from said contract.

Very truly yours,

JAMES B. SHEA,
Chairman.

SCHOOLHOUSE DEPARTMENT.

Upon March 12 the Mayor approved a contract with P. H. McCue for repairs on the Parkman School. A communication from Thomas P. Glynn of the Schoolhouse Department was as follows:

BOSTON, March 11, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—The Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners respectfully requests the approval of your Honor, under the provisions of chapter 486, section 30, of the Acts of 1909, to awarding a contract, without advertising, to P. H. McCue, 29 Speedwell street, for repairs to the Parkman School, Broadway, South Boston, the cost of said work to exceed the sum of $1,000.

The reason for making this request is as follows: On February 29 a fire occurred in the Parkman School, which did considerable damage and necessitated the removal of some of the classes from the building until such time as the damage could be repaired. The Board desired to have the work of repair completed at the earliest possible date, and therefore arranged to have it begun immediately. It has been found, however, that the cost of this work will be in excess of $1,000, and the Board therefore requests the approval of your Honor to making contract as set forth above.

Respectfully yours,

THOMAS P. GLYNN,
Chairman.

Upon March 17 the Mayor approved a contract with John J. Hourihan for repairs to roof of Christopher Gibson School. A communication from Schoolhouse Commissioner Thomas P. Glynn was as follows:

BOSTON, March 14, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—The Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners respectfully requests the approval of your honor, under the provisions of chapter 486, section 30, of the Acts of 1909, to Awarding a contract, without advertising, to John J. Hourihan, 7 Walden street, Jamaica Plain, for repairs to the roof of the Christopher Gibson School, Dorchester, the cost of said work to exceed the sum of $1,000.

The reason for making this request is as follows: During the storm of March 11 a considerable portion of the roof was torn off by the high wind. At the time this accident took place the above-mentioned contractor had staging on the building making repairs to ventilators. It was necessary, of course, to replace at once the portion blown off, and the Board therefore instructed this contractor to do the work immediately. The cost of the complete work will be in excess of $1,000, and the Board therefore requests your approval as above set forth.

Respectfully yours,

THOMAS P. GLYNN,
Chairman.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

Upon March 18 the Mayor approved a contract with the Sewell Cushion Wheel Company for wheels for trucks. A communication from Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department was as follows:

BOSTON, March 17, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract, without advertising, to the Sewell Cushion Wheel Company for furnishing to the Public Works Department, Sanitary Service, three sets of Sewell cushion wheels for five-ton Pierce Arrow trucks at a price of $2,080 plus war tax of $62.40, making total amount of contract, $2,142.40.

This type of wheel is now being used in the Fire Department as well as in the Public Works Department, and have proven very satisfactory, and the Public Works Department desire to equip the remaining three trucks with this type of wheel. As the Sewell Cushion Wheel Company are the manufacturers of this type of wheel, no advantage would be gained by publicly advertising for same.

Respectfully yours,

FRANK P. ROCK,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Upon March 15 the Mayor approved a contract with the Boston Buick Company for one seven-passenger car. A communication from Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department was as follows:

BOSTON, March 13, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract, without publicly advertising the same, to the Boston Buick Company for furnishing to the Employment Bureau one 1924, seven-passenger Buick sedan at $2,470; allowance on 1920 Buick touring car, $225—$2,245.

ASSISTANT SUPERINTENDENT RAFTER MAKES REPORT ON NATIONAL EDUCATION ASSOCIATION CONVENTION.

Augustine L. Rafter, assistant superintendent of Schools, has made the following report on his attendance at the convention of the National Education Association at Chicago, February 25 to 29, 1924.

To the School Committee of the City of Boston:

I submit herewith a brief report of my attendance at the meetings of the Department of Superintendence of the National Education Association of the United States, held in Chicago, February 23-28, 1924.

Perhaps the greatest benefit of the many derived from the meetings and discussions of the superintendents from every state and from the chief cities of the United States is the gauge or standard furnished the individual by which he may measure, compare, estimate and evaluate his schools, their administration, his system, his teachers with others throughout the nation. Institutions, systems and teachers are great or insignificant, efficient or ineffective only in the light of honest, critical comparison.

After hearing the ablest educators the country over, happy and fortunate the school man who can return to his home city, not with a smug complacency, but with the sincere conviction that he is the citizen of no mean educational city; that while he detects opportunities here and there to better his school service, on the whole, the system, the schools, the teachers of his city, in comparison, must be ranked with the best.

At a great meeting at the Chicago convention there was discussed by the superintendents of cities of a population above 200,000, this topic:

IMPROVING THE SERVICE.

Through Better Trained Teachers.

A superintendent of a city comparable in size with Boston stressed the importance of limiting strictly the size of classes; improving the work of the individual teacher; insistence on an adequate supply of "tools," i. e., pianos, maps, charts, boards, paper, books, texts, and references. A systematic and continuous instruction throughout the service for a proper respect for public property. Are the "tools" of a quality to inspire respect? He would have the dignity, worth, and security of the teaching profession explained to high school students. We, usually, vocationally guide students to every other form of livelihood, to the professions, even, except that of teaching.

The training of teachers in his city consists of a two years' course in a normal school followed by a year's probation on regular salary in a so-called "training center," where the young teacher is under the direct, sympathetic supervision of training teachers. Two neighboring universities give college credit for these three training years. This feature of teacher training in his city he considered of the very highest importance. After permanent appointment the teacher may continue in her college course at any rate of speed she may determine. One hundred and thirty teachers have obtained degrees but five years after graduation from high school.

Through Better Administration and Supervision.

A second superintendent believed that principals are not as systematically or effectively trained for their positions as teachers are. He would set up a standard for the principalship. His city freed the principal of about all the clerical work of the school by furnishing him a clerk or secretary. He was convinced that the serviceability and efficiency of these clerks had been enhanced by the supervision and instruction of a chief secretary who called them together at stated periods and instructed them in the work of their office.

The principal should first be an expert in teaching and in presenting the lesson, then would he be fitted for supervision. He should be scientifically trained in measuring and testing. The time has gone by when anybody can give and interpret an intelligence test. The principal should be a constructor of curricula. Every principal in his city has been and is a member of a committee busied (in school time) with the construction and perfecting of curricula.

Through Better Organized Curricula.

A third superintendent quoted John Dewey as saying that educational practice in American schools is twenty years behind educational theory. We are just now putting into practice a method of instruction in Latin that was advocated with convincing logic a decade ago.

Today everybody in the lay world is reading Joseph Conrad, but a questionnaire to over one hundred high schools failed to reveal that he is being read at all by secondary pupils. The course of study should more closely follow its "interference," community needs and demands. In his city thirty committees are engaged (again in school time) in curricula revision and construction. Specialists in subject matter from neighboring colleges and universities are engaged in the work with the principals and grade teachers.

For the current year his city has appropriated for this purpose $31,500, and while he did not anticipate as generous an annual appropriation in the future, he believed that the sentiment of his community was so strong for correct curricula sufficient money would be forthcoming. A curriculum school in his city is taught by superior teachers. In this school experiments are tried out and to it go for instruction and inspiration teachers from all parts of the city.

After hearing a spirited, thoughtful discussion of the above topic, it is reassuring to feel that the great objectives aimed at in the school system of the City of Boston are clearly in advance of those established by the leading cities of the United States.

Respectfully submitted,

A. L. RAFTER,
Assistant Superintendent.

AWARD FRANKLIN UNION CERTIFICATES.

On Thursday evening, March 20, the Hon. John A. Sullivan, vice president of the Franklin Foundation, informally awarded certificates to forty-seven men who have satisfactorily completed the regular two and three year evening courses at Franklin Union in industrial electricity, industrial chemistry, mechanism and machine design, plan reading, heating and ventilating, steam engines and boilers, and ship design and calculations. In addition, five hundred and sixty record and pass cards were presented to students in one-year courses.

The evening registration has been 12 per cent larger than that of last year. Special spring courses in mathematics, industrial chemistry, radio installation, automobile ignition and plan reading will open on Monday evening, March 31, and a Saturday afternoon course in surveying practice on March 22.

WEST BEHIND BOSTON IN SCHOOL BUILDING PROGRAM — AHEAD IN PARENT INTEREST.

MYRON W. RICHARDSON, HEAD MASTER, SO FINDS AS RESULT OF ATTENDANCE AT NATIONAL EDUCATION ASSOCIATION CONVENTION AT CHICAGO — REPORT TO SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

Myron W. Richardson, head master, Girls' High School, has submitted the following report on his attendance at the convention of the National Education Association, held at Chicago, February 25 to 29, 1924:

To one attending the mid-year meeting of the National Education Association for the first time the first impression is likely to be that of confusion because of the magnitude of the convention. There were some 10,000 superintendents, principals and supervising officers in attendance. The meetings were grouped in twenty-four different departments, of which the Department of Secondary Education was one, each with a two or three day program.

The official program containing all the meetings was a pamphlet with sixty-three pages of information. The official headquarters were at the Congress Hotel and the adjoining auditorium, hotel and theater. The latter was used for the general meetings and had a seating capacity of over 5,000. The department meetings were scattered all over what is known as "100 sections" of Chicago, using assembly rooms in a number of large hotels. The meetings as a rule were crowded to capacity and it was necessary to go early to secure a seat. Particularly was this true of the general meetings in the auditorium. In connection with the convention were listed between 180 and 200 exhibits of different concerns dealing in school books and supplies, each occupying one or more rooms in the Congress Hotel.

The task of selecting an individual program from such a wealth of material was by no means an easy one. To give anything like a comprehensive view of the convention as a whole would be very difficult, and even to give an accurate account of one's individual program would be much of it tiresome and without profit. For here, as in conventions smaller and nearer home, there were some contributions that were Utopian and some that were educational drivel. The best that can be done is to touch here and there a few of the high spots and to tell a few of the things which were of interest.

The first meeting of the Department of Secondary School Principals had for its general topic, "The Holding Power of the High Schools and How to Improve it." Under this head three addresses were given. One entitled "The High School Principal's Responsibility for Curriculum Making," by Franklin K. Bobbitt, of the Department of Education, University of Chicago; the second, entitled "More Purposeful Activities and Definite Objectives for Pupils," by the principal of the West High School, Akron, Ohio, and a third, entitled "Curricula Making for Pupils of Varying Ability," by the dean of the College of Education of Cincinnati.

This grouping of addresses was a more or less typical one. First usually came an address from somebody connected with a college or college department of education, telling in elaborate detail and frequently in language which was not easy to comprehend how things ought to be done, and then followed a less elaborate address by a school principal, telling how things were done in his school. Between the professor's scheme and the principal's application there was usually a wide gap, and I fear in many cases between the principal's account and what was actually being done was still another gap.

Professor Bobbitt set forth the changed view of education, stating that its objectives were no longer imparting information for mind storage, which information might or might not be of use in after life, but that we were coming to see that education meant the development of abilities which have a direct and immediate connection with life; that with these changed objectives must come changes in curricula, a departure from the old, or, as he characterized it, the cold storage methods of the past.

The West High School of Akron was presented as a school which had made marked and definite progress along this line. The principal stated that Akron was given over to the manufacture of automobile tires, and therefore his course in community civics concerned itself with this industry and with the local history of its development. He also spoke of using the printing department of the school to print the school paper and various forms used in the school; of the correlation between the English department and the school paper; of organizing the senior class to look after certain freshman activities and serve as freshmen advisers; of the appointment of a few members of the senior class to assist pupils of lower classes who were failing in their studies; of the promotion of thrift in the school by pupil participation in the conduct of the school savings bank, etc. I think you will readily recognize that much of what he is doing is not new and has been done in part or whole by many of us for some time past. It is not uncommon in school conventions to meet thus old projects dressed up in new garments and presented as new material.

One of the most amusing and interesting meetings had to do with the rating of teachers. Professor Rugg, of the Teachers' College of New York City, presented his plan of "Self-Improvement Through Self-Rating," blanks for which have been on the market for a considerable number of years; the idea being that teachers should be asked periodically to examine themselves and rate themselves according to a somewhat elaborate plan as set forth in his printed card, and that such self-rating and self-examination should be stimulating and helpful. I think the reaction upon a person reading through this long list of things upon which the teacher was asked to rate herself is irritating and discouraging. My own reaction to it was similar to that of the college president who had a very bad nightmare and upon being awakened by his wife told her he had had a most terrible dream. It was that he was obliged to pass the freshman entrance examinations to hold his job. Whatever the cause, Professor Rugg's talk aroused many vigorous objections and the meeting developed into a sort of Donnybrook Fair, participated in by a number of speakers, one principal going so far as to ask if anybody present would be fool enough, in visiting teachers, to take around with him a "damn" piece of pasteboard of this kind. There were two humorous features in the row. One was the presiding officer at the meeting, who was a stately lady from Philadelphia and who was completely lost in the maelstrom of argument and demands for recognition that were made upon her. The other was the misconception that prevailed as to the purpose of the blank, which was, after all, nothing much more than a check list to be used by a teacher in rating herself, and not by an executive official in giving her a rating. There was really very little to get excited about.

One of the best department meetings was the joint session of the Principals of Secondary Schools and Deans of Women, and one of the best addresses was made by Mrs. W. S. Heffernan, a member of the Chicago Board of Education and president of the Parent-Teacher Association. Among other bright things she said that education had until recently concerned itself only with the three R's, but to that had now been added the three H's, care of the Heart, Head and Health; the three C's, instruction in civics, citizenship and character; and the three B's, body, brains and bringing up. In this connection I have received since returning a letter from the brother of one of my pupils asking that I persuade his sister to use her high school education to teach her father enough English so that he might take out his second citizenship papers. So I would add to Mrs. Heffernan's item of bringing up, the words "including Father."

The West is certainly outstripping the East in the matter of parent-teacher associations. They seem particularly to have solved the problem of how to get the parents out. Several speakers testified to audiences of 700 or 800 parents at their meetings. One high school which I visited has a parents' association consisting of 1,800 members who have paid 50 cents apiece as membership dues to the association. At his evening meetings he gets out audiences of from 1,500 to 2,000 people. Four times during the year he arranges a meeting for parents in the afternoon, one for each of his four classes, gives them a dinner in his lunchroom for which they pay 50 cents apiece, and which 300 or more parents attend, every seat being taken in advance. Sometimes at the various meetings there is a regular program of teachers from abroad, and again it is a helpful and frank discussion between parents and teachers as to the best way of handling their common difficulties in bringing up the pupil.

The Association of Deans for Girls in High Schools has attained great prominence in the West, so much so that there is a Department of Deans in the National Education Association. This subject is particularly of interest and importance to us because we have recently organized a State Association of Deans in Massachusetts, and I understand pressure is being brought to bear upon the state superintendent to recommend the appointment of such an official in all large high schools.

I should judge in school organization that more responsibility is placed upon the home-room teacher in the East than in the West. In my own school, and presumably in most high schools in this part of the country, pupils are divided into groups of about forty, each under the charge of a home-room teacher. This teacher is made custodian of all records pertaining to the pupil, attendance, scholarship, report cards, etc. She is the person to whom all complaints are sent for conduct or other failure to perform school duties. The school program is arranged in such a way as to allow her to teach her own group in at least one subject. Every three weeks she is given a home-room hour for the purpose of giving her group instruction in manners and morals, outlines for which are prepared by a committee of teachers.

Once in two months, just before the bi-monthly report is given out, she is given a full hour of school time to talk individually with her pupils who are failing badly in their work, to inquire into the causes of this failure and to offer suggestions for improvement. We thus have not one but fifty or more deans for girls. It is difficult to understand how these duties could be performed properly by one person. It is hard enough to be a mother to forty girls; it is impossible to be one to 2,700.

The very title, dean, or adviser, of girls, seems to me an unfortunate one. With the possible exception of the senior class, high school girls do not need an adviser so much as they need a director, someone who will go to them rather than one to whom they may go. They are not old enough to seek advice and very often they do not appreciate it when it is given to them. I should deem the appointment of such an official to my school a positive misfortune, because it would tend to take away from the home-room teacher responsibilities which she now discharges fairly well, and transfer them to one who, whatever her gifts in this direction, for sheer physical reasons cannot properly discharge them so well.

A dean is not closely in touch with pupils. She probably would handle only cases referred to her by home-room teachers, and such cases would be referred to her only when they had become serious. This would mean that her work would be largely of a curative nature while that of the home-room teacher is preventive. In one important respect, however, the home-room teacher is very much restricted in what she may do for the welfare of the pupil. It is almost impossible for her to get in touch with the home except by the very unsatisfactory method of written communication.

In every large high school there ought to be employed a person through whom proper contact may be made with the home, and this person should be first of all a social worker. If she has had teaching experience, so much the better. We have, in fact, such people now connected with some of the schools and they are known as school visitors. A school visitor may perform many of the duties now performed by deans.

She may advise girls and organize and direct many of their activities. She may be a person to whom the home-room teacher may refer difficult cases. She should have office hours each day in the school for the accomplishment of these things, but most of her time should be spent outside of the school.

I was particularly interested on my visit to Chicago to get all the information that I could about deans for girls. The principal of the Englewood High School, Mr. J. E. Armstrong, reported that a recent questionnaire sent to the high schools around Chicago showed that about 80 per cent of the schools which answered had deans for girls, but in a very large percentage of these schools the dean had a regular teaching program, being apparently a teacher with special qualifications for handling discipline or other girl problems, who for this reason had been given the high-sounding title, dean for girls. In all that was said at the meetings about the work of a dean there was little or no mention made of home visiting as a part of her duty; in fact, some high schools had a second official known as a social visitor whom they used for that purpose. If we are to have but one official of this kind, by all means let it be a school visitor rather than a dean.

A report of some of the general meetings in the auditorium may be of interest to you. William McAndrew, lately appointed Superintendent of Schools of Chicago, gave an address upon encouragement and more encouragement. It was very inspiring and very humorous, in Mr. Andrew's best form. He began by saying that a line of pupils were taking a test for strength of grip of the hands. As one pupil came for the test the teacher remarked that John was not very good at anything and could not be expected to make a very high record. True to the teacher's prediction he made a very low record. He was then put at the foot of the line, and when he came for a second test the teacher said, "Now here comes John; he tries very hard and sometimes leads the class." So John tried again and his second record was just three times his first.

He then explained that this was a school for the feeble-minded and John was an idiot, and added in his inimitable manner that most of us were idiots of one kind or another. He later quoted from the Scriptures to the effect that fault-finding withered tissue and made bone. He said that the superintendent who saw "and pointed out only faults was in danger of withering the tissues between his ears and thus becoming a bone-head, and that if his subordinates followed his example you would soon have a system of bone-heads revolving around a central bone-head." I think we will all agree with Mr. McAndrew with reservations. Too much sugar sometimes clogs the machine as much as too little lubrication. Mr. McAndrew was later chosen president of the department for the ensuing year, possibly because of the favorable impression made by this address.

A strong address was made by Judge Florence Allen, a woman who is a judge of the Supreme Court of the State of Ohio. Her topic was "The Next Step in World Peace." She said that murder in the case of individuals never could have been restrained as long as it was excused for this, that or the other reason, but as soon as it was made a capital crime punishable by death it was controlled.

In her judgment war, which is nothing more than organized, authorized murder, can never be properly restrained until it is put outside the pale of the law. This she feels can be accomplished without joining the League of Nations. She said that if the President of the United States would enter into treaties with individual nations agreeing to make war as between them a crime and outside the pale of law, it would not be long before all nations would be obliged to enter into similar agreements; and this she considered the necessary next step in world peace.

I mention also two other addresses, one by Superintendent Hartwell, of Buffalo, N. Y., on "Educational Expenditures Considered as an Investment"; and the other by Superintendent Reid, of Youngstown, Ohio, upon the subject of "Educational Fads Considered as Fundamentals." Both addresses were evidently reactions from the recent report of President Pritchett, of the Carnegie Foundation, upon the mounting costs of public school education. Superintendent Hartwell said that the only way to meet these mounting costs was by increased taxation for education; that there was no department in which there was so little waste of public money as in the department of public education; that there was no investment so sure to yield large returns as public money spent for this purpose; and that we have by no means reached the limit of reasonable taxation for education.

Superintendent Reid said that taxpayers had been encouraged by President Pritchett's report to make war upon the so-called fads and frills in education. He said that to many of them anything which was not in school in their boyhood was a fad or frill, but that there was no agreement among them as to what really constituted a fad or frill. To some kindergartens are a fad, to others instruction in drawing and the fine arts, to others industrial work, etc. Fads to one person are fundamentals to others.

He said that he had told his own school board in answer to pressure of this kind that he would give serious consideration to the abolition in his schools of any subject which 51 per cent of his constituency would agree upon as a fad.

One of the most profitable days for me was spent after the convention visiting two high schools, the Oak Park High School, Oak Park, Ill., and the J. Sterling Morton High School, located at Cicero, Ill. Both of these places are suburbs of Chicago and both had unusual sources of revenue. It is a law in Illinois that if a locality wishes to expend more than the state-allotted amount for its schools it may organize into a little larger unit known as a township and make an additional tax levy for the support of high schools.

In a locality thus organized there are two school boards, each independent of the other, one for the management of the lower eight grades with a superintendent of its own, and the other for the high schools with another superintendent, the principal of the high school.

Each superintendent is independent of the other and each is responsible to a different school board. To us who are striving for a unified system from grades one to twelve such an arrangement does not commend itself as a very good one, and there were plenty of evidences of its weakness. For instance, they had not been able under this law, to have a junior high school because the dividing line was the eighth grade and a junior high school would have to be under the control of two independent superintendents and school boards.

The principle of one of these high schools asked me if I had semiannual promotions in my school, and when I told him that this had been tried out in Massachusetts and found wanting, and that I had been spared thus far this affliction, he told me that such a system had been forced upon him from below because of pressure of numbers, and that he had tried it for two or three years with very unsatisfactory results and was going to take steps to put a stop to it. I am wondering which superintendent is going to have his way in this matter.

It is a wonderfully fine thing, however, from the point of view of expenditures for the high school. The Oak Park High School, which some of you know through famous football teams it has sent East, had a de luxe equipment and organization, such as I did not suppose existed in any public school. Let me make some comparisons between this school and my own. It has a registration of about 2,500 pupils, the Girls' High School of 2,700 pupils; 100 teachers as against 80 for us. Their standard class is 24, ours 32. Its building occupies a city block and is about twice the size of ours, but the principal informed me that the school has outgrown the building, and the town has recently bought another city block across the street with a number of fine residences upon it which are to be torn down to make room for the construction of an additional building.

It spent last year $142 per pupil as against an expenditure of $91.17 for the Girls' High School. The school had two gymnasiums, both of them much larger than ours, one for boys and one for girls. It has six teachers of physical training, three for each sex. In addition to the two city blocks already referred to were at least two other city blocks adjacent to the school laid out as athletic fields and finely equipped for both summer and winter sports. It had two libraries and two librarians. Its science equipment was superb, six laboratories, for instance, for the teaching of general science to freshmen, each equipped for individual work for twenty-four pupils.

It was equipped in like manner for teaching many kinds of industrial work, including automobile repairing, etc. The maximum salary of teachers was about $300 more than ours; the principal received a salary of $8,000. It was an exceedingly well organized and conducted school in a manner worthy of its equipment. My mental attitude on learning of this school must have been akin to that of the man who passed the hat and upon its return with nothing in it thanked God he got the hat back. I felt thankful to be upon the school map at all.

The second high school, that at Cicero, was a good example of the fact that it takes more than money to make a good school. It had a per capita expenditure last year of $222 per pupil. One interesting thing I learned from the principal's personal tax bill which he happened to have with him was that out of every $10.98 raised by taxation $6.75, or 61 per cent, of the total went to the schools, $4 to the elementary schools and $2.75 to the high schools. In Boston according to the 1923 tax bill $6.68 out of a total tax levy of $20.30, or 33 per cent, goes to the schools.

Possibly Superintendent Hartwell had this town in mind when he said that we had nowhere nearly reached the limit of desirable taxation for public education. My time in this school was very limited and I was sorry that I did not have time to find out what he did with his money. There was not the evidence of efficient management and equipment that was in the other school.

The school also was crowded and the principal had solved this problem by what is known as the platoon system. He had a continuous session from eight to five and two or more sets of teachers. This come-and-go system may be all right for a college but I do not believe that it makes for efficiency in a high school. The platoon system which appears to be growing in favor in the West is a bad imitation of the Gary system, which you know provides for an eight-hour day and for oversight of all of a pupils' activities, work and play. It also provides an equipment of rooms, work shops, gymnasiums, playgrounds, etc., sufficient to provide for all of these activities.

The platoon system seems to be the Gary system with its long days but without its necessary equipment. Many places in the West are much farther behind in their building program than similar places in the East and have seized upon the platoon system for crowding more pupils into the building. They lengthen the day, use the assembly halls and other large rooms for clubs and other pupil organizations and thus accommodate more pupils. What has been forced upon them as a necessity is now being loudly advocated as a new and wonderful discovery in education.

One thing of a humorous nature came to my notice in this school. Some five or six years ago our Headmasters' Association was asked to look into the subject of supervised study. The standard reference book on this subject was Hall-Quest's "Supervised Study," published in 1917. In this book was a somewhat elaborate account of how supervised study was accomplished at Cicero, Ill.

When the assistant principal to whom I had been assigned asked me if there was anything in particular in which I was interested, I inquired about supervised study. He looked puzzled and said that they had none in the school. On my expressing surprise and referring to Hall-Quest's account he said that he had only been connected with the school for four or five years and he knew nothing about it.

I should be interested to know whether this was a case of unusually vivid imagination on the part of somebody connected with the school or whether, as is more likely to be the case, it had been duly advertised as one of the chief essentials for admission into the educational kingdom of Heaven, and later had been abandoned for newer and more important essentials.

In conclusion may I say that it was a great and much appreciated privilege and honor to be sent to this convention. It is the one meeting of the year in which high school principals are most interested and should be represented. It has been a great inspiration to have been in contact with so many leaders in education from all parts of the country, to hear what they say and to learn what they are doing. It has broadened my vision, deepened my respect for the profession and quickened my desire to be myself more worthy of the calling.

Respectfully submitted,

MYRON W. RICHARDSON.

TELLS OF IMPORTANT FEATURES OF WORK IN BOSTON'S INSTITUTIONS DEPARTMENT.

DR. DAVID J. JOHNSON, HEAD OF THAT BRANCH OF CITY'S ACTIVITY, DELIVERS INTERESTING TALK ON WORK—BOSTON LEADING IN MANY FEATURES OF CARE FOR THE UNFORTUNATES—TRYING TO REMAKE MEN AND WOMEN MORALLY AND PHYSICALLY.

Dr. David I. Johnson, Commissioner of the Boston Institutions Department, delivered the following address on the institutional phase of the city's work at the home of Mrs. Marion Higgins, 54 Beacon street, Boston:

At present when the atmosphere is surcharged with accusations against those in authority who are directing the affairs of our country, it is reassuring to know that sincere intelligent women are becoming interested in and desirous of informing themselves as to the workings of all departments of their government.

The Institutions Department cares for three classes of the city's dependents, destitute children, chronic sick and impoverished adults and short-termed criminals.

These three groups are known as the Child Welfare, Infirmary and Penal Divisions. Then, lest the Commissioner find time hanging heavily on his hands, he is responsible for the Registration Division and the paroling of prisoners in the Charles Street Jail.

The Child Welfare Department, whose care is some thousand neglected and abandoned children of parents having a legal settlement in Boston, is the most interesting and it seems to me the most responsible part of the work. It is the preventative medicine of welfare work, for the proper care of children is the most effective way to blot out the maladies of ill-health, pauperism and crime in communities.

Not so long ago a city felt that it had done its duty by dependent children if it herded them in a bleak institution, clothed them in drab uniforms and provided enough food to keep them from hunger, but thank God, our civic conscience and knowledge of child psychology has grown beyond that. We have come to realize that "man does not live by bread alone," and that children have a positive right to love, recreation, mental and spiritual training and that if their parents cannot or will not give it to them the public should. And not only should but must, for happy, well-cared for children are a community's greatest asset, as neglected ones are its most terrible liability.

Our city was among the pioneers in adopting this important reform in child welfare work, boarding out its wards in private homes instead of housing them in institutions. Any resident of Massachusetts may apply for the care of one or more children listed in the department, stating age, sex and nationality preferred. Paid visitors then make a careful investigation of the home offered, taking into consideration not only its comforts but the character of the people, their income and general environment.

The aim is to secure for each child a home life as nearly normal as possible, to assure sympathetic treatment, opportunities for recreation and for education and spiritual training. As you can see, the work is highly responsible and those engaged in it must be, therefore, women of the highest character, who love children, who have common sense, and above all, heart. The interest of the child must be the consideration not the wishes of the foster parent, there must be no chance that boys or girls are placed in an environment that will injure them in body or spirit.

Children are placed in homes of their own religion and if possible of their own nationality. On admission to the department each one is given a complete mental and physical examination including a blood test. If the examination shows defects in teeth, eyes, and so forth, the child is placed in a temporary home convenient to the City Hospital or clinic where the needed attention can be given. If its general health is impaired and it requires special care and food it is placed in a country home where there are cows and chickens and where there is opportunity for play in the open air. For the care of such special children the city pays up to $5 per week instead of the customary allowance of $3 per week. In addition the city provides each child with two outfits of clothing a year until the child reaches the age of fourteen, sometimes continuing the pay for a year or two if the child is in school.

All children are visited at frequent but irregular intervals by the child welfare visitors to assure their general well-being and happiness.

At Christmas the city plays Santa Claus and the children are given dolls or toys, candy and a Christmas card. For more than 200 of these dolls complete outfits of clothes were made by the visitors and helpers of the Child Welfare Division.

Unfortunately 100 of the city's wards congenitally diseased have no home but the Long Island Hospital. It is needless to say that a community is not fulfilling its responsibility to these children, already so terribly handicapped, in compelling them to be cared for in an almshouse, but there is at present in the great City of Boston no chronic hospital to which they can be sent. Up to two years ago they were entirely without education or training in manners; now they have a teacher winter and summer sent down by the School Board at the request of his Honor Mayor Curley and they are making interesting progress.

In the Registration Division applications are received for admission to Long Island Infirmary and Almshouse, but the House of Correction, Deer Island, is the one place where no application for admission is necessary. This prison is for men sentenced for from ten days to three years for lesser offences against property or persons, or who are drug users or sellers, or drunks. There are at present 480 of them, an increase of almost 300 per cent in three years.

The plant includes three prisons, the old cell block type in use up to a year ago, Barracks B, and the third a light and modern prison formerly used for women, but during the war used to confine the Reds thought dangerous to the government. Restrained for a time from hammering things generally they hammered the prison and left it in such a condition that it was unusable. It has recently been reconditioned by prison labor and is now perhaps the finest in the state and most of the prison population are now housed there.

Contrary to the views of theorists the best opinion is that there is no such thing as a distinct criminal type. Doctor Goring, the great criminologist, states that as his conclusion after an exhaustive examination of 3,000 English convicts. There is no doubt though that a tendency to crime is related to subnormal physique, lack of education and spiritual training and economic conditions.

The reformatory program, therefore, in every correctional institution should be along three lines, first, varied as well as wholesome and abundant food. Doctor McCollum of Johns Hopkins has proved by twelve years of experiment that lack of certain foods, especially milk and top vegetables, have a radically bad effect on the disposition and character as well as upon the health of individuals.

At Deer Island we have not as yet dared to follow out Doctor McCollum's suggested diet for prisoners. Public opinion has yet to be educated to the feeling that all money spent in increasing the chances of rehabilitation of those who have gone down in the battle of life is economically spent, but I can say that the food is as varied as possible, abundant and the best of its kind that can be bought. Mayor Curley's instructions to me when I took office were to pay special attention to the food of the institutions, to see to it that it was as good as I would use on my own table and that any time food was not up to my standard to return it and buy in the open market and that has been carried out. All food is purchased through the Supply Department, contracts being awarded monthly to the lowest bidder if he can comply with the contract. Only twice in two years has it been necessary to return food and then, not because it was bad, but because it was not according to order.

Wholesome surroundings, work and play in the open air, trees, grass, flowers are absolutely necessary if a prison is to send its inmates out better men than when they came in and surely this applies to long-term men most of all. Either Long Island or Deer Island would be an ideal site for the State Prison and their large acreage would supply the inmates with much of their food. The desolation, the restrictions of State Prison, the knowledge that hundreds of men are behind those barred windows from which they see nothing beautiful or growing to bring hope to them is a reproach and arraignment of every one of us.

His Honor Mayor Curley offered, first, Long Island and when that was refused, Deer Island, as a site for a new prison. The committee who went down to inspect Deer Island will tell you there was no haggling over terms, every objection was met. The choice of either island was offered at a nominal price. It was felt that there should be co-operation between city and state in something so vital to thousands of unfortunate men, and it is to be hoped that an aroused public opinion will compel it.

Vocational training is an essential part of corrective work, for, unquestionably, many men are in prison because they have not had normal opportunities, have had no way of getting an honest living. It is important that they should be helped to be self-sustaining on their release. This training we give through what is an approach to the apprentice system. Through the co-operation of Commissioner Dana, every officer appointed to Deer Island is an expert mechanic along some line. The up-keep of the many buildings on the two islands, the two city boats and wharves, the trucks and tractors offer opportunity for training along the line of most of the trades, and the officers instruct as well as supervise the various groups of men under them in the work being done, the aim being not so much to speed up the work as to teach the men its fundamental principles.

Incidentally large sums of money are saved to the city. A cow barn has just been built by inmate labor as modern and sanitary as any in Massachusetts. The stalls have cork flooring and each cow has an individual drinking fountain. It is valued at $20,000 yet its cost to the city was under $2,000. In this barn are housed fifty registered cows, a fortunate purchase of my predecessor. The head farmer also cares for 500 pigs which supply the prisoners with fresh pork every week and with bacon and hams cured in our own smoke houses. Enough fresh vegetables are raised to furnish the tables of both institutions during the summer and part of the winter and with fodder for the cows.

Other activities are a printing shop, shoe shop, tailor shop, and lately we are making mattresses for our own institutions. The least popular activity on the island is the stone shed. We do not expect any one to choose this work as his vocation when released, but it has an educational value nevertheless. Here are put wife beaters and men who refuse to support their families. However indifferent they are at first they soon have a change of heart, and are willing to turn over most of their earnings to use for the benefit of their wives and children.

The reform of criminals is an educational and spiritual problem as well as an economic one. We have a day school for illiterates and a night school for those who have some degree of education, and attendance in the day school is compulsory so that when men go out they will at least know how to read and write. The inspiration of books will be open to them and they will not be cut off from intercourse with their neighbors and fellow workmen when they again take their place in the life of the community.

Our policy in the treatment of the man is liberal. They are permitted to talk at meals and afterward to walk in the yard and smoke. They have occasional concerts and weekly moving pictures and, during the summer months, are allowed to play baseball and other games Saturdays, Sundays and evenings up to eight o'clock. Of course supervising prisoners in the open until eight in the evening instead of locking them in their cells at 4:30 o'clock means extra work for the officers but they have shown a fine spirit of co-operation. The results have been worth while, the games benefiting the men greatly physically and giving them wholesome interest and topics of conversation.

We have not, however, tried any experiments in self-government. It is, I believe, an illusion. The fact that men are in prison shows that they are deficient in self-control, that they need guidance and control by others. Those who advocate self-government lose sight of the fact that the primary object of a prison is to restore the majesty of the law and show them it is sacred. Any system of prison management that puts the prisoner first and the law second violates a fundamental principle and is wrong, but after this principle is firmly established as much should be done for the prisoner as possible to show him that while the law is vindictive it is not vindictive.

The most difficult problem in reform institutions is that of the drug addict, and to the solution of this problem I am giving my most serious thought. The increasing use of drugs in the country is cause for grave concern, but it is characteristic of Americans not to worry over anything until it hits them full force. It took epidemics of disease to interest us in preventive medicine and it will take epidemics of crime to make us realize the need of getting at and remedying its causes. Our standards are increasingly materialistic, the influence of home and religion is breaking down, we want excitement, an easy and irresponsible life. Part of the result is more users of drugs and a vicious circle of impaired health, impaired will, inefficiency, immorality and crime.

We arrest the drug addict and deal with him as a criminal when he is primarily a medical case. When he steals it is his theft we consider important, whereas that is incidental. He steals because he is a morphinist and must have means to get the drug he craves. Sergeant Caverly, chief of the Massachusetts Bureau of Narcotics, who is doing splendid work in Boston in rounding up drug users and putting drug sellers out of business, told me of following a man not long ago who was rolling an auto tire down a back street. He recognized him as a dope and investigation disclosed that he had just one idea when he stole the tire to trade it for morphine. The department stores lose many thousands of dollars in the course of a year from such thefts. Your dope is the most ingenious of thieves and a fur coat or a tire is pretty much the same to him, merely mediums of exchange for a "deck" or a "shot." It is of far less importance, therefore, to punish his theft than to cure his disease.

The opinion prevails that the drug habit is incurable. I can only say that in private practice I have had several cases who have not relapsed after periods of from ten to twenty years. At least it is worth while to attempt a cure and we are doing it at the House of Correction on Deer Island, the first that has been made in any institution of Massachusetts.

We have treated about fifty addicts there this year. They are in a separate building with their own officers and cook and an isolation as drastic as for smallpox is maintained. The prisoners and their relatives understand that this is not intended as punishment, but is the one hope for a cure, and they are glad to co-operate. They are given special food, especially more sweets and exercise and work in the open air. Addicts are subnormal physically from use of drugs and under eating, and the first step is to build up their strength. The gain has been from fifteen to sixty pounds per man.

But that does not mean they are cured. Their will power and morale must be strengthened, they must be given new interests and hope. They are, therefore, allowed to sit up until nine o'clock reading, talking and playing games. They have a piano and radio and many of them have rigged up radios of their own. A Chinese inmate has made the smallest one I have ever seen, 4 by 4, perfect in every detail and capable of getting Schenectady. Everything possible is done to occupy their minds and tide them over the strain of withdrawal of the drug. On discharge every man must report to Sergeant Caverly that he may know them by sight, and be able to watch them and bring about their arrest should they relapse.

We are positive the isolation has prevented any new addicts being made. We do not expect 100 per cent cures, if the sentences were longer the chances would be much better. In New York prison for women they have been experimenting with a 100-day intensive treatment. It never could be a success, and from what I was told it has not been. I was there one day when a young girl was committed as a drug user. She told me she had been discharged from the same prison but the week before. As soon as she crossed the river she was met by one of her former pals who gave her a "shot." She was rearrested and the magistrate sympathizing with her because she was young and very pretty, gave her the minimum sentence, a month. "Just long enough to torture me," she said, "and throw me out into the street again." For a cure to be effective the sentence should be from six months to two years, so that they may be released at the discretion of the commissioner and picked up without arrest any time within the two years if they relapse.

You have been hearing much lately about the segregation of prisoners. Everyone believes in that, if not carried to absurd lengths but the danger in the bill now advocated is that it links up segregation with state control of prisons which is fundamentally wrong and which should be opposed with all our force. We must stand for home rule always for city or town institutions. From the humane standpoint the city's dependents should be cared for by the community in which they belong. At a recent conference in Washington one of the federal judges spoke of the cruelty, the bad and hardening effects of confining federal offenders in prisons out of reach of family and friends and it was the general opinion of the judges that criminals should be placed in institutions in their own locality. The strongest factor in any man's reform is his mother or wife or sister or children, and he should not be sent where they must spend time and money to see him. He should be near them so that they may be his incentive, his help in a new try at besting the difficulties of life.

It is one of the fundamental principles of the Constitution that the state shall take over no function that can be performed by the smallest unit, the city or town, just as the federal government shall take over no function that can be performed by the state. Federal control of education, state control of corrective institutions is a violation of the rights of individuals, a raid on the Constitution fraught with the gravest danger and nothing can justify it.

During July and August the Institutions Department plays host to the poor children of Boston. Five days a week during those two months, the city steamer takes about 300 of them, from various parishes and institutions of all denominations, to Rainsford Island, where they play and swim until five o'clock, when the boat returns them to Boston again. The income from a fund left by Mr. Randidge one of Boston's charitable citizens, provides them with a light lunch.

It is a meagre lunch for children enjoying what is for most of them their one summer outing. Sometimes we find a kind person willing to be fairy god-mother for one day, paying for the trolley trip to and from the boat, $30, which otherwise those in charge of the institution or parish have to pay, and supplying additional food. A Merry-go-round, which would furnish music all day, as well as rides on the horses would be the finest possible gift. I think any of you would find it a worth-while experience to go down with one of the groups and I am glad to extend an invitation to you.

The Boston Almshouse and Hospital is on Long Island and has a population of about 1,000 men and women. The life in any almshouse is bleak enough but the isolated situation of this one makes it most depressing to any one who sees it. A visit there takes the best part of the day and as the relatives and friends of the inmates are people who work you can understand that they don't go there often. As a matter of fact the average is one visit a year per person. So there they stay with nothing to hope for but death.

His Honor Mayor Curley is working to bring about a reform in the manner of caring for our poor and infirm, to have them transferred to Boston. He believes that these men and women "who have grown old without growing rich," who are citizens of Boston, who have given the best years of their lives to the upbuilding of its industries and who have been broken down by hard and poorly requited toil, deserve better from their native city than to be exiled from it in their old age. But aside from humane reasons, practical ones make necessary the removal of these institutions to the mainland.

There are, on the average, 400 of the chronic sick there. The visiting staff of the Long Island Hospital includes specialists in surgery and medicine such as Doctor Minot, Doctor Cunningham, Doctor Mella, Doctor Souter, and many others among the foremost in their profession, whose time is precious, who are glad to give their services free, and it is an injustice to compel them to take so long and difficult a trip. Besides, in severe weather, there are days when the boats cannot make the trip, when, no matter what the emergency, it is almost impossible to get there.

Often old people in an almost dying condition are brought in an ambulance to the wharf to be transferred to a boat, carried from the boat to another conveyance and so to the Long Island Hospital. A free chronic hospital is the most urgent need in Boston today, to care not only for the 400 sick at present at Long Island but for hundreds of people in Boston who as every doctor knows are suffering either from incurable diseases or from diseases which are curable but only by prolonged treatment which the other hospitals have not the room or facilities to give. It is planned to make this chronic hospital one of the finest in the country.

His Honor Mayor Curley has purchased the Parker Hill Hospital from the Elks who willingly sold it for a nominal sum when they learned of the purpose for which it was to be used. It is an ideal location because near the medical schools so that clinics can be established for the study of chronic diseases, one of the department of medicine in which comparatively little progress has been made. It is planned to have the almshouse proper in a separate plant. Our original idea was West Roxbury since the government had expressed its intention of abandoning it and moving the disabled veterans now occupying it to the just completed hospital at Northampton.

Certainly no pressure was used to have them do so. In fact at the time the Northampton site was chosen as a hospital for disabled veterans, it was against the judgment of most medical men and those who had the interest of the veterans at heart for the reason that it was too far away from medical centers and meant exile from friends and home to a majority of the men. But for the reasons best known to those who over all protests decided on that location, the hospital was built there and the announcement made that the place at West Roxbury would be abandoned. We simply accepted that decision and tried to put the deserted plant to some good use.

We have another site where suitable building can be erected. Cottages for small groups would in every way be preferable to one large building and the cost of upkeep would be appreciably less. It was to make possible two fine undertakings that the city offered to sell Deer Island to the state; it would make possible the immediate establishment of a great chronic hospital needed badly as every doctor knows, and it will give the hundreds of men in State Prison decent surroundings, some chance for reclamation. Hasn't Massachusetts become too much like a stingy old farmer, intent on saving pennies and blind to human needs and values? Both these projects are highly worthy and should have the public's support. Humanity should know no politics.

EXTENSION OF CONTRACTS.

Carmino Russo has been granted an extension of the time of completion of the contract for setting meter boxes in Roxbury, Jamaica Plain and West Roxbury, from November 15, 1923, to January 31, 1924.

MAYOR HURLS BACK RETORT AT CHAIRMAN OF COMMISSION ON RELOCATION OF PRISON.

His Honor the Mayor has received the following letter from George H. Ellis, chairman of the Commission on Relocation for the State Prison:

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

MY DEAR MR. MAYOR,—I have just received your communication under date of March 5, concerning the proposed acquirement of Deer Island for a state prison.

You will recall that under the resolve passed by the Legislature the commission of which I had the honor to be chairman was required to report and has reported to the General Court and been discharged, and thus the matter has passed out of the hands of the commission.

It is with deep regret that I note you considered it necessary to criticise one of the officials to whom this matter was referred by the commission. I hope that in future consideration of the subject no side issues or other matters will be injected.

Although no longer a member of the commission, I am very much interested and will do what I can to bring about the best possible settlement.

Very truly yours,

GEORGE H. ELLIS.

His Honor the Mayor addressed the following letter to Mr. Ellis:

HON. GEORGE H. ELLIS, Chairman, Commission on Relocation for the State Prison, State House, Boston:

MY DEAR MR. ELLIS,—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your pussy-foot letter dated March 7, 1924, in which you gently chide me for criticising the chairman of the State Finance Commission, Mr. Homer Loring. Your expression of deep regret that I should consider it necessary to criticise this official is a rare bit of humor and I assure you has greatly amused me, for the reason that according to Mr. Maurice H. Maney, who represented the City of Boston upon the sale of Deer Island to the state, Mr. Loring, in your presence, made identically the same statement that was contained in my letter, namely, that he was opposed to purchase by the state of this property. Your letter states that the commission has made its report and the matter has passed out of the hands of the commission and that although you are no longer a member of the commission you are interested and will do what you can to bring about the best possible settlement. This is most encouraging and comforting but I beg to assure you that even though you were inclined otherwise that so far as I am personally concerned the matter has neither passed out of my mind, nor will it be considered settled until settled right, and settled right it will be either by those now in control of the activities of the state or by others more kindly disposed to the unfortunate who will later take charge of the affairs of state.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

NATIVES AND CITIZENS OF BOSTON AND VICINITY HONORED IN HALL OF FAME.

In the American Hall of Fame, New York City, dedicated in 1901, are inscribed on bronze tablets the names of 56 eminent men and 7 distinguished women deemed worthy of the highest honor on account of their services and attainments. Of the 63 individuals thus selected (up to 1920 inclusive) by an electorate of 100 leading Americans, 27 were natives or for some time citizens of Boston or vicinity. The names of the latter are as follows: Chosen in 1900—John Adams, Benjamin Franklin, William Ellery Channing, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Daniel Webster, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, Horace Mann, Nathaniel Hawthorne, George Peabody, Samuel Finley Breese Morse, Joseph Story, Asa Gray, Gilbert Stuart—total, 13.

Chosen in 1905—John Quincy Adams, James Russell Lowell, John Greenleaf Whittier—total, 3.

Chosen in 1910—Edgar Allan Poe, Oliver Wendell Holmes, George Bancroft, John Lothrop Motley, Phillips Brooks—total, 5.

Chosen in 1915—Louis Agassiz, Francis Parkman, Rufus Choate, Charlotte Cushman—total, 4.

Chosen in 1920—William Thomas Green Morton, Alice Freeman Palmer. Five additional names every fifth year are to be selected and inscribed until the year 2,000, when the 150 tablets in the colonnade will be complete.

If those who were natives or residents elsewhere in the State are added to the list, the following 7 names increase the total to 34 for Massachusetts or more than half the whole number, viz.: William Cullen Bryant, Jonathan Edwards, Mark Hopkins, Elias Howe, Eli Whitney, Maria Mitchell, Mary Lyon.

If all New England is included, 4 more names will bring up the total to 38 or 60.3 per cent of whole number chosen, viz.: Roger Williams, Henry Ward Beecher, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Emma Willard.

CITY CHARTER CHANGES.

In 1854, 1885 and 1900 important changes in the original City Charter of 1821 were effected for the purpose of improving the methods and efficiency of the City Government. The revision of 1854 (Chap. 448, Stat. 1854) referred to the voters for acceptance, gave the Mayor a qualified veto over the action of the City Council, also the power of removal of appointed officials, besides providing for his election by a plurality instead of a majority vote. The amendments of 1885 (Chap. 266, Stat. 1885) were not submitted to the voters for approval. They transferred all the executive powers to the Mayor, prohibiting the City Council from interference with the executive and administrative business of the City. This was done in order to end the inefficiency resulting from an excessive number of joint committees, a municipal development conforming to the traditions of the outgrown town government.

The amendments of 1909 (Chap. 486, Stat. 1909) cut down the number and powers of the legislative branch of the government to a minimum, the Board of Aldermen (13 members) and the Common Council (75 members) being abolished. For these was substituted a single City Council of nine members to be elected at large for a 3-year term. The Mayor's position was further strengthened by giving him a 4-year term, subject to recall at end of two years, but requiring a majority of the registered voters to make the recall effective. The Mayor's power over appointments was no longer subject to check by aldermen but by a State board, the Civil Service Commission, and City elections were removed from all connection with national and State politics, no primaries nor caucuses being permitted, all candidates for office to be selected by means of nomination papers. The only question in this Act of 1909 which was submitted to the voters was contained in section 35, i. e., whether Plan 1 or Plan 2 should be adopted, the first providing for a term of two years for Mayor and a City Council of 36 members to be chosen in primaries. Plan 2 was adopted by a majority of 3,894. Charter of 1909 amended later as follows: (1) By Chap. 437, Acts of 1910, exempting loans issued for Rapid Transit construction from the prohibition of the establishing of sinking funds, as contained in sec. 26. (2) Chap. 730, Acts of 1914, fixing date of annual municipal election on the sixth Tuesday after the state election instead of in the following January, as in sec. 32; changing the requirement as to signatures on nomination papers to 3,000 for Mayor and 2,000 for City Council and School Committee instead of 5,000 for all, as in sec. 53, also limiting the number of nomination papers issued to 300 for a candidate for Mayor and 200 for other candidates, referring to sec. 54. (3) Chap. 37, Special Acts of 1918, annulling the jurat at end of nomination papers. (4) Chap. 94, Special Acts of 1918, abolishing recall of Mayor, and making him ineligible for re-election, i. e., establishing a single term of four years, but not prohibiting the election of any Mayor for other than consecutive terms. (5) Chap. 288, Acts of 1921, fixing date of the annual municipal election on the first Tuesday after the second Monday in December, also making slight changes as to nominations.

LIQUOR LICENSES AND NATIONAL PROHIBITION.

The national prohibition amendment (i. e., the 18th) to the Constitution, having been ratified by 45 States and becoming effective on January 16, 1920, the legalized trade in intoxicating liquors ceased then. It was supposed to stop about 6 months sooner because of the Federal war regulation providing for prohibition on July 1, 1919, to be effective until the army could be demobilized. But as there was no Massachusetts law forbidding the issuing of licenses after July 1, the Boston Licensing Board issued 702 such for the remainder of the license year with the proviso that the license was no protection against violation of Federal law. After July 1, under Federal law, the only liquor which licensees claimed the right to sell was beer and ale containing not over 2.75 per cent of alcohol. Sales of these lighter beverages continued to October 28, 1919, when Congress enacted a law (Volstead Act) forbidding the sale of any liquor as a beverage containing more than 0.50 per cent alcohol. The validity of this act being widely questioned, the United States Supreme Court upheld it on Jan. 5, 1920, and again on June 7, 1920. The result of this decision was that former applicants for liquor licenses did not apply for them in 1920. The Supreme Court of Mass. later in the year decided that the liquor laws of the State remain in force where not inconsistent with the Volstead Act. The Boston Board therefore issued 146 licenses to druggists and 17 4th-class, permitting sales for non-beverage purposes only. In 1921 there were issued 192 licenses to druggists, 15 4th-class and one 5th-class. On May 17, 1922, Chap. 427, Acts of 1922 (consisting of 27 sections) was approved, providing for the carrying into effect in Mass. of the 18th Federal (i. e., prohibition) amendment. This law is subject to a referendum at State election on November 7, 1922.

By Chapter 392, Acts of 1922, the retailing of non-intoxicating beverages is subjected to license, with fee of not more than one dollar for each year ending April 30.

PUBLIC STREETS IN BOSTON.

Total length of the 2,447 paved (accepted) streets, February 1, 1922, 606.33 miles; total area, 11,459,009 square yards, or 8.47 per cent of the City's total land area. This is exclusive of the private streets (not accepted), numbering about 2,890. 366.10 miles, or 60.38 per cent, are paved with macadam (including 128.03 miles bituminous macadam); 105.66 miles with granite block; 45.50 miles with asphalt; 29.32 miles with gravel; 36.63 miles with asphalt concrete (17.55 m. being bitulithic and 13.71 m. Topoka); 11.69 miles with wood block; 5.42 miles with brick. Old macadam pavement is gradually being replaced with more satisfactory and durable kinds, such as bitulithic, concrete, granite block, etc., $5,138,678 having been expended during the past four years in reconstructing and improving 313 miles of streets and parts of streets. Granolithic sidewalks laid in 1921, 97,049 square yards or about 21 miles, averaging 8 feet wide, 50 per cent of cost assessed on estates benefited.

New highway construction completed in period 1918-1921 includes 13 streets in Boston Proper; 34 in Dorchester; 37 in West Roxbury; 14 in Roxbury; 24 in Brighton; 6 in East Boston; 3 in Hyde Park; 4 in South Boston, and 1 in Charlestown, roadway pavement bitulithic, or asphalt surface on concrete, and bituminous macadam. Gross debt outstanding February 1, 1922, for all street construction, including damages, $22,267,141 or $925,700 more than in 1921, this increase due to new loan for Stuart St. construction.

SETTLEMENT OF BOSTON.

Boston was settled in the latter part of August, 1630, by Puritan colonists under Governor John Winthrop. The name of the original settlement was changed to Boston from Trimountaine by order of the Court of Assistants on September 7 (O. S.), 1630. This date was moved forward by the New Style calendar in 1752 to Sept. 17, the recognized date of the founding of Boston. The name, Trimountaine, had been given because of the three peaks of the most prominent hill, afterward called Beacon Hill, much higher then than now. By the Indians the place was called Shawmut. The name, Boston, was derived from the English town of Boston in Lincolnshire, the home of some of the leading colonists and promoters of the enterprise.

NEW SNOW LOADER ENABLED CITY TO HANDLE SNOWSTORM SUCCESSFULLY.

WISDOM AND FORESIGHT OF MAYOR AND PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT IN PURCHASE OF NEW STYLE MACHINE PROVED ITSELF TO SATISFACTION OF CITIZENS IN LAST HEAVY DOWNFALL.

NEW SNOW LOADER IN ACTION REMOVING SNOW FROM STREETS, FILLING TRUCKS IN LESS THAN TWO MINUTES EACH.

For the successful and speedy removal of the snow during the last storm, the celerity of which prompted many citizens to write the Mayor complimenting the Public Works Department for its handling of the storm, the city has to thank and praise the wisdom of the department in purchasing a new snow loader. Without this snow loader the city would have been snow-bound and inconvenienced much more than it was.

This snow loader, which cost $7,500, is an improvement over the fore-and-aft loader, which called for the backing of trucks beneath the delivery end of the conveyor. This improvement comprises a trailer carrying a separate conveyor capable of being located in any direction within 180 degrees, and permits the loading of trucks while being routed in a direction parallel to the main loader, thereby increasing the speed of loading. Under ordinary conditions trucks can be loaded within two minutes, saving the laborious effort of many men shoveling snow into high trucks.

BUYS SHAWMUT BRANCH FOR CITY.

The Mayor on March 25 signed a certificate assenting to the purchase of the Shawmut Branch of the New Haven Railroad at a cost of $950,000. The action taken is one of the final steps in the program for rapid transit in the Dorchester section of Boston.

CHANGES AT SCOLLAY SQUARE.

At a conference held at the office of the Mayor March 25, at which were present his Honor the Mayor, the chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Boston Elevated and General Counsel Barnum, the Transit Commissioners and Street Commissioners and Corporation Counsel, relative to the alterations in the structure of the Elevated in Scollay square used as an entrance and exit for the East Boston and Tremont Street Tunnels, the trustees agreed that if the cost of making alterations did not exceed $125,000 that the Boston Elevated Railway Company would pay interest charges on one half of that amount, provided the directors of the company consented.

The alterations proposed will give much more room for the vehicular traffic in Scollay square as the larger structure when altered will be much smaller than at present; the escalator will be changed and the structure in Scollay square, near Brattle street, will be removed and the passengers will be taken up by the new escalator in the structure now facing Court street. This change will make a decided improvement in Scollay square.

It will be necessary to have enacted additional legislation and it is proposed to amend the act now pending in the Legislature relative to the Cambridge and Court streets widening so as to enable the city to finance any action with the assistance of the Boston Elevated in making these changes.

The Mayor also received a letter from the City Planning Board indorsing the plans as drawn by the Street Commission and Transit Commission in the carrying out of this project.

NOTED SONG BIRD THANKS MAYOR FOR CITY'S COURTESIES.

Mayor Curley was very gratified March 24 to receive from Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink a letter of appreciation of courtesies extended her during her recent visit in Boston when she was the honored guest of the city. The distinguished lyric contralto advises Mayor Curley as follows, from the Hotel Statler, Cleveland, Ohio:

DEAR SIR,—With my heart full of deepest gratitude, respect, love for you and the City of Boston, Mass., I do wish I could find the real proper words, in good English, to say how I feel, how I gave anything in the world to prove to America how devoted I am to the country, the nation, since I came over the first time.

I serve the U. S. A. boys in my modest way—I sing, visit the hospitals, cheer the sick, oh, often so lonely boys, but that's so little, even giving concerts for the Legion or Veterans of the World War is a small thing I do, to show my devotion; maybe some day I can bring or make a real great sacrifice worth while.

Any time you need or want me to do the real thing for U. S. A. people, call me.

Your devoted servant,

"MOTHER"

ERNESTINE SCHUMANN-HEINK.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

NATHAN HASKELL DOLE.]

TO ENLARGE WILLIAM EUSTIS PLAYGROUND.

The city will enlarge the William Eustis Playground, Roxbury, by buying two adjoining pieces of land, aggregating 96,065 square feet, both part of what was known as the old Weld estate.

They are owned by Richard F. Andrews of Roxbury, real estate dealer, former member of the Governor's Council and a member of the Street Commission in the Peters administration.

Mr. Andrews acquired title to the two parcels several months ago. One of them, containing 62,568 square feet and assessed at $18,800, was owned by Charles Gaston Smith and William A. Gaston, trustees; and the other, containing 33,497 square feet and assessed at $13,400, was owned by Lucius A. Brown. The city will pay about $40,000 for the two lots. Playground improvements will be made with the residue of the $100,000 loan for the project which the City Council has given its first reading.

The additions will make this playground, which is in the center of a thickly settled district, one of the largest in the city, with a total acreage of 322,839 feet. The city owns another 14,655-foot strip adjoining the pieces already mentioned.

DAMAGES AWARDED.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners, that in the matter of George H. Pettee, petitioner for damages caused his property on account of the laying out of Kilmarnock street, under the order of the Board of September 15, 1920, after consultation with the Law Department, and on its advice, the Board assesses the petitioner's damages in the sum of $1,800 flat; and consents that the Corporation Counsel agree to judgment in said case on the terms herein stated.

MAYOR PROTESTS TO LEGISLATURE AGAINST UNJUST AND FALSE CLAIMS OF FINANCE COMMISSION.

PRESENTS FACTS TO SOLONS ON BEACON HILL IN REFUTATION OF ASSERTIONS MADE TO SUPPORT CONTENTIONS FOR A $11.25 TAX LIMIT.—$12.75 LIMIT WILL HARDLY SUFFICE.

BOSTON, March 24, 1924.

To the General Court of Massachusetts:

On February 4 of this year the responsible officials of the city presented to the Committee on Municipal Finance arguments in favor of their petition that the tax limit of Boston for the fiscal year 1924-25 be fixed at $13.25 on each one thousand dollars of valuation. Subsequent hearings on this petition were held on the fourth and eleventh days of the present month.

The committee on the 17th instant, after six weeks of study and investigation, reported a bill to the Legislature setting the tax limit at $12.75 per thousand. This figure while not wholly satisfactory to the officials of the city was nevertheless accepted with good grace since it represented the judgment of a disinterested and impartial tribunal. It is evident, however, that the second party in the controversy, namely the Finance Commission, has not accepted the decision of the committee with good grace.

A communication dated three days subsequent to the report of the committee and addressed to the entire membership of the Legislature reiterates the faulty and unsound arguments presented to the committee by the chairman of the commission, and evades any charge of "lese majesty" by refraining from making any direct comment on the action of the committee.

In this communication the Finance Commission once more concludes that "the needs of the city will be amply provided for . . . if the tax limit this year is fixed at $11.25." As in the original brief of the commission, submitted to the Committee on Municipal Finance, this conclusion is based first, on an overestimation of income and cash in the treasury totaling $639,532.33, and second, on the false premise that allowances for a new year should be directly limited by the expenditures of the previous year. It is my sincere belief that the limit as determined by the Committee on Municipal Finance will be approved by both branches of the General Court, but perchance any doubt or misunderstanding may exist in the mind of any individual member the following facts are briefly reviewed and presented.

1. For the first time since the adoption of the segregated budget in Boston the Finance Commission has deliberately ignored the estimate sheets prepared expressly for their use by the different departments. This is in accordance with the theory of the chairman of the commission that allowances for a new year should be based directly on expenditures of the old year. Contrast this theory with the following statement made by Mr. Arthur A. Buck, an expert with a national reputation on the subject of budgets. On page 3 of his book "Budget Making" Mr. Buck writes: "Effective budget-making procedure constitutes a complete cycle of operations. The recording of information may be taken as the beginning of the cycle. Next comes the preparation of estimates, then the examination and careful weighing of these estimates, and then the formulation, review and adoption of the financial plan for the future period." The first two steps as described by Mr. Buck are naturally to be taken by the department heads, the third step represents the starting point in the work of those to whom is entrusted the review and formulation of the completed program. In the past years this principle has been recognized by the Finance Commission and use has been made of the estimate sheets prepared expressly for this purpose. Failure of the commission to examine the estimates this year is reflected in the statement on page 4 of their latest brief that "only two items must be provided for this year in addition to last year's expenditure, namely the maintenance of the Fire Department, because of the 'two platoon system,' and the automatic increases."

An examination of the estimates reveals the following items which should be provided for "in addition to last year's expenditure."

a. Payroll increases:
50 cents per diem increase to 4,000 laborers and mechanics now being paid $4 and $5 respectively	$520,000
$100 increase, as of August 1, to 3,000 patrolmen and firemen	150,000
$100 increase to 800 patrolmen and firemen now below maximum of $1,800	50,000
$100 increase to 2,200 employees on recognized sliding scales or receiving less than $1,800 per annum	176,000
Overlay from 1923-24 (last year's increases effective for only ten months, whereas this year are effective for twelve full months)	120,000
Additional day's pay made necessary because this year is a leap year	40,000
128 new employees necessary because of opening of new Out-Patient Department at City Hospital	105,000
b. Cost of two-platoon system (uniforms and men)	350,000
c. Furnishing and equipping new Out-Patient Department	70,000
d. Reconstruction and fireproofing of police and fire stations	100,000
e. Increased street lighting costs	60,000
f. Increased election costs (three additional functions)	90,000
g. Increase in collection costs for removal of ashes and garbage	50,000
h. Laying out of new grave sections in cemeteries	50,000
i. Increased demands for granolithic sidewalks	50,000
j. New books and pneumatic tubes at library	50,000
Total	$2,031,000

Compare this total with the amount ($500,000) estimated by the Finance Commission as sufficient to take care of the excess requirements for 1924-25 and it must be readily apparent that without a consideration of departmental estimates it is impossible to arrive at any sound conclusion on the matter of a tax limit.

2. Municipal finance is a branch of accountancy entirely removed from commercial and industrial finance. Because an examiner possesses an extensive knowledge of the latter does not necessarily imply that the same individual is capable without any further study or instruction of delving into the accounts of a municipality and independently interpreting correctly the facts and figures which he may find there.

Municipal financial procedure is based largely upon statutory law and ordinance, matters which cannot be assimilated in a day, a week or a month. Much stress is made in the brief of the Finance Commission that their findings as to estimated income and cash in the treasury are based on an examination made by a certified public accountant.

The financial officers of the city have not been given the opportunity of examining the report of the accountant, hence no comment can be made upon his work aside from saying that if his findings indicate that there was available in the treasury for appropriation purposes on February 1, 1924, cash items totaling $1,287,674.67, these findings are in excess of actual conditions by $289,532.33. This is a matter of fact and record and not of fancy and feeling, as can be readily determined by an examination of the records of the City Auditor's office.

The chairman of the Finance Commission may feel that the City Auditor has underestimated income for the current year by $250,000, but simply because he as an individual feels this way is not sufficient reason for changing an estimate which is based upon knowledge acquired through years of training and experience. All of these matters were discussed thoroughly before the Committee on Municipal Finance, and the fact that this committee deemed it advisable to report a limit of $12.75 is conclusive evidence that the members of the committee favored the sound and practical arguments of the financial officers of the city as opposed to the theories and fancies of the chairman of the Finance Commission.

It is unfortunate that so much time and energy on the part of the financial officials of the city must be consumed in correcting the misapprehensions and misconceptions which the chairman of the Finance Commission deliberately endeavors to leave in the minds of the members of the Legislature concerning the financial policies and standing of the capital city of the Commonwealth. The financial officers of the city are ready and willing at all times to aid and assist the chairman of the commission in solving the intricacies of municipal finance, but as long as the chairman chooses to hold himself aloof from contact with these men then so long will it be necessary on the part of the city to engage in unnecessary and apparently endless controversies.

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

CHARLES J. FOX,
Budget Commissioner.

FINANCE COMMISSION PROTESTS.

The Boston Finance Commission addressed a communication to each member of the Legislature in protest against the action of the Municipal Finance Committee in recommending that the city's tax limit for 1924 be fixed at $12.75 on each $1,000 valuation, and renews its plea for a limit of $11.25.

The report declares that ten city departments last year exceeded their appropriations, the excess totaling $445,415.60. It believes all these departments should be compelled to live within the 1923 appropriation for the coming year. It also disputes financial statements made by the City Auditor, asserting that the available cash for appropriation has been underestimated by $289,532 and the income from sources other than taxation has been underestimated $350,000.

The commission claims that last year the city departments spent $25,307,978, but that had they lived within their appropriations the total expenditures would have been only $24,862,562. Taking this figure as a basis for 1924 appropriations, it says available cash and income from sources other than revenue will total $6,787,674, thus necessitating the raising of only $18,576,000 by taxation, which can be obtained on a tax limit of $11.25. The $12.75 limit would bring in $21,052,805.

WOULD REMOVE DANIEL WEBSTER PAINTING IN FANEUIL HALL TO BETTER LOCATION.

Mayor Curley received the following letter from Mr. Ralph Adams Cram:

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—I am prompted to submit to your honor another proposition connected with the rehabilitation of Faneuil Hall. You are familiar with the enormous picture which now practically fills the whole end of the hall over the rostrum. This is not much of a picture anyway. It is so big that it is quite out of scale with the room and it hides a very excellent piece of architectural design. Personally I think nothing would be lost through the removal of this picture to some other place at present undesignated, and I beg to suggest that you obtain from the Municipal Art Commission an opinion as to whether it might not be a good idea to dispense with the huge canvas altogether, and so leave the hall more nearly in its original estate.

Apparently we are going to get a rather fine result in this restoration of Faneuil Hall and I believe that public opinion would support such action toward the elimination of the Daniel Webster picture as I have indicated.

Sincerely yours,

RALPH ADAMS CRAM.

The Mayor sent the following letter to the Art Commission:

MR. THOMAS ALLEN, Chairman, Art Commission:

DEAR SIR,—I beg to forward herewith communication received this day from Ralph Adams Cram of the firm of Cram & Ferguson, architects, at present engaged in the restoration to colonial lines of Faneuil Hall. I would greatly appreciate an opinion by the Boston Art Commission as to the wisdom of complying with the recommendation made by Mr. Cram.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

CALLS FOR MORE EXPENDITURES FOR SCHOOL PURPOSES BY ENTIRE NATION.

SUPERINTENDENT JEREMIAH E. BURKE OF THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS REPORTS ACTION TAKEN BY NATIONAL EDUCATION ASSOCIATION AT FEBRUARY CONVENTION.

Jeremiah E. Burke, Superintendent of Public Schools, made the following report to the School Committee on his attendance at the annual convention of the Department of Superintendence of the National Education Association, in Chicago, Ill., from February 24 to 28:

Boston, March 24, 1924:

To the School Committee of the City of Boston:

In compliance with the provisions of section 3 of chapter 274 of the Acts of 1914, I herewith submit the following report of my attendance at the annual convention of the Department of Superintendence of the National Education Association, held in Chicago from February 24 to February 28, 1924, inclusive.

One of the chief topics of interest discussed at the convention was the increased cost of maintenance of the school system and the construction of new buildings. The convention was decidedly of the opinion that there should be no retrenchment at the present time in appropriations for public education. At their closing session the convention adopted the following resolution:

"The unprecedented rise in the cost of public education as represented in the elementary and secondary fields may be traced to definite causes. It is the conviction of the American people that an education is the birthright of every child in this democracy.

"Within the period from 1890 to 1920 it became necessary to expand the elementary school plant 70 per cent and the school plant of the high school 1,000 per cent, with like extensions in the instructing staff to take care of the 10,000,000 additional children in the elementary and 2,000,000 in the secondary school.

"The increase in population, vast as that was for the period named, does not account for the increase in attendance. The real reason is the difference in conception on the part of the people as to what their schools should do. Compulsory attendance laws brought children by the thousand into schools, the age limit was raised, and civic organizations inaugurated 'back to school' movements.

"The public demanded physical and health education, courses in civics and patriotism, in fire and accident prevention, in music and drawing, in industrial and household arts, in science and commercial studies, expanded options in foreign languages and history, classes for the mentally and physically disabled, part-time and continuation courses, open-air schools, night schools, summer terms, in short, a public service was demanded of the schools to meet changing domestic and economic conditions unheard of a generation ago. Local pressure and legislative enactment established the present public school program and changed public schools from places for the intellectual training of a selected few to public service stations whereby and wherein all might be equally served irrespective of race, color, creed, economic status or parental occupation.

"If the present conception, which seems to be the creed of the American people, is to continue and the public schools remain public service stations, then it is futile to discuss a diminishing cost for public education. On the other hand, if every child of school age is to receive what is conceded to be his just due, namely, a full school day five days each week, the cost of school construction must go on. For example, two hundred millions are required at this moment for school construction in a single state if the children of that state are to enjoy this privilege.

"There is another factor in the recent cost of education. As late as 1917, salaries of teachers were proverbially and disgracefully low. Because of this, at no time in the history of American education has there been an adequate supply of trained teachers. At the present time, public education is suffering because of this lack. If public education is ever to have an adequate supply of trained teachers, millions more must be provided for our teacher-training schools. When an adequate trained instruction staff is had, the cause for the charge that 'superficiality now obtains in public education' will have been removed. Prior to 1917, thousands of trained teachers left the profession because salaries had dropped below maintenance level. The situation became so serious that public sentiment crystallized into a nation-wide movement for better salaries for teachers.

"This movement resulted in legislative enactment setting a minimum wage and annual increments. While teachers' salaries have materially increased in the number of dollars, there has been no corresponding increase in purchasing power. This movement, therefore, must go on. Present salary levels must be maintained and in many instances advanced, if we are to secure men and women of the same standards of ability and efficiency required in general business. If the schools are to Americanize the 13,000,000 of foreign born now in this country and the millions more yet to come, if they are to banish illiteracy, if they are to take over the care of the health of childhood, and do the other things that the people now expect them to do, then there must be no expectation of a reduction in appropriations for public education either state or local.

"Can the nation finance the program? The late Franklin K. Lane placed the annual loss to the nation from illiteracy at $826,000,000; the Provost General places the loss due to remedial physical defects at still greater figures. In 1920, federal statisticians placed the nation's bill for luxuries at $22,500,000,000, a sum approximately equal to the cost of the war against Germany, a sum large enough to replace the public school plant from the ground up. The American people own fourteen out of every seventeen automobiles that the world has built. A single state has within the last fifteen years built state roads sufficient to lay three parallel routes from New York to San Francisco and had $200,000,000 left for the development of its canal system.

"It may be necessary to cut down expenses, but it should not be done by robbing childhood of its birthright. The remedy rests in a more scientific distribution of funds and the equalization of taxation. The destiny of the public schools is the destiny of the republic; the nation of the future must pass through the school room where the traditions of our free institutions are conserved and transmitted. What that future shall be rests with the American people."

Respectfully submitted,

JEREMIAH E. BURKE,
Superintendent of Public Schools.

MAYOR BARS IMPURITIES AT LOCAL THEATERS.

Mayor Curley delivered an ultimatum to Boston theater managers, whom he summoned to his office Monday, March 24, that any further complaints would mean immediate closing of the offending houses. Nudity, suggestive jokes and even profanity must be eliminated, he warned, or else the padlock will take the place of the present censorship.

More than eighty theatrical representatives were at the Mayor's conference, at which also were Police Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson and City Censor John M. Casey. After Mayor Curley finished his lecture, which took about ten minutes of rapid speaking, he asked whether his listeners had any suggestions, and receiving no answer, he concluded the parley by remarking that he assumed accordingly that all his listeners agreed to his recommendations.

Profanity headed a list of specific complaints that the Mayor called to the attention of the managers. Censor Casey reported, he said, that his men were kept busy trying to delete profanity from shows. The Mayor laid down the law particularly that what the censor censored must stay out of the show.

"Things have come to a limit," he said, "when it becomes necessary to have a censor attend every performance. A censor at the opening showing ought to be enough. We have had a number of protests that as soon as the censor has cut out an objectionable feature another worse one appeared in its place the next night."

CONTRACTS AMENDED.

John Bowen Company has been allowed to amend his contract for the erection and completion of an elementary school in the Theodore Lyman District, Gove street, East Boston, by striking out the words and figures, "January 26, 1924," on page 25, Section 3, in connection with the marginal notation (E) Completion, and substituting therefor the words and figures, "April 26, 1924," so that the beginning of the last paragraph of said Section 3 on page 25 shall read: "The work is to be commenced on or about March 26, 1923, and is to be completed on or before April 26, 1924."

FIRE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 15.

I. HOUSE WORK.

Paragraph 1, General Orders No. 14, c. s., is hereby rescinded and the following is substituted in its place:

Morning call will be sounded as usual at 6.45 a. m. The only work that will be required of the platoon going off duty at 8 a. m. will be such duties which required immediate attention and will not permit of delay. Commanding officers are expected to use their discretion and judgment in the work which they require to be done. The general house work should be commenced immediately upon the day platoon reporting for duty and completed as expeditiously as possible.

The changing over of hose after a fire, and preparing of apparatus for future alarms, must be done immediately upon return to quarters by the men on duty at the time.

The changing over of the hose on apparatus where the same has not been used for one week, must be done at 10 a. m. on any day excepting Sunday.

All beds must be properly aired, as this is most essential to sanitary conditions, and should be made up not later than 10 a. m.

The attention of commanding officers is especially directed to that part of rule No. 86, which states, "Such work as can be dispensed with on Sundays and holidays will be postponed to the following day."

II. ANNUAL BALL.

It gives the Fire Commissioner great pleasure to announce that the net proceeds for the annual ball, February 12, 1924, for the benefit of the Boston Firemen's Relief Fund, amounted to $27,490.46. This was the largest amount ever raised at any ball conducted by the Boston Fire Department.

The success of the ball this year may be attributed to two things, namely:

The energetic efforts of the members of the department to conduct a successful ball; the co-operation of the men selling the tickets and the various committees to which work was assigned.

The appreciation of the public of the members of the Boston Fire Department and Boston Protective Department, and a desire on the part of the public to co-operate with them and assist them.

The Fire Commissioner congratulates the members of the department on this achievement, and on behalf of the members of the department thanks the public for its generous co-operation and willing assistance.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 493.

A trial board consisting of Captains Goodwin, Perry and Mason having heard by reference a complaint against Patrolman Waldo B. Horton of Division 10, charging him with neglect of duty, has reported to the commissioner a finding of guilty on the charge and on the second and third specifications thereunder, and not guilty on the first specification. General Order No. 494.

A trial board consisting of Captains Goodwin, Rooney and Mason, having heard by reference a complaint against Patrolman Chris Hammerslough of Division 2, charging him with conduct unbecoming an officer and neglect of duty, reported to the commissioner a finding of guilty. In accordance with which, the said Patrolman Chris Hammerslough was on March 15, 1924, dismissed from the Police Department.

Due notice of such dismissal with the reasons therefor was duly and specifically given in writing on March 15, 1924, to the said Chris Hammerslough.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 495.

A trial board consisting of Captains Goodwin, Rooney and Mason having heard by reference a complaint against Patrolman Frank P. Luzinski of Division 3, charging him with failure to report a change of residence and conduct unbecoming an officer, reported to the commissioner a finding of guilty. In accordance with which the said Patrolman Frank P. Luzinski was, on March 14, 1924, dismissed from the Police Department.

Due written notice of such dismissal with the reasons therefor was duly and specifically given in hand on March 15, 1924, to the said Frank P. Luzinski.

On the fifteenth day of March, 1924, the said Frank P. Luzinski requested in writing a public hearing as provided by law, and the Police Commissioner set down Thursday, March 20, 1924, at three o'clock p. m., at the office of the Police Commissioner, as the time and place for said hearing and duly notified the said Frank P. Luzinski.

The said Frank P. Luzinski was present at said time and place with counsel and was heard with his witnesses. Whereupon, after hearing the case, the Police Commissioner finds the said Frank P. Luzinski guilty as charged, herein agreeing with the finding of the trial board.

This is the first instance in which a police officer has been charged and found guilty of telling an untruth in regard to his residence. While I in no way condone this offence, neither do I wish to convey the impression that it is not regarded by me as a serious infraction of the rules; yet I feel that in view of the fact that the accused patrolman was practically a new member of the force and, therefore, did not perhaps fully realize the seriousness of telling an untruth in relation to his residence, I am going to give him another chance.

I am at this time serving notice on the members of the force that the disposition of this case is not to be considered by them as a criterion of the disposition of similar infractions of the rules in the future.

It is therefore hereby ordered that the said Frank P. Luzinski be reinstated as a patrolman of the Police Department of the City of Boston, to take effect as of March 24, 1924, and that he perform two hundred and ten hours' punishment duty.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 496.

The following transfer is hereby ordered, to take effect Tuesday, March 25, 1924, at 5.45 o'clock p. m.:

Patrolman Frank P. Luzinski from Division 3 to Division 7.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 497.

A trial board consisting of Captains Goodwin, Perry and Mason, having heard by reference a complaint against Patrolman James F. Kelly of Division 10, charging him with conduct unbecoming an officer, reported to the commissioner a finding of guilty. In accordance with which, the said Patrolman James F. Kelly was on March 15, 1924, dismissed from the Police Department.

Due written notice of such dismissal with the reasons therefor was duly and specifically given in hand on March 15, 1924, to the said James F. Kelly.

Kelly.

The said James F. Kelly was present at said time and place with counsel and was heard with his witnesses. Whereupon, after hearing the case, the Police Commissioner finds the said James F. Kelly guilty as charged, and further finds that the said James F. Kelly shall stand dismissed from the Police Department.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 498.

A trial board consisting of Captains Goodwin, Rooney and Mason, having heard by reference a complaint against Patrolman Walter O. Hastings of Division 16, charging him with neglect of duty and conduct unbecoming an officer, reported to the commissioner a finding of guilty. In accordance with which, the said Patrolman Walter O. HALTS SONGSTER AT MONTHLY MEETING OF MAYORS' CLUB.

A notable gathering of mayors of Bay State cities assembled at Young's Hotel Saturday, March 22, at the monthly meeting, which included a luncheon for the mayors and their wives at Young's Hotel and then inspection of the "Leviathan."

After former Corporation Counsel John A. Sullivan outlined the bank tax situation and sharply attacked the "moneyed interests" for trying to shift more burdens on the people, the Mayors' Club voted unanimously to lend its aid in killing the bill now before the Legislature which would create a commission to study the problem.

Mr. Sullivan pointed out that the cities' representatives were ready to have the Supreme Court pass on the validity of their stand, while the bank attorneys persisted in quibbling. He said that appointment of a commission was merely evading the question. Nevertheless he looked for ultimate victory in the courts.

Corporation Counsel E. Mark Sullivan assailed the discriminatory freight rates as unconstitutional and told how he, at Mayor Curley's suggestion, has made this the issue before the Interstate Commerce Commission, hoping for victory on that point alone. Mayor Curley urged the mayors to co-operate in fighting for lower lighting rates.

Mayor Curley, during the lunch, took advantage of an opportunity to eliminate some of the objectionable things from the Boston stage.

Two entertainers from a local theater, who volunteered their services, a singer and a pianist, were in the midst of "My Chili Bon Bon," when the Mayor decided that the words were becoming far from chilly and abruptly ended the song.

The party rode in buses to the dry dock in South Boston, where, guided by Capt. Herbert Hartley, who was guest of honor at the luncheon, they inspected the "Leviathan" from bridge to galleys. From South Boston the group rode in the buses over Columbia road and the park system to Franklin Park, concluding the program with a visit to the zoo and rose garden.

Mayors of various cities throughout the state will be hosts to the club on the remaining meetings of the year. The April meeting will be in Worcester, the May meeting in Brockton and the June meeting in North Adams. Other trips will be arranged later. On each such occasion the mayors' wives will be guests.

Present at the luncheon were: Mr. and Mrs. James M. Curley; Mr. and Mrs. William E. Blodgett, Woburn; Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cashman, Newburyport; John M. Webster, Somerville; Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Thurston, Cambridge; Mr. and Mrs. William A. Bullivant, Brockton; Mr. and Mrs. Chester P. Pearson, Gardner; Mr. and Mrs. John A. Sullivan, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. E. DORCHESTER PARK IMPROVEMENTS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 14, 1924.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—The Ashmont and Milton section of Boston have for many years been demanding improvement of Dorchester Park, located in this section of the city, and the Boston City Hospital authorities have been averse to encouraging the development of Dorchester Park because of its proximity to the Convalescent Home located there. They have finally waived their objections and are now agreeable to a more extended use of the adjoining park property. Consequently, I recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of $15,000 be and hereby is appropriated for Dorchester Park Improvements, and that to meet said appropriation, the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized to issue, from time to time, upon request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the City to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

CHILDREN'S PLAYGROUND, WACHUSETT STREET.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 14, 1924.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I am in receipt of the accompanying communication submitted by the Board of Park Commissioners in which they recommend the purchase of children's playground at Wachusett street, Forest Hills.

This playground site was originally submitted to the city at a price of $20,000; after considerable negotiation it has been possible to purchase the site in question, which contains 88,118 square feet, for the sum of $12,000, which is what the property actually cost the present owners. Under the circumstances it would, in my opinion, be a good business proposition for the city to acquire it as a playground site in a section where large lots of vacant land are becoming scarce, and the demand for a playground has been incessant for a number of years. I accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Park Department, March 13, 1924.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—At a meeting of the Board of Park Commissioners held Thursday, March 13, 1924, it was voted, to ask the city government, through your Honor, for a sufficient sum of money to purchase a children's playground on Wachusett street, Forest Hills, containing 88,118 square feet. The money needed for this purchase is as follows:

Purchase of land.....	$12,000
Grading, building of fences, etc.....	5,000
	$17,000

Very respectfully yours,
JAMES B. SHEA,
Chairman.

Ordered, That the sum of $17,000 be and hereby is appropriated for the establishment of a playground on Wachusett street, Forest Hills district, to be expended under the direction of the Park Commissioners, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized to issue, from time to time, upon request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the City to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

WOMEN'S EMPLOYMENT BUREAU.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 18, 1924.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—The present quarters and the present staff of the Boston Municipal Employment Bureau are inadequate to meet the demands made upon them, and in the interests of common decency it is desirable that a separate employment bureau be established for women whose applications for employment now number more than 100 each day, and I accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying order which will make possible the fulfillment of the requirements of the Boston Municipal Employment Bureau.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of $22,000 be and hereby is appropriated to be expended by the Municipal Employment Bureau, under the direction of the Mayor, in the prosecution of its duties, said sum to be charged to the Reserve Fund when made.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

EXTENSION, WILLIAM EUSTIS PLAYGROUND.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 18, 1924.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—The residents of the Roxbury district for many years have requested an appropriation sufficient to place in suitable condition the William Eustis Playground and I am extremely desirous that their wishes be gratified. The accompanying estimate by the Park Commission sets forth in detail the amount that in their opinion is necessary for this work and I respectfully recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Building of bleachers to seat about 2,500 people	32,000
Grading, filling and development of playground	10,000
Children's corner, shelter, apparatus, etc.	5,000
Building of division fence.....	13,000
Total	$100,000

Very respectfully yours,
JAMES B. SHEA,
Chairman.

Ordered, That the sum of $100,000 be and the same hereby is appropriated to be expended under the direction of the Park Commissioners, for the extension and improvement of William Eustis Playground, and that to meet said appropriation, the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, upon request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 18, 1924.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—The commanding position taken by citizens of Boston since the establishment of the first settlement, to and through the Revolutionary War down to our own day, has been such an important factor in the establishment and perpetuation of free government as to render it highly important that scenes and events connected therewith be appropriately designated. With this object in mind, in 1923 I established a commission consisting of representatives of various historical societies to designate sites for suitable permanent bronze markers so that succeeding generations be informed as to persons and places inseparably linked with the movement for liberty in this section of the United States. That the object may be realized, I recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the Commission on the Marking of Historical Sites, be and hereby is authorized to expend under the direction of the Mayor, a sum not to exceed fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000) in the prosecution of their duties, said sum to be charged to the Reserve Fund when made.

BOSTON FIRE DEPARTMENT, NOW COMPLETELY MOTORIZED, IS PRIDE OF MAYOR AND CITIZENS.

LAST MINUTE IMPROVEMENTS IN FIRE-FIGHTING APPARATUS PLACES CITY IN FIRST RANK OF THOSE PREPARED TO BATTLE FLAMES AND DESTRUCTION.

ONE OF LATEST TYPES OF MOTOR FIRE-FIGHTING APPARATUS, WHICH NOW MAKES BOSTON PRE-EMINENT IN PROPERTY PROTECTION.

Boston can now boast of having a Fire Department completely motorized and with that boast she stands among the first cities in the country in the matter of fire-fighting equipment. This fact is one of the greatest sources of pride not only to members of the Fire Department, from Fire Commissioner Glynn down to the newest member, but also to Mayor Curley for the citizens of Boston.

The motorization of the Boston Fire Department has been a matter of gradual progress over a period of many years. The first piece of motor-driven fire-fighting apparatus was installed in the Boston Fire Department in 1911, although for several years previous to this some of the chief officers of the department were equipped with steam-driven or motor-driven automobiles. From 1911 to 1916 automobile fire apparatus was in an experimental stage. In 1916 a definite plan for purchasing motor-driven apparatus was decided upon and since then the following amounts have been expended for this equipment:

Year ending January 31, 1917	$50,750
Year ending January 31, 1918	121,970
Year ending January 31, 1920	220,706
Year ending January 31, 1921	135,317
Year ending January 31, 1922	103,900
Year ending January 31, 1923	122,780
Year ending January 31, 1924	261,908

Today the Fire Department is completely motorized, the last piece of horse-drawn apparatus having been removed from service October 18, 1923. The figures given above practically represent the expenditure of money for the present motor equipment in the Boston Fire Department as the pieces purchased between 1911 and 1917 have all been replaced.

One of the greatest strides that has been made in fire-fighting is the gasoline pumping engine which has displaced the steam fire engine. One of the advantages of the gasoline pumping engine is, that it is ready to function at any moment, day or night, with a capacity of not less than 750 gallons of water per minute. The Boston Fire Department has several gasoline pumping engines in service with a rated capacity of 1,000 gallons per minute. Both the 750 and the 1,000 gallon size pumping engines have a reserve capacity of approximately 300 gallons. The value and efficiency of the steam fire engine cannot be compared with the gasoline pumping engine in view of the fact that one man can operate a gasoline pump with two or three streams functioning, while in the case of a steam fire engine, it requires the services of an engineer and a driver to operate it and keep fuel supplied. Another advantage of motor apparatus is that it does not cost anything when it is not in service. With the horse-drawn equipment the horses had to be fed and cared for whether or not they performed any service.

BOSTON AFTER MUCH UNTAXED PROPERTY HIDDEN IN WAREHOUSES.

The Board of Assessors have gone on a hunt for millions of dollars' worth of property claimed to be hidden away in storage warehouses, in which prominent Boston banks are alleged to be innocently or deliberately conniving.

The banks are holding as security millions of dollars' worth of foodstuffs and other valuable articles of commerce, and refusing to give to the Assessing Department the names of the true owners, so that the property may be subjected to the regular tax, it is claimed.

The fact that the beneficiaries under it escape taxation, while honest men willingly pay taxation on extensive holdings in similar commodities, throws the whole taxation system in this field out of kilter, they assert.

The Board has instructed its agents relative to two or three major items in the tentative policy. Valuations are to be considerably raised in business thoroughfares to the south of centers like Huntington avenue.

Warehouses in various sections of the city are to receive special attention from the deputies, both for the goods they contain and for the possibility of fairly advancing the assessments on the land and buildings themselves.

Chairman Edward T. Kelly and Principal Assessors Neal J. Holland and Joseph G. O'Malley will have an intensive time of it daily from now on, directing the operations and acting as umpire for the Board's field agents.

All persons subject to a personal tax must file statements of their taxable properties prior to May 15, or stand a heavy penalty, the assessors announce.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

This much was decided during a conference between representatives of the Board of Trade and Mayor Curley in City Hall. The location will be on the west side of Blue

The new playground is admirably situated. During years it has been an unauthorized center for baseball and other activities. It is removed from danger from passing automobiles and railroad traffic, and is deemed just suitable for the needs of the youngsters and mothers in charge of children, who have been looking for such a center some time.

It is expected that draining and grading will be started this spring. The Mattapan residents will be gratified on hearing of the acquisition of this large acreage for recreation purposes.

GROUND BROKEN FOR NEW FIRE ALARM STATION.

Mayor Curley operated a steam shovel in the Fenway Wednesday afternoon, the occasion being the breaking of ground for the new $600,000 fire alarm signal station, which is to take the place of present headquarters on Bristol street.

After an intensive course of instruction in the handling of levers that operate the big apparatus, Mayor Curley got into action and drove the shovel's nose into the soft earth.

With a full load of loam aboard, the shovel rose into the air and swung around over the waiting dump cart. Here a pause occurred, while the Mayor consulted his mentor about what to do next. The load was finally dumped in the most approved fashion. After that it was all plain sailing, and in the next three minutes the Mayor had a big hole to his credit.

Fire Commissioner Glynn and his staff of officers were interested spectators. Among others present were Thomas O'Connor, the contractor; D. E. Coleman, the excavator; Richard J. Shaw, the architect of the building; Park Commissioner James B. Shea and many other city department heads.

CITY'S NEEDS AND FUNDS AVAILABLE ONLY SHOULD GOVERN DEPARTMENT ACTIVITIES.

MAYOR CURLEY TELLS FINANCE COMMISSION IN REPLY TO LETTER PROTESTING AGAINST EXPENDITURES FOR EUSTIS STREET PLAYGROUND.

The following letter was on March 31 forwarded to the chairman of the Finance Commission:

HON. MICHAEL H. SULLIVAN, Chairman, the Finance Commission, Boston, Mass.:

DEAR SIR:—I have conferred with the chairman of the Park Commission relative to the communication submitted by the Finance Commission under date of March 29, 1924. I have in addition read the labored attempt of the Finance Commission to impugn the honesty and insult the intelligence of the chairman of the Park Commission; I have likewise noted the two recommendations. The acceptance or rejection of recommendation No. 1 rests entirely with the City Council who are free agents, and over whose action, under the law, I have no control. The second recommendation I feel was dictated without careful thought as to contents and that in addition you probably neglected to read it after it was written.

The city's needs and the amount of money available are the only considerations which should prompt action favorable or otherwise on the part of a department head. In the present case I do not recognize that there has been any departure from the established policy in the matter of the acquiring of land for municipal purposes; the custom that has prevailed from the beginning has been to appropriate sufficient money to permit of the payment of 25 per cent in excess of assessed valuation of the property, which I understand has been done in this case. The amount that the owner of the property states that he will accept, and which is in excess of 25 per cent above assessed valuation, is a matter that will receive consideration at the proper time.

The opportunity to enlarge the William Eustis Playground exists at the present time, and in the event that the owner of the land in question is agreeable to disposing of the property which, in the opinion of the Park Commission, should be taken at a price not in excess of 25 per cent above assessed valuation, I shall approve such taking. In the event, however, that the owner of the property in question is not agreeable to this price, I shall disapprove any taking. There is no other course that could be pursued, and the Finance Commission was aware of this fact before their sensational screed was made public property.

In conclusion I sincerely trust that his Excellency the Governor will speedily submit your reappointment to the Governor's Council, so that I may be spared the necessity of wasting valuable time in answering stupid communications which the desire to retain your position prompts you from time to time to submit.

Very truly yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

THE FINANCE COMMISSION'S STATEMENT.

The Finance Commission's statement was that the City Council refused to approve the order recommended by Mayor Curley for a loan of $100,000 for the extension and improvement of the William Eustis Playground, Roxbury.

The statement reads in part:

"There is no evidence and no record in the Park Department that the matter of extending this playground was considered by the Park Commissioners or his Honor the Mayor, or that the extension of this playground had been considered prior to the receipt of Mr. Andrews' letter last August; nor is there any record in the Park Department that any study or consideration had been given to the matter by the Park Commissioners from August 22, 1923, when the Board rejected the matter, to March 13, 1924, when the Park Commission requested the City Council to appropriate from loan the sum of $100,000. And even on March 13, 1924, the two commissioners other than the chairman did not have brought to their attention the assessed value of the land to be taken or who the owner was.

"Notwithstanding the necessity which the Park Commissioners believe exists for enlarging and improving the William Eustis Playground, the Finance Commission believes that the method attempted to be used to pay an excessive price for land taken for public use, in order to enable an individual to make money at the expense of the city, should be repudiated. It is clear that the chairman of the Park Department did not act with entire frankness toward his associates in making the request for this loan.

"It appears also that the loan order was sent to the Council by his Honor the Mayor without having checked the assessed value of the land to be taken and without ascertaining what the land could be purchased for, in contrast with similar orders in the past.

"Moreover, the initial step in this matter seems to have been taken by an ex-member of the Board that is charged with taking all land needed by the city for public uses and who is now employed by that same Board as an expert on land values in behalf of the city."

COMMISSION'S RECOMMENDATION.

In conclusion, the Finance Commission recommends that the Mayor issue a general order to all department heads that in the future when they require land to be taken for public purposes they inform the Mayor who the actual owners of the property are and the price at which the owners are willing to sell their property to the city.

MAYOR PLEASSED THAT WEBSTER PAINTING WILL REMAIN IN FANEUIL HALL.

The Mayor on Monday, March 31, sent the following communication:

MR. RALPH ADAMS CRAM, 248 Boylston Street, Boston, Mass.:

MY DEAR MR. CRAM,—I beg to forward herewith recommendation received from the Art Commission with reference to the transfer of the painting entitled "Webster's Reply to Hayne," and which is located at Faneuil Hall.

In view of the position taken by the Art Commission that it would be inexpedient to remove the painting until a more suitable place has been determined upon, it would be advisable to proceed with the restoration of Faneuil Hall, making provision to permit of the painting remaining where it is at present located.

I have refrained from expressing an opinion until such time as the Art Commission might pass judgment with reference to your recommendation, but I do not mind saying to you now that I am personally pleased that the painting is not to be removed.

Sincerely yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

ASSESSMENTS ABATED.

The Board of Street Commissioners have passed the following order:

In the matter of the applications for revision of assessments levied on account of the construction of sewerage works the Board of Street Commissioners acting under the provisions of chapter 359 of the Acts of the year 1896, and deeming it just and proper that such action should be taken upon said applications:

Ordered, That the amounts hereinafter specified, being the annual apportionments of said assessments for the years specified below be, and the same are hereby, abated.

Said total is 2,375 less than the corresponding total shown by 1915 census. The more the 1920 census figures are analyzed, the more incredible they appear. When it is further noted that the number of persons 18 to 20 years inclusive in 1920 was 6,063 less than those of the same ages in 1915, and that the total of children under 7 years in 1920 was only 1,291 more than the same in 1915, as compared with an increase of 9,689 in the preceding five years, the evidence is plain that thousands of young children and other minors were not counted in 1920. This appears more certain when it is noted that the excess of births over deaths of children in the five years 1915-1920 was 83,248, non-residents excluded.

FINANCE COMMISSION FINDING IS FALSE, COMMISSIONER ROURKE CHARGES.

REFUTES STATEMENTS AS TO [GAS LIGHT CONTRACTS BY SHOWING TESTS—SAYS ALSO THAT EDISON COMPANY NOT READY TO PUT IN 10,000 MORE LAMP CIRCUITS.

The following communication was sent on March 29 by the Commissioner of Public Works:

CITY OF BOSTON,
PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT,
Boston, March 29, 1924.

HON. MICHAEL H. SULLIVAN, Chairman,
Boston Finance Commission:

DEAR SIR,—Forwarded to this office by the Finance Commission, under date of March 28, was a communication signed by the chairman of the commission, including recommendations and a report of the consulting engineer of the Finance Commission, all relating to the gas street lighting contract recently forwarded to the Mayor and City Council by the Commissioner of Public Works with the recommendation for its adoption.

The findings of the commission that the proposed contract will cost the city, during the next ten years, one million dollars over electric lighting is unqualifiedly false and probably is intended as a final drive to influence legislative action in connection with the tax limit. It is based upon the price assumed by your consulting engineer for incandescent lamps to replace the existing gas lamps.

At the recent tests of candle power for gas lamps you must have selected those which were to be immediately replaced, in order to get such ridiculously low candle power. We have a report, showing a test comprising a total of twenty lamps selected at random in Roxbury, Dorchester and Jamaica Plain, conducted by the chief inspector of the Public Utilities Commission, three representatives of the Gas Company and one representative of the City of Boston, in which there were but three lamps deficient in candle power, while the total average of all twenty lamps was 63.89, so that evidently the method of testing lamps, which is identical with that in the previous contract, has not been impossible of application and it is intended to establish in the city lighting service a method of ascertaining the candle power of any lamp actually in service, preparatory to having laboratory tests made, in order to have the proper candle power maintained.

The commission's recommendation that immediate steps be taken to replace gas street lighting system with electricity, based on the assumption of your engineer that this can be done under the existing contract with the Edison Company under a clause in the contract providing for additional lamps, is a fair sample of the commission's narrow interpretation of contract requirements. This contract never intended that 10,000 additional lamp circuits could be ordered of the Edison Company under their contract, which would require the expenditure of between one and two millions of dollars for extensions of series lighting circuits or of tremendous loss incident to the hand lighting and extinguishing of multiple incandescent lamps at the price in the contract. The findings of the Board of Gas and Electric Light Commissioners in connection with the arbitration under the terms of the 1914 Edison contract makes this statement:

"The agreement provides for extensions of the service, relocation of lamps and substitution of lamps of other types, but upon such terms as are manifestly designed not to increase thereby the relative cost to the company of supplying the service."

It has always been regretted by the writer that it seems impossible for the commission to take any fair grounds in the interpretation of contractual relations of the city and it is not to be wondered at that your recommendations are receiving decreased attention by the public and by executive and legislative departments.

The commission also misleads the public in its statement that the Commissioner of Public Works took no steps towards developing competition between gas and electric street lighting, as directed by his Honor the Mayor, and that the only proposal made by the Commissioner of Public Works was for that for street lighting by gas.

There is but one company which can furnish gas at the city lamps; there is but one company which can furnish electricity for substitution. For the lighting, extinguishing and maintenance of gas lamps there was a possible chance for competition. The writer took up with the Edison Company at different times previous to advertising this contract the substitution of electric lamps and knew that this substitution could not properly be accomplished. If, however, your consulting engineer had intelligently consulted the Edison Company officials or obtained reliable information from them he would well know that the Edison Company in their multiple incandescents of forty and sixty candle power are losing money on the present prices which are, respectively, $18.33 and $21.14 a year, and that the cost of lighting by hand switching method in use approximates a cost per lamp year almost equal to the total paid by the city and exceeds, for the forty candle power lamp, your engineer's assumed price for the total cost of these lamps to the city under the new Edison contract which will have to be made this year. It is not known where your engineer obtained knowledge of what the price per lamp year would be under this new contract for multiple lamps, which assumed price apparently has not the backing of the company directly interested and which will have to furnish the service.

We are glad to see that your engineer is favorably impressed with the price received for lighting, extinguishing and maintenance but makes a recommendation for reduction in the rate for illuminating gas. His assumption that 3½ feet of gas per lamp hour is incorporated in the new contract, as against 3 feet in the old contract, is again wrong and misleading. It was 3½ feet in the old contract and is retained in the new contract. This eliminates his recommendation that the price for illuminating gas could be properly reduced.

The writer forwarded the gas lighting contract to the Mayor and the City Council with the recommendation for its approval only after having thoroughly investigated the possible substitution of electric lighting for gas lighting. As the writer is of the same opinion as your commission that electric lighting is far more acceptable to the community than gas lighting, but until such time as the Edison Company feels that the extension of their service to include all existing gas lamps will not impose too great a financial burden upon the company and possibly interfere with the extension of household and commercial lighting, and that their willingness to assume this substitution becomes more apparent than at present, its consideration should be dropped and the present gas lighting contract approved and at the prices fixed therein.

Yours very truly,

J. A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

FINANCE COMMISSION REPORT ON GAS CONTRACT.

The Finance Commission's report was as follows:

Boston, March 28, 1924.

To the Honorable the Mayor and City Council:

GENTLEMEN,—On February 14, 1924, the Commissioner of Public Works advertised proposals for equipment and the lighting and extinguishing of gas lamps for the City of Boston, excluding Charlestown and Hyde Park, for a term of ten years beginning April 1, 1924.

Bids were opened on March 6, 1924. The only bid received was from the Boston Consolidated Gas Company at $15.20 per lamp per year. On the same date the Boston Consolidated Gas Company submitted a price for furnishing gas at $11 per lamp per year, making a total cost to the city, in case the award is made to the Boston Consolidated Gas Company, of $26.20 per lamp per year. There would be in operation under this contract, if entered into, about 9,500 gas lamps.

Ten years ago the Boston Consolidated Gas Company entered into two contracts with the City of Boston to supply practically the same equipment and service as is now proposed, at a total cost of $21 per lamp per year, divided as follows: $12 for equipment, maintenance and operation per lamp per year, and $9 for gas per lamp per year. During the term of the last contract, the Boston Consolidated Gas Company assigned to the Welsbach Street Lighting Company of America the contract which provided for equipment, maintenance and operation, the assignee company being the owner of the lamps and burners.

Section 12 of the contract now about to expire provides as follows:

"Extension of Contract. The city may at its option, to be signified in writing not later than January 6, 1924, extend the term herein designated for the continuance of the contract for a period not exceeding six months, so that there may be no interruption of service in case the city enters into a contract involving other parties or different equipment, or both. . . .

Until a new contract is finally awarded it will not be known whether the city is to have its street lighting service continued by the Boston Consolidated Gas Company or by some other company or agency. If the contract is concluded within six months following the first of April, 1924, between the same parties and for the same equipment the prices in the new contract will apply, beginning with April 1, 1924. If, however, a contract is concluded with a party other than the one holding the present contract, or for equipment other than that now in use under the present contract, then the prices reserved in the present contract should apply after April 1, 1924, until such new contract is in operation, providing it is not more than six months after April 1, 1924.

This construction seems clear from the language of the contract, and the city officials should not be hurried or stymied into making a new contract by April 1, 1924, on the basis of the bid of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company.

It appeared in the public press in January, 1924, that his Honor the Mayor had instructed the Commissioner of Public Works to take steps for the making of a new contract in such a way as to develop some competition between gas and electricity in the matter of street lighting. It now, appears, however, that the Commissioner of Public Works did not follow this direction, if it were given, because the only proposal made by the Commissioner of Public Works was for an equipment for street lighting by gas.

The commission cannot find that any effort or attempt was made by the Commissioner of Public Works to get bids for street lighting by electricity in competition with the gas service now in use.

The Finance Commission has caused an investigation to be made by its consulting engineer of gas lighting under the contract of ten years ago, which expires on April 1 next, and under the contract proposed under the bid opened March 6, 1924. After a study of the consulting engineer's report, a copy of which is hereto annexed, the Finance Commission makes the following findings and recommendations:

FINDINGS.

The proposed contract with the Boston Consolidated Gas Company will cost the city during the next ten years at least one million dollars over an electric lighting system.

Under the contract of ten years ago, now about to expire, the Boston Consolidated Gas Company engaged to maintain the lamps when in service at not less than sixty horizontal candle power for each single burner lamp. In a recent test made it was found that the company did not live up to this engagement. A test made of fifteen lamps in the Roxbury district showed only an average of nineteen candle power per lamp, or less than one third of the candle power contracted for. Some of the burners were giving less than two candle power, while none of those tested gave over fifty-four candle power.

In the past ten years there have been no improvements in the art of street lighting by gas. Pressure gas lighting, from which many improvements in gas lighting were expected ten years ago, has been abandoned.

It is common knowledge that the modern systems of lighting houses and apartments are exclusively by the use of electricity.

The method provided in the present contract, now about to expire, for testing candle power of street lamps on the part of the city is impossible of application. The same method appears in the proposed new contract.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

1. That the bid of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company for street lighting by gas, now under consideration, be rejected.

2. That immediate steps be taken to replace the present gas street lighting system with electricity.

3. That a contract for a period not exceeding one year be entered into with the Boston Consolidated Gas Company for maintaining the present service, with a provision for discontinuance upon the installation of electric service.

Respectfully submitted,

THE FINANCE COMMISSION,
by MICHAEL H. SULLIVAN,
Chairman.

PUBLIC LIBRARY MUSICAL DISPLAY.

The Boston Symphony Orchestra's impending performance of Beethoven's "Ninth Symphony" and the universal interest in the observance of the centenary of its first performance, are reflected in an exhibition in the music room of the Public Library of the City of Boston.

Beethoven and Boston were linked in reality just a little over a hundred years ago and the story of the commission given to him to write an oratorio for the Handel and Haydn Society may be read in Elson's "History of American Music" or in Thayer's "Life of Beethoven." Although the commission was never carried out, the interest in the great composer at that time was such that it led a Harvard man to devote practically all his life to writing the definitive life of the composer, which is incidentally one of the great biographies of the world.

On the 24th of this month, one hundred years ago, Beethoven's "Great Mass in D" received its initial performance in Russia, and on May 7 of the same year Vienna heard the first performance, of the Choral Symphony. The "Harmonicon" for August of that year contains a translation of a Vienna journal's account of his first performance, and a letter received in England at that time may be seen in the "Musical World" of April, 1837.

That this symphony occupied an advanced position in the nineteenth century is seen in an analysis contained in the "Quarterly Magazine and Review" for 1825. The writer says that "all the known acoustical missile instruments were employed and they made even the very ground shake under us, and would, with their fearful uproar, have been sufficiently penetrating to call from their peaceful graves . . . the revered shades of Tallis, Purcell, and Gibbons, and even Handel and Mozart, to witness and deplore the obstreperous roarings of modern frenzy in their art."

Did either Wagner or Stravinsky ever receive better publicity?

Of special interest to Bostonians is the account of the first performance in Boston. This may be read in "Dwight's Journal of Music" for February, 1853. Great were the preparations for the event. A translation of a German analysis was made and Richard Wagner's "Programme to the Ninth Symphony" was especially translated for the "Journal." The editor felt it necessary to issue an appeal to "withhold all encouragement from the whispering and bustle." That the performance was not an isolated event, but part of a rich musical life which we are apt to under-rate, may be seen from the other events of the same period. In the ten days that saw the performance of the symphony, Beethoven's oratorio, "The Mount of Olives," from which the Harvard Glee Club is to sing a selection next week, was also given. There were in addition a Mendelssohn festival, a chamber concert, and three or four nights of Alboni's operas.

The full accounts of these stirring events, which brought the world together even as does radio today, may be read in the books collected in the music room. Pictures of the composer and his contemporaries can be seen. Facsimile manuscripts of the different works are on view—notably the first page of the symphony and the sketch for the "Ode to Joy." Here also is displayed a picture of the house in which Schiller wrote his ode, which is really the starting point for the whole symphony.

Here can be seen detailed studies of the music and the instrumentation. Of different interest are the pictures of Max Klinger's celebrated and much discussed statue of the composer. They show one phase of the relation of the fine arts to one another, and any one who studies either the music or the criticism in the collection will be richly rewarded.

One of the most touching of all criticisms or tributes is that of Helen Keller, who "listened in" to a performance of this symphony in New York recently. She said, "As I listened, with darkness and melody, shadow and sound filling all the room, I could not help remembering that the great composer who poured forth such a flood of sweetness into the world was deaf like myself. I marvelled at the power of his quenchless spirit by which out of his pain he wrought such joy for others, and there I sat, feeling with my hand the magnificent symphony which broke like a sea upon the silent shores of his soul and mine."

DOVER STREET NOT TO BE GIVEN NEW NAME.

The Mayor received the following communication:

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—An article in a recent edition of a Boston newspaper described an effort now being made to change the name of Dover street, Boston, to a name of greater significance, since its present designation has no historical value, and that, moreover, it conjures up too many unpleasant memories of places and scenes that might well be forgotten.

The proposition, however, has stirred remembrance in the hearts of the descendants of the Dover farmers, who, many years ago, gave this particular street its name.

The territory comprising the present town of Dover was included in the grant made by the crown to the Massachusetts Bay Colony in 1628, being at that time and until its incorporation in 1784 a part of the town of Dedham.

Although always an agricultural district, for many years after its settlement the people were largely engaged in preparing ship timber, cutting wood and burning charcoal, all of which found a ready market in Boston, about eighteen miles distant. This business demanded transportation and men were constantly on the roads with their ox-teams.

Tradition and the town's history say that those Dover farmers gave Dover street its name because they "put up" over night, year in and year out, at a tavern located on Dover street near the junction of Washington street.

Because of this, many Dover people of the present day, while they claim no rights in the matter, earnestly hope that the ancient and worthy name of said street will not be changed.

Yours very truly,

M. N. COMISKEY,
G. HAROLD WALKEE,
H. L. MACKENZIE,
Selectmen of Dover, Mass.

The Mayor's reply is as follows:

GENTLEMEN,—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your communication requesting that the name of Dover street be retained on the thoroughfare which has so long borne this name. I agree with you that tradition and early history as represented by the names given the older thoroughfares in the city should not be subject to change without weighty reason. In the case of Dover street, the protest submitted by you gentlemen as members of the Board of Selectmen of Dover is of sufficient weight, in my opinion, to justify the retention of the ancient name, and I shall be pleased to insist that no change be made.

With every good wish,

Sincerely yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

PUBLIC LIBRARY SPECIAL LECTURE BY NOTED ENGLISH MUSICIAN.

The Public Library of the City of Boston announces a special lecture on Stravinsky's "Le Sacre du Printemps" to be given by Laurence V. Powell, of Birmingham University, England. The lecture will be given on Saturday evening, April 5, at 8.15 o'clock in the Lecture Hall, and is open to the public, entrance from Boylston street only. No tickets required.

The work is conceded to be the outstanding musical achievement of the twentieth century and its production here in Boston a few weeks ago resulted in numerous requests for a repetition which is scheduled for April 11 and 12. In addition to explanatory remarks, the entire composition will be reproduced on a piano player.

Mr. Powell will discuss the position of the work in relation to other works in the art of music and will explain the unique methods of Stravinsky in composition.

CITIES JOIN WITH BOSTON TO CELEBRATE PATRIOTS' DAY.

A joint observance of Patriots' Day, April 19, is being arranged under the auspices of the Citizens' Public Celebrations Association of Boston to include seven towns and cities. In each place there will be a local program centering around the rides of Paul Revere and William Dawes.

These historic events in the destiny of nation and world will be reproduced, as for the past several years, with riders on horseback dressed to impersonate the original riders of 1775. The riders will be selected from the cavalry of the Massachusetts National Guard as has been customary. "Revere" will start from North square, from the house still standing there in which Revere lived at the time. "Dawes" will start from John Eliot square in Roxbury.

In each place there will be a suitable program in which the patriotic significance of the event and of the holiday will be stressed. Then the riders will proceed, each with a mounted cavalry escort, in charge of members of the committee who will travel with each rider to insure harmonious dovetailing of the features along the way.

Each town and city has its own official local committee, designated by the selectmen or mayor on invitation of the Mayor of Boston and the Public Celebrations Association. The general committee has been meeting weekly and plans for the holiday are well in hand, in co-operation with the City of Boston Director of Public Celebrations, J. Philip O'Connell.

The Patriots' Day Committee for Boston consists of: Merle R. Griffith, chairman; E. B. Mero, secretary; E. L. Curran, James H. Phelan, William Carroll Hill, John B. Archibald, Frank Chouteau Brown, Frank Leveroni, Henry J. D. Small, Wilfred F. Kelley, John J. Sawtelle, Frederic C. Bauer, John J. Keenan, Joseph A. F. O'Neil.

The chairmen of the committees for the other cities and towns are as follows:

Arlington, Frank M. Harwood; Brookline, Edward W. Baker; Cambridge, T. Harrison Cummings; Lexington, Ezra F. Breed; Medford, Joseph C. Smith; Somerville, L. A. Hodgdon.

In charge of the Eliot square arrangements at the start of the Dawes ride will be Frederick J. Soule of the Norfolk House Center, with a committee in which the Roxbury Historical Society, American Legion and Boy Scouts will be active. In charge of the North square arrangements at the start of the Revere ride will be a committee headed by John A. Scanga of the Michelangelo School Center.

The official start of the Boston part of the day's events will be a formal flag raising at City Hall by Mayor Curley, with a battalion of navy men and band, following which ceremony the troops, officials and committee will march to North square, where exercises will follow, concluding with the start of the rider on his way to give the twentieth century version of the warning, "To arms! The British are coming!"

CHIEF ATTENDANCE OFFICER

A communication was received from the Executive Secretary, Division of Civil Service, addressed to the Secretary of the Board, under date of Feb. 29, 1924, stating that the Commissioner regrets he cannot allow the appointment of Joseph W. Hobbs, attendance officer, to the position of chief attendance officer but that he will be glad to hold a competitive examination for promotion to this position among the attendance officers in the department, if so desired.

Placed on file.

The following communication, also addressed to the Secretary of the Board, was received from E. Mark Sullivan, Corporation Counsel, under date of Mar. 17, 1924:

I am in receipt of your letter of March 11th, in which you state that the School Committee elected one of its attendance officers, Joseph W. Hobbs, to the position of Chief Attendance Officer, and that subsequent to such election the School Committee was notified by the Department of Civil Service and Registration that this appointment could not be allowed but that the Department would be glad to hold a competitive examination for promotion to the position among the attendance officers in the department, if the school committee so desired. You ask my opinion whether the action of the School Committee can be sustained or whether it is required to submit to the rules of the Civil Service Commission.

Under sec. 3 of c. 31 of the General Laws, the Board of Civil Service Commissioners shall from time to time make rules and regulations, subject to the approval of the governor and council, which shall regulate the selection of persons to fill appointive positions in the government of the Commonwealth and the several cities thereof. Under the authority thus given it, the Civil Service Commission established Rule 4, which provides that "all persons performing duties or rendering service in any of the offices and positions and classes of positions classified by statute or in any of the following offices and positions and classes of positions, or performing duties or rendering service similar to that of any such offices or positions and classes of positions, under whatever designation, whether such service is permanent or temporary, and whether the same is paid by time for work done, by the piece, or in any other manner, are subject to the civil service law and rules, and the selection of persons to fill such appointive offices and positions in the government of the commonwealth and of the several cities thereof, is subject to the civil service law and Rules." Under this rule Class 19, entitled "Attendance Officers" was established. There is no classification of "Chief Attendance Officer."

I understand that Mr. Hobbs was properly classified under the civil service as an attendance officer.

In my opinion the designation of "Chief Attendance Officer" does not create a new class of employee. The designation of "Chief" is similar to the designation of "Chairman" of a department. Under the existing law the Mayor of Boston may appoint one of the members of a particular board as chairman without the approval of the Civil Service Commissioners, provided that the individual had previously been approved as a member of the board of which he is made chairman. In the present case Hobbs has merely been designated as the chief of a particular class of employees. His appointment is not dissimilar to the appointment of the chairman of a municipal board. He merely is given the designation of "Chief," which might just as well have been "Chairman of Attendance Officers," rather than "Chief Attendance Officer." In my opinion, therefore, since Hobbs has already been classified by the civil service as an attendance officer and since he is merely the chief or head of such attendance officers, which designation is not classified under civil service, he is entitled to hold office without approval of the Civil Service Commissioners and without the necessity of submitting to a competitive or any kind of examination under civil service. The fact that he is to receive additional compensation as chief does not, in my opinion, alter the situation as to the requirement of submission to civil service examination.

It should be noted that the Board of Civil Service Commissioners, wherever it deemed it advisable to classify the chief of any particular branch of service, has made a new class. See, for instance,—Class 3 Clerks; Grade 5, Class 3, Chief Clerk. Class 26, Licensed Engineers; Sub-division H of Class 26, Chief Engineer. Class 27 Civil Engineers; Grade E of Class 27, Chief Engineer.

Placed on file.

On motion, the Secretary was directed to transmit a copy of the foregoing communication to the Division of Civil Service.

Hillside School-house, William M. Barry, Mar. 9, 1924.

REPORT OF TRIAL BOARD

A communication was received from the Trial Board, under date of Mar. 22, 1924, to whom was referred at the meeting of Mar. 3, 1924 (see p. 30), a communication from the Schoolhouse Custodian preferring charges of general neglect of duty against William J. Gallagher, custodian of the Oak Square School-house, stating that that Board held a hearing on the matter on Mar. 20, 1924, which was attended by the custodian concerned and by the Schoolhouse Custodian, and submitting the following report:

It would appear that the charge of the Schoolhouse Custodian was based entirely upon the failure of the custodian to have his building properly heated on Monday morning, February 26, 1924 due to the absence of the custodian from duty, and the frozen up condition of part of the apparatus.

It appears from the evidence presented, that the custodian had drained his building during the vacation period February 16th to 23d; that he was in the building on Sunday, February 24th for the purpose of getting the building ready for occupancy on the following Monday morning, and that he was taken sick, made persistent efforts to reach the Schoolhouse Custodian on Sunday night and Monday morning, but failed to do so, and on account of illness failed to reach the school on Monday morning, February 25th.

His illness, and his failure to reach the Schoolhouse Custodian resulted in the partial freeze-up of the apparatus and the building being unheated and unfit for use on that morning.

Mr. Gallagher has been in the service only since January 1, 1924, and has had, therefore, but limited experience in the care of our buildings.

The Schoolhouse Custodian reports that with the exception of the occurrence under consideration, he has been an efficient custodian.

FINDING—That the custodian is guilty of lack of judgment in draining his building at that time, in that he did not have the experience to qualify him to drain the building properly and to know whether it could be done safely without endangering the freezing up of the building.

RECOMMENDATION—That the custodian be reprimanded for such lack of judgment.

Placed on file, and the recommendation adopted.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

The order laid over at the meeting of March 17, 1924 amending sections 281 and 291 of the regulations relative to the basis for appointment of special assistants was taken up and passed.

INCOME TAX (STATE) ON INTANGIBLE PROPERTY.

In accordance with Chap. 269, ss. 2 and 11, General Acts of 1916, intangible personal property (except bank stock) ceased to be subject to assessment and taxation in 1917 and thereafter. In place of that tax an income tax was established, amounting to six per cent per year on income derived from such intangibles, subject to various specified exemptions.

Owing to the exemption from tax of intangible personal property, the total valuation of personality in Boston decreased from $328,929,679 in 1916 to $162,545,343 in 1917, a loss representing $2,945,000 in taxes. By sec. 23 of said Chapter 269, it was provided that the State Treasurer should pay to each city or town an amount equal to the difference between the personal property levy in 1915 and that of 1917 computed at the 1915 tax rate. If the income tax collections exceeded the amount required for such distribution, the excess was also to be distributed, this in proportion to the State tax imposed on each city or town in 1917. The amount of income taxes paid by the State to the City of Boston under said statute for 1917 was $3,704,855; for 1918, $1,085,175; for 1919, $3,017,133 and $620,735 for Schools; for 1920, $3,754,237 and $644,703 for Schools; for 1921, $3,182,205 and $660,122 for Schools. Total for the five years, 1917 to 1921, inclusive, $19,669,165. In 1917 the total distribution in Metropolitan District outside Boston was $3,198,281 or $506,574 less than in Boston alone. Total for whole District (incl. Boston) $6,903,136 or 61.64 per cent of total for State, and $1,423,401 in excess of the total shrinkage in taxes on personality from 1916 to 1917 in the District due to the new law exempting intangible property.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.

Regular meeting of the City Council in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at two o'clock p. m., President DONOGHUE in the chair and all the members present.

AMENDMENT OF PARK FRONTAGE ORDINANCE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, March 31, 1924.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I beg to forward herewith communication received from the Park Commission, which in their opinion should be adopted as an amendment to the ordinances, and which I trust the Council will approve.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Park Department, March 15, 1924.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—At a meeting of the Board of Park Commissioners held on March 13, 1924, it was voted to recommend to his Honor the Mayor and to the City Council, that the city ordinances concerning park frontages in the City of Boston be amended as follows:

Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston as follows:

That chapter 5 of the Ordinances of 1922, an ordinance concerning park frontages in the city of Boston, as amended by chapters 2, 8 and 12 of the Ordinances of 1923, be further amended by striking out on the second and third lines in section 1, the following words: "on land which abuts on and has an entrance into and is within a distance of one hundred feet from," which now reads as follows:

Section 1. No building or structure or any part thereof hereafter erected or altered on land which abuts on and has an entrance into and is within a distance of one hundred feet from the following parkways: The Fens, etc., so that it will read as follows:

Section 1. No building or structure or any part thereof hereafter erected or altered which is within a distance of one hundred feet from and is on a lot of land which abuts on any of the following parkways: The Fens (excepting Charlesgate East and Charlesgate West, from a point one hundred feet north from their intersection with Commonwealth avenue to Charles river), Riverway, including Audubon road, from Brookline avenue to Beacon street, Commonwealth avenue from Arlington street to Kenmore street, Jamaicaaway, Olmsted Park, Arborway, Columbia road on the southerly side from Sumner street and on the northerly side from Boston street to Marine Park, South Boston, shall be used for a livery or public stable or public garage, or for any mechanical, mercantile or manufacturing purposes, nor, excepting churches and chapels, shall have the extreme height of said buildings or structure exceed seventy feet from the mean grade of the edgestone or sidewalk on the front facing said parkway, exclusive of such steeples, towers, domes, cornices, parapets, balustrades, sculptured ornaments, chimneys and roofs as the Board of Park Commissioners shall approve; and no roof on any of the aforementioned buildings shall be used for laundry or clothes drying purposes.

Also by substituting for the words "Section 5" the words "Section 3" and by substituting for the words "Section 6" the words "Section 4."

The reason for the request to change the words "on land which abuts on and has an entrance into and is within a distance of one hundred feet from" if it permits the Board of Park Commissioners to grant permits for the construction of buildings for mechanical, mercantile or manufacturing purposes within one hundred feet of a park road, provided there is no entrance entering on the Parkway, and the Board believes a mandatory condition should exist which would forbid granting such permission.

The reason for the request to change the section numbers is that sections 3 and 4 have been stricken out in the amendment in chapter 8 and the old sections 5 and 6 were not renumbered 3 and 4 in making said change.

Very truly yours,

DANIEL J. BYRNE,
Secretary.

Referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

GAS STREET LIGHTING CONTRACT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, March 31, 1924.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen—I am in receipt of the accompanying communication from the Commissioner of Public Works and, in accordance with his request, I am forwarding the same to you for your consideration of the pending gas street lighting contract.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Boston, March 20, 1924.

Hon. Michael H. Sullivan, Chairman, Boston

Finance Commission:

Dear Sir,—Forwarded to this office by the Finance Commission, under date of March 28, was a communication signed by the chairman of the commission, including recommendations and a report of the consulting engineer of the Finance Commission, all relating to the gas street lighting contract recently forwarded to the Mayor and City Council by the Commissioner of Public Works with the recommendation for its adoption.

The findings of the commission that the proposed contract will cost the city, during the next ten years, one million dollars over electric lighting is unqualifiedly false and probably is intended as a final drive to influence legislative action in connection with the tax limit. It is based upon the price assumed by your consulting engineer for incandescent lamps to replace the existing gas lamps.

At the recent tests of candle power for gas lamps you must have selected those which were to be immediately replaced, in order to get such ridiculously low candle power. We have a report showing a test comprising a total of twenty lamps selected at random in Roxbury, Dorchester and Jamaica Plain, conducted by the chief inspector of the Public Utilities Commission, three representatives of the Gas Company and one representative of the City of Boston, in which there were but three lamps deficient in candle power, while the total average of all twenty lamps was 63.89, so that evidently the method of testing lamps, which is identical with that in the previous contract, has not been impossible of application, and it is intended to establish in the city lighting service a method of ascertaining the candle power of any lamp actually in service, preparatory to having laboratory tests made, in order to have the proper candle power maintained.

The commission's recommendation that immediate steps be taken to replace gas street lighting system with electricity, based on the assumption of your engineer that this can be done under the existing contract with the Edison Company under a clause in the contract providing for additional lamps, is a fair sample of the commission's narrow interpretation of contract requirements. This contract never intended that 10,000 additional lamp circuits could be ordered of the Edison Company under their contract, which would require the expenditure of between one and two millions of dollars for extensions of series lighting circuits or of tremendous loss incident to the hand lighting and extinguishing of multiple incandescent lamps at the price in the contract. The findings of the Board of Gas and Electric Light Commissioners in connection with the arbitration under the terms of the 1914 Edison contract makes this statement:

"The agreement provides for extensions of the service, relocation of lamps and substitution of lamps of other types, but upon such terms as are manifestly designed not to increase thereby the relative cost to the company of supplying the service."

It has always been regretted by the writer that it seems impossible for the commission to take any fair grounds in the interpretation of contractual relations of the city and it is not to be wondered at that your recommendations are receiving decreased attention by the public and by executive and legislative departments.

The commission also misleads the public in its statement that the Commissioner of Public Works took no steps towards developing competition between gas and electric street lighting, as directed by his Honor the Mayor, and that the only proposal made by the Commissioner of Public Works was for that for street lighting by gas. There is but one company which can furnish gas at the city lamps; there is but one company which can furnish electricity for substitution. For the lighting, extinguishing and maintenance of gas lamps there was a possible chance for competition. The writer took up with the Edison Company at different times previous to advertising this contract the substitution of electric lamps and knew that this substitution could not properly be accomplished. If, however, your consulting engineer had intelligently consulted the Edison Company officials or obtained reliable information from them he would well know that the Edison Company in their multiple incandescents of 40 and 60 candle power are losing money on the present prices which are, respectively, $18.33 and $21.14 a year, and that the cost of lighting by hand switching method in use approximates a cost per lamp year almost equal to the total paid by the city and exceeds, for the 40 candle power lamp, your engineer's assumed price for the total cost of these lamps to the city under the new Edison contract which will have to be made this year. It is not known where your engineer obtained knowledge of what the price per lamp year would be under this new contract for multiple lamps, which assumed price apparently has not the backing of the company directly interested and which will have to furnish the service.

We are glad to see that your engineer is favorably impressed with the price received for lighting, extinguishing and maintenance but makes a recommendation for reduction in the rate for illuminating gas. His assumption that 3½ feet of gas per lamp hour is incorporated in the new contract, as against 3 feet in the old contract, is again wrong and misleading. It was 3½ feet in the old contract and is retained in the new contract. This eliminates his recommendation that the price for illuminating gas could be properly reduced.

The writer forwarded the gas lighting contract to the Mayor and the City Council with the recommendation for its approval only after having thoroughly investigated the possible substitution of electric lighting for gas lighting, as the writer is of the same opinion as your commission that electric lighting is far more acceptable to the community than gas lighting but until such time as the Edison Company feels that the extension of their service to include all existing gas lamps will not impose too great a financial burden upon the company and possibly interfere with the extension of household and commercial lighting, and that their willingness to assume this substitution becomes more apparent than at present, its consideration should be dropped and the present gas lighting contract approved and at the prices fixed therein.

Yours very truly,

J. A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

TERCENTENARY ANNIVERSARY.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 31, 1924.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—The tercentenary anniversary of the settlement of Boston will occur in 1930, and it is desirable that this important occasion be properly observed.

It is essential upon this important occasion, marking as it does three centuries of progress, that a program be considered for the succeeding century that will be of value to the people economically, commercially, industrially and socially.

The period of six years should prove ample for the consideration of problems, upon the equitable solution of which the happiness of the people and the development of the city so greatly depend, and that there may be neither undue haste nor unwarranted delay, I recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of $300 be and hereby is appropriated to be expended by the Public Celebrations Association Survey Committee for 1930, under the direction of the Mayor, for the purpose of a survey for the great tercentenary celebration in 1930, said sum to be charged to the Reserve Fund, when made.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

MUNICIPAL BUILDING, CHARLESTOWN.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 31, 1924.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—The residents of the Charlestown district are desirous that there be erected at the earliest possible date in this section of Boston a municipal building, where opportunity may be afforded for mental and physical development.

It being impossible to determine the final action which the Massachusetts State Legislature may take in the matter of the consideration of the needs of the City of Boston, it is in my opinion both desirable and advisable that steps be taken at once to acquire a site and draft the necessary plans for a municipal building, combining opportunities for library, gymnasium, baths, and suitable public meeting hall. Provided legislation now pending before the General Court of Massachusetts receives favorable consideration the necessary money to complete the construction of the building as proposed may be made available.

In the meantime it, in my opinion, is advisable that preliminary steps be taken, and I accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of $75,000 be and the same hereby is appropriated to be expended by the Superintendent of Public Buildings, for the purchase of a site and preparation of plans for a municipal building in the Charlestown district, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

Gentlemen,—I beg to return herewith without my approval order of the City Council adopted under date of March 10, 1924, and providing an appropriation in the sum of $500,000 for the erection of a new municipal building in Charlestown.

The annual demands for improvements of every character exceed many times over the amount available. Under the circumstances it is imperatively necessary that each project be considered on merit and the improvement which it is finally determined is the most necessary be given first consideration. This policy I have endeavored to pursue and as a consequence find it necessary from time to time either to postpone or finally reject what appear to be necessary and praiseworthy public works, as in the present case.

PROPOSED GAS LIGHTING CONTRACTS.

The following was received:

Boston, March 28, 1924.

To the Honorable the Mayor and City Council: Gentlemen,—On February 14, 1924, the Commissioner of Public Works advertised proposals for equipment and the lighting and extinguishing of gas lamps for the City of Boston, excluding Charlestown and Hyde Park, for a term of ten years beginning April 1, 1924.

Bids were opened on March 6, 1924. The only bid received was from the Boston Consolidated Gas Company, at $15.20 per lamp per year. On the same date the Boston Consolidated Gas Company submitted a price for furnishing gas at $11 per lamp per year, making a total cost to the city, in case the award is made to the Boston Consolidated Gas Company, of $26.20 per lamp per year. There would be in operation under this contract, if entered into, about 9,500 gas lamps.

Ten years ago the Boston Consolidated Gas Company entered into two contracts with the City of Boston to supply practically the same equipment and service as is now proposed, at a total cost of $21 per lamp per year, divided as follows: $12 for equipment maintenance and operation per lamp per year, and $9 for gas per lamp per year. During the term of the last contract, the Boston Consolidated Gas Company assigned to the Welsbach Street Lighting Company of America the contract which provided for equipment, maintenance and operation, the assignee company being the owner of the lamps and burners.

Section 12 of the contract now about to expire provides as follows:

"Extension of Contract.—The city may at its option, to be signified in writing not later than January 6, 1924, extend the term herein designated for the continuance of the contract for a period not exceeding six months, so that there may be no interruption of service in case the city enters into a contract involving other parties or different equipment, or both."

Until a new contract is finally awarded it will not be known whether the city is to have its street lighting service continued by the Boston Consolidated Gas Company or by some other company or agency. If the contract is concluded within six months following the first of April, 1924, between the same parties and for the same equipment the prices in the new contract will apply, beginning with April 1, 1924. If, however, a contract is concluded with a party other than the one holding the present contract, or for equipment other than that now in use under the present contract, then the prices reserved in the present contract should apply after April 1, 1924, until such new contract is in operation, providing it is not more than six months after April 1, 1924.

This construction seems clear from the language of the contract, and the city officials should not be hurried or stampeded into making a new contract by April 1, 1924, on the basis of the bid of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company.

It appeared in the public press in January, 1924, that his Honor the Mayor had instructed the Commissioner of Public Works to take steps for the making of a new contract in such a way as to develop some competition between gas and electricity in the matter of street lighting. It now appears, however, that the Commissioner of Public Works did not follow this direction, if it were given, because the only proposal made by the Commissioner of Public Works was for an equipment for street lighting by gas.

The commission cannot find that any effort or attempt was made by the Commissioner of Public Works to get bids for street lighting by electricity in competition with the gas service now in use.

The Finance Commission has caused an investigation to be made by its consulting engineer of gas lighting under the contract of ten years ago, which expires on April 1 next, and under the contract proposed under the bid opened March 6, 1924. After a study of the consulting engineer's report, a copy of which is hereto annexed, the Finance Commission makes the following findings and recommendations:

FINDINGS.

1. The proposed contract with the Boston Consolidated Gas Company will cost the city during the next ten years at least one million dollars over an electric lighting system.
2. Under the contract of ten years ago, now about to expire, the Boston Consolidated Gas Company engaged to maintain the lamps when in service at not less than sixty horizontal candle power for each single burner lamp. In a recent test made it was found that the company did not live up to this engagement. A test made of fifteen lamps in the Roxbury district showed only an average of nineteen candle power per lamp, or less than one third of the candle power contracted for. Some of the burners were giving less than two candle power, while none of those tested gave over fifty-four candle power.
3. In the past ten years there have been no improvements in the art of street lighting by gas. Pressure gas lighting, from which many improvements in gas lighting were expected ten years ago, has been abandoned.
4. It is common knowledge that the modern systems of lighting houses and apartments are exclusively by the use of electricity.
5. The method provided in the present contract, now about to expire, for testing candle power of street lamps on the part of the city is impossible of application. The same method appears in the proposed new contract.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

1. That the bid of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company for street lighting by gas, now under consideration, be rejected.
2. That immediate steps be taken to replace the present gas street lighting system with electricity.
3. That a contract for a period not exceeding one year be entered into with the Boston Consolidated Gas Company for maintaining the present service, with a provision for discontinuance upon the installation of electric service.

Respectfully submitted,

THE FINANCE COMMISSION,
by MICHAEL H. SULLIVAN,

Boston, March 20, 1924.

To the Finance Commission:

Gentlemen,—I submit herewith a report regarding the bid of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company for furnishing and operating gas lamps for street lighting purposes for a period of ten years from April 1, 1924.

There are in the entire city approximately 10,000 gas lamps for street lighting; 500 of these lamps are in the territory of the Charlestown Gas and Electric Company and are operated under a separate contract with that company.

The Charlestown company always agrees to whatever prices for street lighting are made by the Boston company and makes contracts on the same basis.

The proposals submitted by the Boston Consolidated Gas Company on March 6, 1924, contemplate the equipment and operation of the gas lamps at a price of $15.20 per lamp year, and the furnishing of the gas for $11 per lamp year, a total cost to the city of $26.20 per lamp year. For detailed consideration the matter will be divided as follows.

1. FORM OF CONTRACT AND SPECIFICATIONS.

1. Form of Contract and Specifications.
2. Analysis of costs and prices.
3. Character of the light to be furnished.

I am of the opinion that the contract now under consideration contains very serious defects, some of which will be discussed in the following:

In paragraph 6, time of lighting, it is provided:

"All lamps must be lighted within one hour from the time fixed in the schedule as the time for beginning, and must be extinguished within one hour from the time for beginning to extinguish."

This provision is not of great importance and, as a matter of fact, little attention has been paid to it under past contracts, except as regards the time of lighting. Under the present contract it is probably impossible of fulfillment. As will hereinafter appear, the bid of the Consolidated Gas Company contemplates that 110 lamps will be lighted as an average by each lamplighter. This number is probably more than is humanly possible as an average.

The most objectionable provision is found in paragraph 7, providing for candle power. The contract reads as follows:

"7. Candle Power. The lamps shall be maintained when in service at not less than sixty (60) horizontal candle power for single-burner lamps and one hundred (100) horizontal candle power for double-burner lamps."

"The city may at any time, by written notice, require the contractor to employ a competent and disinterested person connected with either the Massachusetts Institute of Technology or the Scientific Department of Harvard University, or such other person acceptable to both parties, to examine and test by standard laboratory methods under conditions which duplicate as nearly as possible the lamps as they burn on the streets, the apparatus employed in furnishing the lighting service herein provided for to ascertain whether or not the contractor is complying with the terms of this agreement, and for such purpose such person may have access at all reasonable times to the lamps, fixtures and other apparatus of the contractor used in carrying out this agreement. In case two tests of any lamps shall be made, separated by an interval of not less than one hour during any one night, and both of said tests shall prove that the contractor is not furnishing the light required by this agreement, then such lamp shall be deemed to be deficient, and a deduction shall be made from the charge in respect to such lamp as herein provided. If such tests show that the contractor is not furnishing the light required by this agreement, the contractor shall pay the expense of the examination and test provided for herein; otherwise the city shall pay such expense."

"For each lamp which shall be shown by the tests above specified to furnish less than sixty candle power for single-burner lamps and 100 candle power for double-burner lamps, but more than thirty candle power single-burner lamps and fifty candle power for double-burner lamps, a sum equal to 1-365 of the yearly contract price for such lamp for each night in which such deficiency occurs shall be deducted from the amounts due to the contractor. For each lamp found to give less than thirty candle power for single-burner lamps and fifty candle power for double-burner lamps, a sum equal to 2-365 of the yearly contract price for such lamp for each night on which such deficiency occurs shall be deducted from the amounts due the contractor. For each lamp reported out by the Police Department at its respective police stations or by the officials of the Public Works Department, a sum equal to 2-365 of the yearly contract price for such lamp for each night such failure occurs shall similarly be deducted from the amounts due the contractor. Such reports shall be made daily in writing, open to the contractor, and shall be regarded as final and binding upon the contractor except for errors proven or admitted."

"The standard of candle power to be employed shall be the illumination given by the recognized international standard candle."

In regard to the method of testing, i. e., in a horizontal plane from the burner of the lamp, it is well known that the Welsbach Company's lamp gives its greatest illumination above a horizontal plane, rather than below. By testing at a horizontal plane nearly the maximum possible candle power of light will be obtained, although the rays tested are thrown off in a direction which will give no illumination on the street surface where illumination is most desirable.

The second paragraph provides that the city, by written notice, may request the contractor to employ a competent person to test the lamps. The effect of this is to give the company notice that the lamps are to be tested and give them ample time to take suitable measures to bring their lamps to the required candle power either by cleaning, renewing of mantles, or temporarily increasing the gas pressure, as may be necessary. It would be extremely improbable that any lamps would be found in any way deficient in candle power.

Further, the contract provides that the test shall be made by standard laboratory methods. This provision without question means that the lamps shall be taken from the posts and tested in a laboratory in actual comparison with a standard candle. This procedure is an impossible one to carry out in practice, as no lamp could be taken from the post and transported to a laboratory without breaking the mantle. Moreover, if a lamp was suspected of giving less than the required candle power, it would be easy to break the mantle in removing the lamp from the post, thereby preventing any test from being made. On account of the variation in gas pressure in different portions of the city, the pressure at the laboratory would not be the same as at the post, the weather conditions would be different, and the laboratory tests would be absolutely of no value in determining the value of the illumination in service.

Again, in order that the penalty may be collected, two tests of any lamp separated by not less than one hour shall be made during any one night. This provision would involve taking down the lamp twice, testing it twice, and setting it up twice on the post during one night. Not only is this procedure impossible to accomplish in the limited space of one hour, but the ordinary workman cannot accomplish it in one night. In the laboratory tests no lamps would be found to be deficient because the gas pressure would be ample for the purpose, the lamps clean, the mantles new and the tests would be free from drafts of air or other influencing conditions of the weather. The specification is useless as a means of securing the contract candle power.

There is no assurance that the candle power of lamps under the new contract will be increased over the present average candle power, which seems to be below forty. A recently made test of fifteen lamps selected at random in the Roxbury district showed an average of nineteen candle power. No contract should be accepted by the city containing the proposed inadequate provisions. The section regarding candle power contained in the specifications for lighting streets, parks and alleys, marked 1911-7, page 11, paragraph 9, is far superior and should be included in the proposed contract. It is as follows:

"9. Candle Power. The lamps, complete with burners, mantles, chimneys and glassware must be maintained continuously when in service at not less than sixty candle power for single burners or 100 candle power for double burners measured under the conditions of service at an angle of about fifteen degrees below the horizontal, under all conditions of variation in the gas pressure. The standard candle power to be employed shall be the recognized international candle, as adopted by the United States Bureau of Standards."

"The city shall have the right at any time to test the lights to determine whether the specified candle power is being produced. In case two tests of any lamp, separated by an interval of not less than one hour during any one night, prove that the lamp is not furnishing the specified light, the lamp shall be considered as either dim or out for the night, unless such condition is caused by a broken or plugged service pipe or other interruption of the flow of gas to the burner."

"Any lamp found to give less than the specified candle power and more than thirty candle power, measured in the specified manner, shall be called dim, and any lamp similarly found to give less than thirty candle power shall be considered valueless and out."

"If tests show that 10 per cent or more of the lamps, selected at random, of any lamplighter's or equivalent district fall below the specified value, then all the lights in the affected districts shall be taken as being equal in candle power to the average of the lights so tested. The expense of such tests shall be borne by the contractor if the lights are shown to fall below the specified value, otherwise by the City."

Paragraph 11. Discontinuance of Lamps. This section provides that the number of lamps furnished under the contract shall not be at any time less than 95 per cent of the number of lamps in the service at the time of the approval of this contract by the Mayor. As the number of lamps in service at the present time is approximately 10,000, the contract will bind the city to approximately 9,500 gas lamps for the term of the contract. In my opinion no such provision should receive the confirmation of the Council. In the first place, there is no reason why there should be any guaranty. There will be no new apparatus for the Welsbach Company to provide, and therefore no additional fixed cost on account of new investment. As shown in previous reports of the Finance Commission, the plant of the Rising Sun Street Lighting Company, now the local branch of the Welsbach Company of America, has been paid for many times through city contracts and the city owes nothing on that account.

The only provisions which could be reasonably required by the contracting company, as regards the number of lamps, would be one that provided that if the city saw fit to replace gas lamps with other lamps, it should replace them in such numbers that undue hardships should not be placed on the company in distributing the remaining lamps among their employees. That is to say, a number of lamps should be replaced which would allow the company to reduce its force of lamplighters by a definite number of routes, and such discontinued routes should be in the same neighborhood, contiguous to each other; and another that provided that the price per lamp year should be automatically increased, as the total number of lamps was reduced, by an amount sufficient to compensate the company for the fixed charges due to supervision, office expenses, rental, etc., as such expenses would not decrease proportionally as the number of lamps decreased.

Paragraph 12. Extension of Contract. It appears that the Consolidated Gas Company's officials have claimed that the provision contained in the contract of 1914 was not binding, and that the refusal of the company to be bound by its provision allowing an extension of six months, pending the negotiation of a new contract, is the reason for the short time allowed for the consideration of the present contract. The interpretation of the Gas Company's officials, for whatever reason made, has apparently been acquiesced in by the Commissioner of Public Works. The fact is, however, that exactly the same wording has been adopted for the new contract. If the provisions in the old contract was not binding then the provision in the new contract should be remodelled, so as to be legal and binding.

Paragraph 14. Arbitration. This paragraph has been greatly changed, both in wording and in meaning as compared with the contract of 1914.

In the contract of 1914 the provision for arbitration provided for an investigation to be made by three experts, one chosen by each party, and the third by the two so chosen, "whenever the Commissioner of Public Works is of the opinion that a material reduction has been made in the cost of lighting and extinguishing lamps." It also provides for a reduced price to the city in case reduction in cost to the company is found; that is, the arbitration is to be held only at the option of the Commissioner of Public Works and for the purpose of securing a reduction in the price to the city.

In the new contract the provision has been changed so that arbitration may be had at the request of either party to the contract and the price may be increased to the Gas Company in case the experts find that the cost to the company of furnishing the service has been increased. This provision should not be accepted. The possibilities of manipulation of figures of cost are so great under the indefinite provision proposed as to practically nullify the contract as regards the price to the city, were the provision accepted.

The provision regarding depreciation of plant should be changed so that the charge for depreciation should apply only to automatic lighting devices. As previously stated, it is impossible that there should be any depreciation of the present plant, which has been paid for many times.

Again, if automatic lighting devices are installed, the city gets no rebate on account of savings in operation unless the savings exceeds one dollar ($1) per lamp year; if the savings exceeded one dollar per lamp year the city would be entitled to a rebate from the contract price of one half of the amount saved. This provision could be manipulated in various ways for the benefit of the company. For example, assume that the saving from automatic lighters for the preceding year was one dollar and fifty cents ($1.50) per lamp year; the company and the city would each be entitled to one half the saving, or seventy-five (75) cents each. If the company arranged its business, by raise of salaries, higher payments for supplies to its parent company or otherwise so that the saving appeared to be only one dollar ($1) per lamp year, in that case the company would save $1 and the city nothing per lamp year. The absurdity of the paragraph as a workable provision in favor of the city is apparent.

2. ANALYSIS OF COSTS AND PRICES.

The information upon which the following figures and estimates are based was obtained from Mr. Dana D. Barnum, president of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company, and Mr. J. A. Fitzgerald, superintendent of the local branch of the Welsbach Street Lighting Company of America.

The bid submitted to the City of Boston on March 6, 1924, was based upon the use of the present equipment of the Welsbach Company operated by hand lighting. The Welsbach Company has agreed to pay its lamplighters 55 cents per hour for five hours' work per day, or a total of $2.75, as compared with $2 per day under the old contract.* The cost for lighting per lamp day will be 2½ cents under the new contract, as compared with 21-10 under the old contract.

The following is an estimate of the probable cost to the Welsbach company of operating gas lamps by hand lighters under the proposed contract:

Estimate of Cost of Operating Gas Lamps for Street Lighting.

Labor, 55 cents per hour, 5 hours per day, 110 lamps per man.....	$9 12	per lamp year.
Gas.....	11 00	per lamp year.
Mantles, 8 at 18½ cents.....	$1 48
Domes, ¾ at 92 cents.....	46
Globes, ¾ at $1.50.....	1 13
Chimneys, 6½ at 12 cents.....	78
Burners.....	35
Painting and care of posts.....	30
Office, shop and garage.....	4 50	per lamp year.
Breakage.....	1 20	per lamp year.
Insurance, bonds, etc.....	20	per lamp year.
Rent of shop.....	15	per lamp year.
	2,500	25 per lamp year.
Total.....	$26 42	per lamp year.

It will be noted that the estimated cost of operation with hand lighting is 22 cents per lamp year above the price bid by the Consolidated Gas Company. This is without doubt due to the fact that the estimate does not contain exact items of expense whereas the Gas Company had such figures available. The estimate shows that the company has not included any item for cost of plant, or for rental or depreciation thereof, but only the running expenses. The Welsbach Company, the subcontractors, will derive a considerable profit through the manufacture and sale of mantles, burners, and other appurtenances.

The proposal of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company for furnishing gas is contained in a form of agreement submitted with the bid for equipment and lighting, a copy of which is hereto annexed and marked "Appendix A."

Analysis of the provisions of this agreement shows that the company has based its price upon the schedule at present in force for determining the net price of gas to large consumers. The quantity of gas to be used is based upon an average consumption of 3½ cubic feet per hour for each lamp for a total of 4,000 burning hours per year. The net price per thousand cubic feet will be 79.2 cents per thousand cubic feet.

Previous contracts for gas lighting have been made on the basis of 3 cubic feet per lamp hour. If the present contract had been made on that basis the cost of gas per lamp year would have been $9.51, instead of $11. There appears to be no adequate reason for the increase in gas consumption except the necessities of the subcontractor which will light and maintain the lamps. The time required to light an average number of 110 lamps per lamplighter will be greater than the time required to light ninety-five lamps under the old contract. Therefore the amount of gas burned during the lighting and extinguishing periods will be greater than under the old contract. It is apparent that the Gas Company has increased the estimate of the amount of gas consumed, so that a longer time may be taken by the subcontractor for lighting and extinguishing the lamps without pecuniary loss to the Gas Company.

The provision for arbitration does not apply to the price of gas. The matter of a reduction in the price of gas is contained in paragraph 3 of the agreement for furnishing gas, which is as follows:

"3. If, after the execution and before the expiration of this contract the company increases or decreases its maximum net price charged to its consumers, above or below $1.20 per thousand cubic feet, the price to be paid by the city for gas furnished under this contract shall be increased or reduced in the same proportion in which such price is increased or reduced, for any period during which such increase or reduction is in effect, based upon an average consumption of 3½ cubic feet per hour per lamp."

The meaning of the "maximum net price" is not clear, but taken in connection with the words "price of $1.20 per thousand cubic feet," it is apparent that the price to the city is to be changed in the same ratio that the maximum price to consumers is changed. Under this interpretation it is possible that the city would pay a higher price than other large consumers. The price of gas to such consumers is controlled, not only by the base price—which is the maximum price—but by a schedule including other conditions, depending upon the amount of gas used. The schedule now in effect for monthly bills is as follows:

First 25 M. cubic feet.....	$1.20 per M.
All over 25 M. cubic feet.....	1.05 per M.
Bills over $200.....	25 per cent discount.

Possible changes in the price of gas in excess of 25 M. cubic feet or in the rate of discount should be taken into account.

It should be made clear that the city is to get the most favorable terms given to any customer of the Gas Company and also the provision should apply only to a reduction in the price of gas.

Installation of Automatic Lighting Devices.

During the term of the existing contract there have been installed from time to time automatic lighting devices, so that there are now on street lamps approximately 1,000 of such devices, divided between the Charlestown, East Boston and Dorchester districts.

So far as information can be obtained, they are working satisfactorily. Analysis of the figures of the bid shows that the cost of the expert labor necessary for caring for lamps with automatic devices has increased in a much greater proportion than the cost of labor of the character required for hand lighting, and on this account the savings possible from automatic devices will be somewhat less than estimated under the previous contract. It still appears, however, that a very large sum of money could be saved by the installation of such devices.

The figures now available indicate that the annual cost for sinking fund, depreciation, interest, etc., for automatic lighting devices will be about $1.40 per lamp year. This figure assumes that the entire cost of the lighters will be paid for during the term of the contract. The cost for care, etc., will be 55 cents per lamp month, or $6.60 per lamp year, a total for lighting with automatic devices of $8 per lamp year, compared with $9.12 for hand lighting, or a saving in lighting cost alone of $1.12 per lamp year.

The schedule for electric lighting in Boston calls for a total of 3,828 hours burning by each lamp. The gas schedule has been roughly assumed as 4,000 hours on account of the delays from hand lighting that make it impossible to light all the lamps at once, as is possible with electricity, and for purposes of easy calculation. Under the gas lighting contract one hour is allowed for lighting the lamps and one hour for extinguishing. If the gas lamps were all lighted simultaneously with automatic devices, the lighting schedule could be reduced to 3,828 hours per year, the same as for electric lighting and the amount of gas used reduced to 3 cubic feet per lamp hour. The cost of gas for such a schedule would be $9.10 per lamp year, or $1.90 less than the bid submitted. It therefore appears that the total saving from the installation of automatic lighting devices would be as follows:

In lighting cost.....	$1 12	per lamp year.
In gas.....	1 90	per lamp year.
Total.....	$3 02	per lamp year.

On the basis of 10,000 lamps this would amount to $30,200 per year, or for the whole contract $302,000. It is apparent that it is through the installation of automatic lighting devices that the Welsbach Company will obtain the greater part of its profit, while the Gas Company will obtain its regular profit from the amount of gas furnished.

3. CHARACTER OF THE LIGHT TO BE FURNISHED.

Referring again to the provisions of the contract and specifications (paragraph 7 of the specifications, page 4):

The lamps shall be maintained in service at not less than sixty (60) horizontal candle power.

The fulfillment of this provision is, in my opinion, of doubtful possibility. It is reasonably certain that it will not be fulfilled by the contractor in case the contract is awarded. Many tests made in preparation for the contract of 1914 showed that the average candle power of the lamps was less than forty. Recent tests of a group of fifteen lamps in the Roxbury district showed variation in candle power of the different lamps from 1.6 as a minimum to fifty-four as a maximum, with an average of nineteen.

This result shows that the condition found ten years ago still exists and that in making a comparison of prices between the present gas lamps and the cost of installing incandescent filament electric lamps the fair comparison should be with the forty candle power electric lamp that actually gives that amount of illumination, rather than with the sixty candle power incandescent electric lamp, which is nominally in the same class as the gas lamps, as regards candle power, but which actually gives a greater average illumination.

The only effective argument that can be advanced for maintaining the present gas lamps is that under certain conditions the electric lamps are likely to become affected by various accidents, and when such accidents take place a considerable number of lamps are extinguished at the same time, whereas with the gas lighting system only individual lamps are put out of commission. Electric lights, particularly in districts where the wires are still overhead, are subject to brief interruptions by the breaking of wires, short circuits, etc., during sleet storms, and in the underground districts by the flooding of manholes and similar contingencies.

On the other hand, gas lamps are also unreliable in cold weather. The manufacturing processes of water gas which is now used for street lights, leaves some moisture in the gas. Under low temperature this moisture condenses and collects in service pipes and in lamp burners and freezes. Other elements composing the gas, ordinarily volatile, condense at low temperatures and obstruct the gas passages. After a long continued spell of cold weather a considerable percentage of the gas lamps will not burn constantly. During the last two weeks in February in some localities as much as 25 per cent of the total number of gas lamps were out for considerable periods.

On the whole there does not at the present time seem to be any great difference in reliability of operation between the electric lamps and the gas lamps.

The gas lamps under the proposed contract will cost the city, as already stated, $26.20 per lamp year, although this price is subject either to increase or decrease, as provided in the provision for arbitration.

So far as can now be determined, the prices for electric lamps under the contract that will have to be made in a few months will not exceed $18.42 per lamp year for the forty candle power lamp and $20.75 for the sixty candle power lamp. The cost for gas lighting will be, therefore, $7.78 more per lamp year than if the forty candle power electric lamp were adopted, and $5.45 per lamp year more than if the sixty candle power electric lamp were adopted. The total for the ten years of the contract will be an increase of $778,000 as compared with the forty candle power electric and $545,000 as compared with the sixty candle power electric. These figures are on the assumption that no changes will be made in the price of any type of lamp during the contract period.

I am of the opinion that there is greater probability of a reduction in the price of electric lighting than there is in the price of gas lighting, and that the above estimates are much less than the economies that could be obtained by the installation of electric lights. If electric lighting were adopted, the saving over gas lighting would be much greater than the figures indicate. As a practical matter, many gas lamps would be replaced by arc lights, or the larger incandescent units which cost much less per unit of volume of light furnished than the small incandescent types.

For example, the magnetite arc lamps give approximately 1,000 candle power illumination at a cost under the new schedule of $93.42 per lamp year. Compared with the sixty candle power incandescent lamp, at a cost of $20.75 per lamp year, the larger lamp at four times the cost of the smaller lamp gives seventeen times greater illumination.

I have been told by responsible officials of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company that the company does not desire to take over a large part of the lamps in the gas lighting district. This is on account of the large investment that would be involved. Another reason that may influence the attitude of the Edison Company is the extension of electric street lighting over the entire city would make a very large increase in the amount of electricity used at night without any corresponding increase of daylight use. This would unbalance the load at the generating stations and tend to uneconomical operation. I believe, however, that they can be obliged under their contract of December 7, 1914, to take over a large number, if not all, of the locations now lighted by gas. The electric lighting contract provides, page 7, section 7, as follows:

"Such additional lamps shall be installed without charge to the municipality as may be designated by the municipality at any time before notice is given to terminate this agreement, provided the company shall not be required to extend its lines more than 400 feet overhead or, in localities served by underground construction, more than 100 feet underground to reach any lamp."

Representatives of the Electric Light Company have admitted to me that a reasonable interpretation of this provision is that the company may be required to extend its lines 400 and 100 feet overhead and underground, respectively, for the installation of single lamps, and after such installation may again be required to extend the same distance, so that in effect the provision can be used to extend their system indefinitely.

The refusal of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company to recognize the right of the city to extend its contract for six months, pending investigation of a new contract, as provided on page 6, paragraph 12, of the contract of 1914, has prevented any adequate research to determine the future policy to be followed by the city in the matter of street lighting. From the information available, I believe that the following conclusions must be reached at the present time:

1. That the specifications accompanying the form of contract are so faulty as to be practically of no value in protecting the interests of the city, and no contract should be approved until the specifications are revised and made adequate for the purpose.

2. That the price for equipment and the lighting and extinguishing gas lamps submitted by the Boston Consolidated Gas Company on March 6, 1924, does not contain undue profits and is as low as can reasonably be expected if hand lighting is to be used, but that a considerable profit could be obtained from the installation of automatic lighting devices.

3. That the price of $11 per lamp year submitted by the Consolidated Gas Company, according to its supplementary agreement, is not warranted. The price of gas should be on the basis of 3 cubic feet consumed per lamp hour, as for previous contracts, and the price per lamp year should not exceed $9.51.

4. That, on account of the increased price of labor and materials and the increased cost of gas, the purchase of an equipment of gas lamps for street lighting purposes by the city is not advisable.

5. That the only method of securing lower prices and greater illumination in districts now lighted by gas lamps is a change to electric lighting.

6. That a change from gas lighting to electric lighting, if such change was found to be possible over the entire area of the city, would make a saving over the price in the proposed contract of between $50,000 and $100,000 per year, depending on the number of lamps installed and the percentage of arc lamps used to replace smaller units.

Respectfully submitted,

GUY C. EMERSON,
Consulting Engineer.

APPENDIX A.

This agreement executed this day of March, 1924, by and between the City of Boston, hereinafter referred to as the "City" acting through the Commissioner of Public Works, party of the first part, and the Boston Consolidated Gas Company, hereinafter referred to as the Company, party of the second part.

Witnesseth: That the said parties, each in consideration of the agreements and promises of the other, do hereby agree that the City shall purchase from the Company and the Company shall sell to the City, manufactured gas for the lighting of gas lamps in certain streets, parks, alleys and public places, upon the following terms and conditions:

1. The Company agrees to furnish to the City delivered at the lamp posts connecting with the mains of the Company, all the manufactured gas required for lighting with single burner, incandescent mantle lamps, such streets, parks, alleys and public places as may from time to time be designated by the City during the continuance of this contract.

2. The City agrees to pay for the gas so furnished by the Company, at the rate of Eleven Dollars per lamp per year for single burner, sixty candle power lamps.

It is understood that the hours of lighting shall not exceed four thousand hours per year.

The number of lamps for which gas is furnished by the Company for any year or portion thereof shall be determined by the Company and the official of the City in charge of street lighting.

The payments due under this contract shall be made to the Company in monthly installments, on or before the tenth of each month, beginning in the second month of the period of the contract.

3. If, after the execution and before the expiration of this contract the Company increases or decreases its maximum net price charged to its consumers, above or below $1.20 per thousand cubic feet, the price to be paid by the City for gas furnished under this contract shall be increased or reduced in the same proportion in which such price is increased or reduced, for any period during which such increase or reduction is in effect, based upon an average consumption of 3½ cubic feet per hour per lamp.

4. This contract shall be in force for a period of ten years, beginning on the first day of April, 1924, and terminating on the last day of March, 1934.

In witness whereof the City of Boston has caused this agreement to be executed in its name and behalf by its Commissioner of Public Works, and the Boston Consolidated Gas Company has caused this agreement to be executed in its name and behalf by Dana D. Barnum, its President thereunto duly authorized.

LOAN FOR WILLIAM EUSTIS PLAYGROUND.

The following was received:

Boston, March 29, 1924.
To the Honorable the Mayor and City Council:
Gentlemen,—On March 18, 1924, his Honor the Mayor sent the following communication and loan order to the City Council:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 18, 1924.
To the City Council:
Gentlemen,—The residents of the Roxbury district for many years have requested an appropriation sufficient to place in suitable condition the William Eustis Playground and I am extremely desirous that their wishes be gratified. The accompanying estimate by the Park Commission sets forth in detail the amount that in their opinion is necessary for this work, and I respectfully recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.
City of Boston,
Park Department, March 13, 1924.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—At a meeting of the Board of Park Commissioners held Thursday, March 13, 1924, it was voted that the city government be requested, through your Honor, to appropriate a sufficient amount of money to improve the William Eustis Playground. The estimate for the amount required is as follows:

Extension of playground by the purchase of 86,318 square feet of land, assessed valuation	$40,000
Building of bleachers to seat about 2,500 people	32,000
Grading, filling and development of playground	10,000
Children's corner, shelter, apparatus, etc.	5,000
Building of division fence.....	13,000
Total	$100,000

Very respectfully yours,
JAMES B. SHEA,
Chairman.

Ordered, That the sum of $100,000 be and the same hereby is appropriated to be expended under the direction of the Park Commissioners, for the extension and improvement of William Eustis Playground, and that to meet said appropriation, the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, upon request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

It appeared in evidence at a hearing held by the Finance Commission on this matter that the two parcels of land which the Park Commissioners desire the city to purchase for the extension of the William Eustis Playground have been vacant for a great many years. About two years ago a mortgage held by the trustees of the Owen estate, the larger of the two parcels, was foreclosed and the property bought in at the foreclosure sale for about one half of the assessed value. The auctioneer was Richard F. Andrews, formerly one of the Street Commissioners of the city.

In August, 1923, Mr. Andrews wrote the chairman of the Park Commission as follows:

R. F. Andrews & Co.,
2343 Washington Street,
Boston, August 1923.

James B. Shea, Park Commissioner, City of Boston:

My dear Mr. Shea,—I own two parcels of land adjoining the William Eustis Playground containing 90,936 feet, taxed for $38,414.40. As this section is rapidly growing in population I thought it would be a benefit to the city to acquire this tract to go with the playground site, as you will see by the pencil sketch inclosed that the city lines are irregular and having no frontage on Massachusetts avenue. If the city cares to consider the proposition of an exchange of the old greenhouse site on East Cottage street, running through to Massachusetts avenue, containing 102,581 feet, for my land as above indicated at assessed values, I would be glad to hear from you.

Yours very truly,

R. F. ANDREWS.

As a matter of fact, when Mr. Andrews wrote this letter he did not own either of the parcels of land that he offered to sell to the city. He had an agreement to purchase the smaller of the two parcels, which agreement he later allowed to lapse.

On August 22, 1923, the Deputy Park Commissioner wrote Mr. Andrews as follows:

Boston, August 22, 1923.

Messrs. R. F. Andrews & Co., 2343 Washington Street, Boston, Mass.:

Dear Sirs,—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter of recent date relative to land adjoining the William Eustis Playground, and would say that this matter will be taken up at the next meeting of the Board of Park Commissioners to be held this week.

Very truly yours,

Deputy Commissioner.

According to the informal records of a meeting of the Park Commission held on that day, August 22, 1923, the matter of Mr. Andrews' proposition came before the Board of Park Commissioners and was disposed of on the ground that the commissioners were not interested in the proposition and had no authority to effect the trade proposed.

On September 7, 1923, Mr. Andrews agreed in writing to purchase the Owen estate for the sum of $15,642, of which $500 was paid in cash and the balance was to be paid in cash upon the passing of the title. Later Mr. Andrews requested that he be relieved from paying all cash, whereupon the trustees took a mortgage back for the entire purchase price, less $1,000 which was paid in cash by Mr. Andrews.

When Mr. Andrews entered into the agreement with the trustees of this estate, he represented himself as a broker and when the sale went through, although he took the property in his own name, a broker's commission of $782.10 was allowed. R. F. Andrews & Co., which it was agreed, however, should not be paid until the mortgage which was given by Mr. Andrews was paid.

In the meantime, the agreement which Mr. Andrews had made for the purchase of the smaller parcel had lapsed, on account of his default, and the $500 which he had paid as a deposit was forfeited. But on September 2, 1923, Mr. Andrews again agreed to buy the smaller lot at the original price, namely, $8,367, of which $500 was paid in cash and the balance on a mortgage to run for six months. The owner of this lot agreed to pay the firm of R. F. Andrews and Co. a commission of $418.35, which was not to be paid until the mortgage given by Mr. Andrews was paid.

The two members of the Park Commission other than the chairman testified that they knew very little about the matter; that some seven or eight months ago there was some talk of extending the William Eustis Playground, but nothing was done at that time or since, until March 13, 1924, when it was proposed by the chairman that the playground be enlarged by the purchase of these two parcels but nothing was said about the cost of this land or that it was owned by Mr. Andrews. In fact neither commissioner knew of the items appearing in the letter of the chairman that was sent to his Honor the Mayor until they were brought to their attention by the Finance Commission.

The chairman of the Park Commission in his communication to the Mayor stated that the assessed value of the land to be taken was $40,000. As a matter of fact the assessed value is only $32,200. There is no evidence and no record in the Park Department that the matter of extending this playground was considered by the Park Commissioners or his Honor the Mayor, or that the extension of this playground had been considered prior to the receipt of Mr. Andrews' letter last August; nor is there any record in the Park Department that any study or consideration had been given to this matter by the Park Commissioners from August 22, 1924, when the Board rejected the matter, to March 13, 1924, when the Park Commission requested the City Council to appropriate from the loan the sum of $100,000. And even on March 13, 1924, the two commissioners other than the chairman did not have brought to their attention the assessed value of the land to be taken or who the owner was.

Mr. Richard F. Andrews, formerly Street Commissioner, and at the present time employed by the Street Commissioners as one of the two real estate experts on land values in the Cambridge and Court streets widening, testified before the Finance Commission that unless he received $50,000 from the city for this land, which is more than twice what it cost him, and in which to date he has invested but $2,000, he would take the matter before a jury. He also testified that he bought the land for investment because in his judgment values in that section were rising. Yet his letter of last August showed him wanting to sell it to the city even before he purchased it. He also testified that he did not know what the city would be willing to pay for the land until he saw the item of $40,000 in the Mayor's loan order.

Notwithstanding the necessity which the Park Commissioners believe exists for enlarging and improving the William Eustis Playground, the Finance Commission believes that the methods attempted to be used to pay an excessive price for land taken for public use, in order to enable an individual to make money at the expense of the city, should be repudiated. It is clear that the chairman of the Park Department did not act with entire frankness toward his associates in making the request for this loan. It appears also that the loan order was sent to the Council by his Honor the Mayor without having checked the assessed value of the land to be taken and without ascertaining what the land could be purchased for in contrast with similar orders in the past. Moreover, the initial step in this matter seems to have been taken by an ex-member of the Board that is charged with taking all land needed by the city for public uses and who is now employed by that same Board as an expert on land values in behalf of the city.

The Finance Commission recommends:

1. That the City Council refuse to approve this loan.
2. That the Mayor issue a general order to all department heads that in the future when they require land to be taken for public purposes they inform the Mayor who the actual owners of the property are and the price at which the owners are willing to sell their property to the city.

Respectfully submitted,

THE FINANCE COMMISSION,

Chairman.

Report accepted, said order passed.

11. Report on message from the Mayor (referred today) and order appropriating $2,500 to be expended by the Boston Music Committee—that the same ought not to pass.

The report was accepted, and the question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. LANE.—Mr. President, I don't think this Council should accept the report of the committee on that appropriation. I think perhaps some of the members in looking over the list of members of the committee did not care for the make-up, but, at the same time, if one hundred and fifty odd cities in this country have adopted this music week and are going to make appropriations, with the understanding that the celebration is to be held in the numerous cities simultaneously, I think it would be a lasting disgrace to the City of Boston if it refused to appropriate the small amount of $2,500 to further this cause. Boston has always been known as the home of culture, education and music. We have our Boston Conservatory of Music, one of the finest institutions of the kind in the country, which draws from all parts of this country and Canada, and we have our Symphony Orchestra, one of the greatest institutions the country has ever known, due to the generosity of the late Maj. Henry L. Higginson. I do think, if the members of this Council will think seriously on this matter, they will not accept the report of the committee, but will pass the $2,500 appropriation.

Coun. WATSON.—Mr. President, I think I agree with Coun. LANE. I think it is worth $2,500 to the city to participate in this music week. If all the great cities of the country are to be included, I think it would be a mistake for Boston, one of the largest cities, not to be counted in. I don't know much about the merit of the proposition or anything about the committee, but I think this amount, $2,500, would be well invested from the standpoint of good publicity. I think the failure to pass the appropriation will be a bad piece of publicity for the city. I shall vote against accepting the committee report and shall vote for the order when it comes up.

Coun. HEALEY.—Mr. President, I, too, desire to be recorded as in favor of this appropriation. Boston has for a long time been considered the home of the fine arts on this side of the water, the Athens of America, and in music the Florence of America. The Boston Symphony Orchestra has a worldwide reputation. For the first time Boston is now called upon to make a small appropriation to celebrate music week, and it would seem to be a step backwards in the fine arts, in the cultivation of which Boston has always been so famous, to reject this order. I, too, side with Coun. Lane and Coun. Watson in favoring this appropriation of $2,500.

Coun. MORIARTY.—Mr. President, I am not against the appropriation, but I feel that if Boston is going to appropriate money for a music week there should be a representative committee to represent Boston, and I want to say frankly that I don't think it is a representative committee. I am not going to vote to appropriate money to be handled by a committee that is not representative of the citizens of Boston. If the Mayor desires to send in a representative committee for the purpose of celebrating music week, I shall be glad to vote for the appropriation. Otherwise, I will vote against it.

Coun. GILBODY.—Mr. President, I feel that the money should come from the School Committee, the fathers of the proposition, and not from the City Council or the city treasury.

The report was accepted and the order was rejected:

Yeas—Coun. Brickley, Healey, Lane, Watson—1.

Nays—Coun. Donoghue, Gilbody, Moriarty, Purcell, Walsh—5.

Coun. HEALEY.—Mr. President, I move a reconsideration, and will then ask that the matter be laid on the table.

Coun. MORIARTY.—Mr. President, I rise to a point of order. No business intervening, the motion to reconsider is not in order.

Coun. WATSON.—Mr. President, I don't think Coun. Walsh was present when that vote was taken.

President DONOGHUE.—Coun. Moriarty's point of order is not well taken.

Coun. MORIARTY.—Doesn't business have to intervene before a motion to reconsider is made?

Coun. DONOGHUE.—There is no necessity for business intervening, according to the rules of this Council.

Coun. MORIARTY.—Mr. President, I move that we do now adjourn.

Coun. WATSON.—Mr. President, Coun. Walsh was not present when that vote was taken.

Coun. HEALEY.—Mr. President, may I inquire as to the vote on the motion I made?

President DONOGHUE.—Coun. Healey made a motion to reconsider our action, and I recognized Coun. Watson, who was talking on the floor. Up to the present time no action has been taken on the motion to reconsider.

Coun. HEALEY.—Mr. President, may I request—

President DONOGHUE.—Of course, if Coun. Moriarty desires to make a motion to adjourn, I will have to entertain his motion, both Coun. Healey and Coun. Watson having spoken.

Coun. MORIARTY.—Mr. President, I move you that we do now adjourn.

Coun. WATSON.—Mr. President, I understand that Coun. Healey made a motion to reconsider.

Coun. HEALEY.—A motion to adjourn, of course, is always in order, as I trust the councilor will admit.

President DONOGHUE.—Coun. Moriarty moves that we do now adjourn.

The motion to adjourn was declared lost.

Coun. MORIARTY.—Mr. President, I doubt the vote. I serve notice that I am going to stay here and that I am going to talk and tire you out. That is all. If you want to stay here, all right.

President DONOGHUE.—The vote is doubted. The Clerk will call the roll.

The Clerk called the roll, and the motion to adjourn was declared lost, yeas 3, nays 4:

Yeas—Coun. Brickley, Moriarty, Purcell—3.

Nays—Coun. Donoghue, Healey, Lane, Watson—4.

President DONOGHUE.—The question now comes on Coun. Healey's motion to reconsider the rejection of the order.

Coun. HEALEY.—Mr. President, I am going to take up only just a minute. I asked for reconsideration feeling that we should not have voted as we did; and, without making any speech, if reconsideration prevails, I would move that the matter be laid on the table for consideration next week. I would so move.

Coun. MORIARTY.—Mr. President, I don't think any councilor has a right to think for me, and when the councilor says he does not think we should have voted as we did, I think he has no right to say that. He has a right to be held responsible for his own vote, and that is all. I feel that I have just the same right that he has. I don't feel that I am in a position to vote on this appropriation, having in mind the committee that appears here, for the purpose of celebrating music week in the City of Boston. I do not feel that the committee is a representative committee, one representing the citizens of Boston. Therefore, I do not think it will be a Boston music week. I think it will be Back Bay music week, and Back Bay music week only. They have started, and their committee meetings are now being held in the Boston Public Library which, as every member here knows, is controlled by Simmons College in the Back Bay. It has got so now that hardly any girl can get employment in the Boston Public Library unless she is a graduate of Simmons College or some like college. Even the girls who are graduated from our public schools and high schools are not eligible for a job in the Boston Public Library. Nevertheless, we are going to appropriate money for the purpose of having a Back Bay music week, not a Boston music week. If the Mayor desires on next Monday to send in a committee of representative citizens, I shall be glad to vote for the appropriation; but with the committee shown to me today, I will not vote for the appropriation.

President DONOGHUE.—The question comes on Coun. Healey's motion to reconsider the rejection of the order. Coun. Gilbody doubted the vote. The Clerk will call the roll.

Reconsideration of the rejection of the order was lost, yeas 3, nays 4:

Yeas—Coun. Healey, Lane, Watson—3.

Nays—Coun. Donoghue, Gilbody, Moriarty, Purcell—4.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

On motion of Coun. Healey reconsideration of all action today was refused.

The Council voted at 5.57 p. m., on motion of Coun. HEALEY, to adjourn to Monday, April 7, at 2 p. m.

NEW POLICE HEADQUARTERS BUILDING TO BE ONE OF CITY'S HANDSOMEST STRUCTURES.

PLANS HAVE BEEN COMPLETED AND WORK WILL SOON BEGIN ON BUILDING TO BE LOCATED IN PARK SQUARE DISTRICT.

PROPOSED BOSTON POLICE HEADQUARTERS BUILDING WHICH WILL BE LOCATED ON A SITE AT BERKELEY, STUART AND STANHOPE STREETS.

Plans have been completed for the construction of the new police department headquarters building on the area bounded by Berkeley, Stuart and Stanhope streets, in the Park square section. Work on the structure will start in the early summer.

The building will be seven stories high with basement and sub-basement in Italian Renaissance style, the material being limestone on the Berkeley and Stuart street facades and light colored brick on the Stanhope street and court sides. The interior will be of modern office building design, with sanitary floors and fireproof construction throughout.

All of the police headquarters departments will be housed, including photographs and finger prints, automobile and carriage inspection, superintendents, inspectors, women police, signal service, clerks, etc. Special quarters for the Listing Board, Trial Board, radio and the Police Commissioner will be provided.

The main facade will be on Berkeley street with a set-back of about twenty feet. On the Stanhope street side a ramp entrance is provided leading down to a large open parking space at basement grade for department automobiles. The plans were drawn by Ritchie, Parsons & Taylor.

CITY MAY BROADCAST PARK BAND MUSIC.

Mayor Curley proposes to install a radio broadcasting station at the Parkman bandstand on Boston Common and put receiving stations with loud speakers at all the other parks, bathing beaches and other public places, in order that enjoyment of musical and oratorical programs in the center of the city may be extended to all the citizens. Such a project, he estimates, will cost between $15,000 and $20,000.

He set the proposition afoot by a letter of suggestion to Park Commissioner James B. Shea, reading as follows:

"Public interest in radio transmission has developed to such a degree that in my opinion it would be a good investment for you to install broadcasting apparatus at the Parkman bandstand on Boston Common. The position taken by organizations of musicians generally, namely, that they are entitled to proper return for services rendered, will unquestionably have a tendency to restrict this most enjoyable feature of radio service. That the public may have the opportunity to enjoy summer concerts I recommend that a broadcasting station be established out of the income from the Parkman fund and trust that the Park Commission will share my views as to its necessity."

MAYOR CURLEY'S ZONING BILL WINS.

The Legislative Committee on Mercantile Affairs have reported a bill, based on the petition of Mayor Curley, providing for the zoning of buildings in Boston.

There are only a few minor changes in the bill as originally reported from studies made by the City Planning Board. Here and there boundary lines were shifted from original drawings, and one new provision was inserted providing for vision clearance on corners, varying from 5 to 20 feet.

Under the provisions of the bill the height of buildings would be restricted in given districts to 35 feet, 40 feet, 65 feet, 80 feet and 155 feet. Besides the matter of height, restrictions would apply to buildings hereafter erected for industrial, general business, local business, general residence and single residence purposes.

The single residence district, which comes under the 35-foot height limit, would be bounded, roughly, by Jamaica Pond, the Arboretum, Cottage avenue, West Roxbury, and the Brookline line.

The general residence district, under the 35, 40 and 65 foot limit, is bounded by Dudley street, Roxbury, Savin Hill and Ashmont, Germantown and the area embraced in the single residential district. The greater part of Brighton is in the general residential district as is South Boston.

The local business districts are located in the general and single residence districts and in the industrial districts where they now are.

In the busiest sections of the suburbs there are also general business areas. These also are located in the downtown district and in Charlestown and East Boston.

The industrial sections are located in Charlestown, East Boston, along Atlantic avenue, along the waterfront in the vicinity of the Fish Pier, the northeast end of Brighton, along the tracks of the New Haven road, in Roxbury, and the easterly end of Massachusetts avenue.

The 35-foot height limit applies to the outskirts, in Mattapan, Hyde Park, West Roxbury, Roslindale and Brighton. The 40-foot limit applies in South Boston, and in the district bounded by Dudley street, Ashmont, Wellington Hill, Forest Hills Cemetery and Jamaica Pond.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

MAYOR MOVES TO PREVENT SERIOUS FIRES.

Mayor Curley sent the following letter April 9:

MR. JAMES A. BAILEY, Commissioner, Metropolitan District Commission, State House, Boston:

MY DEAR MR. BAILEY,—I have conferred with the Fire Commissioner, the chief of the Fire Department, the Commissioner of Public Works and the division engineer in charge of Water Service in the Public Works Department, relative to the conditions responsible for the loss of the Bennett School in Brighton on the night of April 8.

In the opinion of the municipal authorities, provided a better system of co-ordination existed between the City of Boston Fire Department and the Metropolitan Water Service, it might have been possible to have avoided a loss as great as that sustained at the Brighton fire.

In other words, provided a system obtained whereby on the sounding of the third alarm the officials in charge of the Metropolitan Water Pumping Station covering the district where the alarm is sounded for fire would immediately turn on the full pressure. In the case of the Brighton fire additional pressure was not delivered to the water mains serving the fire until a request had been made in person by the chief engineer of the Water Division.

With a view to preventing a recurrence of conditions responsible for the loss in the Brighton district fire on April 8, I would greatly appreciate your arranging a conference for the working out of a detailed program with the Commissioner of Public Works Joseph A. Rourke, Engineer in Charge of the Water Division Christopher C. Carven, Fire Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn and Chief of the Fire Department John O. Taber.

made to this department for information regarding the public baths and gymnasiums maintained by the city, and with regard to municipal indoor concerts and band concerts; also information relative to Mt. Hope, Evergreen, Fairview and other public cemeteries owned by the City of Boston.

TO THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE, 15 Beacon street, for information relative to the operation of the schools of the city.

TO THE SCHOOLHOUSE COMMISSIONERS, Room 1007, City Hall Annex, for information as to the construction and repair of school buildings.

TO THE BOARD OF EXAMINERS, Room 1001, City Hall Annex, for information regarding the licensing of persons having charge or control of the work of construction, alteration, removal or tearing down of buildings.

TO THE WIRE DIVISION OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT, Fire Department Headquarters, 60 Bristol street, for all information relative to the erection of poles, the building of conduits, the installation of all overhead and underground construction and electrical apparatus, as well as for general information relative to the entire division. TO ROOM 906, CITY HALL ANNEX, for permits for the installing of wires and electrical apparatus within buildings in the City of Boston, and for the payment of fees incident to the granting of the privileges above named, and which must be paid in advance.

Trusting that it will be possible to arrange this conference at an early date and as a consequence of it that a system of co-ordination may be developed whereby added protection may be possible to property located in Boston, I remain,

Very truly yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

MAYOR PLEADS WITH PRESIDENT TO SAVE SHOE INDUSTRY OF STATE.

WRITES STIRRING LETTER OF PROTEST AGAINST SENDING ORDER FOR MAKING OF ARMY SHOES TO FORT LEAVENWORTH PRISON WHEN WHOLE INDUSTRY SEEMS TO BE LEAVING EAST.

His Honor the Mayor sent the following communication on April 10 to President Coolidge:

HON. CALVIN COOLIDGE, President of the United States, Washington, D. C.:

DEAR MR. PRESIDENT.—The industrial and commercial conditions of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts at this hour excite the concern of its citizens; many factories are idle; others are functioning only three days a week; unemployment is already large and is increasing in volume. It is generally believed that only the active interest and strong influence of the President of the United States can relieve this dangerous situation and allay the public's anxiety.

A letter to the daily press from the executive secretary, Mr. Slomp, advises the Massachusetts public that the product of the convict labor of the Leavenworth Federal Prison is to be used in supplying the United States Army with shoes with the consent and approval of the President. The President of the United States, by reason of his long residence and public service in this Commonwealth, is measurably familiar with the shoe industry of Massachusetts and may know that a number of its shoe concerns specialize in the fabrication of army shoes and are dependent upon that specialty.

It is to be sincerely hoped that the citizens of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts may not be compelled to enter into competition with the convict labor of any federal prison; such competition would be unfair, un-American, economically immoral and injurious to free, American labor; and no enlightened American administration can afford to sacrifice the hopes, homes and happiness of its law-abiding and industrious workers to meet the exigencies and economies of its penal programs. Such a policy is in contravention of the spirit and ethics of our American democracy, and certainly repugnant to the principles and practices of this republic. Moreover, any policy that deliberately deprives the American worker of his work and wages in the interest of a spurious economy and a criminal class can only rouse the justifiable indignation of the honest workers who constitute the great majority of our citizenry.

I sincerely trust that the contemplated action of the War Department will be arrested and the consent and approval of the President be withdrawn upon maturer reflection. The laws and policies of the Medes and Persians do not obtain in the United States; and I suggest with all proper respect that it is entirely within the competency of the President of the United States to reverse any decision of his own that upon further consideration he finds detrimental to the public good.

The shoe industry of Massachusetts is one of the most useful, important and influential economic elements in the life of this industrial Commonwealth; it is neither wise nor prudent to imperil its existence and injure its prosperity; those who have invested their substance in the industry and the workers who live by its operation view with alarm the action of the federal prison authorities, and they very naturally look to the President of the United States to safeguard their industrial interests from such ill-advised policy and criminal competition.

It is no light matter to turn a law-abiding industrious body of workers into the street, condemning them to idleness and their families to needless anxiety and positive suffering; and I feel that he who as Governor of the Commonwealth called on its people to have faith in Massachusetts, as President of the United States can broaden that splendid apothegm into a compelling faith in the republic and its administrative bona fides.

Massachusetts, despite its wealth, population, importance and representation in the national capital, has suffered unwarrantably by the neglect of Congress, the indifference of the administration, the usurpations of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the contempt, or worse, of the United States Shipping Board; and this combination of circumstances has been extremely injurious to the progress and prosperity of the Port of Boston, and the evil has reacted detrimentally to the interest of this Commonwealth and all New England. The conditions complained of could have been remedied by Congressional activity or administrative action, but neither have been forthcoming; and we turn now to the President of the United States, so long identified with the executive branch of the Commonwealth, for help and sympathy.

Out of the many millions appropriated for the rivers and harbors of the country a pitiful $40,000 is allotted to Boston. For lack of a modest sum of money a cargo of valuable machinery needed for the completion of the equipment of the army base and to add to its commercial efficiency has been lying at the dock rusting and unused. The Army Base itself has been leased to a Philadelphia rather than to a Boston concern, a reversal of the policy followed in every port where such an instrumentality was constructed.

Now comes this matter of the blow aimed at the shoe industry of Massachusetts, the immediate, impelling reason for this appeal to the administrative and executive head of the United States.

I sincerely trust the President of the United States may find time and opportunity to come to the aid of this Commonwealth, which so continuously honored and trusted him.

I have the honor to subscribe myself,

Very truly yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

PRAISES THE WORK OF MASONIC ORDER FOR BENEFITS OFFERED HUMANITY.

MAYOR CURLEY DELIVERS STIRRING ADDRESS AT THE GATHERING OF MASONIC CLUBS ON EVENING OF SATURDAY, APRIL 5.

Mayor Curley delivered the following address at the gathering of the Masonic Clubs, Saturday, April 5:

It is a pleasure to be here tonight at this gathering of Masonic brothers. "It's always good weather when good fellows get together," when members of a common fraternity step outside the secrecy and solemnity of the lodge room to meet more as men than as Masons, and discuss and plan the things that are useful and beneficial to our fellow men of all kinds and conditions.

The meeting has an added significance since it is held on the eve of Jefferson Week, of Thomas Jefferson, great man, great patriot, great statesman, a Mason and lover of his kind, who was born 181 years ago. No more appropriate time could have been selected for this reunion of Masonic clubs than this Jefferson time, when all the world of America will recall this immortal, this founder and father of the republic, this father of democracy and founder of the Democratic Party, this writer of the Declaration of Independence and preacher of human equality, who has written his name and fame imperishably into the history of the United States and the annals of humanity.

It was the writing, the preaching and practice of Jefferson that gave that character and color to American growth and expansion, that gave substance to the principles of our government, that taught that genuine equality of race and creed which has been our saving grace and given the American idea, the American creed, the promise of security and indestructibility.

Like your great Masonic progenitor, Thomas Jefferson, you have been loyal to humanity and human need; you have wearied not in well-doing; and like him your generosity and philanthropy have been exercised and administered in the broadest spirit; and while Masonic membership has furnished the benefactors, mankind of every kind and description has been the beneficiaries of your benefactions.

It is a very real pleasure for me tonight to meet the representatives of the Mayor of Philadelphia, the Hon. Freeland Kendrick, a man with a golden dream, with a vision of splendid human good, who is fittingly called the father of that magnificent philanthropy born in his heart and brain and materialized by Masonic munificence in the establishments of hospitals in America and Canada for the care of crippled children regardless of creed, color and all else, except their common humanity and need.

In this hurrying, hustling and seemingly heartless age it is a pleasure to meet a man such as he, who has kept his mind open and his heart clean, who has demonstrated that even though the age "Like the toad be ugly and venomous, it yet wears a precious jewel in its head," and who in the clamor of a city's business and politics has been able to catch the voice of the Divine Master and translate into action his words, "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not, for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

I want to salute as I honor, Freeland Kendrick, who has done his share in bringing the Kingdom of Heaven to earth. You Masons may well be proud of him.

If I was asked to tell what I conceive to be the basic difference between Christianity and the paganism that preceded it I would say the recognition of the value and dignity of human kind, the necessity of philanthropy toward our fellows, the exaltation of motherhood and home, and our endless duty toward childhood. Christianity has never failed in these elemental duties of its religion and, while philanthropy has always been the striking characteristic of it in all ages, it has reached its highest and noblest expression here on this continent, where, despite cavaliers and cynics, wealth has not forgotten its duties and responsibilities. The response of America yesterday to the appeals of a torn and shattered world must always constitute one of the noblest chapters in human history; and this Boston community finds in the gifts and benefactions of its sons, in the wise and useful aims and ends of such philanthropy, a constant source of pride and satisfaction.

In view of the things I have just touched upon it seems eminently fitting that Boston should be selected as the Massachusetts city in which to hold an assemblage of Masonic clubs for in no other city in the world has philanthropy been so highly developed. Here indeed has the obligation that man should hold for his fellowman been exemplified. This structure in which we are assembled, home of the Symphony Orchestra, will ever remain a memorial to the generosity of its greatest patron whose contributions in a period of twenty years represented nearly a million dollars, that great American patriot Maj. Henry L. Higginson.

Within sight of this structure may be found the Forsyth Dental Infirmary representing an endowment of $3,000,000, for the treatment, gratis, of the teeth, adenoids and tonsils of Boston children. In the adjoining square may be found the million dollar temple reared to art, gift of Robert Dawson Evans, and just beyond the Brigham hospitals representing a benefaction of $5,500,000. The Brigham benefaction and the main building of the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy, gift of Robert White, have resulted in the development of an educational and medical center unequalled in America.

The great Parkman benefaction designed to promote and preserve the Park System of Boston, the green and open spaces so needed in the conservation of the health and happiness of the people, is a contribution to human good whose beneficent results will be written in every home and family of our city. I have no means of determining the fraternal connections of these great friends of humanity, I only know that by their acts they qualified for membership in the Masonic clubs. Your organization, in the establishment of a million dollar hospital each year for crippled children, is keeping the second divine commandment "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

It is comforting upon this, the opening day of Jefferson Week, to know that despite the passage of nearly a century and a half, the fundamental truth as written in the Declaration of Independence is understood, respected and perpetuated in our day. Your interpretation of equality in the case of children treated in the hospitals which you establish, namely, that all are eligible regardless of race, creed or color, is typically Jeffersonian and truly American.

I rejoice for you and with you; and I trust that in the unfolding years your fidelity to duty to your fellowmen, your loyalty to the principles of equality in treatment, opportunity and justice to all, and your broad human sympathy may continue in full vigor, expanding with time and spreading its generous influences for breadth and betterment of this republic and its people.

MAYOR MOVES TO HAVE STREET CAR SERVICE EXTENDED.

His Honor the Mayor has directed the Corporation Counsel and the chairman of the Transit Commission to appear before the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs and Street Railways, sitting jointly, in favor of the bill to permit of the Board of Public Control Trustees of the Boston Elevated system acquiring by lease, from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, the Chelsea, Revere and Winthrop lines and certain parts of the Everett and Malden lines of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway.

The position taken by his Honor the Mayor was that, while it would represent an additional cost not in excess of $10,000 to the City of Boston, it aided in paving the way for the establishment of a Greater Boston.

The consolidation of these lines with the Boston Elevated Street Railway system should represent in trade advantages to Boston business interests a sum actually many times in excess of the actual cost to the city.

The consolidation of the lines in addition will make possible a single fare from all sections of Greater Boston now served by the Boston Elevated system to Revere Beach, thereby making possible summer outings for the families of the workers who are restricted at the present time because of the double fare both ways.

The extension of the single fare system to include Chelsea, Revere, Winthrop, and certain parts of Everett and Malden heretofore paying a double fare, should result in a building boom in these sections in which many families residing in Boston undoubtedly will participate and who heretofore found it impossible to give consideration to such a move, because of the excessive fare rate.

MAYOR DELIVERS SCATHING REBUKE TO HARVARD MEN ON SHAMELESS PLAY.

SEVERELY SCORES "ALDRICH, '24," FOR CRITICISM OF EXECUTIVE AFTER PROHIBITING PRESENTATION OF "SOPHIE" AT PEABODY PLAYHOUSE.

Philip Modler's comedy "Sophie," presented by the Stage Guild, a Harvard offshoot, at the Peabody "Playhouse," is a play of questionable propriety and dubious morality, since it concerns itself with the amorous adventures of one Sophie Arnould, an eighteenth century Parisian courtesan, an artist with wit, beauty and dramatic talent—but still a shameless courtesan.

One would hardly imagine the intrigues and peccadilloes of such a lady would be food for the entertainment of callow undergraduates and silly flappers, stuffed as it is with salacious suggestiveness and risque situations, and being served for the delectation of those who mistake dirt for daring and decadence for drama, and who find in audacious indecency the very acme of art. The petulant and preposterous president of the Dramatic Club, R. S. Aldrich, '24, announces with the superiority and finality of a "College Man," "The play was produced for cultivated and sophisticated audiences—not for men like Curley, Quinn and Casey."

The unfortunate, uncultivated and unsophisticated trio may now consider themselves squelched and ruled outside the realm of culture. Vanity, egotism, impatience with the advice of elders, contempt for authority and airs of superiority are frequently the stigmata of the undergraduate and callow college man; good sense and good judgment are seldom expected from youth and inexperience. Good manners are the product of training and example and are usually acquired in the home, though sometimes blurred and blunted by the schools in the process of acquiring culture and sophistication.

Presumably Aldrich, '24, had his genesis in some respectable household where good manners obtained; he appears to have exchanged them for a compost he calls culture; contact with a work-a-day world may restore them; if not collision with it will. When Aldrich, '24, has grown to be Aldrich, '42, when his pin-feather days are done, and the perimeter of his head has become a normal six and one half, he may understand that the sophistication of the social sewer is less admirable than the precept and practice that keep society clean, the home sweet and civilization stable.

Harvard should not be blamed for Aldrich, '24. Colleges cannot work miracles; they cannot transform pine planks into mahogany boards; the best they can do is plane and polish the pine with the knowledge that these operations are impermanent in results.

Without believing that the advice will be followed, it is suggested that Aldrich '24 abandon his taste for dirt, decadence and drama and take up a course of history and the study of races and civilizations, for he appears to be singularly ignorant of the knowledge whose possession would have saved him from his gesture of megalomania.

Messrs. Curley, Quinn and Casey belong to a race—Celtic—that had a literature and art, a drama and poetry, and a clean, virile civilization thousands of years before the ancestors of Aldrich, '24—Eldrich and Teutonic—emerged from the gloom and savagery of the Baltic jungles and while they were yet battling with beasts for bones and sheltering their painted persons in caves and burrows.

It is apparent that something of the physical vigor and moral cleanliness of the ancient Celt survives in these three enemies of dramatic degeneracy and theatrical filth; and it is just as evident that, atavistically, Aldrich, '24, and his breeders of bawdiness have gone back to the beasts and the bones.

So much for Aldrich, '24. The indignation of the officers of the Harvard Dramatic Club throws a curious light upon the amazing stupidity and impudence of that body, its misconception of its privileges, its ignorance of the law and its scope and its contempt for the decencies of this community. The Harvard Dramatic Club resents the interference of the Boston censors as a "serious intrusion on the rights of private theatrical organizations," forgetful of the plain fact the Peabody Playhouse is a public place and a fee is charged for admission to it. It is time these young persons learned that even the orgies and indecencies of so exalted a body as the Harvard Dramatic Club and its appendices vermiform cannot be indulged in either publicly or privately without meriting suppression and punishment. The fact that these misguided young men hold their dramatic nastiness to be "culture and sophistication" will hardly convince the municipal authorities that they are other than offensive to morals and destructive of decency.

The suggestive and salacious "Sophie" was preceded recently by the "filthy failures," and it is time the Stage Guild, the Harvard Dramatic Club and other promoters of theatrical filth reform or disband or keep out of Boston.

They should not hide behind Harvard's good name. There is no place for them in Boston or any other community where decency obtains.

ASKED TO DISPLAY CITY FLAG.

The office of Director of Public Celebrations has sent out the following notice:

On May 1 of 1922, the 100th anniversary of the incorporation of the City of Boston, an appeal was made by proclamation of his Honor the Mayor and the Public Celebrations Association for the display of the official City of Boston flag with the national colors on that historic occasion.

The response was very gratifying considering the short time for preparation and the scarcity of official flags, but even the partial display resulting was one of the truly inspiring features of the celebration, and in 1923 the showing was a splendid one.

It is the earnest desire of the Mayor that this practice be continued, and that on Boston's birthday, May 1 of each year, the occasion be honored by the flying of national and city flags from every staff in the city to the end that civic pride may be stimulated and fostered by this beautiful municipal symbol, and that each May 1 perpetuated as the beginning of a new civic year, may awaken in our hearts a deeper pride in our birthright, and strengthen the bonds of unity and co-operation between the interests, spiritual, industrial and social which must all strive for the progress and betterment of our municipality.

For the benefit of mercantile establishments which may be able to manufacture the city flag, I am herewith inclosing the specifications approved by the Art Commission, and am sending to all flag and regalia manufacturers and decorators, a copy of this circular letter with the request that they be prepared to furnish all applicants.

May we count on your co-operation, and hope that on each May 1, from now until the great tercentenary celebration in 1930, when the custom will have been irrevocably established, wherever there is a flagstaff or suitable convenience from public buildings and private houses, mercantile establishments, hotels, newspapers, theaters, clubs and all other organizations, there be flown alongside Old Glory, this beautiful emblem of our civic pride and devotion.

Very sincerely yours,

J. PHILIP O'CONNELL,
Director.

LAND-TAKING IN CITY PROPER.

The highway named School street is hereby widened on the southwesterly side, between Province street and Chapman place, and ordered constructed.

For the making of the aforesaid improvement an easement for street purposes is taken in the following described land, exclusive of trees or structures standing upon or affixed thereto:

A part of a parcel of land, situated on the southwesterly side of School street, between Province street and Chapman place, now or formerly owned by Robert H. Gardiner et al., trustees, containing one hundred and fifty-three square feet, more or less.

Trees or structures standing upon or affixed to the aforesaid described land shall be removed therefrom within sixty days following a notice of the city's intention to enter upon said land for the purpose of constructing said improvement.

No betterments are to be assessed for the making of the said improvement.

Said highway as hereby widened is bounded and described as follows:

Southeast by Province street, three and 6-100 feet; southwest by the southwesterly line of School street as hereby widened, fifty-one and 35-100 feet; northwest by the southeasterly line of School street as it existed previous to this widening, three feet; and northeast by the southwesterly line of School street as it existed previous to this widening, fifty-one and 68-100 feet; containing one hundred and fifty-three square feet, more or less.

Robert H. Gardiner et al., trustees, 153 square feet and building.....$7,500

FINANCE COMMISSION'S ACT
COST CITY $1,200.

An award in the sum of $3,700 determined upon by a master appointed by the court marks the end of seven years of litigation, started in the first Curley administration by the Finance Commission against Mark Lynch for the cleaning of catch-basins.

The original bill called for the payment of $2,500 and the Finance Commission believing it excessive demanded it be held up. The master, after investigation, finds that the Finance Commission was, as usual, in error and the city is required to pay $3,700 instead of $2,500, or an increased expenditure to the city representing almost 50 per cent over and above the original amount.

ADDRESS OF HON. JAMES M. CURLEY, AT MUNICIPAL BUILDING, SOUTH BOSTON, MARCH 17.

AS PART OF THE CELEBRATION ON THE ANNIVERSARY OF THE EVACUATION OF BOSTON BY THE BRITISH TROOPS. THIS SPEECH WAS BROADCASTED BY HERALD-TRAVELER STATION, BOSTON. SUBJECT:—"THE IRISH RACE IN AMERICA."

The Irish race in America has been prone in the past to so pride itself upon martial achievements as to cause the impression to become deep-rooted that in their prowess as a fighting people alone have they been of value to the republic.

It is not my purpose to detract from the tremendous contribution to American history by gallant men of Irish blood, but, if possible, to clear the atmosphere of the impression that they have been purely a one-sided people.

As soldiers, statesmen, poets, inventors and orators, men of Irish blood have been a contributing factor to human progress in every land. As soldiers, even prior to the movement for liberty in the colonies, they had achieved fame, and it is pleasing for us, in the month which marks the anniversary of Ireland's patron saint, to assemble as American citizens of Irish blood and rejoice in those achievements which in part make luminous the pages of the republic's history.

It is gratifying to know that the ember igniting liberty's torch emanated from that distinguished Irishman whose fiery utterances furnished the text which resulted in the republic's birth when as a member of the Virginia House of Burgesses Patrick Henry uttered the prophetic words, "as for me, give me liberty or give me death."

The evacuation of Boston by the British and armed resistance at Bunker Hill was in a large measure due to the ammunition and arms secured through the daring of Capt. John Sullivan in consequence of the capture of Fort William and Mary December 11, 1774, more than four months before the shot was fired at Lexington and "heard around the world."

Visiting our northern neighbor, Canada, it is most interesting to gaze up at those rugged heights almost perpendicular from the St. Lawrence and there find inserted a bronze tablet sacred to the memory of the first general who died outside the colonies in the struggle for liberty and but for whose untimely death in all probability, Canada would today be under the domination of the American flag—General Montgomery.

Ships were necessary to combat the mighty power of England, and it remained for Michael O'Brien of Machias, Maine, with his six sons, to capture an English convoy, and in return for their signal act of gallantry for the Continental Congress to christen the first ship of the American navy "Liberty," and the second ship "Hibernia," the first ship in command of Jack O'Brien, the second in command of Jerry O'Brien, and the navy itself in command of that dauntless hero whose service to America has only recently received recognition at the Capitol, Washington, the first commodore of the American navy, John Barry.

It is pleasing to men of Irish blood, proud of their American citizenship to know that the great Father of our Country, Gen. George Washington, on the eve of St. Patrick's Day, 1776, placed in command of the Continental forces at Dorchester Heights Gen. John Sullivan and the password on the memorable occasion of the departure of vested British tyranny and oppression from these shores was "St. Patrick."

It is refreshing to recall that when the army of Washington encamped at Valley Forge in the dread winter of 1778, after surviving reverse after reverse for a period of nearly two years, when, as historians tell us, the trail of the army could be traced for hundreds of miles by the blood left on the snow and ice by those who had neither shoes nor stockings, when rumors of desertion were rife, and when the cause of liberty apparently was to be lost, an assemblage of Irishmen in Philadelphia raised the princely sum of $515,000 that the fight might continue, that the troops might be supplied with food, raiment, shelter and munitions of war, and that the gloom of a Valley Forge might be dispelled by the radiant sunburst of a triumphant victory at Yorktown and the liberty of the American people for all time assured.

Much stress has been laid for nearly a century upon the contribution of the French people to American liberty, and it was indeed a tremendous contribution and one worthy of a great people, but let it not be forgotten that the Irish regiments in the service of France pleaded that they might be selected because of an hereditary hatred of the English to serve under Washington, and that prominent among the regiments were the Regiment de Dillon, the Regiment de Lacey and the Regiment de Walsh, made up wholly of the descendants of that Spartan-like band, who, rather than serve under the conquering Cromwell, took service under the colors of France.

The most courageous document ever known in the world's history was the Declaration of Independence and it is pleasing to know that Charles Thompson, an Irishman, was secretary at the first meeting of the Continental Congress and continued in that capacity until, at the close of the war, Washington tendered him his sword when liberty had been secured; that among those men who signed the Declaration of Independence ten were of Irish blood; that 142 of the minute men who fought at Lexington and Concord were Irish, and of those who participated in the Battle of Bunker Hill 228 were of Irish blood; that the White House at Washington was designed by William Hogan, and is an exact reproduction of the home seat of the Duke of Leinster, near Dublin, Ireland; that the seat of our national government was originally the farm of Daniel Carroll, brother of Charles Carroll, signer of the Declaration of Independence who, at the conclusion of the war, tendered his farm as a seat for the American government; that the figure of Liberty which surmounts the National Capitol was designed by the Irishman, Crawford, and that the Congressional Library with its matchless mosaics, its fairy-like colorings, its incomparable marble staircase, stands as a monument to the ability, the honesty and the honor of its designer, an army engineer named Casey.

Every great privation visited upon the Irish people has proven a blessing in disguise for America. Persecution and oppression in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries furnished America with valiant sons and pure daughters, inured to poverty, born to privation, and eminently fitted for the blazing of a broad highway to progress and liberty in a new and strange land.

The famine of '48 in Ireland marked the beginning of a stream of immigration such as has seldom been witnessed in the history of any land. From 1848 to 1870 more than two and one half million Irish men and women came to these shores, not the infirm and the decrepit, but the stanch and sturdy manhood and the wholesome and pure womanhood, the flower of Ireland, and these were the men that aided in making possible Grant's campaign in the wilderness, Sherman's march from Atlanta to the sea, and Sheridan's master stroke at Cedar Creek. They were lovers of liberty first and Ireland second.

What a wonderful heritage is theirs when we contemplate the character, the courage and the manhood of these mighty men!

Picture the gallant Gen. Michael Corcoran on the occasion of the visit of Prince Albert to America in 1860, ordered by the Governor of New York to do escort duty with his regiment, and the manly Corcoran dashing his sword to the ground stating, "I refuse to do honor to the representative of a government that for seven centuries has persecuted and oppressed my race," and for this manly utterance the Sixty-ninth Regiment disbanded by order of the Governor of New York. Then picture Fort Sumter fired upon and the gallant American General Corcoran tendering the Governor of New York the services of the Sixty-ninth Regiment in defence of the Union, and this regiment later welded into that fighting machine of imperishable memory, the Irish Brigade, first under Corcoran and later under the immortal Gen. Thomas Francis Meagher, adding fresh laurels on every bloody field to the Stars and Stripes of our country until 1864, when the fighting was most severe. Historians tell us that the Irish Brigade in that year captured more flags and standards than the remainder of the Union Army combined and never lost one flag or standard.

We may well say with him who honored both the land of his birth and the land of his adoption, the lamented O'Reilly:

No treason we bring from Erin—nor bring we shame nor guilt.
The sword we hold may be broken but we have not dropped the hilt.
The wreath we bear to Columbia is twisted of thorns, not bays;
And the songs we sing are saddened by thoughts of desolate days.
But the hearts we bring for Freedom are washed in the surge of tears;
And we claim our right by a People's fight outliving a thousand years.

The chaste and Christ-like life of St. Patrick and his teachings are the most treasured heritage of the Irish people. They have proven an adamant-like force in the pathway of materialism, atheism and chaos in the life of this republic. They stand for the purity of womanhood and for the sanctity of American home life, and there is no method by which their benefit and blessing to this republic may be gauged. What shall be said of the material contribution?

The first iron furnace in America was conducted by George Taylor a signer of the Declaration of Independence, born in Ireland, and whose establishment during the Revolutionary War turned out shot and shell for the Continental forces. America today leads the world in the manufacture of steel and iron products, and this great industry, through whose existence prosperity and happiness is made possible for thousands of American families, at its birth had an Irish father.

The railroads of the United States furnish means of communication development and prosperity for the American people and are in all probability even a larger contributing force to national prosperity than any other single institution.

The first spike driven to hold in place the first rail of our great railroad system was driven by Charles Carroll of Carrollton, Maryland, in 1809, and the first steam engine built in the United States was the work of Christopher Colles, who was born in Ireland in 1738.

It would be an utter impossibility for this nation to develop in the short space of years necessary for our present greatness were it not for the inventive genius of the Irishman, Robert Fulton, who built the first steamboat.

Dean Swift said that the real benefactor of humanity is the man who can make two blades of grass grow where only one grew before. What shall we say of the great McCormick family, whose harvesting and reaping machinery is today found in every portion of the entire world, and through the use of which millions of bushels of corn, wheat, rye and oats are today grown where only stubble stones and weeds previously existed. The backbone of this and of any other nation is its agricultural prosperity and this prosperity, annually trickling down the avenues and arteries of trade and endeavor, whose reflex is happy homes, educated citizenship and healthy children, has been rendered possible through the inventive genius of the McCormick family.

Massachusetts is proud of her great candy industry the manufacture of which annually adds millions of dollars to the wealth of the people, and this great industry had its birth in the genius of the Irishman, John Hannon, first manufacturer of chocolate in America.

In our hours of leisure we enjoy companionship with music, thanks to Thomas Crehore, first manufacturer of the piano in America.

The prosperity of America is in a large measure due to our leadership in textile industries, and the first to introduce the manufacture of cotton in America was Patrick Tracy Jackson, while the Irish colonists in 1718 emigrating to America were the first to introduce the manufacture of linen.

A recognized world institution today is the daily newspaper and the first daily newspaper in this land was published by John Dunlap of Strabane, Ireland.

I believe it needless to refer to Ireland's contribution to America in the field of statesmanship. Eleven Presidents of the United States, including that great leader of American thought, Hon. Woodrow Wilson, have gloried in the Irish blood which coursed through their veins.

These facts are presented not in a spirit of vain glory, or with a desire to have it appear that the Irish alone are responsible for present national greatness, but solely with a view to establishing the truth more firmly and that the past may serve as a guide to the future, that their purpose in life may be in keeping with the traditions of the past, and that like those who have preceded them their aim may ever be to right wrong, destroy injustice and make the world better for our having lived.

A gifted Irish poetess once wrote of the Irish people:

We have run the gamut of want and woe,
Of hunger, and pain and dearth.
The centuried flood of our tears and blood
Have deluged the plains of earth.
There was never a whimperess in all the world
By those of our race untrod.
Now we claim the price of our sacrifice
From the bar of a watching God.

And the price of that sacrifice is the privilege of living in peace with their neighbors in this free land and perpetuating that ideal, the cherished dream of America's founders equality of opportunity under the best flag ever known in the history of civilization, the Stars and Stripes, Old Glory.

MAYOR RENEWS EFFORT TO GET APPROPRIATION FOR MUSIC WEEK.

The Mayor has sent the following to the City Council relative to "Music Week":

CITY OF BOSTON,
OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,
April 4, 1924.

To the City Council:

GENTLEMEN,—At the last meeting of your honorable body the recommendation for an appropriation in the sum of $2,500 to cover the cost of Boston's participation in the nation-wide "Music Week" was acted upon unfavorably.

Assuming that this action was taken because of failure to provide the City Council with full information as to the purpose of "Music Week," I beg to present as many facts as I have been able to obtain with reference to this proposed observance and the necessity for Boston participating in same.

The purpose of "Music Week" is to inaugurate a series of functions, lectures, concerts and exhibitions devoted to the art of music in which all may participate either directly or by representatives. Choral and musical societies, churches, colleges, schools, religious orders, clubs, associations and industrial and commercial bodies, in fact, every public and private interest in Greater Boston, are interested in this observance.

Boston has long held the position of leadership, not only in the teaching of the art of music, but has been the pioneer city of the United States in the manufacture of musical instruments, the first piano factory in America having been established in Boston and which only recently celebrated its one hundredth anniversary—the Chickering.

The New England Conservatory of Music has a national reputation for the character and distinction of its work; the Boston Symphony Orchestra, which enjoys a reputation the word over, and the Handel and Haydn Society all enjoy the distinction of being purely Boston creations.

The first great musical jubilee of the United States was held in Boston in 1869 under the direction of Patrick Gilmore and many great musical compositions were here rendered.

In view of these facts, and the fidelity and zeal which the people of Boston have ever devoted to the best in music, it would, in my opinion, be a serious mistake to refrain from participating in this movement officially.

I sincerely trust, for the good name of the city and for the reputation of Boston institutions that are devoted to vocal and instrumental culture and the large number of pupils attending these institutions, a number greater than are enrolled in any other city in America, that the City Council will reconsider its action and act favorably upon the order presented at the last meeting.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

LIBRARY EXHIBITS BYRON'S WORKS FOR THE BYRON CENTENARY.

For the centenary of the day (April 19 1824), when Lord Byron died at Missoloughi, in Greece, the Boston Public Library exhibits the first and earliest editions of the works of the great English poet. The exhibition is arranged in the Barton room of the library and comprises many rare and valuable volumes. The first Boston and other early American editions will be undoubtedly of the greatest interest to visitors.

The first book of Byron printed in America was a small form edition of "The Corsair," published by West and Blake, in Boston, in 1814. In the same year was published the first London edition of which the publisher sold ten thousand copies on the day of its publication. But the best proof of Byron's popularity is found, perhaps, in another American edition of the "Domenic Pieces"; this was printed in Glen's Falls, in 1820. The small booklets, in quaint type and on yellow paper, must be especially precious to any book lover. As early as 1814, a complete edition of Byron's works, in two volumes, had already been published in Boston by Cummings and Hilliard. The library possesses several copies of Byron's works, most of them of the year of first publication, and some in the first edition.

A note in the handwriting and with the signature of Byron, asking Mr. Hanson to pay the sum of twenty pounds to William Fletcher, is also shown among the books. The date of the note is November 12, 1811; it was written just about three months after the return of the poet from the Orient. On the back of the note Mr. Fletcher duly acknowledges the receipt of the pounds for his lordship, who was rather "hard up" by that time. William Fletcher was the lifelong valet of Byron, who accompanied the poet on all his journeys and was the one to whom the poet addressed his last words on his death bed at Missoloughi.

LABOR AND INDUSTRIES REPORT.

Business at the Public Employment Office for the month of March shows an improvement over the preceding month, but when compared with March a year ago, a falling off averaging 32 per cent is noticed.

During the month the number of people called for by employers was 1,218, an increase of 279, or 30 per cent, over February, but a decrease of 668, or 35 per cent, from March, 1923.

The number of positions reported filled was 1,032, an increase of 224, or 28 per cent, over February, but a decrease of 357, or 26 per cent from March last year.

During the month the attendance of applicants for employment was 23,050, an increase of 3,713, or 19 per cent, over February, also an increase of 2,478, or 12 per cent, over last March.

There were 1,624 service men (1,101 soldiers, 523 sailors) who visited the office in search of work. Of this number 226 (163 soldiers, 63 sailors) were given introduction cards to employers and 137 (98 soldiers, 39 sailors) secured employment.

Boys for errands, office and factory work have been in better demand and a larger number of positions have been filled. The majority of the applicants over sixteen years are not attracted by the wages offered by employers.

In the women's departments the demand for help during the early part of the month increased considerably but fell off again during the stormy weather. There has been a steady demand for waitresses with a good supply of applicants each day. Some difficulty in filling out-of-town jobs has been experienced but the city positions were easily supplied. Stitchers in various lines outside the clothing trades have been in fair demand and a slight improvement in the clothing trades has been noticed. Factory work is very dull with a large number of applicants visiting the office daily. There has been a fair demand for office and building cleaners throughout the month. Housework girls are very scarce and the wages demanded are in many cases prohibitive to employers.

The number of people called for by employers was 1,218 as compared with 1886 in 1923; 1,490 in 1922; 1,444 in 1921; 2,984 in 1920 and 1,703 in 1919.

The number of positions filled was 1,032 as compared with 1,389 in 1923; 1,248 in 1922; 1,026 in 1921; 1,597 in 1920 and 1,140 in 1919.

Roderick McInnis has agreed to accept the sum of $1,200 as full payment for all land taken from, all rights acquired in, and all damages occasioned to his estate on Arcadia place by the taking of said lot for school purposes, under the order of the Street Commissioners and Mayor of April 27, 1923.

MAYOR GETS GAVEL OF HISTORIC WOOD.

Mayor Curley has been presented with a handsome mahogany gavel, made from the railing put into Faneuil Hall in 1763, when that historic edifice was refinished inside because of a destructive fire two years earlier. He will in turn present it to the G. A. R. convention when it assembles here next August. The donor of the gavel was E. H. Talbot, Boston lawyer and past president of the Massachusetts Society, Sons of the Revolution.

Learning that Mayor Curley intended presenting the G. A. R. with such a gavel, Mr. Talbot came forward with his offer, which was accepted as "just filling the bill."

It is to be properly inscribed with a silver plate and richly cased before passing into possession of the Civil War veterans.

At the presentation were Fred Bolton, vice-chairman of the executive committee of the G. A. R. convention, and Col. George A. Hosley, chief of staff.

BOSTON DOING CLEANUP WORK.

Not since the severe winter of 1918 has the Public Works Department street cleaning forces faced such a cleanup job as now confronts 2,000 men at work in all parts of the city, it is stated at City Hall.

Mayor Curley has extended the employment for ten days more of 150 laborers taken from the civil service lists on April 5, for ten days' employment at $4 a day on this work. About 150 more men are employed at this work, having been drawn from the civil service temporary lists.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.

Tuesday, April 1, 1924.

Hearing held before the City Council in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 7.30 p. m., on proposed contracts with the Boston Consolidated Gas Company for furnishing gas for street lighting and for the equipment, lighting and extinguishing of gas lamps for the City of Boston, excluding Charlestown and Hyde Park, for a period of ten years.

President DONOGHUE was in the chair and all the members of the Council were present.

Thomas J. Kenny, Esq., appeared for the Boston Chamber of Commerce in opposition to the proposed contracts, recommending that no new contract be signed until a careful study of the street lighting needs of the city had been made and specifications based on a study prepared by the city.

Hon. Michael H. Sullivan, chairman of the Finance Commission, objected to the proposed contract, stating that it was not necessary for the city to make a ten-year contract, that the Commissioner of Public Works had called only for bids on gas lighting instead of for bids for both gas and electric lighting, and that the city could be lighted by electricity at a saving of a million dollars.

Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke stated that the city's interests had been protected by the Mayor and the Public Works Commissioner having written the Gas Company in January calling their attention to the provisions of the contract calling for an extension of the existing gas lighting contract for six months; that there was no question about the prices under this contract or the quality of light given; that it was doubtful if the Edison Company could be forced to extend the electric lighting of streets by some thousands of additional lights.

President D. D. Barnum of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company stated that his company furnished only gas and that consequently two contracts were necessary, one for gas and the other for equipment, that the price proposed in the agreement for equipment was a very low price, this part of the contract being carried out by the Welsbach Street Lighting Company of America. He doubted if the same price could be made if the number of lamps were reduced from 10,000 to 5,000 or the contract made for a five-year instead of a ten-year term. In regard to the testing of candle power of gas he stated that the methods employed were those generally considered throughout the country as the best.

Mr. Guy C. Emerson, consulting engineer of the Finance Commission, stated in answer to questions that testing on the street was exactly as good as laboratory tests so far as getting the illumination furnished by the lamp was considered.

The hearing was declared closed, subject to be reopened if the Council desired further information.

Monday, April 7, 1924.

Regular meeting of the City Council, held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at two o'clock p. m. President DONOGHUE in the chair. Absent—Coun. Walsh.

VETO—BUSES IN PARK.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 3, 1924.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I beg to return herewith, without my approval, order of the City Council granting a license for the operation of buses in a portion of the park system, under date of March 18.

In my opinion the Boston park system should be accessible to all of the people and that the largest possible number may be afforded opportunity to enjoy its beauties and advantages, I am not adverse to the granting of permits provided proper restrictions are set forth therein.

The license in question carries with it the privilege of operating automobiles seating approximately twenty to thirty passengers, also double-decker automobiles seating approximately forty to fifty passengers, similar to cars now operated on the Fifth Avenue bus line of New York City.

The width of the park roads and the congestion on the roads render it inadvisable to permit of the operation of the so-called double-decker type of car, and render it necessary to establish limits upon the number of cars to be operated.

Provided the applicant, in a new petition, makes provision for the elimination of these deficiencies, I personally can see no objection at the present time to approving the same.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Placed on file.

VETO—BUS LINE TO PEMBERTON.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, April 3, 1924.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen—I beg to return herewith, without my approval, the license granted under date of March 18, for the operation of a motor bus line from Uphams Corner to Pemberton and a motor bus line from Franklin Park to Pemberton.

Until such time as public demand is sufficient to warrant the operation of private jitney lines as proposed it would, in my opinion, be inadvisable to approve a license for the operation of motor buses over the routes set forth.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Placed on file.

LAYING OUT OF STURGIS STREET.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, April 3, 1924.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I beg to forward herewith report of the Street Laying-Out Department, the same constituting a reply to the interrogatories contained in the order adopted by your Board on March 10, 1924.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Street Laying-Out Department.

March 28, 1924.

Hon. James M. Curley,

Mayor of Boston.

My dear Mr. Mayor,—Replying to the enclosed communication and order from the City Council, would say that the matter of laying out Sturgis street is under consideration by this Board at the present time.

A list of streets which this Board intends to have constructed this year was sent to the Council about March 1, and unless this list breaks down it is the intention of the Board to follow it as closely as possible.

If, however, it is found necessary to alter this plan, Sturgis street will be placed on the list and action taken this year. We have had a great many requests for this improvement, and the Board is favorable to having it done as quickly as possible.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN H. L. NOYES, Chairman.

Placed on file.

MONEY FOR MUSIC WEEK.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, April 4, 1924.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—At the last meeting of your honorable body the recommendation for an appropriation in the sum of $2,500 to cover the cost of Boston's participation in the nation-wide "Music Week" was acted upon unfavorably.

Assuming that this action was taken because of failure to provide the City Council with full information as to the purpose of Music Week, I beg to present such facts as I have been able to obtain with reference to this proposed observance and the necessity for Boston participating in same.

The purpose of Music Week is to inaugurate a series of functions, lectures, concerts and exhibitions devoted to the art of music in which all may participate either directly or by representatives. Choral and musical societies, churches, colleges, schools, religious orders, clubs, associations and industrial and commercial bodies, in fact, every public and private interest in Greater Boston, are interested in this observance.

Boston has long held the position of leadership not only in the teaching of the art of music, but has been the pioneer city of the United States in the manufacture of musical instruments, the first piano factory in America having been established in Boston and which only recently celebrated its one hundredth anniversary—the Chickering.

The New England Conservatory of Music, located in Boston, has a national reputation for the character and distinction of its work.

The Boston Symphony Orchestra, which enjoys a reputation the world over, and the Handel and Haydn Society also enjoy the distinction of being purely Boston creations.

The first great musical jubilee of the United States was held in Boston in 1869 under the direction of Patrick Gilmore and many great musical compositions were here rendered.

In view of these facts and the fidelity and zeal which the people of Boston have ever devoted to the best in music it would, in my opinion, be a serious mistake to refrain from participating in this movement officially.

I sincerely trust, for the good name of the city and for the reputation of Boston institutions that are devoted to vocal and instrumental culture and the large number of pupils attending these institutions, a number greater than are enrolled in any other city in America, that the City Council will reconsider its action and act favorably upon the order presented herewith.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of $2,500 be and hereby is appropriated to be expended by the Boston Music Week Committee, under the direction of the Mayor, for the purpose of conducting a Music Week May 4 to May 10, said sum to be charged to the Reserve Fund, when made.
